Pay now, save money

JENSEN BEACH--Martin County taxpayers can save money by paying their tax bills this week.

If the people pay their taxes through Friday, Jan. 9, they will receive the December discount," Tax Collector Alvin Andrews said Monday.

The December 4 per cent discount on tax bills continue through this Friday.

Andrews pointed out that while the mail in his office "is backed up," the 4 per cent discount will be allowed on payments as long as it is postmarked this week.

While all the mail has not been processed, I would estimate that 75 per cent of the tax roll has been paid," Andrews said.

Beginning Saturday, Jan. 10, a 2 per cent discount will be allowed taxpayers and the 1 per cent discount will continue through Jan. 31. A 1 per cent discount will be allowed in February," with no discount in March.

Andrews reminded taxpayers that beginning April 1, a 3 per cent penalty will be added.

Voters getting ready for primary

JENSEN BEACH--With the Florida presidential preference primary about nine weeks away, the Martin County supervisor of elections office workers are busy registering new voters.

"I'm real pleased with the response," Supervisor of Elections Sandra Randolph said Monday.

Mrs. Randolph reminded voters that the registration books would be closed at 5 p.m. Jan. 24 for the March 9 Presidential preference primary.

"Our office will be open in the courthouse for the next three Saturdays--Jan. 10, 17 and 24--and we will have the mobile unit in the Indiantown area and south county area for the next two Saturdays," she said.

While Mrs. Randolph said she is "pleased with the voter registration--245 in November and December" the county's voter registration list has decreased 2,000 from its recent record high of over 25,000.

After the purge of the voter registration list, required by law, the political party registration shows as of Dec. 1: Democrats 11,491; 10,582 Republicans, and 1,100 independent.

Mrs. Randolph said she expects about 500 names to be added to the registration list by Jan. 25. "I registered 25 people Monday, mostly 18 year-olds," she said.

Voters who have not voted in two years are sent notices telling them they'll be removed from the county voter roll unless they renew their registration.

This year 2,000 failed to respond as compared to 900 voters in the last voter list purge, two years ago.

Mrs. Randolph blames the poor response on several factors, including:

A tendency toward apathy resulting from a general distrust of public officials in the wake of the Watergate scandals; changes in address which made some notices undeliverable; and a desire to avoid jury service by being removed from the registration list. Jury lists are drawn from voter registration list.

Mrs. Randolph expects the voter registration list to be back to the 25,000 by next summer. "We are looking for an increase by summer because of the presidential election. There's usually a lot of voter interest in the presidential election."

BUSY BEES--Dennis Clark, staff member at the Jensen Beach Environmental Studies Center, looks for the queen bee in this bee hive which will be used in a "beekeeping" program Wednesday, Jan. 7, at the center beginning at 8 p.m.

Bee program Wednesday

JENSEN BEACH--An observation bee hive complete with a queen bee, and about 10,000 of her "workers" is at the Jensen Beach Environmental Studies Center.

The bee hive, along with some slides and films, will be used in a free program at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 7 at the center.

Earl G. Escott recognized locally as the "Bee Man" will talk about keeping bees as a hobby.

Escott will talk about the importance of the bee in the environment, the life cycle of the bee, diseases, artificial insemination and rearing of the queen bee, and a comparison of raw and processed honey.

Chamber directors to meet

JENSEN BEACH--The first meeting of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce board of directors for 1976 will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 12, at the chamber building.

Committee appointments and reports are the main items on the agenda.

Some of the committee reports for the meeting include: Christmas committee, traffic committee and art show.

A tourism report is slated under the "old business" section and appointments will be made to the God and Country Day committee and appointment of the Bicentennial chairman.

President L.D. Kirkpatrick will report on the chamber's goals for 1976.

PLAZA PROBE CONTINUES

JENSEN BEACH--The Grand Jury probe into the proposed purchase of the Executive Plaza building by the Martin County Commission continues this week.

After a recess over the holidays the Grand Jury resumed questioning witnesses Monday.

Witnesses were called for Tuesday and Wednesday.

No date for Plaza suit

JENSEN BEACH--No date has been set for the Martin County Executive Plaza court suit, Circuit Court Clerk Louise Isaacs said Tuesday.

Mrs. Isaacs said that a judge will have to be assigned to the case by senior Judge D.C. Smith.

She said that the suit originally was assigned to Judge Royce Lewis but that he had been transferred to another county.

In the suit, the County Commission and Mrs. Isaacs are asking the court to decide whether the commission's attempt to buy the Plaza Building is valid.

Mrs. Isaacs has questioned the validity of the commission's plan to buy the three-story office building under a five-year lease-purchase plan.

The suit was filed about a month ago after Mrs. Isaacs refused to sign a check for the first payment on the building. Her signature is necessary to make the check valid.

Delegation meeting

JENSEN BEACH--The Martin County Legislative Delegation will meet at 10 a.m. Friday, Jan. 9, at the courthouse.

At the public hearing in the commission meeting room, legislators will consider recommendations from Martin County Commission proposing various changes in state laws.

No. 1 on the agenda is a request to repeal special acts regulating animal control in Martin County to allow the commission to do the job by local ordinance.

Present law requires animals to be kept 10 days in the animal shelter before they are killed and local officials want to cut that time period in half, in an effort to save money.

Commissioners also are asking the legislators to allow them to pay more than 50 per cent of employees insurance premiums, alter competitive bidding laws and amend laws on commissions paid to the tax collector and property appraiser.

Presently the two officials can collect commissions on funds collected for the county's general fund and for the various special taxing districts, while the school board and municipalities pay nothing.

Commissioners also want a new state law on motor vehicles to prevent auto dealers from modifying old cars and trucks and selling them as new equipment.

The delegation will hear a request from the Association of Retired Physicians for legislation to provide for a limited medical license for retired doctors.

The law is aimed at helping ease the shortage of doctors in some areas of the state.

Members of the delegation include Reps. Jack Poorbaugh and Chuck Nergard and Sens. Don Childers, Harry Johnston, Phil Lewis.

Senator Chiles visits County

JENSEN BEACH--U.S. Senator Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., visited Martin County Monday, Jan. 5, in his 22-county campaign swing in the next eight days.

The state senior senator was met at Martin County Airport shortly after 11 a.m. by his county campaign chairman Ralph Hartman and other county supporters.

About 50 persons welcomed Sen. Chiles at a Holiday Inn, Stuart, luncheon.

The senator said that the nation's economy is probably the number one issue in the country.

And he said that funds for Angola would be debated later this month in the Senate. He says the Angolan crisis as a "tribal war" and that the Senate would debate the nation's purpose in being there.

Senator Chiles noted that in his senatorial campaign he walked the state and recently he asked himself "what do I do next--walk back north."

He has adopted a $10 limit on contributions to his campaign. Chiles said the limit would encourage citizens who believe their "votes or votes didn't count. I think if someone gives $10 and knows that's the limit, then maybe he'll feel like banging on my door as much as a thousand-dollar contributor would have."

With more than $70,000 already collected from 7,000 residents, Chiles said he was "pleased" with the results of his campaign financing plan.

While the senator spoke mainly about the new campaign financing plan, he touched on other issues.

He said that was for revenue-sharing and added that he favors giving back more controls to state and local governments over programs.

He also noted that federal agencies should conform to a sunshine law.

"I think it will help because people will be able to see how decisions are made in the federal government."

Hartman said the senator was pleased with his trip to Martin County and the luncheon turnout.

He expects to be back in the county during his campaign for re-election, Hartman said.

The senator went to Sebring and then Clearwater after he left the county, according to Hartman.

Committee meeting is scheduled for Monday

STUART--The Martin County Bicentennial Committee will meet at 8 p.m. Monday, January 12, at the Elliott Museum, William D. Conkey, chairman said.

With the Bicentennial Year of 1976 now underway, many communities and organizations are planning special projects and events, he said Conkey pointed out that there are official channels for local Bicentennial celebrations to be publicized on a state and national basis.

Upcoming events already recognized include "Happy Birthday, U.S.A." on February 11, an historical pageant by Martin County school children at Long Field. Also, "God and Country Day" on February 15 sponsored by All Saints Episcopal Church and the American Legion-Jensen Beach Post to be held at the Martin County High School and "17 on '76," the 17th Annual Martin County Fair the week of March 8th at the fairgrounds.

The Martin County Bicentennial Committee has applied to the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration (ARBA) for designation as a "Bicentennial Community."

They're catching fish

JENSEN BEACH--The anglers were out in force throughout the last week and were catching all kinds of fish, according to the Snook Nook report.

Adam and Sophie Lojewski used shrimp to take 60 whiting and 12 blues from the surf. Pete Peterson and John Gorbig caught 3 blues and a mackerel on cut bait.

Jesa Payne and Gene Stombock hit the surf for 34 blues on cut bait. Ry Braumz had 30 blues in a couple of outings. Ted Bloom had 31 blues on metal lures.

Ed Wagner landed 16 trout and a channel bass, teamed up with Sandy Adair for 7 trout, with Ed Ahren for 9 trout, and with Charlie Areni for 9 trout. Adair had 25 trout in three outings.

Duck White used shrimp to take 10 trout, 10 snook and a permit from the Indian River. Paul Albert had 3 trout and 2 snook. Nicole Kelly, 3 snappers. Irv Fisher, 2 trout; and Bob Carruthers released three of 8 trout caught using Mirror Lures.

Bill Copland caught a nice 8½-lb. snook off the 25 cent bridge. Russ Bolton, with Wendell and Margaret Fallor trolled spoons and jigs in the South Fork, catching two snook. John Wilbert had 3 trout. Charlie Kessler, with Bob Duncan and son, 6 channel bass. Glenn and Donna White, 18 channel bass, using jigs and Walt Sund caught 20 channel bass on live shrimp.

Meanwhile, back at the surf, George Chambers had four blues and whiting. Fr. Frank Alvarez and August Burmester, 30 blues on cut bait. Hank Grizer, 2 blues on ribbon fish. Tom Walton and Bill Bradshaw, 30 blues, also on ribbons. Bob Emens, 2 blues and one Spanish mackerel.

Carl Clayton and Layton Hubbard from Missouri caught 93 croaker and whiting on shrimp.

The Proctor men: Dennis, Gordon and Lloyd; and Ken McDonald went outside on the Sunken Saint and brought back 38 kings totaling more than 200 pounds. They used bally hoo and rebel plugs for the best catch of the week.

Klett of the Snook Nook says the blue fish are really running this week. "People are wailing all over 'em. Good news for the surf fishermen. Go get 'em!"

Early start

Howes in the Hills Elementary School's second semester begins on January 26 in an excellent time, start, junior high students program beyond its range.

While many parents and students do not think about college until the high school years, many colleges agree with this premise. Proponents of co-educational college preparatory schools say that the need for early preparation actually begins in the 4th grade.

Registration for the second half of Howes in School year will continue through January 26 for openings in both the high school and junior high levels.

The traffic crunch

The influx of tourists over the holidays indicate that the growth of Jensen Beach makes it imperative that a traffic solution to the problem of Commercial Street is needed

Traffic gluts the downtown area, and the post office is becoming nearly impossible

The new drive-in area of the Jensen Beach Bank is a blessing, and has reduced some of the almost impossible traffic flow problems, for the autos using the bank services are able to be dispersed away from busy Ricou Blvd

Further west traffic is able to easily move in and out of the shopping centers west of Savanna Road, but traffic headed west on Commercial Street backs up almost to Skyline Drive daily as the lack of a left turn storage lane at Savanna Road makes a bottleneck for traffic worthy of Stuart's Confusion Corner

Perhaps it is time for another Jensen Chamber of Commerce committee to make a study

The united fortress

Fear is selling well these days

It is most important to merchandise fear properly so that people buying a home feel secure in the knowledge that someone is going to break in that home and rob, kill or even worse

This is why doors have buzzers. No one can enter until the person inside responds to the doorbell by looking through the peephole that makes visitors look grotesque, and then pushing the open-door buzzer

You can buy a television set that flickers and shows a shadowey figure outside that must be a mugger but turns out to be your mother-in-law.

There are window locks and door locks that offer even greater protection than the locks you buy with the doors and windows.

People selling anti-burglar hardware do it with great flair. Dracula-looking figures in black capes sell the most

When you check the advertisements in metropolitan newspapers, you'll find most of the ones dealing with dondominiums are selling security first, then comfort and scenery.

High walls surround security-conscious condominiums, hiding their walls and making them seem impregnable. Spiked iron gates that never close look formidable and, if the condo is expensive enough, there is a small guard house and a guard who checks your name and calls the resident to see if he should let you through the flimsy wooden gate that raises up and down at the touch of a button.

Some places have closed circuit television, and the guard is able to see front doors and corridors throughout the complex

It is not beauty or air conditioning efficiency that is sought in the new architectural designs that eliminate windows. It is security, and a move back to the middle ages when windows and doors were locked with heavy boards across wooden shutters

If you walk on the streets there are cans of mace, illegal, or electrical shock canes or cattle prods, whistles, small hand guns, or bicycle chains that you can buy

For your automobile, there are sirens, or even tape recorded messages that scream "Help" when someone opens the car by breaking and entering. And, of course, you can carry a gun, or tire iron when out for a nice drive

You can't beat the good old bicycle chain wrapped around your wrist as a good street-fighting tool

Whatever happened to the times when we didn't lock our doors, came and went when we pleased, and felt secure in our homes and businesses.

Dick Campbell

Enter the political year

It will be a great year. Elections in November, and the primaries before will keep us busy the year around.

It all started last weekend, when Sen. Lawton Chiles came to town to tell us that he was going to raise a lot of money by having people give a maximum ten dollars apiece to his election campaign.

There is a Democrat in Miami who plans to ride a bicycle through Florida, following Chiles famous walk of a thousand miles, to seek votes in running against Chiles.

Chiles softened the words, but echoed the now-controversial platform of Ronald Reagan when he called for returning both the revenue and the responsibility for some federal programs to the local level.

Opponents to Reagan in New Hampshire and Florida have criticized the plan because it would raise local taxes. No one seems to think of the cost of federal programs as coming out of local pockets. No one seems to think that if the program was returned locally, and the federal funding returned locally, it would be a washout, except for the savings that would result by not having as much bureaucratic cost as it has on the national level.

Then, too, the federal boys could cancel out the taxes for the locally returned projects, and allow the state to handle the financing, but few people can remember a federally funded project that was un-financed.

Chiles mentioned police, fire protection and public education as being the areas for return to local responsibility.

But that is the key word, responsibility.

Would the local people be ready and willing to accept responsibility for planning and implementation of the programs.

I don't worry about police and fire protection, though I have seen too many little kingdoms protected by provincialism in both areas. I do worry about public education.

Professional educators are not the people to handle the funding of public education. Too often they have their heads in the stars and cannot think on the level of common folk. This is not an insult to them, but a matter of fact.

We have complained about the number of non-teaching personnel needed to have a school system qualify for accreditation. Teachers set up their goals for such matters.

We have complained about the "ivory tower" professors of colleges, many of whom have not worked anywhere but in a college, yet teach everyday life to students who get a distorted picture of what the world is all about.

We have complained about the slant of an education system that turns out students who cannot spell or read, or add and subtract.

If there is to be a return of revenue sharing, it should be on a state level with all the protections to force local officials to do a proper job.

Look at the bickering over hospital planning, health planning, and master planning for regional activities. Local governments cannot even agree on how to go about such planning, much less do it.

The failure of local governments to accept responsibility for actions continues to move responsibility to the state level.

So the political year begins. Chiles was first. Next will come Skip Bafalis, and he will be followed by all the presidential contenders, some of whom might even come to our area.

It will be an interesting year.

Alice Hickey

My column plight

"Hickey. Where is it."

"Where is what?" I asked.

Your column of course.

Oh that! You need not worry. I have an idea.

I don't want your ideas, Hickey. I want your column. The one that was supposed to be turned in last Thursday," my editor said while trying desperately to keep from shouting.

He was talking about the column that would sooner or later fill the blank sheet of paper that had been so carefully positioned in my typewriter hours before.

Golly Pete what a way to start the new week a new year.

And only moments before I had been thinking of the accomplishments of 1975 and looking forward to the opportunities and challenges awaiting each of us in 1976.

Although I would like to greet the coming year with complete enthusiasm I face one slight problem.

Before I can welcome in 1976, I must come up with 52 columns, one each week.

Worse than that, I must face my column plight alone.

All my complaining and excuses seem to get me absolutely nowhere.

According to my editor, writing a column should present no problem.

"Don't think of it as 52 columns," he has told me repeatedly. "Just take it one week at a time and you will see just how easy it is to write."

Then there is the news editor here at the office. He is the man with all the answers, and for him columns seem to be second nature.

If necessary, he can readily create a situation about which to write a column.

As an example, just last week he must have suspected a subject matter might be a little difficult to come by, what with the holidays and all.

"So what did he do?

Simple. He just stopped shaving his chin for four days and promptly proceeded to write a column on the comments forthcoming about his goatee in the making.

Thus incidentally reminded me of the time our editor and publisher got four columns from one broken leg, acquired while playing tennis.

Generally fellow staffers here at The Mirror are always ready to pitch in with a helping hand or a suggestion and as a whole they are usually most understanding and sympathetic.

Knowing they would come up with a suitable topic for a column, I approached them with my plight.

Hickey, as much as you talk we can't imagine you being unable to find something to write about. Besides this is Monday and we are busy. Why don't you get lost?"

When the rest of the world fails us, we always have our families to turn to.

I was all set to write about my two teenagers when I discovered they were keeping a running tabulation on who had been mentioned how many times in previous columns.

Oh well, 1976 is going to be a great year.

I just know it is — in spite of the 51 columns yet to come.

Charlie Cates

Goatee comments

I never thought that a few white whiskers on my chin would bring about so much laughter and comments. It all started Monday, Dec. 29, and I guess it will continue until I shave my goatee.

Thinking that I would enter into the spirit of '76, I launched my goatee project the day after Christmas.

I didn't shave my chin the day after Christmas, and since the weekend followed, my beard wasn't too noticeable, and I received no comments.

My dog Babe has white whiskers on his chin and he hasn't noticed my goatee.

The comments started minutes after I came to work Monday, Dec. 29.

Mirror staffer Alice Hickey, who occupies a nearby desk, took one look, laughed, stroked her chin, and said, "What happened to your chin, Charlie?"

Informing her that I was growing a goatee, she supressed another hearty laugh, and said, "Oh, I think it is great."

For the rest of the day it was about the same, people laughing, stroking their chin and making comments.

Some folks would take a look at the chin whiskers, stroke their chins, walk away shaking their heads.

They apparently didn't know what to say or words failed them.

After Alice's comments, Editor Dick Campbell stopped by the desk. He took a look, it was a look of disbelief, and walked away.

Later he predicted that the goatee would last through two columns. The one I'm writing, reporting on comments from people, and the column I write of shaving it off.

And he noted that the chin would itch so much that it would drive me up the wall, noting that his beard didn't last too long because of the itching.

I thought to myself that Campbell has a wife who might have suggested removal of the beard. On the other hand, I only have a dog.

Some of the other comments on my chin whiskers, include:

Mirror staffer Anne Bacon, "You gonna grow one of those things."

And later she commented: "It looks scrubby."

Ernie Baker stopped his jeep at the Jensen Beach Bank, and commented, "I thought Santa Claus had gone back to the North Pole."

"When it gets four inches long I'll trim it for free," Virgil Wilson said while he shaved my hair on top of my head down to about one eighth of an inch.

"Charlie, you forgot to wash your chin this morning," Ramson Tilton observed when we met on Commercial Street.

"You ran out of razor blades," was the observation of Vickie Britton.

"You look distinguished," Cary Pitman said. And then apparently having second thoughts, she added, "Or you will."

And Dick Neeson took one look at the chin and asked, "What's this."

L.D. Kirkpatrick, who was standing nearby, said, "He's observing the Bicentennial year."

And July 4, 1976, is a long way off.

Taxpayers Questions and Answers

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. I plan on moving soon. Can I deduct my moving expenses?

A. To deduct your moving expenses: 1) you must have moved because you went to work for a new employer or were transferred to a new place of work, 2) the distance from your new place of work to your old residence must be 50 miles farther than the distance from your old place of work to your old residence, 3) you must work at least 39 weeks during the 12 month period following the move.

You can deduct travel expenses (including meals and lodging) and the cost of moving household goods and personal effects from your old residence to your new residence.

You can deduct up to $2500 for the cost of house hunting, temporary quarters and selling your old house with a $1000 limit on house hunting and temporary quarters deductions.

Obtain Publication 521, Tax Information on Moving Expenses, available free from your Internal Revenue office, for more details on the subject.

Q. My employer has attached my salary to pay for some of my outstanding debts. Is the attached amount considered income?

A. Yes. Amounts of attached or garnisheed salary are income and must be reported on your tax return. The amounts are considered received by you, that is, they are credited to your account even though you do not have physical possession of them.

Q. How long do I have to keep records I used to prepare tax returns for previous years?

A. You are required by law to keep records that will enable you to complete an accurate tax return. Records that support an item of income or a deduction must be retained until the statute of limitations on the tax return expires. Usually these records may be discarded three years from the date the return was due or filed or two years from the day the tax was paid, whichever comes later.

Records of transactions relating the the basis of property should be kept as long as they are material in determining the basis of the original or replacement property. An example of this would be the purchase of a home.

Dutton Memorial church news

PORT ST. LUCIE--The congregation of the Dutton Memorial United Presbyterian Church of White City will enjoy a challenge that has been identified as "The Glorious Sunset." The thought provoking theme is the suggestion of Holy Scripture that the final years in maturity can be years of success and joy rather than years of failure, bitterness and resentfulness. The portion of the Bible around which the subject is based is Luke 2:22-36.

The Chancel Choir under the direction of Mrs. George F. Hill will lead in singing some of the great hymns of the church and will feature a special anthem. Mrs. Robert Barrett is prepared to accompany at the keyboard of the organ.

Mrs. Warren Swayer, secretary of The Women's Association, has announced the Association will arrange with Country Garden Florist to place flowers on the altar. The bouquet is to be in memory of all the deceased members and friends of Dutton.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yelton have volunteered to host the congregation at the front doors of the sanctuary at the 11 a.m. service. Mrs. Yelton is president of the Association.

Parents of tiny children are reminded of the nursery and kindergarten that is conducted during the hour of worship.

The Church Women United of St. Lucie County are to assemble in the Community Methodist Church of Fort Pierce on Tuesday, January 13 at 10 a.m.

Members of the Session and Board of Trustees are scheduled to meet in joint session on Wednesday, Jan. 14 at 7:30 p.m. Session members include Lynn Calhoun, Billy Elder, George F. Hill, Aleta Keller, John Schneider and Dr. Evert Stabler. The Board of Trustees is made up of Thomas Brack, Walter Gerlock, Alan Luley, Charles Lloyd and James Soog.

The Deacons met on Wednesday morning. Mrs. Joseph Keegan chaired the meeting. Mrs. Charles Lloyd is the secretary.

Dottie Wingerter has been appointed teacher and counselor of the church's high school age group. She meets with them each Sunday morning. Miss Wingerter is a fine musician, specializing in voice, trumpet and french horn. She studied for three years at the State College in Pennsylvania and in June, 1975, she received a Bachelor of Science Degree from Florida Atlantic University of Boca Raton.

Virginia Hannum is wed

FAIRFIELD, CONN.-- The Fairfield University Chapel, Fairfield, Connecticut, was the setting for the marriage of Virginia L. Hannum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Hannum, 1773 S.E. Elrose Street, Port St. Lucie, to Joseph M. Corcoran, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Corcoran of Springfield, Massachusetts, on Saturday, December 27.

Father George S. Mahan officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white Shiffly organza gown with Venitian lace and chapel length veil. Her flowers were simbidiums, white carnations and English holly.

Carol Ann McCaffrey and Carol Ann Ryan were the bridesmaids, both attired in red velvet halter gowns with velvet bolero.

David Jones served as best man and Richard Hannum and Mark Hellstern were the ushers.

Mrs. Hannum chose a dusty pink gown and miniature orchid corsage for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Corcoran, mother of the bridegroom, wore a baby blue chiffon gown and corsage of miniature white orchids.

The reception was held at Fairfield University, the hall beautifully decorated with flowers, holly and candles. A roast beef dinner was served.

For their wedding trip to Bermuda, the bride's traveling outfit was a blue and white dress.

The bride's schooling includes Fairfield University, B.A. and C.W. Post College, M.L.S. She is a member of the National Honor Society and graduated Magna Cum Laude.

Corcoran is a graduate of Yarmouth Academy, Maine and Fairfield University, B.A.

On their return from Bermuda they will be at home at 200 Sumner Avenue, Springfield, Massachusetts, 01108.

Gang session will be Mardi Gras

PORT ST. LUCIE-- The Friday Nite Gang will hold a Mardi Gras session this Friday, January 9, at the North Port Marina.

Host Cedric Benz explained the mechanics of Mardi Gras to the Gang last Friday night and said he hoped several such sessions could be presented during 1976. The Mardi Gras evenings provide many special prizes for lucky ticket holders and help raise the funds needed to help the Gang continue its merry ways.

The regular Snooper was back after an absence of three weeks and turned in a good report.

Elizabeth Elsner, the oldest of the regulars, was welcomed back after a long absence. Attending with her was her son from Washington, D.C.

Cheryl Johnson was the only first-timer. She is originally from Willard, Ohio.

Sol Comisar was the lucky winner of a miniature steel engraving of Abraham Lincoln, the main prize of the evening.

MARRIED--Donald Starrett, son of Mr. & Mrs. Gordon Starrett of Degan Drive and his bride Sandra Miller of Golden, Colorado, were married in the garden of his parents home on December 27.

The affordable beach house.

Affordable and beautiful in more ways than one. Oceana prices are among the lowest along the South Florida coast while the quality of construction is among the highest. That means lower maintenance costs particularly over the long haul. What's more, our financing package offers interest rates far below the current savings and loan rates. We even have a furniture package that's yours for about half its retail value.

You'll find no gimmicks at Oceana no land or recreation leases, no contracts, no hidden costs. Our furnished models are open 10 to 5 daily. Come see us. Oceana We're the Affordable Beach House.

Unlocks free services and 5¼% interest...

KEY ACCOUNT

Lots of new services have been offered recently by financial institutions. Now Community Federal brings these services together under one roof and offers you one Key Account.

It's a new type of interest-earning account. If you make transactions, you'll receive monthly statements. If there is no account activity, we'll send you quarterly statements to show the interest you've earned.

And your funds will earn 5¼% yearly interest, compounded daily, from the day you put your money in until the day you take it out.

The "Master Key"

Your $300 minimum Key Account balance will bring you some very valuable money management tools.

- Free Prestige Card. Serves as your account identification at all Community Federal offices — and at participating Prestige savings and loans across the country.
- Prestige Emergency Cash. From now on, when you're out of town and out of cash you're not out of luck! Just visit the nearest Prestige location (over 2,000 in 46 states). You can cash a personal check or make an Emergency Cash Withdrawal from your Key Account.
- Free Dial-A-Count® Service. Earn daily interest on your paycheck, then transfer that money to your bank checking account for monthly bills. Transfer money from checking to Key Account, too — by telephone, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.
- Cookie Jar® Remote Tellers. Choose your own hours and make nine different transactions with your Prestige Card. Two Miller's Super Valu locations, Lake Park (7am - midnight) and West Palm Beach (open 24 hours).
- Transmatic® Savings. You never need to miss a savings deposit again. We can make it for you — automatically — on the day (or days) of the month that you specify.
- Free Automatic Mortgage Payment. For Community Federal home loan customers. Let us do the work for you!
- Free Direct Deposit of Social Security Checks. The Treasury Department can mail your check directly to us each month. And we'll deposit it — automatically.
- Free Travelers Checks. Why pay a service charge? You can have as many free First National City Travelers Checks as you need — as often as you like!
- Free Money Orders. Sometimes you'd rather pay a bill with a money order than with a check. Now you can have free money orders with Key Account.
- Free Notary Service. There's a notary public at every Community Federal office (except our Singer Island Drive-In Facility). And now this service is free.
- More Free Services Will Be Added!

Open Your Key Account!

Community Federal's Key Account is the one account that makes sense for the homemaker and the tycoon. For young marrieds and retirees.

To open your Key Account — the one account that unlocks the door to many free financial services — just visit the Community Federal office nearest you. Or give us a call and we'll be happy to mail the materials to you.

BY DICK CAMPBELL

ELEUTHERA, BAHAMAS—The look of relief on the faces of Rick Campbell and Jeff Jacobs made the whole trip worth while.

You don't know how much I appreciate this. Our rent was up and we were running out of money. I don't know how we could have lasted another 10 minutes !!! Rick said as Tim Tealey and I debarked from the plane here.

Your call had come through late yesterday evening, and Rick had said that Piper Airlines couldn't get him off the island of Eleuthera until today (Jan. 11). He added that Jeff had also confirmed return reservations and was in the same fix.

I am still figure any way to get us out. We'll have to sleep on the beach if we can't get out of here.

I had said.

What is a father to do?

Tim Tealey, dean of FIT and an excellent pilot, offered to fly me over to pick up the boys, 250 miles away.

They had left on December 28 and should have known there was going to be airline trouble when Jeff got bumped from the flight and had to be driven to Ft. Lauderdale to catch another flight.

In Eleuthera, eight young men had rented a house. They found a surf that ran up to eight feet, and spent their days surfing, swimming and sightseeing on the little island 250 miles southeast of Jensen Beach.

Included in the party from this area were Rick and Jeff, Jamie Walker, Jimbo Shipes and Clyde Duryea.

Eleuthera is tropical beauty, a small island with green coral waters that beckon divers and surfers and tourists who like a simple life away from hustle and bustle.

The people were very friendly, and no one locks their house. We would leave our surfboards on the beach overnight, four miles away from the house, and they would be there the next day, Rick said. He added that Bahamian police came to the island only once a week.

The house was small and old, rented for a total of fifteen dollars a day. Mice were the main varmints that plagued the boys, and one day they found a two-inch tarantula in the house. There was no hot water, and the toilet was so bad we had to reach in the back to flush it.

Between surfing and sightseeing, the vacationers enjoyed cliff jumping off forty foot cliffs into the ocean.

The evenings were spent talking about the previous day over a beer at Stubby's Bar, a local hangout with a pool table and juke box.

When we planned the trip, good weather was forecast over the weekend but by Monday a cold front stalled over the southeast coast. We flew at 6,500 feet to avoid the clouds, dropped below the clouds at Freeport, and went the 125 miles to Eleuthera at 2,000 feet.

Everywhere the small islands looked inviting with their sandy beaches, blue-green waters and coral flats that seemed a fisherman's paradise.

Flying low over the beaches it seemed the place to find quiet.

Eleuthera was a long island that had several small villages clustered in the lee of prevailing southeast trade winds. Gregory Town on North Eleuthera is the largest village and is noted as being a harbor frequented by pirates in the 18th century.

The customs officials were courteous and expedited the transfer of the young men to the aircraft.

CLEARED—Having finally cleared customs, Jeff Jacobs and Rick Campbell (left of the plane) ready to depart Eleuthera in the Bahamas.

SATISFACTION—As the plane took off from Eleuthera, Bahamas, Jeff Jacobs showed satisfaction in having been saved following his holiday vacation in the islands.

TIE DOWN—Preparing to leave Eleuthera, Bahamas, Tim Tealey checks the gas in the engine. The six passenger plane easily carried the four persons and baggage, including surf boards, on the trip back to Stuart airport.

Obituary

ARNOLD A. TAUBE

TAUBE—Arnold A. Taube, 85, of Riverview Street, Stuart, passed away Friday, January 2, at Martin Memorial Hospital following a brief illness.

He was a resident of Jensen Beach for 45 years, moving to Stuart four years ago.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Harold Peck, three grandchildren, Robert A. Peck and Kevin Peck of Stuart, Mrs. Mary Lee of Orlando, and one great granddaughter.

Funeral services were held at the Funeral Home Monday with Rev. Karl K. Pollheim of the First United Presbyterian Church officiating. Interment was in All Saints' Cemetery, Jensen Beach.

PARTING IS—As their buddies wait to catch a Mackey Airlines flight to West Palm Beach, Rick Campbell and Jeff Jacobs say goodbye. Localities above include Jamie Walker, Jimbo Shipes and Clyde Duryea.

We stopped on the way back at Freeport to refuel, flew to West Palm Beach to be checked in by customs, and then returned to Witham Field in Stuart.

"It's good to be home. The first thing I'm going to do is get a glass of fresh milk. We didn't have any over there," Rick said as we hauled his baggage home.

It was a full day, yet we had left at 8:30 a.m. and returned before 3 p.m. Remembering my youth and some of the spots I was in during some of my adventures, it felt good to be able to help out.

Later we learned that the other boys had been flown to Ft. Lauderdale rather than West Palm Beach, and had to be driven by car to the West Palm airport, arriving late that night.

CLEAR—Ready to take off from Eleuthera, Tim Tealey is a study of concentration as he starts the engine of a borrowed Piper Cherokee used to bring two young men back from a surfing vacation in the Bahama Islands.

City is praised by League

PORT ST. LUCIE—"A milestone year" was the term directors of the Port St. Lucie Civic League used in a statement reviewing the accomplishments of the City Council and the City administration for 1975.

League President Charles Hayde referred to it as a good year, adding: "We think it appropriate to review the year, publicly, to remind residents of the city's problems and how they were handled."

Particularly challenging, he said, "was the fact that the new Council had to start from back of scratch in many instances because of actions and procedures by previous administrations."

The League statement will be presented Wednesday, January 14, at its annual meeting to be held in the Sandpiper Bay Convention Hall. Meeting time is 8 p.m.

There will be an election of additional directors to bring the total board to fifteen. The public is invited and will have the opportunity of joining the League at that time. New members will be eligible to vote at the meeting.

The League's statement included the following observations:

"Port St. Lucie has just passed through a year which has been a milestone in the city's growth, and the Directors of the Civic League feel the events of the year deserve attention.

"The early part of the year witnessed the most intensive campaigning in history for four City Council posts. The resulting new faces on the council provided votes sufficient to indicate that new directions in city government were demanded.

"Considering the fact that things don't get done overnight, and that many municipal projects are in progress along the pipeline, the Board would like to point to some of these new directions in city government.

"The Council has agreed on a new concept in city pensions. No elected officials nor appointed officials now participate in the city's pension plan.

"The Council has established a Planning and Zoning Board and assigned to it the duty of studying plans for the city's growth, and for setting up the means to put these plans into effect.

"The Council has moved to update and codify the city's ordinances, a step needed to bring understanding and order out of what has been near chaos in the city's records of ordinances and resolutions.

"As a part of the modernizing of ordinances, the Council has directed efforts to write a new zoning ordinance which will bring order to many vital matters in our growing city.

"The council is considering legislation to permit the City to recoup money from property owners delinquent with special charges, whereas in the past this money has been paid out by the city, and repaid only when property has been finally sold, and a lien satisfied.

"The City has had conversations with the County government to seek a fairer share of tax moneys collected by the County for use within the City.

"The City has arranged for the transfer of Sportsman Park to the City, and thus take the first step toward a recreational program.

"The City is announcing agreement by the County to provide office services at City Hall two days per week to assist citizens in tax matters.

"The City administration has come through a period when much time and energy has been expended with courts and the Grand Jury studying the manner in which the city's business was formerly conducted and.

"To correct many of the errors of omission and commission which it inherited, the City administration has introduced new procedures and policies in the internal conduct of city affairs. This overhauling of procedures continues.

"The upshot of the above changes, plus others which also deserve to be on such a list, is that the city's affairs are being conducted in a manner much more open to the public and more understandable to citizens who take the trouble to attend Council sessions and to ask questions.

"The Council's conduct of city affairs recognizes that public business is public business, and that the citizens are entitled to full participation and information.

"In view of the above record, the Board of the Civic League feels the City Council is entitled to recognition for a job it tries to do well, and to encouragement in its efforts to administer city affairs in a forthright manner.

"Even though it may disagree at appropriate times in civic matters and on specific issues, the Board of the Civic League feels the sincere attention of the City administration, and all citizens, to matters of civic importance will result in a better city for everyone, and it pledges its cooperation and participation toward that end."

Venture Out News

by THE PINCH HITTERS
by Jackie Phillips

Willard Auch received Christmas greetings from Ethel and Chuck Koselke with the following message:

"We closed our home, temporarily, in Tomahawk, Wisc. and are living at present in the Chicago area until Chuck retires. Regards to everyone and our thoughts will be with all you wonderful Venture Out people at the holidays and, oh yes, when the cold winds blow and the snow comes down."

To know him was to love him. We are all saddened by the sudden death of Jake Davis on January 2nd. At least that day was a day filled with what Jake liked to do best: took some fellows fishing on his boat, caught a great catch of fish, took Betty her son Bob and his wife to the Outrigger for dinner.

Betty is going home to Erie, Pa. for the funeral and will return to Venture Out as soon as possible. Our condolences and thoughts are with you Betty.

Albert and Mary Debelius of Baltimore, Md. have purchased lot 753. Welcome to the first finger!

They will be here for a short time this year, but look forward to an extended stay next year.

We are happy to have the Mowrys back. On their way here a truck rammed the back of their Airstream. Fortunately, no one was hurt. Only the Airstream which will be repaired soon.

Red and Alice Fitzgerald are entertaining their good friends and neighbors from Mentor, Ohio - Eddie and Rose Nelson. The Nelsons have just returned from a 6,000 mile cross country trip. With them all the way were their two poodles, Tillie and Muffin. After visiting their son in Ft. Lauderdale they will head back to Mentor.

Eddie has been having a great time fishing from the Lazarus dock, catching all kinds of fish. From the sounds emanating from the Fitz's trailer, everyone is having a ball!

One of our Texas friends said that although they brag about a lot of things, they also brag about bad things such as this about Texas mud:

A man was struggling to get through an especially muddy stretch of country road when he saw a hat lying on the ground. It looked like a pretty good hat and he dismounted to pick it up. Leaning out cautiously over the mudhole, he seized it by the crown and a voice from beneath called out: "Hey, what you doing there?" The hat was on a man's head.

"Do you need any help?" the wayfarer was asked.

"No, thank you," he replied, "I'm riding a mighty good horse and I guess I'll make it through."

Happy New Year to all!

VENTURE HARBOUR NEWS
By Jessie Shaver

Things have really quieted down over the weekend, with the departures of all the visiting children and grandchildren.

The Don Smiths are the only ones who still have their family with them.

The Venture Harbourites who were gone over the holidays have returned from visits to their families. That is what Edith and Dick Painter have done, also Louise Sheppard.

By the time you read this, Barbara and Stan Clarke will be here. They are leaving Connecticut on the 4th. Welcome home.

Our sincere sympathy goes to Betty Davis on her loss. We will all miss Jake very much.

Chorus starts spring session

JENSEN BEACH--Adults who have not previously sung with the Community Chorus are invited to join the chorus in spring rehearsals commencing Monday, January 26 at 7:30 p.m. The Chorus will meet each Monday evening to rehearse for the presentation of Bach's St. Mathew's Passion.

Two performances of The Passion will be presented in the spring. A performance is scheduled for Palm Sunday, April 11 at First Congregational United Church of Christ, Palm City. A second presentation will be given Good Friday in conjunction with the services held by the Ministerial Assoc. at one p.m. at Jensen Beach Community Church, Jensen Beach.

Chorus members will be required to purchase the text music score, which will be available locally for $4. The music should be ordered now since two weeks may be needed for delivery.

For further information call Donald Clapp at 283-5363 or Adult Education 287-6866.

NARFE will install

STUART--The January meeting of the Martin County Chapter of the National Assn. of Retired Federal Employees will be held in the Community Room of First National Bank and Trust of Stuart on Wednesday, January 14th at 1:30 p.m.

The meeting will be preceded by a social hour.

David Grotefend, Education Director of the Tri County Rehabilitation Center, will be the guest speaker.

Philip Clark, District director of District No. 6, will install the newly elected officers for 1976. They are: president, Alvin Rupp; vice president, Leah Kesserman; recording secretary, Robert Smith; corresponding secretary, Rose Marie Jennaus; and treasurer, Ted Pendleton.

All retired government employees in Martin County are invited to attend.

Birthday greetings

Holiday Outlines

BY RUTH BOWES
334-4946

The New Year's dance was a huge success, thanks to the hard working committee headed by Roy and Bea Leonard, including Jeff and Tina Van Raay, Helen and Carl Eury and their son and his wife, Al and Ila Taylor, Stu and Pinney Bennett.

The table prizes were colorful mum plants, and I hear the music by Bill Hendrichsen and the Fred Rode Trio was the best.

Refreshments were relishes, good roast beef and ham sandwiches and coffee for those that wanted it. All said they are looking forward to next year.

Sunday's service at the Pavillion Church had another good attendance, with Rev. Clark Thompson officiating. Dee Brink was the organist and Bert Turner gave the announcements. Ushers were Mark Sumner, Bob Barton and Lester Ullmann.

Ann Relchenbach and Harold Robbins, lot 353, have friends from Brocton, Mass., visiting in the park for a week. This is the visitors' first time in Holiday Out, as well as their first experience in a trailer. All like the sunshine, and the smallest boy says he has already "got sand in his shoes." They are Mr. and Mrs. David McAuliffe and children David, Jr., Kenneth and Eddie Also, Mike Dionne and Mark Goggan.

Jean and Mac McCabe spent a lovely weekend with Jon and Pat Vetterl in their new double wide mobile home in Maplewood Mobile Park at Port Orange. They said it was 10 to 15 degrees cooler there, but the enjoyed driving on Daytona Beach where they added, no one was getting a sun tan.

Mrs. Madelene Reheiser wishes to say "Hello" to all her old friends here, plus the new students who will be in her Art Class starting Friday, January 9, 2 p.m. at the rec hall. There will be many shows coming up where artists can exhibit their work. All are welcome.

Ruth and Earl Bowes had another pleasant Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Joel Nava and son Joel Earl came for a visit.

Good news! Bea Leonard, who spent Christmas and New Year's Eve at Martin Memorial, was able to come home New Year's Day.

We have some news about Gene Gray, also. One of his scheduled three operations is over and he is doing well. His wife Millie and their daughter are in Texas with him. Keep up the good work, Gene and best wishes from all your friends in Holiday Out.

Bridge scores on Monday night were: Erma Barton, 5660; Bob Barton 4480; Sophie Holler 4450.

Another good crowd enjoyed Friday night bingo. Lester Ullmann won the first coverall, Irma St. Louis the second, and Lucille Myers the winner-take-all.

John Marrotte, grandson of Paul and Ethel Pinkiewicz, had a ball during the week he spent in the park with his grandparents. There were plenty of pretty girls and friendly guys for companions, and fishing was good, too. But then, he had Paul to show him all the best spots.

To say that John was reluctant to leave for home in Willamantic, Connecticut, is the understatement of 1976.

Rosalie Bryson came down from Delaware with her sister Isabel and brother-in-law Bill Gordy for we hope, an extended stay. In other years Rosalie has always had a show scheduled for early rehearsal and had to hurry back north too soon. This year, with sister Joyce and brother-in-law Elmer Edwards and the Gordys here, maybe Rosalie will stay long enough to thrill us with a concert, as she has done so graciously in previous years.

It has been quite a while since we had a pot luck supper at the rec hall, but one is planned for this Thursday, January 8, at 6:30 p.m.

Jay Boucher is going to show slides of their trip to the Baja Peninsula and Mexico after supper. It should be an enjoyable evening. Please sign the list posted in the lower rec hall if you plan to attend.

Delightful hosts, Mary and Adrian Nemeth had an open house party at their Jensen Beach home on New Year's Day for fifty neighbors and friends. Guests from Holiday Out present and voting (that it was a lovely party) were Mr. and Mrs. Allen Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. William Blair, Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. John Helm and Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm O'Donnell.

John and Grace Carson returned safely from their trip to New Jersey to spend the holidays with their daughter Nancy, son-in-law Frank Deronde and three grandchildren.

They report that it was great being with their family, but the drive up and back was definitely "not" half the fun. Traffic was heavy in both directions. Little do Grace and John know that we had some traffic problems right here in our park during the holidays.

Doris and Raymond May have arrived from Michigan to spend the winter.

Jim and Carolyn Allen entertained Tom and Irene Russell, Oscar and Bea Lupke and Art and Helen March around the bonfire on New Year's Eve.

Norine and Darlene Binder have returned to chilly Illinois. They will come back in March.

Welcome back to George and Flo Simmons. They are here for the rest of the winter and looking fine.

Irene Russell is conducting impromptu sewing classes these days. Just wait till you see Gordie St. Louis's new leisure suit.

Olive and George Taylor spent Sunday at Vero Beach, visiting Olive's parents.

Joan Byrne has her Aunt Glad visiting in the park from Terre du Lac in Missouri. Glad and John have a friend, Nell, with them.

Liz Faust is still fighting the flu, but it's good to report that Carrie Ullmann is feeling much better.

The New Year was welcomed in by a group of friends around Gert and Bob Long's fireplace. Snacks were served and lots of good fun enjoyed.

Newcomers arriving during the past week were George Taylor, lot 53; Robert Armstrong, lot 94; Arnold Pickett, lot 188; Orville Quick, 313; Joseph Lang, 498; Robert Davis, lot 104; Lee Stall, 458; James Williams, lot 207; Joe Wasilik, 250; and George Miller on lot 183.

K. Schluchter is on lot 169; Russell Wells, lot 120; James Bathrick, 90; Max Rimmel, lot 93, a member of the Carbone family; Henry Blachoff will be here on lot 215 for three months.

Guests in are John Helm, 412; Nicklos Chaplik, lot 500; Donald Haight, lot 383; Wilbur White, lot 183; Harry and Mary Bonin, lot 28; D. Brantsheu, lot 164; Fred Morgan, 493; Gilbert Hall, lot 58; Leo Wojtusik, lot 505; and Mr. Habegger, lot 244.

Anniversary congratulations are extended this week to Bertha and George Trumble on January 11.

Happy Birthday wishes go to Joe Lang, Jan. 8; John Dumphy, Jan. 10; Ed Adams and Don Sheiron, Jan. 12; Bob Long, Jim Lewis and Rosalie Bryson, Jan. 13; and Elias Heins, Jan. 14.

News of Nettles Island

BY DOROTHY ENGEL

Here we are, going into the second week of the New Year. Activity has calmed down somewhat as all the vacationers have gone back home and the children have settled down in school again.

Temperatures were just getting up there again, bringing some nice warm sunny days when old Mr. North wind came blowing in. We'll just have to bundle up and turn the heaters on at night for a few days until it warms up again - and it will.

Last Tuesday, Dec. 30th, we all had a chance to meet the canine population on Nettles Island. A most interesting pet show was put on at the island by mrs. Babe Briggs and her co-workers Olivia Gowen, Annette Meindel, and Thelma Beedell.

Forty-five beautiful dogs of all breeds were entered - show dogs, pedigreed and mutts. Some of them really put on a show for us.

The day turned out to be very beautiful and the crowds were very large as usual.

Mrs. Briggs felt very happy to have had a real AKC Chairman on the island.

Judges were Byron Street, Joe Bazzano and Eleanor Pesku.

There were two trophy cups and fifteen ribbons given.

A good time was had by all. We must do this again sometime, Babe.

The Tennis Club really put in a lot of volunteer time supervising the courts during this busy holiday season.

Lee Vogel, lot 935, had taken over the responsibility to see that all positions were filled. The staff appreciated their taking over this facet of the recreational department. A job well done.

Parties come and go, but the New Year's Eve affair celebrated Wednesday and Thursday morning will long be remembered by those 250 fortunate ticket holders.

It all began at 8 p.m. with a happy hour and a fabulous array of hors d'oeuvres.

At 9 p.m. sharp, Phil Nixon and his 17 piece orchestra took the spotlight and, oh those memories of the "Big Band" era!

Champagne went on the tables at 11:30 as did the horns, noisemakers and streamers.

1976 was ushered in with a countdown and balloons filled the hall as midnight arrived.

When the excitement quieted down, came the final touch - impressive trays of ham, corned beef, pastrami, turkey and on and on.

Like all good things that must come to an end, 2 a.m. signalled the finish of a special happening. The ladies will remember the surprise corsages and the men the next morning hangovers.

Thanks to the Men's Club for sponsoring the occasion and a salute to co-chairmen Al Ganz and Matty Vogel. A deep bow and tip of the hat to Lee Vogel and the lovely ladies who contributed so very, very much.

Not only at the party but all throughout the resort when the New Year hour struck, the shouts of Happy New Year, the horns blowing and noise makers of all sorts could be heard, bringing excitement and cheer into the start of 1976.

Ron & Dorothy Engel got quite a surprise on New Year's Eve when they received a phone call at 1 a.m. from Dorothy's sister Linda Duero and her nieces, Lisa Hamann from Wisconsin and Mary Ratliff & her husband Bob, from Alabama. They were in Ft. Pierce and would be arriving within the hour.

Happy to see part of her family after two years and relieved to find a trailer to put them in, it made a very exciting New Year's Eve.

They've been enjoying the beach and especially the ocean, since it's the first time for Lisa & Linda. They sure hate to have to go back home.

Bob & Mary, who are still on their honeymoon, having been married less than five months, took a side trip to Lake Okeechobee and the Everglades where Bob, while fishing, almost caught a small alligator. That would have been a nice souvenir to take back home.

We're glad you're enjoying your stay on Nettles Island.

Annette & Arthur Meindel have a visitor for the holidays. Ms. Trudy Neidenburg, an old friend from Springfield, N.J., is enjoying a welcome visit with them.

Roy & Pat Jones, lot 1265, who are enjoying their fourth winter here, are being visited by their daughter Cheryl Jones from S. Denis Cape Cod, Mass. Cheryl teaches retarded & emotionally disturbed children for the State in Hyannis.

Like a lot of us this winter, she finds the weather cool, but is enjoying everything in spite of it. She and her father Roy took a nice trip down to the Keys and the Everglades, stopping to see the Monkey Jungle, took an air boat ride and glass bottom boat to see the coral reefs.

Peg Gorham, lot 147-2, wishes on behalf of herself and her daughter June Stafford and family, to thank each and every one who helped put out the fire and shut down the engine in their motor home last Monday. It occurred just as they pulled out into the middle of the intersection on Nettles, and with a full road load of gasoline and propane, they could have had a holocaust on this end of the island.

Folks, this brings home our need to get behind any plan to get fire-fighting equipment on this island. It could happen to any of us here and we need to support any effort to this end. Their plight turned out well and the family is home on the north safe and sound - but another time, some of us may not be that fortunate.

Bea Brodess was happy to have her daughter LaVerne Pritchard, her husband Ned and two daughters Shari and Diane visit over the Christmas Holidays. They are from Warren, Ohio.

Ken and Bernice Dubuque enjoyed the company of their friends Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Boyd from Queens Park for Christmas dinner.

Jerry and Lena Bianco were pleased to have his brother Paul Bianco and his wife Angie and Al and Rose Comeneri visit with them recently.

Warren and Elouse Wand had as their visitors for three days, Russell Jordon and his wife Faye and daughters Pamela and Tamantha from Harrisburg, Pa. The Wards thoroughly enjoyed having them.

Ed and Fern Hill had her daughter Wanda Stygler and her husband Bill, daughter Kim 17 yrs. and son Bill III-15 yrs. from Columbus, Ohio, visit them for two weeks, taking a week partly elsewhere.

This week's highlight was certainly our New Year's Eve party at the clubhouse. From the time Helen Weaver started her tape recorder until midnight, many were dancing.

Then just as a good book unfolds, so did the Old and New Years in the persons of George March as Father Time, presenting himself charming, is dressed in a sheet and banner, a hemp wig, beard and mustache, and carrying a scythe, and following closely behind him, Baby New Year - Charlie Siman, 76, dressed fetchingly in a diaper, banner, hairbow, complete with pacifier.

The laughter made the rafters ring.

Then all of us greeted each other affectionately. A sing along was led by Fred Ballatis, which all enjoyed.

The hall was decorated with red and green top lights and balloons hung from the ceiling. Each table had a small candle. A full table of beautiful, tasty food, more than ample, served the 42 in attendance. It all looked just lovely, along with the Christmas decorations and tree.

Doris Martin chaired the event, assisted by Clara Burmeister, Dot and Harry Beamer, Tom Rooney and his fiance, Martha Sandow, George Marsh and Charlie Siman.

Clara Burmeister, fashioned Father Time's hair pieces and I was honored with the job of dressing the men of midnight.

A very good time was had by all!

John Bollenbacher announced the approaching marriage of Martha Sandow and Tom Rooney on Saturday afternoon, January 24. All are invited to the 4 p.m. ceremony at the First Presbyterian Church in North River Shores.

New Year's Day, Doris Martin went to the hall to see about clean up work and already there was Harry Beamer mopping the floor and Bill Eastman washing up the coffee pot and utensils - a most pleasant surprise. Bill also made the very fine lettered banners for the party.

Lake Manor folks are most cooperative, which makes this a lovely place to live!

Anglers schedule annual auction

PORT ST. LUCIE--All systems are go for the biggest event of the year sponsored by the Port St. Lucie Anglers' Club, according to Bob Brunton, past president.

The Giant Annual Fishing Tackle Auction will be held January 20 at the CESA Community Center, starting promptly at 7 p.m.

Bargains galore will go to the highest bidders. Items to be auctioned will include all new tackle, jigs, sinkers, rods, reels, tackle boxes, line, lures, bait buckets, knives, stringers and many more.

In addition to the annual auction, the Anglers' Club sponsors three fishing contests each year.

Contest No. 1 started December 1 and ends May 31. Contest No. 2 starts June 1, ending November 30. Contest No. 3 starts June 1, ends September 30.

Contests 1 and 2 are for members only.

Contest No. 3 is open to community youth, 15 years and under, who are bonafide year-round residents of the Port St. Lucie-River Park area with prizes for all contestants.

Rules for Contests 1 and 2 are:

1. Adults must be club members in good standing with dues paid at least seven days before entering a fish.

2. All entries must be legally caught on rod and reel or fishing pole and must be registered at an official weighing station.

3. Not more than one prize will be awarded to any contestant. However, special blue fish and snook trophies are awarded in addition to regular prizes.

4. Decisions of the judges will be final.

Official weighing stations are White's Discount Tackle, The Sand Flea, Jack's Fishing Corner, all located in Fort Pierce; Pier I, Stuart Tackle Shop and Ideal Sport Shop, Stuart; The Snook Nook and the Bait Box in Jensen Beach.

The public is cordially invited to join the club or attend meetings. Meetings are held the first and third Tuesdays of each month at the Port St. Lucie Marina. Meeting time is 7:30 p.m.

Club programs feature movies, guest speakers, fishing clinics and conservation activities and always wind up with free refreshments.

Homeowners schedule January 15 meet

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Port St. Lucie Homeowners Association will hold a general meeting Thursday, January 15, 7:30 p.m. at the CESA Community Center.

The nominating committee will present a slate of candidates to fill the offices of first vice-president, treasurer and directors for areas 2, 4, 8, and 10. Nominations will also be accepted from the floor.

Featured speaker for the evening will be Mayor Schuyler Sharpe who has been recently appointed chairman of the Council of Governments (COG).

Sharpe's report will cover the program of COG as well as reviewing the activities and accomplishments of the City of Port St. Lucie Council.

Your Homeowners Association has been responsible for many improvements and recommendations that continue to make Port St. Lucie a desirable home-owning community," said President Vern Forrar as he urged residents to take part in forming that city.

Membership dues for 1976 are now due. Residents may either mail their checks for $3.00 to Mrs. Miriam Levine, Treas., 2649 SW Harem Circle, Port St. Lucie 33452, or pay dues at the January 15 meeting.

Enns to speak to Repubs

PORT ST. LUCIE--Edward Enns, Chairman of the St. Lucie County Commission, will address the next meeting of the Port St. Lucie Republican Club.

Meeting time is 7:30 p.m. Thursday, January 8, at the CESA Community Center.

All south St. Lucie County Republicans are invited to attend.

Enns will discuss the county commission, services provided by the county, and convey some ideas concerning candidates for the presidential election this year.

Jack LaFrance, program chairman, announces that refreshments will be served, adding, "You all come and bring a friend."

Kernohan claims $50,000 owed

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE--Although three members of the City Council were quick enough to toss out a figure of some $50,000 as the approximate amount owed the City by former and one present, council members, they were more than somewhat reluctant to provide even a tentative breakdown of the figure when questioned following the Tuesday workshop session.

Councilwoman and City Treasurer Lolita Kernohan said the figure was compiled from findings included in the recent State Auditor General's report.

City Attorney Spencer Gilbert opened up the discussion by giving a lengthy report on a meeting held last week with former Councilman Dr. Harold Nottley. Gilbert said he and Alfred Horowitz, assistant city attorney, met with Nottley to discuss whether or not he would be willing to return an estimated $463 to the city in accordinance with the state auditor's report.

Although rumors got out to the contrary, Gilbert claimed he did not say Dr. Nottley owed the city money, nor did they debate whether the findings were right or wrong.

"The meeting was arranged for the sole purpose of surveying the doctor's thoughts on the subject," Gilbert said.

After the session, Mayor Schuyler Sharpe instructed Kernohan to withhold any breakdown of the figures.

"We do not want to release this information before we have had the opportunity of double checking the figures," the mayor said.

It was apparent from the remarks of the Council that the majority 3-2 favors the city pressing for the recovery of the funds, through court action if necessary.

The recent St. Lucie Grand Jury report concerning the City was free of indictments although the Jury was critical of some past "carelessness" involving management of city funds.

The report covering the activities of the city from July 1968 through May 31, 1975 pointed out that the Grand Jury could find no justification for city officials maintaining the accounting procedures in such a manner.

In short, the Grand Jury reported that in as much as the councilmembers had acted after receiving legal opinions, their actions were taken in good faith and no crime was committed.

Even though their various careless practices were improper, the Grand Jury could find no evidence of any intent on the part of the councilmen involved to receive any city funds by fraudulent means.

Vice-Mayor Frank Rose, Mrs. Kernohan and Sharpe were of the opinion the city should try to recover the funds, while Councilmen Bill McChesney and Larry Kimmel recommended a more complete study of the matter.

"This city went through a traumatic experience this past year," McChesney said, adding that many friendships were broken and the city was split.

Many are no longer interested in politics primarily because of the split of our city.

"I think it is essential for us on the City Council to view this situation very closely before we head back into another court trial. If the people involved are willing to repay the city fine, but to drag out another court hearing and involve people, I just can't see it that way," McChesney told his listeners.

Councilman Larry Kimmel expressed surprise at the remarks and claimed all funds called illegal have been repaid.

The other funds have not been declared illegal not by any attorney or grand jury," Kimmel said.

Should the latest issue become a court matter City Attorney Spencer Gilbert has recommended the city employ outside counsel, claiming a conflict of interest on his part.

At the close of the session, the Council agreed to seek the recommendations of outside legal counsel. Meanwhile, City Attorney Gilbert was instructed to follow through with his survey to see whether or not those involved are willing to pay up.

Sandpiper plans full day of tennis

PORT ST. LUCIE--Tennis professional Mario Obando of Sandpiper Bay has scheduled a full day of tournaments and exhibitions January 25 to celebrate the opening of the resort's new tennis pavilion and three additional courts.

The program starts in the morning with opening rounds of a member-guest round robin handicap doubles tournament. Obando said awards will be presented to the winners in men's and ladies' and mixed doubles divisions of the tourney.

Louis E. Fischer, president and chief executive officer of General Development Corporation which owns and operates Sandpiper Bay, will be joined by local officials in a noon ceremony opening the new tennis pavilion according to Obando.

The pavilion is located in the center of the tennis complex and will provide players and fans alike with complete facilities, including a pro shop, locker rooms and a terraced viewing area of all the courts.

The three new courts will give Sandpiper Bay a total of 11 modern surfaces, eight of which are illuminated for after dark play.

A highlight of the day-long program will be a Davis Cup-style exhibition featuring Obando and three other well-known tennis professionals.

According to Obando, the addition of the pavilion and three courts will put Sandpiper Bay in the forefront of South Florida tennis facilities and he already is planning to further expand the resort's court program this year.

The Second Annual Sandpiper Bay Invitational Tournament is set for February 27-29, Obando explained, "and we are working on plans for other tournaments and exhibitions later in the year."

Obando, the former Costa Rican national champion who became Sandpiper Bay's pro in 1974, said special emphasis will be placed on activities to develop young tennis players.

County services come to south

PORT ST. LUCIE--Residents for the first time will have the opportunity to file for homestead exemption without leaving their south county community, according to Mayor Schuyler Sharpe, who announced the start of the first county services to be offered locally.

Starting Wednesday, January 7 (today) a representative from the St. Lucie Tax Assessor's Office will be available at the Port St. Lucie City Hall two days each week, Wednesday and Thursday, to serve the residents of the community.

Urging residents to utilize the local services, Mayor Sharpe said, "It behooves us to avail ourselves of these services locally since this will most likely serve as a guage or guideline for obtaining other county services we hope to have available in future months."

According to Mayor Sharpe, Wednesdays and Thursdays were preferred due to the heavy workload and various meetings scheduled during the remaining three week days.

Residents may file their homestead exemption on Wednesday or Thursday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the City Hall.

Charter dates set

PORT ST. LUCIE--There will be two special meetings of the Charter Revision Committee for the purpose of holding public hearings. The first meeting will be held on January 7 (tonight) at 7:30 p.m. in the Florida Room North of the Sandpiper Bay Resort Hotel.

The second meeting will be held on January 9, 1976 at 7:30 p.m. in the CESA Building, Prima Vista Blvd., Port St. Lucie.

The regular meetings of the Charter Revision Committee for the month of January are scheduled as follows: January 12 - 1:30 p.m.; January 19 - 1:30 p.m.; January 26 - 1:30 p.m.

All meetings are open to the public and will be held in the Board Room of the Sandpiper Bay Resort Hotel.

Ruth registration

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Optimist Club of Port St. Lucie announces registration for Babe Ruth Baseball will be held Saturday, January 10, and Saturday, January 17 at the Babe Ruth field in Sportsman's Park.

Starting time for registering on both days is 2 p.m.

Youths 13, 14 and 15 years old as of August 1, 1976, are eligible.

Unlocks free services and 5¼% per year interest...

KEY ACCOUNT

Lots of new services have been offered recently by financial institutions. Now Community Federal brings these services together under one roof and offers you one Key Account.

It's a new type of interest earning account. If you make transactions, you'll receive monthly statements. If there's no account activity, we'll send you quarterly statements to show the interest you've earned.

And your funds will earn 5.4% yearly interest, compounded daily, from the day you put your money in until the day you take it out.

The "Master Key"

Your $300 minimum Key Account balance will bring you some very valuable money management tools:

- Free Prestige Card. Serves as your account identification at all Community Federal offices — and at participating Prestige savings and loans across the country.
- Prestige Emergency Cash. From now on, when you're out of town and out of cash you're not out of luck! Just visit the nearest Prestige location (over 2,000 in 46 states). You can cash a personal check or make an Emergency Cash Withdrawal from your Key Account.
- Free Dial-A-Count® Service. Earn daily interest on your paycheck, then transfer that money to your bank checking account for monthly bills. Transfer money from checking to Key Account, too — by telephone, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.
- Cookie Jar® Remote Tellers. Choose your own hours and make nine different transactions — with your Prestige Card. Two Miller's Super Valu locations, Lake Park (7am – midnight) and West Palm Beach (open 24 hours).
- Transmatic® Savings. You never need to miss a savings deposit again. We can make it for you — automatically — on the day (or days) of the month that you specify.
- Free Automatic Mortgage Payment. For Community Federal home loan customers. Let us do the work for you!
- Free Direct Deposit of Social Security Checks. The Treasury Department can mail your check directly to us each month. And we'll deposit it — automatically.
- Free Travelers Checks. Why pay a service charge? You can have as many free First National City Travelers Checks as you need — as often as you like!
- Free Money Orders. Sometimes you'd rather pay a bill with a money order than with a check. Now you can have free money orders with Key Account.
- Free Notary Service. There's a notary public at every Community Federal office (except our Singer Island Drive-In Facility). And now this service is free.
- More Free Services Will Be Added!

Club wins citation

JENSEN BEACH-The Jensen Beach Optimist Club only a year old, has won the presidential citation club president Bill Mang said.

The award was made for the club's achievements during our first year, Mang said.

He will receive the award at a district meeting in the near future.

Mang said that the club sends monthly reports to the state reporting its activities and membership.

The Optimist Club operates all youth activities at Longford Park according to Mang.

And the new Recreation Center that Vince Bacchus was president of the club when the ground was made.

The club has football, baseball, basketball, softball and swimming programs for the youth of the area. The club is also in charge of the Fourth of July fireworks display and the Christmas parade.

Community fund wrapup

VFW jam session will become victory party

JENSEN BEACH–"It's going to be a great party, a victory party to celebrate the wrapup of our first Community Fund drive" said LaVaughn Tilton, president, as she excitedly talked about the January 25 marathon party for workers and residents of the Jensen Beach Rio area

Mrs Tilton's enthusiasm followed announcement that the Jensen Beach Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 10066 would turn their Sunday January 25 jam session, featuring top entertainers in the area, into a victory party for the Community Fund

Wendell Halverson, chairman of the jam session, told The Mirror the VFW would "be proud to have the party, and we'll have a great time"

The jam session begins at 2 p m and continues through the afternoon and into the evening

As it was in the past, the victory party would be the celebration of the end of the "one-for-all, all-for-one fund drive Also, as in the past, a first ditch effort would be made to put the drive over the top

The goal this year is $18,000, and the drive has come up about $4,000 short of the goal

"I know there is no way that we can expect to get $4,000 in this victory party, but we'll have fun, and try to get as much money in the party as we can," Mrs Tilton said

Many prizes will be auctioned off, and local entertainment will be auctioned There will be a one dollar donation charged at the door, and all proceeds of the party will go into the Community Fund account

Radio announcers from WSTU will be on hand to emcee the program, and many surprises are planned throughout the afternoon and evening

A full list of the events of the victory party will be published next week in The Mirror

Fire department donations coming

JENSEN BEACH–Contributions to the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department fund raising campaign are coming in, Fire Chief Randolph Spinney said

We have mailed out 4,200 letters seeking donations, Chief Spinney said Already the replies are coming in with generous donations

Once each year the first week in January, the department holds a campaign seeking donations

In a dear neighbor letter, the chief writes

"Your generosity in the past, combined with efforts of the dedicated men of the Fire Department, has given us the best equipped and most efficient volunteer Fire Department in Martin County This gives us an excellent insurance rating, and benefits many of you by a lower insurance premium

You are cordially invited to inspect the Fire Department facilities Monday through Friday from 8 a m to 5 p m and from 8 a m to noon Saturday

The chief noted that all money received from donations will be used for purchase and maintenance of equipment of the department

The department recently added a new 2,200 gallon truck, making the total number of trucks six with a total capacity of 56,000 gallons

There are 18 men in the department, the chief said

The department elected officers for 1976, including Don Wilkie, president Bill Yurillo, vice president Fred Jennings, secretary treasurer The three commissioners are Ed Sprague, Joe Lucrisio and Mike Quinn

CONTRIBUTIONS Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department Chief Randolph Spinney holds some of the replies the department has received in their annual "dear neighbor" campaign for donations $20 for a strip tease?

Add to it, I'll do it!

BY DICK CAMPBELL

Richard Neeson and I were talking about how to promote the upcoming victory party for the Jensen Beach-Rio Community Fund, slated for January 25 at the VFW

Charlie Cates walked over, smiled, and said, "I'll give twenty bucks if you do a strip tease"

He was pointing at me

We'll do almost anything to raise money for the community fund (almost, I said) But the idea got me to thinking If we're going to have fun and raise money why not?

I'll do the strip tease, but someone else has to add to Charlie's twenty bucks for me to do it

Also, if anyone else has any ideas on what they would like to see at the victory party and is willing to bid to see it happen we'll be glad to take the money and get whatever it is done

Okay, Jensen Beach and Rio come up with your wildest ideas for the victory party and bid your money and we'll see if we can get it done

Sounds like fun

Assistant state attorneys resign

JENSEN BEACH–Two part-time assistant state attorneys have resigned, State Attorney Robert Stone announced Monday

Dale Anderson and Dick Dungey have resigned their posts and Stone said the two will not be replaced He said their workload would be assumed by Stewart Hershey

Stone said Anderson and Dungey submitted their resignations at the first of the month He said both wanted to devote more time to their private practices

Fuel set for March

Nuke plant crew will drop to 100 this June

BY DICK CAMPBELL

JENSEN BEACH–The St Lucie nuclear power plant of Florida Power and Light Company on Hutchinson Island will have laid off all construction workers, with the exception of a "cleanup crew" of 100 employees by this June, it was revealed Monday by Jan Payne, an FPL spokesman

The plant, which had a peak employment of 1,600 last year, is down to 800 employees now, and will decrease that number each week to reach the 100 level by June, Payne told Jensen Kiwanians

In the meantime the nuke plant will receive nuclear fuel for testing in March, and the plant will be tested in increments until it is in full production condition by June, producing 850 megawatts

"We will bring power to a low level and back it off, then increase in increments, backing off each time over the three months" Payne said, adding "the plant will be commercial in June"

The plant has been in construction phase since 1970, and was scheduled for completion in December, 1975 Delays in construction, late deliveries and a shortage of qualified welders were cited as reasons for the lateness of going on line

The loss of the construction crew was blamed on the recent Florida Cabinet refusal to grant a construction permit for a second unit due to the fact that radioactivity studies and public hearings already conducted by the federal government had not been done by the state government

The state feeling it was not qualified to conduct such hearings, delayed the permitting of the second unit even further for more study of how to study radioactivity

Ebasco, the prime contractor for the project was moved most of the construction force to a new project in Mexico, and is moving others as they are laid off the Hutchinson Island plant project

Payne said that FPL projects an increase in peak load on the system demand for electricity of 500 to 800 megawatts each year and would need a new power plant to keep up with demand every eighteen months

Each power plant feeds its production into a grid much the same as pouring water from many faucets into a bucket with the power going out of the bottom of the bucket to the 1.9 million customers served by the company throughout most of east and south Florida This eliminates sudden demand "brown outs" that some areas have suffered in the past, Payne said

Payne also gave an update report on the Indiantown fossil fuel plant

Chamber adopts 1976 budget

JENSEN BEACH–The 1976 budget of approximately $11,800 was approved by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce directors Monday night

The projected budget, income and expenditures, was projected from the accounting records and information given to the Budget Committee Membership dues of $35 provide most of the anticipated income $315, with the annual fishing guide expected to bring in about $2,500 and the maps bringing in an approximate amount of $1,250

The chamber has filed an application with the federal government for a grant to provide matching funds for the maps Total cost of the maps is estimated at $2,500

Largest expense items for the year include labor-salaries and wages at about $4,000, with utilities and office expenses at more than $900 each

In other action, the directors passed a resolution favoring the route of Interstate 95 through Martin County to be located east of Florida's Turnpike

The chamber passes a similar resolution several years ago, and former Martin County Commissioner Frank Wacha asked the directors to restate its position

Wacha noted that other chambers and communities in the area have passed resolutions urging the Department of Transportation (DOT) for an easterly route of I-95

"The Department of Transportation has spent five years trying to satisfy a route west of the turnpike," Wacha charged.

He said that DOT cannot justify a western route of I-95 by a traffic count

Wacha also charged that the Jensen Beach area wouldn't realize any tax revenue from the western route

Ernie Baker, chairman of the annual art show, reported that he has received 23 applications for the March 6-7 show at Langford Park

"I have sent out 130 applications, and all signs point to another good show," Baker said

Jury clears commission

JENSEN BEACH–The Martin County Grand Jury investigation of the proposed purchase of the Executive Plaza found "no illegal acts or other irregularities on the part of any commissioner Martin County Commission, the sellers, their representatives, or any institution"

But the jury, in its report released Monday, Jan 12, found that the commissioners "showed a disturbing lack of knowledge or understanding of their activities permitted under the government in the Sunshine Law

And the Grand Jury recommended strongly that "commissioners, as well as other members of county decision making bodies, actively acquire information concerning the Sunshine Law, and a means provided to keep updated as new decisions further define it, or as seminars are held for this purpose"

Circuit Court Clerk Louise Isaacs said Tuesday that the jury's recommendation on the Sunshine Law was "a good strong recommendation

Mrs Isaacs blocked the proposed purchase of the Executive Plaza by refusing to sign a check for the first payment on the building

Mrs Isaacs also serves as county auditor and on the advice of her attorney refused to sign the check because of legal questions about the validity of the five-year purchase plan

The issue is in court in a civil suit between the County Commission, Plaza owners and Mrs Isaacs

She said that the jury report has no effect on the civil suit

The Grand Jury in its two and a half page report, noted that there was an additional space needed to operate the county government but it also pointed out

"That although the board's (commission) decision (to purchase the building) was based upon studies and needs of long standing, effectively reviewed and updated by staff personnel, it was accomplished in a manner which had the appearance of hasty and ill-conceived action

And the jury also pointed out that the commission, individually and collectively, was remiss in its failure to properly communicate to the public the need for space

The jury also found that the lease-purchase of additional space appears to be a reasonable exercise of the powers of the commission

Commissioner Rona Philbrick, who was the first to publicly call for a Grand Jury investigation, said he thinks the "public will feel better now

When Philbrick called for the Grand Jury probe, he said he wanted it to "allay public fears" about the building purchase

The Grand Jury began its investigation Dec 17 and called about 20 witnesses, including commissioners, county staff members, building owners and other county residents

Delegation indicate tax review changes

JENSEN BEACH–Martin County's Legislative Delegation last Friday indicated they plan to introduce a bill which would change the tax appeal procedures

The bill would shift the presumption of correctness from the property appraiser to the local tax adjustment boards in deciding resident appeals of property assessment

State Sen Harry Johnston said he will seek an amendment to the regulations for the Board of Tax Adjustment which will clothe the Board of Tax Adjustment with the presumption of correctness The regulation now is in favor of the appraiser's office

Martin County Commission Chairman John Kiernan, told the delegation members that local tax adjustment boards had become the biggest fiasco in the world because there was no way they could dispute the rulings of property appraisers

For two years, since the assessment program was updated, tax board members have attempted to review complaints from taxpayers about the values placed on their homes and undeveloped property If the appraiser or his representatives at the hearing do not agree with the valuation, they will state so at the meeting and the application will be forwarded to the state Department of Revenue for final review

The appraiser however is presumed correct and the private property owner must come armed with appraisals and other figures to substantiate why the county appraiser is incorrect in his valuation, according to commissioners

Of the 375 appeals filed in 1974, Kiernan said the Tax Adjustment Board accepted modification on 114, but the state tax division agreed on only 12

Sen Johnston said the delegation would delay pitching the "one line bill" until the Cabinet makes a decision on the Department of Revenue ruling which "make the property appraiser king"

In other action, the delegation

Listened to Kiernan complain about the bureaucracies of the South Florida Regional Planning Council and the Regional Health Planning Council, saying that funds for these agencies could be better used on other county needs

Endorsed special acts amending state laws to allow the county to set its own standards in competitive bidding and insurance premium payments for county employees

Agreed to study proposed legislation to allow the County Commission to pay out of general funds, fees for the tax assessor and property appraiser Currently, the county's special tax districts pay part of the fees, while the cities and school board do not

Ground is broken for Japanese Steak House

JENSEN BEACH–The Maritimes on Hutchinson Island will be the site of one of the famous Japanese Steak Houses. Leonard and Robert Corcoran, father and son developer team for The Maritimes, have announced that an intimate new addition to the international chain of restaurants will be located just inside the A1A west entrance to their community. Ground has been broken and the opening is planned for mid-February.

David H. Nelson, president of Japanese Steak Houses, Inc. and a full-time resident of The Maritimes, will personally operate the new restaurant. Japanese Steak Houses, Inc. the parent company, is home based in Miami, the site of the original restaurant. Currently there are 24 such establishments operating throughout the world.

Nelson, an 18 year resident of Miami, has been president of the international organization for nine years. He commutes to Miami a few days each week.

"We selected the Stuart area with great care," Nelson commented. "My wife and children – two daughters and a son plus a great dane and a poodle – love it here." Nelson has supervised the building of nearly all of the existing restaurants in the chain.

Philip Braden, AIA, of Stuart, designed the all wood structure to blend with the architectural concept of The Maritimes. The finished product will be solid cedar with wood decks and walks and copper like roof treatment.

According to Nelson, "We have some large and some small Japanese Steak Houses. Some are a part of other buildings and some are small free standing buildings. This, our newest restaurant, will be a most exclusive dining rendezvous for the discriminating diner who visits and lives on Florida's Treasure Coast. We are confident it will be a welcome addition to the Stuart area."

The 2,000 square foot structure will be an expression of architectural purity. Because of the communal seating arrangements common to Japanese Steak Houses, it is comparable to a conventional restaurant twice its size.

The interior of the steak house is all custom color coordinated in reds and black ebony and black suede with deep red plush carpet and a multitude of original artifacts, tapestries and gold accessories.

"We serve only the finest meat available," said Nelson. "U.S. Dept. of Agriculture prime sirloin. We are a steak house, our name is patented for that very reason," he continued. "The chef for the steak house will probably be brought in from Tokyo."

There are just four authentic Japanese Steak Houses in Florida. Another is under construction in Boca Raton and two more are planned for the Palm Beach and Vero areas.

The restaurant is being constructed by the Corcoran Organization and landscaping will be done by Fred Stresau.

STUDY PROGRAM–Co-chairmen for the God and Country Day program are Father Frank Alvarez, seated, and Virgil Rathbone. The second annual event will be held Feb. 15 at Martin County High School auditorium.

Lions reap windfall

JENSEN BEACH–The highlight of a recent busy dinner meeting held by the Lions Club was President Harvey Schlemmer's announcement that Lion Carl Schmidt had turned for the Blind and the remaining $500 be given to aid the Lions Leader Dog program.

Sergeant Roland C. Byrd, twenty year veteran of the Florida Marine Patrol, and Sergeant Coy D. Isaacs, of the Martin County Sheriff's staff, shared the spotlight as speakers, presenting an extremely interesting and informative program.

From the two distinguished visitors it was learned that smuggling of drugs into this area by boats has become a major problem. The vessels, hailing from the Bahama Islands and as farr off as Columbia, S.A. are infiltrating the Florida coastline during darkness of night and often running without lights, they said.

The lawmen also explored the problem of large boats whizzing by smaller craft in nearby rivers and inlets, endangering lives of the public. When apprehended, they stated, the offenders will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

Byrd and Isaacs were introduced by Lion Sam Johnson, program chairman.

During the meeting the Walter Campbell State Bowling Trophy was displayed. Schlemmer reported that this is the first time in Lions Club district history that local timbertopplers have emerged victorious in a state-wide Lions Club tournament.

Schlemmer also announced that the local club will attend a cabaret meeting in Fort Lauderdale February 8 and that a large number of Lions, their wives and friends will attend a zone social to be held at the Elks Club in Fort Pierce on February 13.

All officers and club members of the club are urged to attend the next meeting on Tuesday night, January 20, when plans for future activities will be discussed.

Bolstered by the 100 per cent return of "snow-bird" members, as well as the attendance of visitors from many northern states, the Jensen Beach Lions Club is swinging into high gear and looking forward to another successful year of varied activities.

Tax agent at courthouse

JENSEN BEACH–E.F. Schrabusch, Martin County property appraiser said that John R. Grady, the revenue agent from the Intangible Tax Bureau of the Department of Revenue, will be at his office on Wednesday, Jan. 21 and Wednesday Jan. 28, from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

He will be available to answer questions and help to fill out intangible tax forms with taxpayers. June 30 is the final date for the tax.

Republican women to install officers

JENSEN BEACH–Guest speaker and installing officer at the Republican Women's Club of Martin County luncheon-business meeting on Tuesday will be Mrs. Ann Decker, Administrative Assistant to Congressman "Skip" Bafalis.

The affair is slated for Tuesday, January 20, at the Crow's Nest Restaurant in Rio.

Deadline for reservations is Friday, January 16. For reservations and information, call 287-4300 or 287-0977.

Guests and prospective members are cordially invited.

Basketball tips off this week

JENSEN BEACH–After weeks and weeks of practice, it might seem hard to realize that it's time to start the season.

But, nevertheless, the third basketball program in Langford Park's past will begin this Saturday at 2 p.m., as the Upper and Lower Divisions take the courts for two games apiece. So far, all indications are that this will be the most evenly matched of the leagues held so far.

The action begins for the Lower Division when CWA takes on Optimist, while the Senior Division games pits perrenial powerhouse Gold Coast against CWA.

Here is a sneak preview at the teams and their personnel.

LOWER DIVISION–CWA. It seems only fitting that, in the days of Women's Liberation and the Equal Rights Amendment, the most dominant force in the Lower Division is a girl. Natalie West could very well lead CWA to the title. But she can't do it alone. Billy Mang provides the back end of a one-two punch with some deadly shooting. Holly Dickinson could also help the CWA cause.

OPTIMIST–This team will face an early test this Saturday against league favorite CWA, and it could be that if Wilfred Wiley can stop Natalie West and score some himself, Optimist could pull a quick upset. Ricky Johnson and Jeff Meier add some depth to the attack, making the Lower Division a rattrace all the way to the wire.

SHAWVER CONSTRUCTION–This team needs a team effort in each and every game in order to be in the race at the finish, but with Todd Jackson, Brian Lambeth, and Jeff Gray, Lucky Shawver's team could go all the way.

LIONS CLUB–The Lions showed their potential strength in the jamboree last week with a 10-4 win over CWA. But with all the depth possessed by the other three teams, it will be hard for the Lions to hang in there until the end. Top individuals include John Atkinson, Jack and Steve Crowley, and Bruce Delaney.

UPPER DIVISION-GOLD COAST TIRES–Robert Delaney's gang has all the potential for a real powerhouse, but the rest of the league is just as strong. David Kenny and Terry Wolf run the team, while Kenny himself, along with Tim Dargis and Calvin Delaney, provide the scoring and plenty of strength on the boards. Defense is another strength, with Kent Carter making some timely steals. All in all, Gold Coast is the team to beat.

CWA–Whether CWA does well or not depends on two basic factors. The play of big man Leroy Wells, who has shown that he can score on almost anyone, could be the determining factor. There is some doubt here, however, because Kiwanis showed everyone that he can be stopped, holding him to only two shots on goal, two rebounds, and no points at all in their quarter during the jamboree. Second, the coach could make a difference. Bob Merlano always seems to whip up a good team no matter how they look on paper. This year, he has lots of talent. Darryl Delaney and David Bocchino provide the outside punch, while Wells and Tony Carnot provide the rebounding power.

PITTMAN INSURANCE–Pittman is the league sleeper. Jeff Hall is almost impossible to keep off the boards, and Malcolm Delaney can't be stopped from scoring, but they might need more. Pop Delaney could provide the extra little something that could put them over the top, but this is the team that will have to play good ball all the time.

KIWANIS–Kiwanis has the make-up of a team that could be as good as the others, but too many things are against them. First, they haven't had a practice yet, and second, they have no big man. Greg Jackson, Frank Mackey, Donnie Wilkie and Billy Chesney are all respected players, but they are inconsistent at times, and frequently commit errors.

Kiwanis plans chicken dinner on February 22

JENSEN BEACH–The annual chicken dinner of the Jensen Beach Kiwanis Club has been set for Sunday, February 22 from noon to 6 p.m. according to Chin Chew Get, chairman.

Tickets were distributed to Kiwanis members at Monday's meeting. They will sell for $2.75, and are available from Kiwanis members and at The Mirror.

The famed outrigger fried chicken will again be served, with cole slaw, baked beans, rolls and butter and coffee. Plates to take out will be available, according to Get.

Bike rules are listed

TALLAHASSEE–The Florida Highway Patrol today reminded parents and riders of Christmas minibikes and go-carts that these vehicles are regulated the same as any other motor vehicle.

Colonel Eldridge Beach, director of the Patrol urged parents to "Impress upon young minibike and go-cart operators of the dangers of improper maneuvers, such as turning without signalling, driving without lights or failing to stop for stop signs."

Operators of any motor driven vehicle must be at least 15 years of age and have a license. Until the operator becomes 16 years of age, he will have a restricted license requiring daylight operation and he may not ride a motor driven bike rated more than five brake horsepower. Minibike riders are required to wear an approved crash helmet and eye protection.

In order to operate on public roadways, these vehicles must be equipped with headlights, a tail light, tag light, stop light, horn, rearview mirror and adequate brakes. As with all other motor vehicles, they must have a current motor vehicle inspection sticker and license tag.

When operating on private property, riders are urged to wear an approved crash helmet and eye protection.

Colonel Beach concluded by saying, "Early training may form habits that will help youngsters to respect the need for rules and regulations that will carry into later years as automobile drivers."

Blues, some whiting in surf

JENSEN BEACH–Anglers found blues, some whiting and croaker in the surf during the week.

Ted Bloom used plugs to catch 25 blues. Jess Payne and E. Stombock had 32 blues on cut bait. Jan Swartz had 3 blues, totaling 12 pounds, and Dick Aumiller had 6 blues weighing in at 23 pounds.

Art Drobeim's 6 blues averaged 3 pounds, caught in the surf on cut bait. Winton Olson used plugs for 13 blues. Fred Heim had 41 blues on cut bait in a couple of outings.

Tom Walton and Bill Bradshaw used Ryan Plugs for 37 blues; Pomba and Petrush caught 7 blues on kroks.

Clarence Roberts, casting Kent lures, caught 4 good-sized blues, hauling 22 pounds. Walter Lindell had 7 blues on Blue Atoms.

Bob Emens used Mirror-Lures to catch two trout in the river, kroks for 4 blues in the surf, and a Small Rebel for 4 trout at the power plant.

Bridge angler Steve Steele caught 19 trout on live shrimp. Frank Morgan had one 7¾-lb. trout; Duck White, 2 trout; H. Gelton, 4 trout totaling 17 pounds; Sandy Adair, 8 trout.

Russ Bolton, Art Clawson and Bob Cook trolled spoons and jibs with shrimp in the South Fork for one snook, one jack, 2 ribbons and 2 ladies.

Art Ryan, Don Ford, Barney Andrews and Ray Wimer tried T-Zo rigs and live shrimp for a nice catch of 23 weakfish, one trout, a channel bass and 8 small mutton snappers.

Joe Mantione tried it offshore and caught a sail, as did Mr. Farr. Both sails were taken on Bally-Ho.

Glenn Skidmore dug up some fleas and caught 7 nice pompano, totaling 17½ pounds.

Walt Sund caught 20 channel bass and 1 pompano in the inlet, and with Al Snyder, 17 channel bass.

Joe Chick used shrimp to take 13 whiting, 8 spots, 2 drum and 3 pompano from the surf.

Husband wife teams had some pretty good catches during the week.

Tony and Ruth Milazzo tried the inlet and caught 11 channel bass on live shrimp.

Joe and Irene Pinder had 5 blues on cut bait.

Adam and Sophie Lojewski continued their prowess and caught 31 whiting and croaker on shrimp.

Harold and Violet Terpening, recent arrivals in Holiday Out, had 8 blues, 13 whiting and 3 croaker on cut bait.

Francoline, Roback take golfing honors

PORT ST. LUCIE–Tony Francoline and Ed Rombach spread-eagled the field in winning the weekly golf tournament of the Sandpiper Bay Women's Golf Association, played last Thursday over the Saints Course.

High winds and a mid-day rainstorm didn't seem to hamper the winners as they won from the team of Woody Dunlop and Al Vanderstrand. Leading teams in the two-balls counting, Stableford, partnership competition were: Francoline and Rombach, 83 points; Dunlop and Van Nostrand, 76; Graydon Smith and Joe Feister, 74; Rick Vernoia and Howard Hickman, 73; Mary Jensen and Larry Lorentsen, 72; Roy Hannum and August Hofmeister, Jim Healy and Don McConnell, Don Estes and Frank O'Beirne, 71; Bob Johnston and Jim Waldie, Jack Fradd and Duke Evans, Miles Harvey and Frank Gaskill, 70.

Contestants carding rounds under 80 were:

McConnell 75; Joe Chapelle, Jensen and Lorentson, 78; Walt Wilmas, Van Nostrand and Healy, 79.

This week, it's two best balls of fourtunes.

Porter is named CESA manager

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Port St. Lucie Community Center will have a new full-time manager as of Friday, based on action taken by the CESA board of Directors.

Donald J. Porter is assuming the new position.

CESA President Dick Lundin announced that Don Donahoo, who has been project director for the center during the past year, is retiring from the position.

Vice President Strelsa Schreiber commended Donahoo for the outstanding job he has done as part-time manager of the Center and expressed regret that his situation prevented his consideration of a full time position.

And speaking of Porter, President Lundin said, "The board feels that it was extremely fortunate in obtaining the services of Donald Porter, a retired Lieutenant Colonel from the U.S. Air Force, and a resident of Port St. Lucie for the past seven years."

Presidents' Council meet

PORT ST. LUCIE–Cedric Benz, head of the Presidents' Council, announces the first monthly meeting of the Council has been set for 2 p.m. Thursday, January 15, at the CESA Building.

Election of officers for the coming year will be held. A committee headed by Jud Reading will present the slate for president, vice president and secretary.

The Council is made up of the heads of all clubs and organizations operating in Port St. Lucie. Many changes have been made in those organizations, so all newly elected are cordially invited to attend.

Benz asks that the Council be advised of all changes so that the mailing list can be brought up to date.

Moment of silence

PORT ST. LUCIE–The City Council paid tribute to the late J. Patrick 'Pat' Beacom, mayor of St. Lucie Village Tuesday morning by observing a minute of silent prayer.

In addition to passing a resolution of memoriam to the late Mayor, City Administrator Elmer Cox spoke at length on Beacom's years of dedication to public service and his civic responsibility.

"He possessed a sense of mission in his life and career, and added great strength to any cause," Cox said in expressing his sorrow over the loss of a colleague and great friend.

Mayor Beacom died January 6.

League will expand

PORT ST. LUCIE–The expanded Board of Directors of the Port St. Lucie Civic League will be named at the League's annual meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday, January 14, at the Sandpiper Convention Hall.

A nominating committee will present a slate to bring the number to 15, and other nominations will be invited from the floor.

League officers will review events of the past year and outline plans and expectations for 1976.

There will be arrangements whereby non-members can join at that time and take part in the evening's events.

Charter meetings draw few people

PORT ST. LUCIE–With all the talk about holding night meetings in the city so residents would have the opportunity of attending, last week's evening meetings scheduled by the Charter Revision Committee drew very little attendance.

Approximately 30 persons put in appearance for the first meeting held last Wednesday night at the Sandpiper, while a scant 20 persons gathered to come out for the Friday night meeting at the CESA Community Center.

Kretch wins low putts

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Nine Holers played a Low Net, Low Gross and Low Putts tournament on January 6 on the Saints Course.

Winners in flights were:

First Flight – Carold Edwards, Low Gross 49 and Low Net 30.

Second Flight – Wanda Lundin, Low Gross 67 and Low Net 40.

Low Putts was won by Ruth Kretch with 17.

Shufflers open year

PORT ST. LUCIE–With the holiday season over, the Port St. Lucie Shuffleboard players are back on the courts with a determination to win.

In Indian River League play on January 6, it was PSL 6, Fort Pierce, 4.

Port St. Lucie winners were Don Mellis and Mary Marsh; Don Bergamin and Harold Hazel; Bob Cousino and Ralph Conley; Ruth McDonnell and Al Bailey; Al McDonnell and Judd Reading; Dr. Ward White and Guyn Hayden.

The Central East Coast League team traveled to Fort Pierce for play with Sandy Shores and held them to a tie score, 2 each.

Winning for PSL were Beaver Rinehart and Bob Dobler in a long and hard fought victory; Ernie Sprotto and Tom Scott came in for a quick win.

Club members are urged to try for a good turnout for the Thursday afternoon fun games for 1976.

BICENTENNIAL EXHIBIT–Observance of America's Bicentennial year started at Martin County Historical Society's Elliott Museum this week with the exhibition of 13 oil paintings by marine artist Bruce Elliott Roberts. Each depicts a scene of significance in the nation's beginnings. An hour spent at the exhibit is a refresher course in American history as well as an opportunity to study ships and the sea painted with meticulous attention to wind, waves, weather, color and conditions. Left to right above are Roberts, Mrs. Ralph Hartman, Historical Society President Ralph Hartman and Courtland Roberts, Bruce's son, an artist and photographer. The show will hang through February 7 and is open to the public at no charge during museum hours, 1 to 5 p.m. daily.

UMW will meet January 21

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Port St. Lucie United Methodist Church will host the district meeting of Church Women United on January 23.

Coffee hour will start at 9 a.m. in Goddard Hall, with meeting time set for 10 to 11:30 a.m.

Rabbi Hecht will be the afternoon speaker, following lunch from 11:30 to 12:30. Everyone is asked to bring a sack lunch and local women are requested to bring an extra sandwich for the chorus members.

The United Methodist Women of the Port St. Lucie church will meet in regular session Wednesday, January 21 in Goddard Hall.

Meeting time is 1 p.m. and all women of the church are invited to attend.

Program theme for the session is "No Other Way."

Shufflers open year

PORT ST. LUCIE–With the holiday season over, the Port St. Lucie Shuffleboard players are back on the courts with a determination to win.

In Indian River League play on January 6, it was PSL 6, Fort Pierce, 4.

Home health aide course starts

STUART–A course in home health nursing starts Monday, January 19, sponsored by the Adult Education Department, Martin County Schools.

The class will meet each Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Rigdon Building, Bridge Road, Hobe Sound.

The six week course is designed to prepare adults to care for members of their families at home and/or to work as health home aides outside of their homes.

The course will be taught by Carolyn Lachty, R.N., former public health nurse and instructor of nurse aid courses. To pre-register, call Mrs. Lachty at 287-3968. There is no fee for the course, textbook cost is $2.00.

Registration is continuing for adult high school diploma classes at MCHS and Indiantown Middle School. Adults who lack a high school diploma are urged to enroll. A high school diploma may be earned in one of two ways, through the credit program or through the general education development (GED) review courses.

Youths who are 16 years of age or older and legally out of school, may enroll in the credit classes which are held Monday through Thursday evenings at both schools.

Adults, 18 years of age or older and legally out of school, may enroll in the GED review classes held Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7 p.m. at both schools.

Registrations for either program will be taken January 19 through January 22 at 7 p.m.

GED equivalency tests have been scheduled for next week at Martin County High School, starting at 6:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. The tests cover English expression, literature, mathematics, science and social studies. A fee of $7.50 is payable at the time of registration and the fee for re-testing is $2 for each test.

Additional information is available by calling the Adult Education Department weekdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. 286-6600.

Bunko will resume

PORT ST. LUCIE–Bunko will return to the North Port Marina on Thursday, January 22, at 8 p.m., sponsored by the Veterans of World War I, after a two month absence due to conflicting dates with Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The Barracks meeting will precede the Bunko party, but play will start promptly at 8 p.m. Six prizes will be awarded and refreshments will be served.

The public is cordially invited to attend. A nominal fee is charged.

GOD AND COUNTRY DAY

Increasing importance of the locally Jensen Beach produced God and Country Day is indicated by the presence of astronaut Donald Peterson at the February 15 festivities. The event will be held at the Martin County High School auditorium.

Keeping your head

Old man Kipling told his son, "If you can keep your head when all around you are losing their's, then you will be a man, my son." Or, something like that.

And, it all has to do with politics.

It's that time of year.

It is the time of year of the "visible candidate."

Those running for office either incumbents or challengers will be going to every meeting, talking with people they ignore for three-plus years and making themselves as visible as possible during the next nine and a half months.

A friend walked up to me and said, "Give me ten bucks." I handed him the money in my pocket, eight bucks.

"You haven't got ten here."

I asked what it was for, and he said for Lawton Chiles, the walking senator who won't accept more than ten dollars from anyone.

I like the idea, and may even give the ten bucks, even though I have a policy against giving to either political party for fear it might be considered an endorsement. If figure that if Chiles is brave enough to limit donations to ten bucks, especially when it might cost a half million to run for re-election, I'd like to support the principle that lets the little people support a candidate.

If I decide that I'd better not donate the ten bucks, my friend might not speak to me for awhile, but that is the season we are in, the primary season.

It is time to hate one another for a year.

It is time when all elected officials will be equated with Watergate, or a challenger, one Republican, the other, Democrat. It is time the challengers will tell the people to throw the bums out in the streets, and a time that the incumbents will toss up every good thing they did to tell the voters how great they were, ignoring the many things they said they would do and didn't.

It is a time when people will back candidates, and the backing will be so powerful the supporters will take the campaign away from the candidate and say things they shouldn't say.

I can remember one year when a candidate who preached against campaign signs on telephone poles had a supporter fill the telephone poles in Indiantown with signs.

Neighbor will hate neighbor because of who they support.

The "kingmakers" will move on the scene, with quiet meetings in coffee rooms, talking to area leaders as they try to get this man or that man elected because "he (or she) is our kind of person."

The best thing to say would be "he's not our man, but he will treat us fairly."

It is a time when the political parties will try to control the candidates, and, as usual, will find that the candidates set up their own committees and run their own race.

Then, the political parties will decry the lack of loyalty of their own candidate. And they will withhold funds from those candidates to spend the money on the state elections.

It is a time when the political parties will organize and organize and find that the primary turnout depends more on the popularity of a race than the popularity of the party. If the candidate is bland, the primary will be just that.

And, after all is done, Martin County and Port St. Lucie will vote Republican in the presidential race. Republican in the congressional races. Democratic in the state races, and for the man in the county races, with no thought of party-line.

That's what it's all about.

After all the politicians, king-makers, Republicans, Democrats, fence-straddlers, and neighbors get done fighting, the forgotten man, the voter, will go out and choose whomsoever he wants, and most of the time chooses right.

That's what makes the system work.

Campaign issue

It's the nation's 200th birthday year and the big election year. Politicians are stirring about, voters are registering in great numbers.

Martin County Supervisor of Elections Sandra Randolph is keeping her courthouse office open on Saturdays and has her mobile unit in outlying areas. Registration books close Saturday, Jan. 24 at 5 p.m. for the March 9 primary.

Most politicians seem to prefer slogans to issues. They'll talk issues if they are pretty safe. Nothing that can be solved during the next two or four years. They might need the issue for campaigning next time out.

Also if you are seeking a county office you can blame the state for not getting it done, and if you are a candidate for state office you can blame the federal government for inaction. And so on up the ladder.

In a while bunch of campaigns a good issue is roads. Interstate 95 is an especially good issue for this area.

Former Martin County Commissioner Frank Wachs, who is making noise again as the campaign year gets under way, said the other day that location of I-95 is not a dead issue.

Wachs and some others want I-95 located east of Florida's Turnpike. However if the Department of Transportation DOT has its way it will go west of the turnpike.

Just the other day, the Federal Highway Administration (FHA) officially endorsed DOT's plan to build a section of I-95 west of the turnpike in Palm Beach and Martin counties.

This has upset Palm Beach County Commissioner Robert Culpepper. He is making noises on the campaign trail. Maybe for U.S. representative or state legislature.

This decision by FHA and DOT also has upset U.S. Rep. Skip Bafalis. He is up for re-election.

I-95 is not expected to be constructed in Martin County any time soon. Maybe about the year 2,000 or any time a year or so later.

Road issues just don't do a whole bunch for me. I can recall the promise of candidates for governor of Tennessee who were going to build a road from my hometown to Nashville, about 30 miles. It took many campaigns and several years before that road was ever built.

And then there was a railroad overpass in Decatur, Ala. that was going to be built by several candidates for governor. George Wallace had the thing built.

Here we have the I-95 issue. East or west of the turnpike doesn't matter a whole bunch of difference to some folks. Just build it.

Letters to the editor

To the editor:

I am writing this letter to all of the beautiful people in your newsroom. In the past year, I have had many occasions to drop off newscopy in my capacity as publicity chairman for the Junior Woman's Club of Stuart.

On all of these occasions, I have been treated in a very cordial, friendly manner by any one of several people in your front offices.

Their manner of conducting themselves is truly a pleasure to see in this day and age of rush, rush, rush and anonymity.

Once again, thanks for a job well done, and for a real sense of caring one feels as he visits The Mirror.

Sincerely yours,
s/Patricia Sisk

To the editor:

My heartiest thank you to the many people who helped in our recent appeal for blood. New Years Eve and New Years Day. In all of my years experience I have never seen such a critical shortage, likewise in all my experience have I seen such a tremendous response. We had advertised for weeks we would be closed on New Years Eve at 3 p.m. and closed on New Years Day. When the crisis hit us the only way to reach the people to let them know that we were extending our hours on New Years Eve and we would be open on New Years Day was through the wonderful help of our news media. Five minutes after we called the radio stations, it was on the air, and within twenty minutes after it was on the air we had donors coming in. Not only did the media air our crisis, they showed real concern in calling back and asking how we were doing. The newspapers wrote the story of our crisis and with concern a follow up. The same with television.

It is hard to conceive that so many people would change their plans and give up their holiday to come to the Blood Bank to give blood. It was a real life drama which could only be paralleled by war time crisis. There was no laughter, people waited patiently in line and sat quietly for two or three hours. They had to leave their children with them, some of the little ones were crying and had to be taken care of by personnel. Others were sitting on the floor coloring along with some of the grown-ups who were sitting on the floor. State Troopers came in to get Emergency Blood and people were asked to see why they were giving. What a beautiful way to start out our Bicentennial year by helping a fellow American with the "Gift of Life."

I thank the media and the donors from the bottom of my heart.

Lastly, I want to thank my staff who worked many long hours and were exhausted. They did not stop for lunch or even to go to the latrine from. They too gave up their part. Ms. hat is off to the Staff of the Palm Beach Blood Bank, Inc.

court again," McChesney said.

McChesney, in my opinion, is right.

There are numerous challenges ahead for both the council and the residents of Port St. Lucie.

The city has been split.

It is time to let bygones be bygones.

It is time to profit from past mistakes.

It is a time to move forward, not backward.

Support our firemen

The Jensen Beach Volunteer Firemen have sent out their appeal for funds for 1976, and we hope the entire Jensen Beach area supports the fund drive.

The firemen ask little and as volunteers keep the tax rate in the Jensen Beach area low. They work hard and find little thanks for a good job.

We have prided ourselves in an outstanding fire department. The training and equipment of Jensen Beach is up to date and meets the needs of the area.

Support the firemen. They support us.

The tea bag was great

The contribution of the Jensen Beach Optimist Club to the bicentennial effort was a hit, a smash hit.

The young people participating in the musical comedy "The Boston Tea Bag" gave their all to the performance, and the touch of humor lent meaning and purpose to the historical value of our heritage.

We thank the Optimist Club of Jensen Beach for a fine show.

Another lawsuit?

Will the audit findings lead to another lawsuit? I should hope not.

I am not a negative thinker. I prefer looking at the bright side of the coin, but sometimes that is a little difficult.

Perhaps I am wrong, but I sometimes think the values of Port St. Lucie officials are a bit less than in order when it comes to running the city.

Can you believe they find it a simple matter to accept the resignation of a city administrator, or approve a city budget in excess of a half million dollars in just minutes, while debating hours over whether or not to prohibit soliciting within the city.

Those elected to the city council, as well as the residents of this south county community, have the golden opportunity of working together to build their own city, but instead they seem to prefer to spend far too much time dwelling on past mistakes.

This type of thinking is not constructive.

It can do little more than further split the city.

Over a year ago when the residents banned together and brought about the eventual lawsuit against city officials for the alleged mishandling of city funds, I had hoped they would abide by the court decisions and findings.

It was hoped they would pickup the pieces and go forward to build their city.

But then came the state audit, a very complete and thorough audit of the city's books.

That audit reflected numerous discrepancies in the way city funds were managed. The record keeping left much to be desired as did the legal opinions of the past city attorney.

The court ordered a substantial amount of those funds be returned to the city till the new council persons.

That money was paid back every cent.

Although a recent grand jury report, which included a study of the controversial audit, stated there was no evidence of any intent on the part of the councilmen involved to receive any city funds by fraudulent means, the city treasurer claimed last week that some $50,000 was still owed the city. This figure, compiled from the audit findings covered a period from 1968 through May 1975.

At least two of the persons named in the audit are now deceased.

One item not to be overlooked was the same grand jury investigation also included some alleged violations supposedly committed by the newest members of the present council.

But back to the much needed audit.

It was good the state audited the city's books. It did indeed point out mistakes which did cost the city money, but if the city is to move ahead and build constructively is it not time they profit from the audit findings as well as the grand jury investigation, taking steps to see the same mistakes do not occur again?

I couldn't help but admire the comments made by one of the councilmen during last week's workshop session.

While three members of the council indicated they would be willing to consider possible court action to retrieve the missing funds, Councilman Bill McChesney suggested a different route.

"If they are willing to return the money, fine, but I would hate to think any member of this council or the residents of this community would advocate going back into

Open meetings

WASHINGTON—"A reform Congress," "too many idealistic new lawmakers to sit still for hidebound traditions"—these were just a few of the predictions made when the 94th Congress was sworn in a year ago

And there have been some changes, some good, some bad. But very few changes have been made in the one governmental body most deserving of change: the Congress itself.

No fewer than seven bills designed to make the Congress a more open and more responsive institution have been pending in committee for nearly a year, with no action taken or even scheduled.

On January 22, 1975, I co-sponsored a bill to make it mandatory that any increase in Congressional operating expenses be subjected to a roll call vote. That bill is still pending in committee. And, since that bill was introduced, Congressional emoluments have been increased.

On February 19, I co-sponsored a package of five bills to amend the rules of the House to give each member more individual freedom and more individual responsibility. All five are still sitting in committee.

Perhaps the most important of the five bills introduced that day would break the hold of the party caucus on individual members. HR 178 provides simply that "No member may be bound by order of instruction of his party caucus or conference to vote contrary to his conscience."

As the rules now stand, the liberal-dominated Democratic Caucus can keep a conservative Democrat from voting the way he and his constituents would like.

If you were to ask the American people how they felt about such a rule, I'm sure practically everyone would demand that Congressmen be given the opportunity to vote their own conscience.

But there seems to be no real rush to change the present rule, apparently because of some members who see nothing wrong with a minority imposing their will on others, since they happen to be doing the imposing.

Stymied since February, along with the "freedom to vote" rule are proposed rule changes to open to the public all committee and subcommittee meetings, including sessions of joint House-Senate conference committees, to ban proxy voting in committees and subcommittees and to permit any Congressman to call for a committee roll call vote.

The idea behind opening committee and subcommittee meetings is simple: the people's business is being carried out behind those doors so the people have a right to know what is being done. The same is true of the proposal to allow anyone to call for a roll call vote in committee. Committee decisions are often more crucial than those made on the floor; hence the public should know how the individual committee members voted.

As for proxies, why should a Congressman be listed as voting during a committee meeting at which he is not in attendance?

Again, there has been a lack of action on this proposal. But the list doesn't end there. In June, I co-sponsored a measure to make the Congressional Record a more realistic reflection of the debate on the House floor, by eliminating the current practice of inserting into the record prepared materials which are not actually delivered on the floor.

This proposal too has been languishing in committee.

Anyone who doubts the need for action on such reform measures has only to look at the latest public opinion polls showing Congress with an all-time low credibility rating.

First National dividend increased

STUART—First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart has increased its quarterly cash dividend twenty percent beginning with the quarter ending December 31, 1975 to stockholders on record as of that date.

The Board of Directors of First National approved the increase at its regular meeting on December 9th. David B. Irons, President of First National, told the stockholders, "The year 1975 has been a most challenging one for banking in general. First National, however, has been able to show a modest improvement in earnings over 1974 and a substantial increase in deposits and total assets. We look forward to 1976 with confidence and dedication."

Arts, crafts show slated

JENSEN BEACH—The public is invited to attend the first annual Arts and Crafts Festival at the Pine Lake Village clubhouse from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. January 30.

Osceola Street Art Festival set

STUART—The fourth annual Osceola Street Art Festival has been set for Saturday and Sunday, January 24 and 25, from noon to 5:30 p.m. on Osceola Street in downtown Stuart.

Paintings in all media and a variety of crafts will be shown on the street, including wood and metal sculpture, marionettes and hand puppets, leather work, photography, ceramics, authentic Seminole Indian clothing, and much, much more.

Free demonstrations will be presented in several of the arts and crafts.

The public is cordially invited to attend and to meet the artists and craftsmen. Refreshments will be available.

Sponsored by the Downtown Merchants Association, the festival draws artists from all over the country.

"We expect the festival to be bigger than ever this year," says the Osceola Street Art Festival Committee. Kermit Tucker is chairman, Jeanlue McClung, coordinator, Betty Howard, treasurer and Caroline Price, secretary.

Letters to the editor

To the editor:

In your issue of Jan. 7, 1976, you featured a report from the PSL Civic League praising the present council for their 1975 achievements. In order to keep the record straight, let's note a few observations.

1. City Pensions—In January 1975, Councilman McChesney authored a resolution approved unanimously that elected and appointed city officials NOT participate in city pensions.

2. Planning and Zoning—In September 1974, Ex-Mayor Kimmel appointed a Planning and Zoning Committee to study plans for the city's growth.

3. Ordinance Codification—Ex-Councilman Beardsley spent many weeks during 1974 reviewing ordinances and preparing plans for recodification, printing, and publishing in a completely new format, a complete set of the city's legislation. This included a review of the zoning laws.

4. County Tax Distribution—This topic was one of Mayor Kimmel's favorite areas for discussion and two meetings of the City Council with the County Commission were arranged under his direction to discuss this and other areas of mutual concern in 1974.

5. Sportsman's Park. The City Planning Board recommended annexation and contacted all property owners in that area in February, 1975.

6. County Services—Former City Administrator Rubin proposed and made preliminary arrangements for use of City Hall by county agencies early in 1975.

All the foregoing actions took place prior to the accession of the current city leadership. As a strictly personal opinion, it is my observation that the city leadership record since April 1975 has been particularly distinguished by looking backward instead of forward, as well as exhibiting a complete lack of originality in planning for the future of Port St. Lucie.

Sincerely,
s-Vaughn Lewis

Editor's note: This is a copy of a letter sent to Assistant City Attorney by Mrs. Eugene Kavanaugh, widow of long-time Port St. Lucie Mayor E.P. Kavanaugh.

Asst. City Att'y Alfred J. Horowitz
City of Port St. Lucie
City Hall
Morningside Blvd.
Port St. Lucie, Florida

My dear Assistant City Attorney:

I am hurt. I am shocked by your letter. My husband did not have a dishonest hair in his head. He devoted the last years of his life for the City of Port St. Lucie, and many times he was in pain, but told no one of his problem. In fact, he gave his life for this city.

Every move he made with the other councilmen was done with the approval of the then City Attorney. He, and those councilmen, were responsible for the better than $400,000 surplus which the present Council is enjoying as well as all of the citizens.

I am hurt and shocked because I do not wish my husband's wonderful reputation smeared now that he can no longer defend himself. Here was a man devoted to his City and his neighbors, whom he considered were all the residents of the City of Port St. Lucie.

To list here the many accomplishments that the previous Council achieved with my husband as the guiding light would be foolish, for you know them. But one I cannot refrain from mentioning—the new fire station and the rescue vehicle which was given to the County along with land arranged through General Development Corp. The problem of ambulance service to the southern section of the City was uppermost in his mind and it was solved. The fire station was built with monies lent to the County, to be paid back to the City over a five year period, otherwise we would have waited many years for this facility.

You ask for my feelings. Here they are.

Sincerely yours,
s-Grace F. Kavanaugh

Auxilians plan starlight cruise

STUART–Wednesday, January 21 is the date set for the Martin Memorial Hospital Auxiliary's starlight cruise.

Terry Schroeder, fund raising chairman, has announced that the deadline for reservations is Saturday, January 17. Tickets can be purchased in the Auxiliary Gift Shop located in the lobby of the hospital. Included in the price of the cruise is a box supper. Peg Combs, co-chairman of the event, urges all to make reservations now.

At the Auxiliary's January 5 meeting, Merle J. Phillips, awards chairman, announced that 394 volunteers worked a total of 6,708 hours during December.

Fifty hour emblems were awarded to Harold Gifford, Mildred Harder, Ruth Quinn, Mickey Sultan and Nathalie Valjavec.

Receiving 100 hour certificates were Iva Dean Bouck, Myra Fitch, Alice Gladish, Ellie Harris, Mary Parrella, Elizabeth Schlobohm, Winnie Silver, Elsie Slipetz and Nora Stage.

Mrs. Phillips presented 300 hour pins to Evelyn Dull, Irene Ponti, Anabelle Stevenson, Allen Thomas and Lena Zarella.

Thomas Meagher and Leo Monaghan accepted 500 hour pins. Winona Marchesault received her 1,000 hour pin.

William A. Weiss was awarded a 2,000 hour pin, believed to be the second Anchorman in Auxilian history to attain that mark.

Capping off the presentations was Marionne Johnston's 3,000 hour pin.

Mrs. Roy Bishop, Auxiliary president, announced that the group is again joining with American Heart Association to bring the Heart Forums to interested persons.

The first Heart Forum has been slated for this Thursday, January 15, at the Lyric Theatre in downtown Stuart, starting at 7:30 p.m. The panel discussion will be on "Heart Attack."

MCHS Bowling Squad is named

JENSEN BEACH–Coach Debbie Russell at recent tryouts, named the following to the Martin County High School Bowling squads.

Boys–Mike Phillips, Jeff Pauly, Mark Schlemmer, Duane Decker, Tim Dargis, Joe Gould, Craig Kinne and David Lowe.

Girls–Laura Nugent, Robin Benedict, Brenda Pauly, Sydna Budnick, Debbie Thalasitis, Usa Bright, Vicki Smith, with one more to be added after all participants have rolled off.

Birthday greetings

JENSEN BEACH–Hearty congratulations and best wishes are extended to this week's birthday people including Mrs. Frank Noon and Betty Isabelle Cox, celebrating Jan 15, Grace Hessler, Jan. 16, Marion Cox, Bernadine Morgan, Gene Reid and Alberta Salzler, Jan. 18.

Tests help academy students

Howes-in-the-Hills–Howes Academy's guidance department will help newly enrolled students plan for college and career when the second semester begins January 26.

Successful applicants for the second half of the academic year at this central Florida co-educational college preparatory school will join an on going study of post graduate opportunities including college, career, and the military service establishments or careers, to name a few.

Howes's guidance program is not limited to twelfth graders, but also helps promising sophomores and juniors explore possibilities of early acceptance to college.

Student potential for doing college work will be measured during Howes's second Scholastic Aptitude Test - SAT of the school year, scheduled April 10.

'Bowler of the Month'

JENSEN BEACH–Judy Keahy emerged victorious in the Bowler of the Month Tourney held last week at Jensen Lanes.

A close finish found five bowlers within reach of first place until the eighth frame of the last game. Judy had a three bagger, while Joe Zorecz came up short with a double.

Judy carried home a brand new T.V. set for her trouble and Joe settled for a Mr. Coffee machine, a la Joe Dimaggio.

Ms Keahy had 147-199-195, 541 scratch. Zorecz rolled 159-183-142 for 484.

Clark Matthews was third with plus 59 and a tie developed for fourth between Rudy Toth and Helen Kleinfeld at 52 over.

The Queen of the Hill was dethroned after only a week's reign, as Len Casey, who was high qualifier in the sweeper held Friday and Saturday nights, came from behind after a first game defeat of 11 pins at the hands of Carolyn Hammock. Casey had 155 to Hammock's 166, but came back in the second game with a 204 to Hammock's 181.

A sweeper is scheduled again this weekend to see who will knock off the newly crowned King of the Hill.

Builders to attend meet

JENSEN BEACH–Members of the Treasure Coast Builders Association from Martin, St. Lucie and Indian River Counties will travel to Dallas, Texas January 18-22, to attend the 32nd annual convention-exposition of the National Association of Home Builders. This year NAHB expects to host over 50,000 builder and associate members from around the nation at the convention.

Heading the Treasure Coast delegation will be association president Anthony Signore. President Signore is also a member of the NAHB Board of Directors who will be electing their officers for 1976 at the convention.

During the course of the convention the Treasure Coast Delegates will have the opportunity of attending a full schedule of business meetings and seminars which are designed to keep the membership aware of current changes in building innovations, federal laws, governmental programs and other items which affect the home building industry.

In addition to the president and Mrs. Signore other Treasure Coast members who will be attending the convention include Mr. & Mrs. Wilford B. Brown, Mr. & Mrs. Edward Cass, Mr. & Mrs. Edward Bellante, Mr. & Mrs. Dale A. Johnson, Mrs. Lana Ray, C. Wayne Braid, Chester Chambers, Peter M. Leaming, B.J. Lindsey and Tom Sylvester.

Services will be held at the Burgger Funeral Home in Erie, Pa. with interment in Civiar Cemetery.

Aycock Funeral Home, Jensen Beach was in charge of local arrangements.

Sunday's service was most inspiring and well attended. Stanley McCart did the opening services and Dave the announcements. Rev. Clark Thompson officiated and Dee Frank was the organist. A beautiful duet by Tina Van Raay and Norma Quillan (another first) was enjoyed by all. Ushers were Bing Crosby and Mark Sumners.

Next week we will have the pleasure of hearing the Hobe Sound Middle School Choir. Everyone is invited to come and hear these wonderful singers.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stankos arrived Saturday with Stanley's sister Mary and brother-in-law Victor Saline from Milwaukee, Wisconsin. They told of bad driving conditions - snow, ice and rain in the southern states, and of seeing many accidents. They were glad to arrive at the park and will be here for a month, then on to Claremont, Cal., to visit another sister and old friends in San Francisco. They plan stops at Las Vegas, Reno and El Paso while enroute. After one week back here the first of May, they will attend a Winnebago Rally at Eustis, Florida, then return to the park to stay all of May.

I am sad to report that we lost a good friend and owner, Maurice Quinn, who passed away suddenly at home in Chattanooga, Tennessee. All of their friends extend heartfelt sympathy to his wife Ruth and their family.

We hear that Gene Gray has undergone another operation successfully, has one to go. He is in St Luke's Episcopal Hospital, 6720 Bruttener Ave., Houston, Texas 77031, if anyone wishes to send a card to cheer him.

Mary and Maurice Abearne have left for New Port Richie to visit Mary's brother Bill for about ten days. They also plan to visit friends at Port Charlotte.

Ceil and Max Lewin's cocktail party Saturday evening featured their usual table of delicacies. Some thirty friends came and ate and ate and ate.

Chuck and Millie Armock were hosts to the May family for a fish fry last week. The fish was enjoyed by all.

Gordie and Erma St. Louis are road testing their camper van these days preparatory to taking off on a three month trip later this month.

Hart and Hazel Edmondson are expected to be here by the 15th. It will be good to see them again.

The "Tootlers" meet Wednesday at 11 at Jean Taylor's patio, lot 45. They play just for fun and if you have a small instrument and care to join them, you will find a warm welcome.

Sylvia and Les Cook, daughter and son-in-law of Nell and Tom McFarland, lot 52, will be in the park Friday for a short visit. They will bring Kelly and Holly along to see their grandparents.

Marge and Ted Hayunga are with us again, bringing Henry Bassett along once again. The Hayngas are from Virginia and visitors from many years back.

Petey and Don Galloway have their son Gordon visiting them. Don and Gordon can usually be found deep in a game of backgammon.

Vince and Eleanor Richart arrived from Pennsylvania to stay three months in the park. Eleanor's brother, Jess Mirth and his wife Joan are visiting for two weeks. Both couples are happy to be away from the cold and ice at home.

George and Olive Taylor were visited by Cornelius DeGroot, his wife, brother-in-law and sister-in-law. Olive says it's pretty bad when your postmaster comes to check up on you! The DeGroots plan to stay in the area for three months if they can find a place to stay.

Carolyn and Jim Allen, Betty Taylor, Evie and Marvin Smith, Edwin and Earle Palmer, Oscar and Bea Lupke, Jim and Marie Williams all enjoyed an outdoor cookout at Palm City Sunday evening at the home of friends of the Allens.

Lynn Baxter was treated to a birthday dinner in Fort Pierce on Saturday the 10th by her parents Rusty and Ken and good friends Aus and Mae Williams.

Jack Yousey, here with his wife Nellie on lot 524 for the season, had a most unfortunate accident with a new bike this past week. It seems that something was wrong with the seat and it flipped, throwing Jack over backwards. His hip was fractured in the fall. He is in Martin Memorial Hospital, making good progress, but it will be at least a week before he is back here and able to resume his interrupted vacation. Riding a bike seems a healthy pastime, but do be careful friends!

Anniversary congratulations are extended to Ted and Nancy Lontz, Jan. 17, and to Sandy and Betty Crawford, Jan. 18.

Happy birthday wishes go out to Ira Gingrich, Jan. 12 (I just received this, Ira sorry!), Les Ullman and Helen Eury, Jan. 17, Marian Kime, Jan. 20.

JENSEN BEACH–Dean Ernest E. Tealey has announced that Peter Tompkins, author of the best selling books, "Secrets of the Pyramids" and "Secret Life of Plants" will present an illustrated lecture, "The Psychic Search for Atlantis" in the Jensen Beach campus auditorium at 7 p.m., Tuesday, January 22.

Mr. Tompkins is currently working on a motion picture about his theories of Atlantis and his attempts to discover the lost continent.

The affordable beach house.

Affordable, and beautiful . . . in more ways than one. Oceana prices are among the lowest along the South Florida coast, while the quality of construction is among the highest. That means lower maintenance costs, particularly over the long haul. What's more, our financing package offers interest rates far below the current savings and loan rates. We even have a furniture package that's yours for about half its retail value.

You'll find no gimmicks at Oceana, no land or recreation leases, no contracts, no hidden costs. Our furnished models are open 10 to 5 daily. Come see us, Oceana. We're the Affordable Beach House.

God and Country Day

Astronaut is speaker

JENSEN BEACH–Astronaut Donald H. Peterson will be one of the guest speakers at the second annual God and Country Day, co-chairmen for the program announced.

Co-chairmen Father Frank Alvarez and Virgil Rathbone said the Sunday, Feb. 15, program would be held at Martin County High School auditorium with the high school band playing a pre-program concert at 2:30 p.m.

Col. Peterson, who became a National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) astronaut in 1969, served on the astronaut support crew for Apollo 16.

He is involved in training for future manned space flights and is currently participating in the design and development of NASA's space shuttle vehicle.

A native of Winona, Miss., Col. Peterson graduated from West Point in 1955, and has logged over 3,700 hours of flying time.

The co-chairmen said that U.S. Senator Lawton Chiles, U.S. Rep. L.A. "Skip" Bafalis, State Rep. Chuck Nergard and local county and Stuart city officials along with state Legionnaires have been invited to attend the program.

The program is co-sponsored by All Saints Episcopal Church of Jensen Beach, and the Jensen Beach American Legion Post 126.

Theme for this year's program is "Let's Ring it again."

Also on the program will be the singing group "Tropicords," with members Cheryl Crowl, Carole Bartlette, Phyllis Smith and Mary Snow.

Serving on the God and Country Day Committee are members Ben Fulton Jr., Irene Stewart, Jerry Wilkinson and Father Alvarez, representing the Episcopal Church, and Ed Douglas, William Herzog, Virgil Wilson and Rathbone, representing the Legion.

BIKE RIDE–Pretty Gwendolyn Melissa Crowder, 5, enjoyed a sunny Sunday afternoon riding her bike in the parking lot of First Federal Savings and Loan Association in Jensen Beach with her mother Judith L. Crowder. She also rides her bike in Ocean Breeze Park where her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gwen Fuelling, live.

VER PRINCESS–The inaugural trip of the River Princess, a cruise boat that will bring over 100 tourists trip up the Indian River from Jupiter for luncheon or dinner, was a success, according to the promoters. The first trip arrived last week, to be followed by regular cruises daily.

Stetson student works at center

JENSEN BEACH–Because of the short lull in scheduled classes the first few days in January, the Jensen Beach Environmental Studies Center's museum is getting a much needed touch up, director Jay Jarrett said.

One of the museum and center workers this month is Cheryl Coutant of Stuart.

Miss Coutant is pursuing her master's degree following a year's teaching of math and science and picked the center for a month-long independent study project.

After graduating from Stetson University, she was a teacher at Deland, and is now working on her master's degree at Stetson University.

Jarrett said that the museum needed special attention after one of the water tanks developed a leak last month and flooded the area.

In other center activities, Jarrett said that the U.S. Office of Education has approved the center's project and gave the center national validation.

"We became only the fourth innovative project in Florida so recognized," Jarrett said.

As a result of the national validation, Jarrett noted, "we may expand our activities next year beyond the state, but our primary target will remain in state schools."

He said center staffers will make presentations in Fort Lauderdale and West Palm Beach schools later this month and the entire staff will go to Newfound Harbor Marine Institute at Big Pine Key for a workshop for Monroe County schools.

Tours begin to Jensen Beach

JENSEN BEACH–The band was playing, the press corps and representatives of condominiums on the Palm Beaches were serving champagne and revelry as the River Princess docked on its maiden voyage to Frances Langford's Outrigger Resort last week.

The cruise ship docked at the resort enjoyed luncheon and a regular program of cruises for luncheon and dinner began that will bring several hundred visitors a day to Jensen Beach.

Once the pattern was established, the cruise ship moved from its departure point at North Palm Beach to the Navy Yard in Jupiter due to the length of the trip.

This week two trips per day for luncheon and dinner have been running up the Indian River to bring over 100 tourists per trip to the Outrigger Resort.

For the initial trip, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Evinrude (Frances Langford) welcomed the travelers.

As she was introduced, the television and movie star was inundated with requests for autographs and photographs by the visitors.

"It's wonderful having you here at our home," she said.

The tours will continue through the season, offering thousands of tourists the opportunity to visit the local resort for luncheon and dinner, plus a trip up the beautiful Indian River.

eputies probed
Stone

JENSEN BEACH–State Attorney Bert Stone said Monday he expects to subpoena witnesses soon in his investigation of possible wrongdoing by two Martin County sheriff deputies.

"We're getting pretty close to that point," Stone said. He wouldn't say who would be subpoenaed.

He would not pinpoint the specific allegations that have been leveled against Lt. Gerald Brown and Sgt. John Roberts.

The investigation began last October, according to Stone. He said a state attorney from a different circuit told him about accusations made against the law enforcement officers.

"When a serious allegation is made, we cannot just sweep it under the rug," Stone said.

"While the investigation continues, Brown and Roberts will remain on the job, according to Sheriff James Gale. "No one has shown me anything that I would use to dismiss the people," he said.

Stone said that the investigation would clear the air.

Also, all are invited to the marriage ceremony for Martha Sandow and Tom Rooney, to be held at the First Presbyterian Church at North River Shores at 4 p.m. on January 24. You are also invited to their home here in the park afterwards.

We were glad to welcome back the Duffields. Elizabeth and Karl were with their daughter Betty and others in the family over Christmas and New Year and had a fine time.

We also are happy to say "Welcome back" to Stanley Cobb, and to John and Julie Rinaldo. It was so nice to have this new couple with us at New Years.

Caroline Shaeffer and Virginia Munro visited her son John and his family over the holidays in Anaheim, California, and had a marvelous time. Planing home, they made a side stop at Las Vegas which they enjoyed.

Herb and Clara Burmeister picked up their friends Henry and Martha Buery at the airport on the 8th who had been visiting in New York, but are from Switzerland. They now are staying in Ocean Breeze Park until the end of March. Henry has been here several times and likes it so well he finally convinced his wife it was worth while to try flying, even tho' it didn't appeal to her.

Fred and Madeleine Balfanz had a several day visit with long time friends, the Hollstrons, at Naples.

Willard and Maybelle Morgan had a fine time with their son Billie at Ringgold, Ga., whom they visited before Christmas. They attended the choir's presentation of "The Messiah" which Billie conducted.

We were surprised at this sad note they had an accident on the way home and Maybelle had a foot injury, she had to be hospitalized for in Atlanta and again when they arrived home. Willard, too, was shaken up. We wish them a complete recovery soon.

We were sorry for the fall Alice Stoddard had Friday a.m. just outside her mobile.

It sounds like we will have almost a full house for pot luck on Thursday night, the 15th.

A correction - Charlie Siman was "New Year Baby '76" (for 1976), not as published last week.

Dot and Bob McCourt had Bob's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Welton Ruark from Jacksonville, visit them for several days. They formerly lived in New York. Also, the Ruark's daughter, Patricia Schulte from Syracuse, N.Y.

Ethel and Andy Bulloch held an open house for the tenth wedding anniversary of her sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Fred (Bernice) Malsh. Forty-seven attended and were served delicious punch and cake and coffee by friends Mildred Fenwick, Jen Bollenbacher and Olive Allwardt. A most enjoyable visit made it a pleasant afternoon.

Last Friday we had our first Bible class at our hall, directed by Cap Brice. Five attended and all seemed to be very much interested. Come out and join us, it may help your day pass easier.

Monday, the 12th, shuffling winner of three games was Edna Eastman.

How to become a 'Birder'

STUART–Ida Cantwell, bird expert, raconteur and leader of Audubon expeditions presents an illustrated lecture on "birding" at 9:30 a.m. Friday, January 16, under the auspices of the Martin County Audubon Society.

The lecture will be held at the Community Room of the First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart and is open to the public, but all who have ever stopped to listen to a bird singing is warned that one lecture may convert them into ardent "birders", and a new and time consuming hobby.

Another Audubon activity scheduled for this week is Virginia Forrest Night, celebrating the return of the Society's own rare and delightful bird of passage, according to V. Prime, publicity director.

A brief board of directors' meeting will begin at 7 p.m. followed by a film by Dr. David Anthony entitled "Progress: Pork Bills, Pheasants and Feathers."

Coffee and cookies for all will be served at the reception.

The Community Room of the First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart will open to Audubon members and interested public at 7 p.m. Wednesday, January 14, for this special event.

The beginning of a new year is a time for us each to analyze our own lives.

I've decided to keep a food diary for at least a week. I don't know when I'll start though. Brother Roy and wife Helen Curtis of Lincoln Illinois, are coming Monday, Jan. 19. I have been notified to turn the sunshine on. They are hoping for good golfing weather.

Ambulance donations recorded in the office during the past week are from Rosella Cusson and from Walter and Eva Lightbody in memory of J. M. Bolton and Harry Bartle.

Welcome to our late arrivals Raymond and Nellie Sutton, Clara Pfingston, Paul and Margaret Felton, Walter and Eva Lightbody, Tom and Rose Mazur, Rene and Rena Daoust.

Alec Lloyd and Lauretta Sanders, Roberta Lockhart, Clarence and Ada Miller, Ernest and Maxine Morten-sen, George and Evelyn Farnham, Willard and Emma Marriott, Wm. and Helen Hamblen, Dahlia Wurth, Margarite Reid, Evelyn and Howard Hocking.

Jan. 16 our nurse will be in Carment Hall taking blood pressures. Please be prompt at 10 a.m. and get your number.

Don't forget to take saleable items, nor forget to go and buy, at the auction day and bake sale for the benefit of the ambulance fund. It will be held in the clubhouse Sunday, Jan. 25, beginning at 1 p.m.

Nellie Jackson, the mother of Esther Tiemeyer of 7th Street, passed away Friday at the Fair Haven Lutheran Retirement and Nursing Home in Miami Springs. She lived about 20 years in Ocean Breeze at Broad and 4th Street.

Graveside services were held in All Saints Cemetery, Jensen Beach, on Monday, Pastor Grotefend officiated with Yates Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Esther Tiemeyer's daughter Camille Wooster of Lake Havasu City, Arizona flew in Saturday to attend her grandmother's funeral and will be with her mother until January 18th.

Georgie Nunn of J.E. Mangin was taken to Martin Memorial Hospital Friday a.m. He was still having tests at this writing.

Charles Fair of Fifth Street is in Martin Memorial having tests.

I received a sweet letter from Harold and Velma Woodruff saying how much they appreciated the many cards and messages from friends in Ocean Breeze after I gave their address.

Velma stated, "We have many pleasant memories of our winters spent on the park. We enjoyed our 50th wedding anniversary here in our home very much."

Their address is 128 Harvard Avenue, Bridgeton, N.J. 08302.

Fred and Hulda Tyler entertained their pinochle and bridge groups at a Round Robin New Year's Eve party.

After midnight they all drank a champagne toast to Francis and Ethel Mann as it was then the beginning of their 52nd wedding anniversary.

Rip and Elda Henderson of Melaleuca drove to Mississippi and spent a couple of weeks during the holidays in Jackson with their son and wife and grandchildren.

Right after Christmas Rip's sister and her husband, Martha and Walter Markel of Monteruma, Kansas, flew to their son's at Pensacola, Florida. Then Tuesday on their return trip, Rip and Elda stopped in Pensacola and brought the Markels back with them to spend a week here. They visited Cypress Gardens on their way south.

Edna Shrimsinger entertained the Sociable Six in her home Sunday, Jan. 11. After a delicious home cooked dinner, they played cards.

W.T. Trammel and wife Rachel of Raleigh, Mississippi, spent a long weekend with Rip and Elda Henderson and Carrie Teal of 4 E. Mangin. Trameil is a poultry hatchery supervisor and they went to Miami Wednesday to attend a National Turkey Federation convention.

Jerry Doring of California spent 10 days with his aunt Josephine Doring after the death of his Uncle Henry, doing everything he could to help.

Then he flew to Washington D.C. to see his daughters who are both nurses at Walter Reed Hospital. One daughter had been in an accident and her car was a total loss. The other had been sent to care for some refugee children and broken out with chicken pox. So, Jerry flew home to California.

THANK YOU

I, Melva Drazer Atchison, have been in the hospital for eleven days and am home again. I wish to sincerely thank all our friends and neighbors for their many kindnesses to my husband and to me.

THANK YOU

Our sincere appreciation is extended to friends and neighbors for the many cards, flowers and acts of kindness at the time and since the loss of our loved one, Henry Doring.

A special thank you to Father Frank Alvarez, Rector of All Saints Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Henry (Josephine) Doring and nephew, Jerry Doring

Audubon series starts

START. The first of the annual Audubon Wildlife film series will be shown Friday, January 23, 8 p.m. at the Women's Club in Stuart.

Bob Lewis, a native of Saskatchewan and British Columbia, will present the first film. His keen love of nature has led him to writing as a means of sharing its delights, then into television and finally to films and lectures. One of his books is in its fourth printing.

The wildlife series has proved to be one of the main attractions of the Martin County calendar year. Anyone who has not yet purchased a season ticket is advised to do so before the start of the series. The audience grows but unfortunately, the auditorium does not.

All of the films are accompanied by commentaries from the explorer scientists who created them, travelling naturalists with a gift for speaking, humor and perception.

For further information, call Bob Wagner at 334-6690.

January 17, an important day, is fast approaching when a new board of directors will be elected here at O R A Condominium II. It is no easy job to serve on the board just ask any of the present members. Voting machines are being set up in the rec building, and we expect a great turnout of enthusiastic voters.

On Sunday, we had a chance to meet the candidates running for the seats on the board. Besides meeting them, all had a chance to ask questions of the candidates and air views on important matters. It was an interesting meeting.

After pot luck last Wednesday, Jan. 7, which drew between 100 and 125 diners, we had the pleasure of listening to a fascinating speaker.

John "Jac" Cammack, chief life guard for Martin County, spoke to our group on beach conduct and respect for the ocean. He brought to our attention the dangers that lie within those waters and precautions one should pursue. His presentation included pictures of life saving equipment and different incidences of actual happenings.

It wasn't just another speech, but an entertaining lesson designed to do what it indeed did do, engender respect for that ocean out there.

The Men's Club of Nettles Island held another Las Vegas Night Jan. 10th in the upstairs rec building.

News of Nettles Island

BY DOROTHY ENGEL

This time members of the Women's Club selected the prizes - $350 worth. There were some great surprises for a lot of lucky winners.

Las Vegas Nights are always full of fun and excitement. The Men's Club will be having more, so watch for the time and dates on the schedules.

Any indoor activities were welcome here during the past few days. With this last cold spell, the beach and pools were not the favorite spots to be. For us year-round Floridians, it's just another cold spell, but for those down on a short vacation, it's a year of planning to be in the sun turned to disappointment.

activity Saturday morning. There are still quite a few young folks in the resort, so the turnout was very good!

Ron and Dorothy Engel closed the Ocean Beach Snack Bar during the cold snap and took their Airstream to Highland Hammock State Park Friday morning where they and their children spent a couple of delightful days, spending many hours hiking on the various trails, delighting in the multitude of wildlife, which included spotting an alligator.

The change of pace was most welcome and they can't wait to do it again.

Ann Marie Engel is celebrating her 6th birthday this week. Jan. 16th will be the big day for her.

Happy Birthday, Ann Marie, have a good day.

Herb and Irene German are back. I thought there was some mistake when I saw his name on the tennis sign-up sheet as they weren't expected back until April.

They said when the temperature got down to 31 degrees, they decided they'd better come here for awhile.

Helen and Bill Samuel of Whitesboro, N.Y., came in last Monday. They had snow at home which they were happy to leave.

They expect their son, who flies jets, to arrive on the 24th for a visit.

Bob and Winnie Moore, on Celebrity Isle, have a celebrity among them.

Their daughter Carolyn won a 1st place beautiful trophy last week in the midget car races in Orlando. The entries were from all over the country.

Of course, this isn't the first time for her. Back home, they have a room with one whole wall full of midget car trophies and another wall of swimming trophies. Now Carolyn is starting on tennis, and she is only 14.

You'll be able to purchase all the oranges and grapefruit you want this Saturday, right here in front of the post office.

The TOPS Club (Take off pounds sensibly) is sponsoring the sale, chaired by Maxine Gillary.

So, remember Saturday, when you come up to vote, stop and pick up some delicious fruit.

Have you noticed the lovely Bicentennial Emblem on display in the rec hall downstairs?

The TOPS Club is also responsible for obtaining and displaying this very appropriate patriotic symbol.

New York has Forest Hills, Surrey, England, glories in Wimbledon. But look out world because now Nettles Island, too, has its own tennis triumph.

Under the auspices of the newly re-activated Tennis Club, this past Friday and Saturday produced some great competition and considerable interest.

"Eager" had to be the word for those hardy devotees who braved the miserable weather Friday afternoon. After all the action was concluded in the men's division, Bud Boswell came out on top, while Monica Hudnall prevailed in the women's section.

The final highlight was the playoff to determine the "grand champion."

Youth carried the day because Monica, "The Mighty Mite" carrying the banner for Women's Lib, took the measure of Bub who, after some tough preliminary contests, found the youngster plus Old Father Time just a bit too much to contend with.

Congratulations to both stalwarts and to all who participated and made for a fun time.

Art group plans party

JENSEN BEACH--The Art Associates of Martin County are planning a gala birthday party to celebrate their tenth anniversary, appropriately at the home of Dorothy Stafford, first president of the group, on Sunday, January 18, from 3 to 5 p.m.

The party will be held on the grounds of the Little Louvre Gallery, at Number 8 Hidden Harbor, just off East Ocean Boulevard near the St. Lucie River bridge. All members are invited to bring friends and family, as well as one painting to display on an easel in the gardens. Those who prefer, may bring their painting the day before, or Saturday the 17th.

Mrs. Victoria Johnson, president, and Mrs. Stafford will be co-hostesses for this event which promises to be truly memorable.

German-American Club elects

STUART--The German-American Club of Stuart held its annual meeting and election of officers last week.

Heading the group for 1976 are Joseph Trimmel, president; Fred Goettner, vice-president; Virginia Schwartz, secretary; Hans Hager, treasurer; Walter Muraski, sergeant at arms.

Trustees elected are Mary Lach, Max Bauer and Albert Trueg.

The meeting was well attended and a very ambitious program was adopted for the ensuing year. Highlighting future activities will be two performances by the famous Mountain Climbers Band from West Palm Beach. The first appearance will be at the Mardi Gras to be held February 27 at the Elks' Lodge.

SPECIAL PREVIEW

Introducing New Single-Family Homes That Celebrate The Florida Way of Life.

Here—for the first time—is a preview of two exciting and distinctive new concepts in homes especially designed for leisurely Florida living. Spacious, bright and airy, loaded with all the easy-living extras that give you more time to enjoy all the good things Florida has to offer.

There are seven new models altogether. First, there are 4 models in the moderately-priced "Florida Classics" series priced from $26,980.

Secondly, there are 3 models to choose from in the luxurious "Estates Collection" priced from $61,990. And you can have your choice of these outstanding homes in the year-round community of Port St. Lucie on the mile-wide St. Lucie River, just 8 miles from the Atlantic Ocean.

Widow, Lewis attack council demand for reimbursement

PORT ST LUCIE—The survey relating to the missing $50,000, being conducted by Alfred Horowitz assistant city attorney, to determine whether or not involved persons would be willing to pay back the funds to the city till has thus far brought forth two negative replies.

Reportedly, letters have been mailed to Larry Kimmel, Mrs. Eugene Kavanaugh, Dr. Harold Nottley, Ken Thompson, Frank Beardsley, Egil Petersen and Vaughn Lewis by Horowitz.

Although nothing was mentioned at Tuesday's Council meeting relative to Treasurer-Councilwoman Lolita Kernohan's claims made the previous week about some $50,000 still owed the city by one present and six former council members, Horowitz told reporters following the meeting the letters had been mailed.

The widow of the late mayor, Eugene P. Kavanaugh, was one of the first to respond to the letter.

"I am hurt. I am shocked by your letter. My husband did not have a dishonest hair in his head. He devoted the last years of his life for the City of Port St. Lucie. he gave his life for this city."

Mrs. Kavanaugh continued. "Every move he made with the other councilmen was done with the approval of the then City Attorney. He and those councilmen were responsible for the better than $400,000 surplus which the present Council is enjoying as well as the citizens."

In concluding her reply, Mrs. Kavanaugh cited several accomplishments of the previous Council, including the new fire station, the rescue vehicle and the ambulance service for the southern party of the city.

"You asked for my feelings. Here they are," Mrs. Kavanaugh said in her letter dated January 12.

The second negative response was from former Councilman Vaughn Lewis.

"My answer is no," Lewis told the Mirror Tuesday afternoon.

"My situation is somewhat different from some of the others in as much as my only involvement is the amount of health insurance premiums I received. Those premiums were paid me on a quarterly basis and made on the basis of the legal opinion of the City Attorney, Rupert Smith.

"I did an honest job while in office and have no intentions of returning any health insurance premiums to the city," Lewis said.

As a part of the original pension plan the City was to provide Blue Cross Blue Shield insurance for the councilmembers.

When it was learned that several of those members carried their own health insurance the City, on the advice of the attorney, agreed to reimburse the councilmembers for those premiums and did so on a quarterly basis.

The recent Auditor General's report stated there was not legal documentation to authorize the direct payments to the individuals involved.

Through an oversight, no letter was sent to former Councilman Julian Flood, but Horowitz said one would be put in the mail shortly.

Both the recent Auditor General's report and the St. Lucie Grand Jury were critical of the "careless handling of city funds," although there was no evidence of any intent on the part of the councilmen involved to receive any city funds by fraudulent means.

CESA fund drive kicks off January 25

PORT ST. LUCIE—Some 150 unteers will begin ringing bells in Port St. Lucie Sunday, uary 25, asking for donations and dges for the Community Center ilding fund.

the area of the city north of Port Lucie Boulevard will be covered the drive beginning January 25. ilar efforts in the River Park and ughpatch areas will follow.

ll has been two years since the t fund drive," says drive irman Mel Broom, "and a host of s residents are now Port St. Lucie ens."

Some may wonder what and ere is the Port St. Lucie mmunity Center?"

Broom considers this a fair stion and provides these an- ers.

The Community Center is located 200 SW Prima Vista, just west of e library, and across the street m Sportsman's Park.

It is located on approximately five res of land originally donated by eneral Development Corp. for this rpose. The area is now being nexed to the City, but that will not ange the Center's basic operation.

The corporate name of the n profit organization is the Cultural, Educational and Social Association," or "CESA." The term CESA" has been used to refer to the building and program until recently when it was felt "Community Center" might have more meaning for more people and the telephone is now answered in this fashion.

Policies and operations of the Community Center are the responsibility of a Board of Trustees of up to 50 persons, and a Board of Directors chosen from the trustees. All serve without pay of any kind.

This group directs a staff consisting of one full-time secretary, a program director and his associate. A custodian and all-round handyman is paid by the County Council on Aging. These are the only persons paid any money.

The Center is open to anyone and everyone. There is no admission, or membership fees, or other rules to discourage anyone from walking in and enjoying the facilities.

Preference is given to clubs and organized groups which pay rental for space used for their meetings. These rentals, along with Bingo income, are an important part of the Center's operating income.

The balance of operating funds comes from special events, such as the barbecue and cook-out scheduled for 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday, February 1.

Persons who are not familiar with the Center are cordially invited to stop by and take a tour of the facilities.

Dedicated citizens blew life into the dream of a community center some years ago, and through their donations and contributions solicited from commercial and professional sources, built the first portion of the present building.

The new lounge area with its snack bar and space for a gift shop were added on in 1975, again with volunteer funds.

Believing a Community Center should grow along with the community itself, long range plans for the Center include a Theatre for music and dramatic arts with 250 seats, lobby, gallery, office and gift shop, stage, dressing rooms and scenery shop, and a 600-800 seat assembly and dining hall with full kitchen facilities.

Short range expansion needs encompass an Arts Building for art classes, ceramics, and sewing rooms, meeting and class rooms, a picnic pavilion.

How much will be built, and when, will depend on the success of the fund drive.

Volunteers will be briefed at an organizational meeting sometime during the week of January 18, and will ring doorbells on the 25th, prepared to talk it over with everyone, and to accept pledges and donations.

POSE—Mr. and Mrs. Russ Wolf and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Morton strike a pose behind the Bicentennial Birthday Cake at Saturday night's Candlelight Ball held at the Sandpiper Resort.

Residents urged to utilize county service

PORT ST LUCIE—There is little question that St. Lucie County Tax Assessor James Bass is making an all out effort to provide the residents with local services.

As of last week a representative of the tax assessor's office will be available in the Port St. Lucie area to assist residents in filing for their homestead exemption.

It has been clearly pointed out these local services are provided as a test, the results of which will be used to determine whether or not it would be feasible for other county services to be provided to this south county community.

Effective this week the tax representative will be at the Port St. Lucie Community Center (CESA Building) each Wednesday. On Thursdays they will be at the City Hall.

City upgrades building standards

ORT ST. LUCIE—The City ncil Tuesday moved rapidly ugh a rather lengthy agenda, sing some fourteen city ordces the majority of which dealt h upgrading the City's building ndards.

wo ordinances were passed on first reading. One regulated ting within the city limits while second made it illegal for anyone install drainage pipes across the ne front of a lot without first ining for a variance from the city ilding department through appli- ion.

hose ordinances receiving the al stamp of approval by the ncil following Tuesday's public aring included regulating the and placement of signs and ting a prohibition against hunting hin the city limits.

rdinance 75-38 relative to the city get simply broke up a line item $10,000 and specified $5,000 to be ed under Charter Revision and other $5,000 under codification of inances.

lso passed on the second reading the house numbering ordinance uiring all residences within the to be legibly numbered.

he various building ordinances would permit the city to hire plumbing inspectors who have less than ten years experience. The new legislation would allow the city administrator and the building official to determine who would be a qualified plumbing inspector.

Other provisions of the new building ordinances include the following:

Allows the city to adopt with amendments, the 1975 edition of the National Electric Code, the 1973 edition of the Southern Standard Gas Code, the 1973 edition of the Southern Standard Mechanical Code and the 1975 edition of the Southern Standard Plumbing Code.

Calls for exterior studs to be set at 16 inches on center and interior studs 24 inches on center.

Requires hurricane clips to be attached to every other exterior vertical stud, and roof clips to be attached between every truss.

Requires a contractor who requests a final inspection, either residential or commercial, to submit in writing to the Building Department the names of all subcontractors.

Established permit fees for the construction of private roads and streets.

Sets forth a minimum floor grade for residential building and provides for any change in elevation to be approved by the City's Engineering Department.

'Strip' has $200

Jam session victory party for Community Fund is Sunday

JENSEN BEACH—The Jensen Beach Community Fund victory party will be a jam session Sunday at the VFW on Savanna Road in Jensen Beach from 2 p.m. until whenever the party breaks up according to Richard Neeson, chairman.

Many special events are planned for the party including a so-called strip tease by the editor of The Mirror Dick Campbell. The 'strip' came about when news editor Charlie Cates promised a $20 donation to the fund if Campbell did a strip.

The story last week drew pledges of donations of up to $200 from local residents for the strip. Campbell announced that Dr. Richard Pernick would be his choreographer for the dance and that his costume would be a combination of the latest in dance accoutrements and early thrift shop.

Twenty of the top musicians in the area from Ft. Lauderdale to Vero Beach will be on hand for the jam session, according to Wendell Halverson, music chairman.

Assisting Halverson will be Irv Manners, Bob Everly, Lee Knowles, Jack Mains, Jim Evers and Lou Roberts. Instruments will include piano, bass, drums, guitar, vocal, flute, trumpet, clarinet, organ, trombone and several vocalists.

Dr. Pernick has promised several pledges to do his now immortal vocal version of "Old Shep" on the stage.

Bill Magenda, commander of the VFW, said that beverages and food would be available for the convenience of the community fund victory party.

The public is invited to the show, admission will be one dollar per person, donation to the fund.

Some of the prizes that will be auctioned off to raise funds for the community fund will be dinners for two from Francesco Langford's restaurant Restaurante De Villa Capri Restaurant, the Dolphin Theatre of Manatee Plaza house seat tickets, gift certificates from Mar Brook Park, free dollar gift certificates from Kermits Men's Store and two boat horns from Casa Rio Boat and Harley Boat.

Other prizes are being collected to auction at the party.

Sewall's Point election slated

SEWALL'S POINT—Voters of the Town of Sewall's Point will elect three commissioners and the first primary will be held in February.

The terms of Mayor William M. Sowden, Commissioners Francis E. Clark and Richard S. Grenfield expire this year.

Clarke has announced that he will not seek re-election.

According to information from Sewall's Point Town Hall, a primary will be held February 24 "if there are more than six candidates."

The regular election will be March 2.

Also, voters are reminded that if they are not previously permanently registered, they must register at the courthouse.

The Martin County Supervisor of Elections office reported last week that there is a lot of interest in the Sewall's Point election.

"Six commissioners will take office March 16 at an organizational meeting when the mayor and vice mayor will be elected.

Boat mattress is burned

JENSEN BEACH—A mattress in a cabin on the Queen Isabel II caught fire and burned Tuesday morning, Jan. 20, Hobe Fire Department Chief Bill Gass said.

The 57 foot boat was docked at the marina at the Cove Y Seed Restaurant in Rio. Gass said a shortage on an electric blanket apparently caused the fire.

There was some water and smoke damage to the boat and the mattress was destroyed, Gass said. The amount of damage was not immediately determined, Gass added.

Owner of the boat is Burton Wade, the chief said. Nine volunteers of the department responded to the fire alarm.

Trial date for plaza

JENSEN BEACH—The Executive Plaza court suit will go to trial Feb. 5 before Circuit Judge James Alderman.

Martin County Commission and Circuit Court Clerk Louise Isaacs are asking the court to decide if the commission's attempt to buy the building is valid.

The suit was filed a month ago after Mrs. Isaacs refused to sign a check for the first of five annual payments. Mrs. Isaacs has questioned the validity of the commission's plan to purchase the three-story office building.

Stone comments on jury probe

JENSEN BEACH—State Attorney Robert Stone has refused to name persons who complained to him about the Executive Plaza purchase but he listed people who were not instrumental in his decision to convene the Grand Jury.

Many people called and talked with me about Executive Plaza, Stone said. "They weren't asking me to indict anyone.

"I hear street talk about government agencies all the time, but I don't react every time someone complains. But when a member of the government board involved asks for an investigation you can't turn your back on it."

Stone was referring to Commissioner Russ Philbrick, the only known official who asked for a Grand Jury investigation at a public meeting. The other commissioners did not support his request.

Earlier Stone had said that requests from three elected officials prompted him to convene the Grand Jury. At a press conference last week, he said it was a mistake to say "elected officials" when it was public officials.

While Philbrick had asked for a jury probe, Stone last week still refused to identify the other two public officials. He said, however, that Circuit Court Clerk Louise Isaacs was not one of the public officials.

He also ruled out Stuart City Commissioner Dale Anderson and his law partners Dick Dungey and Stewart Hershey.

He also said that he has not had any communications with former commissioner Frank Wacha. He said that he had read Wacha's letter to the editor on the Executive Plaza.

Stone said that the Grand Jury report was a fair and impartial investigation and I think the 18 members all feel it was necessary.

The Grand Jury report released last week found there were no illegal acts or other irregularities on the part of any commissioner, the sellers, their representatives or any institution.

Commissioners expressed relief that the Grand Jury had cleared them of any wrongdoings.

Commissioner Tyner Powers said that he hopes the jury report will restore confidence in government so we can get on with our necessary work.

I-95 east is supported

JENSEN BEACH—The Martin County Resources and Development Board has reaffirmed its stand for support of Interstate 95 over the Florida's Turnpike.

Richard Campbell, board president said a resolution will be sent to Norbert Tiemann, administrator of the Federal Highway Administration.

"We still study should prove that a westerly route of I-95 through Martin County could not serve the best interests of as many people as an eastern route," Campbell said.

Millage law changes slated

JENSEN BEACH—State Rep. Chris Sergard said Tuesday that he hopes to get the millage rollback bill presented at the session of the legislature with some minor amendments.

Voters in Martin, St. Lucie and Indian River counties in November of 1975 supported local legislation which limits budget increases in proportion to property assessments to ten per cent increase limit.

Sergard said he was working with State Rep. Charles Lewis on some minor amendments to the bill.

It will be the same bill with some minor changes, Sergard said. We will have the bill on the agenda for the Legislative Delegation meeting in Vero Beach and Fort Pierce Feb.

Sergard, who represents the Jensen Beach area and St. Lucie County, said one amendment proposed by Clem would permit a taxing district in the counties which does not like the legislation to place the issue on the ballot and get out from under the millage rollback law.

The millage rollback legislation was approved by Martin County voters by a 6 to 1 margin and the expiration date for the local act is June 30, 1976.

Sergard said he hopes to get an improved bill passed this legislative session, but he admits that area senators have given the impression that they oppose the millage rollback legislation.

State Sen. Phil Lewis has said he wouldn't decide on continued support of the legislation until he reviewed Clem's amendments.

Sergard said Clem's idea on letting voters in a taxing district vote on the bill was a good section. The voters should be given the option to vote on the bill," Sergard added.

He also noted that since he has been a resident of St. Lucie County, it was the first time that he could remember that all governmental bodies reduced their millage.

Plutonium keeps pacemaker heart pumping life locally

BY DICK CAMPBELL

JENSEN BEACH—There are over twenty heart patients in this area with Pacemakers providing the needed spark to keep hearts pumping, but few are equipped with Plutonium 238.

"I can't do much, but I can blow an whole place up," Al Beninger said jokingly as he prepared to demonstrate his nuclear Pacemaker for the Jensen Beach Kiwanis Club Monday at Frances Langford's Outrigger Restaurant.

Beninger explained that he had 32 inches of wire in his chest, connected to his arteries, with two wires attached to nodes in his heart.

"They act as a spark plug, an ignition system for the heart," Beninger said.

He held a transistor radio to his chest and placed the microphone of the public address system to the radio. A "click, click, click" sound reflected the heartbeat.

While most Pacemakers have the power to last several years, Beninger's nuclear powered Pacemaker will last 13 to 15 years. He regularly places a device to his wrist to a special "Electronic Pacer" that telephones his heart pulsations to a computer in Beth Israel Hospital in New Jersey.

The computer then analyzes the condition of the heart and of the Pacemaker to be certain that the nuclear Pacemaker is working properly.

Beninger is from New Jersey, and still uses that computer, even though the expansion of the heart program has enabled a computer to be opened at the Miami Heart Institute. The computer can tell months in advance of problems with the Pacemaker.

The Pacemaker costs about $7,500, but the machine belongs to the Atomic Energy Commission.

"If anything happens to me, my wife can have my body, but the Pacemaker goes back to the AEC," Beninger said.

The development of the Pacemaker was made possible through the nation's space program. Miniaturization of electronic components made it possible to allow heart research to develop the life-saving device. Funds for the research came from the national heart association.

Beninger added that there were over 600,000 Pacemakers in use today.

Beninger's speech followed the introduction of Ann Silla, secretary of the Martin County Heart Association, now opening an office in Martin County. It was an appeal for support of the upcoming heart drive in February.

Mrs. Silla said that most of the funds collected go into the kind of research that developed Beninger's Pacemaker, and said that a door-to-door collection would be made during the week of February 16 to 22.

SPEAKERS—Al Beninger, wearing his nuclear Pacemaker, explained the instrument to Jensen Kiwanians Monday. Ann Silla right, the new secretary of the Martin County Heart Association, introduced Beninger at the meeting.

Southern Bell plans to use larger type but not in this immediate area

JENSEN BEACH—Southern Bell plans to give up the condensed, hard-to-read type in Miami, Broward and Jacksonville telephone books, but that is as far as it will go to placate customers, it was learned Tuesday.

The type in the Stuart, Jensen Beach, Port St. Lucie and Ft. Pierce telephone books will remain the same six point type that has been used for the past twenty years, according to Sutton.

High cost of paper to print the books and increasing numbers of pages forced Southern Bell to use the more condensed type in the metropolitan books, saving over $400,000 in the three areas.

Sutton said that the increased cost of readability in the metro books would have to be passed on to the customers in those areas.

New acts join European circus at Florida Fair

JENSEN BEACH–Bill Brickle's poodle Fantasy acclaimed as the best dressed dog act in America take their debut when the Stebbing Royal European Circus opens as a new attraction at the South Florida Fair and Exposition, January 23 through February 1. The two dozen talented pups will perform three shows daily, along with the rest of the 1976 Stebbing Circus under the red and white striped Big Top.

Another act new to this year's circus are the Gutis, a family of clowns along with their crazed antics who presented what is virtually a circus within a Circus - back again will be the famous sad faced Stebbing Clown, Roaco, performing many acts of hilarity.

More side splitting merriment is provided by the famous John Stebbing Chimps who have performed on the Ed Sullivan Show, Today, and Johnny Carson's Tonight Show to name just a few.

Others among the plethora of Circus Stars are aerialist Carol Stebbing performing from the Spanish Web, Mike Ashton who juggles with his feet instead of his hands, the Stebbing Pony Drill, Gus and Ursula with the performing Baby Bears, Donaldo, master of the Spinning Plates and many, more. The entire production is designed and staged by famed European Ring Master, Bill Stebbing.

Birders find 37 species

STUART–More than 15,500 individual birds representing 137 different species were counted during the Audubon Christmas census taken December 27.

The area within a 15 mile diameter of Stuart was divided up in teams to scour enthusiastically spinning bush, tree and water for feathered movement. Many field workers were out at 4:30 a.m. looking for owls and continued through the day logging the number and species of birds seen.

A record number of birders participated in the 1975 count, spending more hours in the field than in the past ten years.

The day had its highlights two red throated Loons several Canada Geese a White-rumped Sandpiper four Western Sandpipers two Whisper Sparrows and five Bachman's Sparrows were recorded for the first time in eight years.

Remarking about the dwindling bird population in the area, many participants relate this change to the reduced water levels and the encroachment of cement into one of the natural plant communities.

Birders gathered in the evening to get the final tally and share food, garnish and tales of the day's experiences.

Good season for 'sails'

JENSEN BEACH–The biggest sailfish ever entered in the 41 year history of the Metropolitan South Florida Fishing Tournament offers proof that area charter captains are correct in assessing the current season as the best for sails in many years, both for numbers of fish and size.

Lester J. Finkelstein, Jr. of Orangeburg, N.Y., stabbed the record setting 136 pound giant on a charter trip out of Bud 'n Mary's Dock in Islamorada aboard Capt. Sonny Weaver's Hatch. He used a Tamiya spinning rod and 80 pound test line. Though the entire angler-operated tournament final party was set to come the week a lot of sailfish, the 136 has been verified and the giant fish is a new record in the 80 pound line division.

Actually, spectacular sailfishing registered by Robert G. Sessler of Bethlehem, Pa., a newcomer caught one of the biggest sailfish on record, sportsfishing historian Jack Samford has told us. A 70 pound test line division fish, Sessler's 123 pounder was caught on a Penn 9/0 reel and 130 pound test line. Sessler, who had never caught a sailfish before, was fishing with Capt. Frank Forgione.

A near record was logged in the unlimited division (no line restrictions) when Ann Gilbert, a 15 year old resident of Key West, fit the sailfish division. A Dr. Huber of Carlstadt, N.J. landed an unofficial 114 pound sailfish on the Hatch.

Capt. Bill Montgomery at Bahia Honda Marina in Key West found a spot in reaching back to his Peter Pan days of Highland Park, Ill., and the name Jeff. The young Forestry student, a novice who caught his first blackfin tuna off the Florida coast on a Penn 9/0 reel, used spinning tackle to land a 114 lb. 4 oz. sailfish and a 42 lb. 12 oz. blackfin tuna both entries in the Junior Division.

The Abel Tournament, sponsored by the Miami Herald and the Miami Beach Bureau of Tourism, is open to the public, and every year the tournament organization has drawn anglers from all over the country. Dozens of boats from the Florida Keys and Miami to Palm Beach and Fort Lauderdale participate in the Tournament each year. Contact could not be made last night with officials of the tournament.

PSL shufflers bow to Ocean Breeze

PORT ST. LUCIE–Ocean Breeze shufflers visited Port St. Lucie on Central East Coast League play last week and with four starts in action, Ocean Breeze won the match 3 to 1.

The PSL scoring team was Ernie Spinelle and Tom Scott. Hosts and guests enjoyed coffee and doughnuts served by Lillian Merrill during a pleasant social hour.

In Indian River League play at Orange Bowl, Port St. Lucie shufflers didn't fare much better with Ocean Breeze winning 8 to 2. PSL scoring teams were Yvonne and Art Tondreau and Judd Reading playing with Al McDonnell.

The Panama Canal giveaway

WASHINGTON—The State Department drive to give away the Panama Canal is dormant. But it's not dead.

It's dormant because 1976 is an election year and no incumbent president, nor any Senator or Congressman want to go before the voters after taking part in the biggest giveaway in our already treasury-beaten history.

But negotiators are still plugging away both here and in Panama on proposed new treaty destined to give the canal and the zone which connects it back to the Republic of Panama over a 25-year span.

And that draft treaty is expected to come to Congress for ratification sometime early next year.

That gives the State Department a year to launch a campaign to sway the American people into approving the giveaway. And they've already started with the formation of a group called The Business and Professional Committee for a New Panama Canal Treaty.

Part of the pro-treaty campaign will follow the line of Chief U.S. negotiator Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker who contends the U.S. no longer can be nor would it want to be the only country in the world enjoying extraterritoriality on the soil of another country.

And part will follow the line used by Panama's dictator General Omar Torrijos that the U.S. had better start making concessions soon or face guerilla warfare in the Panama Canal Zone.

In fact, Torrijos recently held out the threat of a so-called spontaneous invasion of the canal zone. If the people of Panama decide to invade the canal zone, I can either trigger or lead them . . . and I am not sure I could restrain the threatened bloodbath," the Secretary of State Kissinger warned of another Vietnam in the making.

But what would happen if we were through to give away the canal zone?

Most of the ships using the canal are either leaving or heading for a U.S. port. So we have a financial stake in keeping the canal open and operating.

Closing the canal would increase the cost of goods we buy from abroad and add tremendously to the cost of goods we ship to other nations because it would add 8,000 miles to the voyage of every vessel using the canal now. Without the canal, all ships would be forced to sail around all of South America and its Texas-horn Cape Horn to reach their destination.

That would send the cost of goods heading in both directions sky rocketing causing a severe disruption of our balance of payments.

So we would be forced to "get along" with the Panamanian government in order to keep using the canal. But it won't cost us to get along with a military dictator, particularly a leftist dictator.

And Torrijos showed his leftist leanings by his recent visit to Cuba and the third Latin American chief of state he received in Castro in the 17 years since he took power. The purpose of the Torrijos trip, according to reports, is the signing of an arms agreement, the purchase of Soviet war materials shipped through Cuba to Panama.

So the chances of our getting along with the Torrijos regime are small. We wouldn't be working with Panamanians, we'd be working with a Castro backed Soviet puppet.

Fortunately, however, we can keep from putting ourselves in a position where we'd be at the mercy of such a regime. We can keep control of the Panama Canal Zone.

We bought it, we paid for it, we built it, we operated it. It's ours.

Further, the treaty of 1903 gave us the right to operate the canal in perpetuity.

We must retain that right. Anything else would be folly.

Varied courses offered by adult ed

STUART—A variety of new courses is being offered this semester by the Adult Education Department of Martin County Schools.

A 30 session private pilot ground school and pilot refresher course meeting on Monday and Wednesday nights will begin at 7 p.m. January 26 at Stuart Middle School. The course is designed to aid passing the private pilot written exam or the biannual flight review required for those pilots needing renewal certification. This is beginning or continuing flight education at a fraction of the cost of comparable courses.

William Stine, an airline transport pilot with both federal and state certification for aviation instruction will instruct the class. Registration will be held at the first session on Monday, January 26.

A complete program of business education courses is offered with typing on Monday and Wednesday evenings, ABC Notehand and Key Punch on Mondays, and bookkeeping, Gregg Shorthand and office practices on Tuesday evenings. Classes in business law, business mathematics and business communication will be offered if there is sufficient interest.

Enrollment for a new course in specialty foods will be taken at 7 p.m. Thursday, January 29. Under the direction of Andre Gerard, a gourmet chef with many years experience in the restaurant and catering field, the course will include demonstration and experience in the selection, preparation and cooking of a variety of foods. Whether a daily consumer of gourmet fare or desiring to prepare himself for employment in the vast field of specialty foods or commercial cooking, the course will offer information and consumer tips galore.

Pre-registration for all courses takes place at Martin County High School at 6:45 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays, or weekdays between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. at the Adult Education office, 500 E. Ocean Blvd., Stuart. Additional information about these courses and other offerings is available by calling the office at 287-6400, extension 130.

There were many anxious moments at Outdoor Resorts at Nettles Island Sunday evening when the dark cloud of smoke spotted around 5 p m turned into a raging forest fire

The fire department said they had been aware of it since Saturday and it was under control, but they were not aware of the fact that it had jumped their fire line and was now raging and by 8 p m with the high winds prevailing, had threatened danger to the hotels resorts and Nettles Island residents

At one point both sides of A-1-A were aflame and the winds kept pushing the flames south until the fire was within a mile of Nettles Island filling the entire front island with smoke Many feared they might have to evacuate and started making preparations

As the flames got smaller our heartbeats got light and thank God they were able to contain it We were all thankful that night

AIT IN TANK—A whale that was found on tchinson Island beach Monday morning was taken to a tank at the Environmental Studies Center. Attempts to save the 10-foot mammal was unsuccessful, however, and it died Monday night.

SURF FISHERMEN—Surf fishermen were out in great numbers on Hutchinson Island beaches Tuesday, but no swimmers were found in the surf. While a warming trend set in Tuesday, it apparently wasn't warm enough for sun worshipers.

Whale dies at center

JENSEN BEACH—A 10-foot whale found beached on Hutchinson Island Monday morning, Jan. 19, died several hours later at the Jensen Beach Environmental Studies Center, center staffer Frank Pittman said.

The black mammal was found just north of the Martin-St. Lucie County line by beachwalkers and was transferred by members of the state Marine Patrol to the center.

Marine biologist Bob Gallagher, one of the rescuers, said sea parasites probably got into the whale's sonar, its inner ear directional senses.

It was noted by one of the biologists that if the whale had been healthy, it wouldn't have washed up on shore.

The Miami Seaquarium was contacted by the biologists, hoping to get the whale moved from the center to the seaquarium where it could be treated by veterinarians.

However, Pittman noted that the seaquarium didn't have equipment available to transfer the whale.

Estimated weight of the black mammal was 200 pounds, but biologists couldn't identify the species.

Several months ago a small whale was found in the Hutchinson Island surf and transferred to the seaquarium where it dies shortly after arrival.

Ties highlight North

PORT ST. LUCIE—Tie was the name of the game when the members of the North Port Men's Golf League met for play Tuesday at the Holiday Course.

According to the League scorekeeper Bob Brunton tied in Flight A with a 61 net.

Flight B resulted in a tie between Herb Tschudy and Vern Kelley with a 64.

Also scoring in Charlie Conley, John Jankowski, and Julian Wisan took the lead in Flight C.

Flight D was also a three-way tie with a low net of 59. Winners were Warren Davis, Charles Fargo and John Pugh.

Bob Gordon came the closest to the pin on the eighth hole while Henry Pessaro came the closest on the

Lucky Charms enjoy tour

BY MAGGIE BIGGE, Reporter

The Lucky Charms 4H Club of Port St. Lucie toured the Pizza Hut on January 8 where they enjoyed their evening meal together. Mr. and Mrs. John Martin and Billy accompanied the group. Debbie Whalen and her committee, Tammy Batchelder and Dona Mills, planned the tour.

Members then went to Tammy Reeser's home on Prima Vista Blvd. for their business meeting. President Monica Nilsson appointed the following members to plan a community service project: Kathy Ewing, chairman; June Woodward and Maggie Bigge.

Erin Miller gave the council report. Eight members attended the Christmas caroling and party on December 13. Transportation was provided by the Millers, Whalens and Batchelders. Maggie skit chairman, reported that all committees had met and made plans for the skit. The schedule for practices was announced. Sonya Goins, chairman of the poster committee, announced that Tammy Batchelder, Monica, Beth Martin and Sonya made posters for the Juvenile Diabetes Quilt Fair. Beth reported that the citrus carnival will be held on January 26. Vicky Ewing, chairman of Sandy Shoes parade, reported that members could decorate and ride bikes in the parade. Dena and Kathi represented the club on the county 4H float.

The program was given by the following members:

Tammy Reeser gave a talk on "Setting the Stage for Cooking." Monica talked on "Types of Fasteners." Dena gave a talk on "April Crisp," and June gave a talk on "Placing Your Pattern."

The next business meeting will be at the home of Dena and Erin Miller on February 5.

Homemakers enjoy 'day off'

PORT ST. LUCIE—Taking the day off from regular Tuesday workshop activities, a group of the Beautiful Waters Homemakers visited the St. Lucie Historical Museum recently.

They reported enjoying the opportunity to compare some of their "modern" ideas with those of the homemakers of the past displayed in the museum. After the guided tour many explored the beautiful surroundings of the area and went to lunch at a neighboring restaurant.

Mrs. Terry Heilbach is president of the club which meets every Tuesday morning at the Community Center at 9:30 a.m. Newcomers to the community are welcome to join in these arts and crafts activities which vary almost every week with instruction and advice shared by members.

The January meeting was hosted by Mesdames Marie Donahoo, Millie Green, Buena Legard and Olive Rickett. Mrs. Ethel Nickelsen chairs the hospitality committee.

A beautiful needlepoint pillow donated by Mrs. Alice Bowen as a door prize was won by Mrs. Lenore Heil.

Academy students tops in test

Howes-in-the-Hills Honors Academy's Senior Class has tested more than fifty percentile points higher than the state's average twelfth grader according to figures released by the Florida Statewide Twelfth Grade Testing Program.

As applications continue to be accepted for the January 26 Second Semester at this Central Florida coeducational college preparatory school, newly enrolled seniors will join their classmates in careful selection of college and career education. And their high twelfth grade test scores are considered a yardstick for state university admissions and a strong indicator of ability by the nation's colleges.

In all six categories of the test, Howes's seniors surpassed the state average which includes public and private school seniors.

Areas tested were: learning aptitude and reading ability plus achievement in English, social studies, natural science and math.

HAPPY HELLO—When you call Martin County Courthouse, the happy hello voice, "good morning courthouse," you hear belongs to Fran Copeland of Port St. Lucie.

Community Bridge Club

JENSEN BEACH—On Monday, January 12, there were 19 tables playing in two sections with an average of 190 for north-south and east-west in both sections.

North-south winners in section A were Marjorie McKay and Helen Neugebauer, 126½; second, Irma Clo and Flora Raffe, 120; third, Thelma and Ed Gates, 117½; fourth, Ray Blue and George Kroll, 116.

East-west winners in section A were Virginia Burch and Florence DeRemer, 137; second, George Heath and Ida Zimmerman, 128½; third, R. Willis and M. Wilkins, 122½; fourth, Jack Alger and Caroline Prodo, 108.

North-south winners in section B were Otis Kendall and Steve Stanton, 142; second, Ann Mooney and Louise Ressler, 121; third, Harriet Cooles and Hazel Wheeler, 119½; and fourth, Sid Schweiger and Elwood Spickard, 114½.

East-west winners in section B were Orelle Harmes and Jane Olson, 140½; second, Marie Furlong and Lucille Anderson, 118; third, Lucy and Charles Decker, 112½; fourth, Bea and Bill Snelling, 109½.

On Friday, January 9, a Howell Movement was played and in first place were Orelle Harmes and Marion Heath. A tie for second, third and fourth places found Ruth and Una Kendall, Millie Briggs and Cora Irwin, Lucy and Charles Decker all with identical scores.

Sid Schweiger and Elwood Spickard took fifth place but a tie for sixth and seventh developed between Margie Billing and Grant Shaffer, Esta Foggin and Caroline Prodo.

Game time is 1 p.m. Mondays and Fridays in the Harry Hoke Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan, Jensen Beach.

All players are welcome and a partner is always available. George H. Heath is director.

Presidents Council elects

PORT ST. LUCIE—The Presidents Council of Port St. Lucie held its annual meeting at CESA on Thursday, January 15 and received the report of the nominating committee. Concurring with the committee's recommendations, members of the council unanimously elected the following officers for the coming year:

Cedric Benz, president; Tom Hillegas, vice president; Anne Mulkeen, secretary.

Cedric Benz, who doubles as the Friday Nite Gang Host, reported to the council a list of names of clubs and organizations who contributed funds to the Gang's Christmas toy fund and reported that this year's campaign was the best ever adding that many three and four year old youngsters had a happy Christmas as a result.

Missionary service is Sunday

PORT ST. LUCIE—Reverend George Durham and members of the Port St. Lucie Baptist Church extend an invitation to the public to attend a special missionary service this Sunday, January 25 at 2 p.m.

Special missionary speaker will be Reverend Leslie G. Keyes, Southern Baptist missionary to Honduras. He leads a congregation in San Pedro Sula and has taught and preached in churches and missions in other parts of Honduras.

Originally from Waterproof, Louisiana, Keyes was a farmer and sawmill worker before deciding to enter the ministry and mission service at the age of 28. He received the bachelor of arts degree from Louisiana College and the bachelor of divinity degree from New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary. Throughout his college studies, he was pastor of Cash Bayou Baptist Church in Clayton, La. and worked part time as a carpenter and electrician's helper.

Reverend Keyes was appointed as missionary in general evangelism in December, 1958, and studied Spanish in San Jose Costa Rica, before going to Honduras. His carpentry and electrical background has been helpful to congregations needing buildings and furnishings.

He is a lively, interesting and dedicated evangelist, according to a spokesman for the church.

Port St. Lucie First Baptist Church is located at 115 N.E. Solida Drive.

Village law changes slated

February at CESA

PORT ST. LUCIE—There are some great special events slated at the Community Center (CESA) during the month of February.

Sunday, February 1 the Anglers Club is presenting a barbecue and cookout from 1 to 4 p.m. Herb Tschudy is chairman of the event.

While the Anglers are dishing up the food outdoors, the Port St. Lucie Republican Club will be selling delicious homemade baked goods inside. Proceeds from both events are earmarked for CESA's operating fund.

Doorbell ringers will be telling everybody all about it Sunday when the CESA fund drive kicks off. This is a great opportunity for new residents particularly to visit the Community Center, find out what it's all about, and have some good food and fellowship at the same time.

Tickets are limited so early reservations are suggested. The tickets are limited, so early reservations are suggested. The tickets are available from the Community Center office and Anglers Club members. Tickets ordered by phone will be delivered if purchasers so desire.

Coming up next on the special events roster is a horticulture and flower show by the Rio Linda Garden Club from 2 to 8 p.m. Friday, February 6.

Friday, February 13, is the Italian American Bicentennial Dinner and Saturday, February 21 will be George Washington's Birthday Card Party. Mrs. Richard Betty Miller is chairing this affair.

Details on all the special events are forthcoming according to CESA office personnel.

Kessler, Edwards tie

D & M News Notes

BY MILDRED STINNETT
334-4486

Ever since coming back from spending six delightful weeks with my daughter Jill Harris, son-in-law Jim, and two grandchildren, Mark and Shannon, at their home in Ft. Eustis, Virginia, I've been trying to catch up on the mail and news. From what I hear, this place really "jumped" during the holidays, and many of our residents were made happy by the arrival of family and friends to share Christmas and New Year's with them.

The Morans had a grandson, Gary Doner, from Erie, Pa., with them for a week.

Alice Sovoleski came to the Dolmines from South Bend, Indiana, and is staying on. She came to our Hobby Group meeting last Tuesday and was busy knitting, meeting our members, and enjoying the goodies brought by Celia Barr and Alice Willoughby, the hostesses.

Next week we'll look to Mabel Proctor and Bessie Kieper for the refreshments.

Edie Andreason was at the meeting - the first time I've seen her since she and her husband came to spend the winter.

Mona Wendt, President, led the meeting in her usual fine style, and afterwards told me she and Arthur had entertained Violet Renner, Arthur's cousin from Windsor, Canada, during the holidays, and that Edna and Peter James came over from Madiera Beach to help them celebrate Christmas Eve was spent at the home of Ellene and David McBriar, and they all had Christmas dinner at the Wendts.

Shortly after Christmas, Elsie and Bud Marshall of Windsor came for a visit.

To polish off the holidays Mona and Arthur, accompanied b Violet Renner spent New Year's Eve with the McBriars.

Ethel and Don Phillips had Christmas guests also, Ethel's son Ray, Westbrook, his wife Beverly, and two grandsons, David and Bob, came down from Barton, New York in their new Dodge Travco. They went to the beach every day, in spite of the chilly weather and were in no hurry to return to Barton where the temperature was considerably below that of Jensen Beach.

Nettie Keeler's heart was gladdened when her son Lee and his wife Susan of Radford, Virginia, came for Christmas and were joined by Nettie's niece Yvonne Endy and her husband Claude of Pottstown, Penna. The all went clamming and were pleased with their success.

Marie and Harold Johnson's daughter Mary Jane Dukowics, her husband Edward, and grandchildren Susan and David, came from Huntington, Long Island, to spend a happy two weeks here at the beach, at the races in West Palm and visiting Silver Springs.

Wednesday afternoon the Ebners, Julie, Martha and Gene went to pick up Martha's sister-in-law, Helene Gianbalvo of Brooklyn, New York, who has come for a visit.

The Ebners also had guests during the holidays. Gene's friends Fred and Marie Roberts and their daughter Gail, from Edison, New Jersey.

I didn't know Bea Waldren was celebrating a birthday on January 14th until Edna May brought me a piece of the delicious birthday cake she had baked for the occasion. Sorry about that, Bea, but Happy Birthday from all your friends - a little late.

I was not the only one to leave for the holidays - Alice and Walter Reeder took off in their motor home for Sewell, New Jersey, to be with their daughter Shirley Everett, her husband Zane, two grandsons, and to be introduced to a third grandson Craig, born recently. Their son Kenneth was there also, having been seperated from the Navy recently.

Walter told me the farther North they traveled, the colder it got, until they were slogging through snow with the thermometer indicating 18 cold degrees.

Alice ventured forth to have lunch with her sister Marie Rosa of Clarksborough, and they all went to a family reunion at the home of another sister, Marion Bovill in Alloway, at which twenty-five were present. They also renewed friendship with Jean and Charles Denelsbeck who were visiting their parents in Glassboro, and spent New Year's Eve with Alice's sister June Hess and her husband Rod who live in Woodbury Heights.

Edna May's son Carl drove down from Tallmadge, Ohio, with his daughter Chris last week, stayed a week, then flew back home while Chris went to Miami. Carl is exceedingly fond of coconut cream pies, and Edna never disappoints him. Believe me, they are superb.

Edna's brother Carl Freed and his wife Clara from Plymouth, Indiana came here with another brother, Ray Freed and his wife Roxie who live in Ft. Lauderdale, and stayed with Edna for a few days.

Among the mail waiting for me was a note from Esther Kaiser, a former resident, a Christmas card, and another addressed to everybody in our park, which I put on the bulletin board for Esther. She went to her daughter's for Christmas, and said the town looked so lovely, decorated with all the pretty lights which they missed seeing last year because of the fuel shortage. It's good to know you still think of us, Esther.

Monday morning, bright and early 9 a.m. to be exact, Grace Cleto came to get our Art Class started again, and was welcomed by an enthusiastic group of would-be artists. We want to thank the Indian River Community College Community Services Division for obtaining this instructor for us, and we look forward to many happy and productive lessons.

NOW plans rummage sale

JENSEN BEACH--The Indian River Chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW) will hold a rummage and bake sale on Saturday, January 24 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Langford Park Fieldhouse in Jensen Beach. Clothing, housewares, toys, furniture, even a washing machine will all be tagged with low prices.

Proceeds from the sale will be used by the chapter in the Equal Rights Amendment Ratification effort, to support the Women's Center of Martin County, a joint project with the American Association of University Women, and in part to support the Ann Scott Florida NOW Legislative office in Tallahassee.

Indian River freeholders meet

JENSEN BEACH--A meeting of the Indian River Freeholders Association will be held Thursday, January 22, at the Walton Community Center.

Meeting time is 7:30 p.m. Officers will be elected at this session and refreshments will be served.

The Board of Directors met on Saturday with a good attendance on hand to hear and watch the board in action. Many things were discussed in preparation for the annual meeting in February, at which time three new directors will be elected.

Despite the extreme cold early Sunday morning, a large group attended the service at our Pavillion Church. Bert Turner gave the opening service and announcements and Dee Brink played the organ.

Reverend Clark Thompson officiated, giving his usual good prayer and message for the week.

Then a special treat - a male quartet from Hobe Sound Bible College played and sang beautiful hymns. The young men were Ron Sagrada from N. Carolina, guitarist Paul Fair from Michigan, Dan Wright of Indiana, and Mark Jamison from Georgia.

Stanley McCart gave the closing prayer and Mark Sumner, Jeff Van Raay and Ed Strock served as ushers.

Next week Thursday, January 29, we at H.O. are having a catered Dinner Dance. The menu includes baked ham steak with pineapple or raisin sauce, baked potato, vegetable, rolls and butter, dessert and coffee. Tickets at $10 per couple include dinner and dancing, from 7 to 11:30 p.m.

Hosting the affair are Aus and Mae Williams.

Tickets for the affair will be available at the rec hall from 2 to 4 p.m. January 25 and 10 to 11 p.m. January 26.

No tickets will be sold at the door.

Our anniversary dance was a great success, thanks to host and hostess Gordie and Edna Emaus, assisted by Kay and Roy Johnson, Ed and Evelyn Frost, Nora and Bert Turner.

The Mark Sumners of lot 325 hosted a fish fry recently, serving fish caught by Sumner, Chet Kingsbury and Bob Barton. Seventeen people attended, bringing other dishes of food. Wow! What a selection of good things to eat there were!

Roger Harel, one of our owners, enjoyed a golfer's dream come true on Thursday. He made a hole in one at the Holiday Country Club.

Vernon and Rose Mary May arrived Friday, only to find a "For Sale" sign on their lot 117. Seems some very good friends in the park took responsibility for the few who stopped and inquired.

Kay Stephenson has sold lot 155 to Mr. and Mrs. R. Nurse of Connecticut. We extend a warm welcome. They hope to be back in March.

Kurt Reichenback has enrolled at Indian River Community College this semester and will be staying in his mother's trailer on lot 153. Nice to have you aboard, Kurt.

Larry Hardy entered Martin Memorial Hospital Saturday for observation. We hope the best for him.

Received a letter from Frank Raymond. Sorry to report he has been ill, as has his good friend John who comes down with him and who had surgery.

Frank hopes to be here in a couple of weeks.

Bridge scores: Ruth Jacobsen, 5260; Era Brodehl, 4980; Marge McGuire, 4690.

Another good bingo night was enjoyed, particularly by Ed Starck and R. Willborne who split the first coverall; Catty Ullman and Gene Taylor, sharing the second coverall. Lena Black won the winner-take-all game.

Once again I want to remind all of you to give your news items to me, either by phone or by stopping by at lot 111, particularly the new owners. If it is more convenient, news can be given to Elizabeth O'Donnell on lot 409 or Betty Taylor, lot 50.

We have to have the news to keep our column going and H. Outers are interested in your guests, patio parties, birthdays, coffee klatches, illnesses - bring 'em in. Thanks.

Thursday, January 22, there will be another pot luck supper at 6 p.m., followed by a slide show by Bob Wagner entitled, "Alaska Pipeline, America's Life Line."

Please sign up in the lower rec hall so the committee knows what you plan to bring.

Jack Yousey returned Sunday from Martin Memorial Hospital to a warm welcome from happy neighbors, one of whom had posted a 4-foot long "Welcome Home Jack" banner on the side of his trailer.

Fran and Paul Eisenhuth are in for the rest of the winter. Paul's sister and her husband are also staying in the park.

Al and Peg Ray went to a wedding at Miami Springs last weekend. Peg says, "Thank goodness, that's the last wedding for awhile!"

Jean and Ralph Taylor took a short trip to the west coast to visit friends last week.

Winnie Ballard left Ontario in 14 degree weather and drove through snow to reach Holiday Out. Needless to say, she was very glad to be here in spite of our cold spell.

Ray and Doris Neallis finally tore themselves away from New Jersey and are busily settling in for the winter.

Seems as if everyone these days is out picking tomatoes, and from the reports, having the time of his life doing it.

Asa and Beth Goodwin have visitors from Colorado staying in the park.

Georgia and Charley Ray are in from Miami, staying on their lot for a short time.

Margaret and Frank Colbach will stay on Lee Price's lot while visiting the Prews and Al Rays.

Elsie and Bill Redar are staying on lot 338. They hosted a coffee and stollen brunch after church last week.

John and Mary Croom are in from Fayetteville, N.C. for another winter with their H.O. friends.

George Taylor was seriously injured while preparing to turn into the park Tuesday afternoon. He received eleven broken ribs, three broken fingers and a badly broken arm which required surgery. A plate has been put in the arm and George is doing well enought to be moved into Room 332 in Martin Memorial Hospital in Stuart, although he is not yet ready for visitors. Olive says it would be impossible to mention by name all who have phoned, inquired after George or remembered him in prayers.

Dottie and Erling Johnson are back from Minnesota and minus zero weather. To them this chilly spell is nothing!

Dean and Shirley Whitfield have left for home, but Dean's dad and mom are staying in the trailer, hoping for warm weather to come along.

Marilyn and Bob Wilson, with Robin and Jennie, arrived Monday afternoon for a stay in the park. Marilyn is George and Olive Taylor's daughter.

The Pickett family has left for Oneonta, N.Y., but are hoping to return again at Easter vacation time.

A warm welcome is extended to owners and guests who arrived last week, including Wm. Wuchner, lot 445; Perry Berry, lot 51; Wm. Lang, 457; R. Neallis, 228; Edward Schmuckmeir on lot 268; Charles Abel, lot 65; Willis Steen 483; Curtis Mann 189; Vincent Richart, lot 289; Jeannette Schock 162; Maurice Costello, 333; W. Ballard, 232; Carole Young, lot 219; Laurence Hardy, lot 395; C.F. Payne, lot 529; Loren Butler, 522; Philip Cooper, lot 188; and Coral Anderson, lot 428.

Congratulations on your anniversary, Ed and Evelyn Adams, celebrating January 23.

Happy Birthday wishes go to Martha Lewis, January 23; Evelyn Seban, January 24; Betty Taylor, January 26; Everett Rupert and Bill Porter, January 27.

Annual luncheon

JENSEN BEACH–The Church Aid Circle of Jensen Beach Community Church will hold its annual covered dish luncheon in the Fellowship Hall at 12 noon Wednesday, January 28.

All attending are asked to bring their own table service and a covered dish, prepared if possible from the new Circle Cook Book.

Hostesses will be President Marjorie Carpp and the newly-elected officers and board members.

Following a brief business meeting, the group will hear an address by the Reverend Norman Kehrli entitled "Correction."

Before you look into a new home, look behind it.

Introducing — New Single-Family Homes From General Development Whose Integrity and Track Record Stand Behind Every One.

While many other Florida builders are busy trying to unload yesterdays models, General Development is busy building new homes.

We are now previewing two exciting new lines of homes — homes that celebrate the Florida way of life. Spacious, bright and airy, loaded with all the easy-living extras that give you more time to enjoy all the good things Florida has to offer.

There are seven new design styles being offered now for the first time — four different models in the moderately-priced "Florida Classics" line priced from $26,990 and three in the luxurious "Estates Collection" priced from $61,990. Attacks rumors

Sharpe feels seeking refunds is reasonable council action

BY DICK CAMPBELL

PORT ST. LUCIE—The mayor of Port St. Lucie feels that it is not wrong or untimely for the city council to determine how far it should go in an effort to get back at least a fair part of the monies paid out improperly from 1968 to 1975 to certain former members of the city council and one incumbent member.

Mayor Schuyler Sharpe in a Statement of principles concerning payments to council members, present and past, as mentioned in two official findings, delivered to The Mirror office Tuesday morning, outlined his feelings about criticism of the council's efforts to collect $6,000 that was paid to the former city councilmen and one incumbent.

In one statement Sharpe pointed to the findings of the Auditor General and the Grand Jury which cited errors in payments and record keeping in the city council under the control of Mayor Eugene Kavanaugh and councilmen Julian Flood, Franklin Beardsley, Dr. Harold Suttles and Larry Kimmel.

$7,000 covered in a lawsuit by Interested Homeowners has been recovered from Beardsley $1,800; Suttley $1,800; and Kimmel $4,000, and is not a part of the $6,000.

Sharpe called the improper payments and record keeping "not in the best interests of the local taxpayers." He added that "as an elected official I cannot do less than this sworn duty."

Sharpe however stated his belief that the money received by the previous and present councilmen should be returned on the basis of the election last year and the replacement of some councilmen, plus the comments of the Auditor General and grand jury.

He added that any so-called split in the city was caused by "those persons who accepted what is described officially as improper payments for dual services performed on behalf of local government."

Sharpe included an appendum to the statement which could be interpreted as a warning to the media stating that anyone who prints an unfounded rumor that the new members of the council were in any way tied to the Grand Jury's decision that person who published the false rumor any vestige of credibility.

In a recent column by Alice Hickey in The Mirror the council was mentioned as having "some alleged violations supposedly committed by the present members of the present council," referring to the violations of the Florida Government in the Sunshine Law by the council in its earliest meetings, excluding the knowledge of the mayor that he would be mayor before the vote of the council on the matter.

League will elect

PORT ST. LUCIE—Eight new directors were named at the annual meeting of the Port St. Lucie Flea League held last week at the Sandpiper Convention Hall.

The new directors are:

For one year Alice Jensen; for two years, George Mansfield and William G. Muller; for three years, Paul Faber, Ed Gaudette, Tom Chapman, Seymour Fleming and Marvin Waldmiller.

Officers for the coming year will be elected at the February meeting. Reviewing League activities and looking into future plans, President Charles Hayde pleaded for more individual involvement in civic affairs. He pointed to matters such as the revised charter, the new zoning ordinance and the future master plan as reasons for citizens attending council meetings to learn what is going on at City Hall.

The League plans a study of the city's police program and its adequacy.

Mayor Schuyler Sharpe was on hand and pledged continuing efforts toward progress and asked for citizen support.

CESA drive is Sunday

PORT ST. LUCIE—Apparently all systems are go for the Port St. Lucie Community Center (CESA) fund drive scheduled to get underway Sunday, January 25.

Some 150 volunteers will commence ringing doorbells throughout Port St. Lucie and River Park from Sunday to solicit donations and pledges for the Community Center.

According to drive chairman Mel Mann, these volunteers will be trained to answer any questions about the center as well as accepting orders and donations.

They'll start to open to anyone and everyone. There is no exclusion, no membership fees, or other rules to discourage anyone from walking in and enjoying the facilities.

Preference is given to clubs and organized groups which pay rental for space used for their meetings. These rentals along with bingo income are an important part of the Center's operating income.

The balance of the operating funds come from special events such as the barbecue and cook-out scheduled from 1 to 6 p.m. Sunday, February 1.

Persons who are not familiar with the Center are cordially invited to inspect and use the facilities.

Short range expansion needs encompass an arts building for art classes, exhibits and sewing rooms, meeting and class rooms and a picnic pavilion.

The success of the fund drive will determine when and how much will be built on the next expansion.

It has been 6 years since the last fund drive was held.

NEW MANAGER—Paul Marsha was named as the new manager of the North Marina. Marsha was previously head of the maintenance department. Moore replaced Ron Loperfido as marina manager effective January 1.

Jam session planned in Jensen

JENSEN BEACH—The Jensen Beach Community Fund activity unit will be a jam session Sunday at the VFW on Savanna Road in Jensen Beach from 2 p.m. until whenever the party breaks up according to Richard Nerson chairman.

Many special events are planned for the party including a so-called "strip tease" by the editor of The Mirror Dick Campbell. The strip tease about when news editor Bartley Cates promised a $20 donation to the fund if Campbell did a strip.

The store last week drew pledges of donations of up to $200 from local residents for the strip. Campbell announced that Dr. Richard Penick would be his choreographer for the dance and that his costume would be a combination of the latest in dance accouterments and early thrift shop.

Twenty of the top musicians in the area from Ft. Lauderdale to Vero Beach will be on hand for the jam session according to Wendell Halverson, music chairman.

Assisting Halverson will be Irv Wammes, Bob Everly, Lee Knowles, Tom Mairs, Jim Foley and Lou Roberts. Instruments will include piano, bass, drums, guitar, saxophone, trumpet, clarinet, organ, accordion and several vocalists.

The party has received several pledges to do his now immortal vocal version of "Old Shep" on the show.

Bill Masinda, commander of the VFW, said that beverages and food would be available for the celebrants of the community fund victory party.

The public is invited to the show. Admission will be one dollar per person donation to the fund.

Some of the prizes that will be auctioned off to raise funds for the community fund will be dinners for two from: Frances Langford's Gangplank Restaurant, the Villa Capri Restaurant, the Dinner Theatre at Manatee Playhouse, ten dollar gift certificates from Man from Kirk, five dollar gift certificates from Kermits Men's Store, and two boat horns from Casa Rio Boat and Bailey Boat.

Other prizes are being collected to auction at the party.

NEW COORDINATOR—Don Porter took over his new duties last Friday as the coordinator for the Port St. Lucie Community Center (CESA). Porter will be responsible for scheduling all the activities conducted at the Community Center.

McDaniel, Gaskill, Bowman and Gouldemond win

PORT ST. LUCIE—Ken Gravatt fired the best round of the day, but the foursome of Art McDaniel, Frank Gaskill, Al Bowman and John Gouldemond won the weekly golf tournament of the Sandpiper Bay Men's Golf Association played Thursday over the Sainta Course.

Gravatt turned in a sparkling low gross 76. Others with gross scores under 80 were Mars Jensen, Louis Merlano, Jim Johnston, Paul Bacon, Tom Chapman and Ed Feasell, all of whom had 79's.

Leading foursomes were Gouldemond McDaniel Gaskill-Bowman, 115; Jim Lauffer-Barney Minguallal Roberts-Bill Muller, Charley Brown-Augie Hofmeister-Howard Klerk Harry Kesaler, John Huncharek-Ed Rueter-Bill Kaufman-Bill Ziock, 121; Don Lesher-Rick Vernoa-Don Fisher-Charlie Swan, 123; Mars Jensen-Al Hasell-Charlie Hayde-Charley Boaz 123.

City investigates new phone service

PORT ST. LUCIE—During the Tuesday workshop session Council members heard a presentation by Alfred E. Carlson of the Florida Intercontinent Telephone Company concerning a proposed City Hall communications system.

The system, which according to Carlson could be installed for $1,600 would meet all of the known requirements of the city in its present location and can be moved to any new location at the time of its construction.

The investment would include installation all cabling and hardware, plus the first year full maintenance contract.

The new communications system would supposedly result in a savings to the city of approximately $1,000 over a five-year period.

The proposed system will include eleven six button telephones on which all lines plus an intercom will appear. The twelfth instrument will be a console arrangement at the receptionist area. This key tele-phone will have all lines and the intercom appearing but a station station and buss lamp lined as well.

After the first year warrants the city will have the opportunity to choose either a per call or annual maintenance contract. The per call rate is $18 per hour while the annual rate would be $5 per phone per month.

The city is awaiting the receipt of a like proposal from Southern Bell Telephone for comparison.

Dedication Saturday

PORT ST. LUCIE—Dedication ceremonies have been planned for 1:30 p.m. Saturday for the new flag pole and flag at the Port St. Lucie Community Center (CESA).

Mrs. Florence Dabney has donated the flag which will be presented by members of the Andy Mattox Post 103 in her behalf.

City ponders meeting change

PORT ST. LUCIE—The city council Tuesday spent a considerable time discussing the pros and cons of changing the Council meeting days from Tuesdays.

The change is being considered to avoid a conflict with the St. Lucie County Commission meetings also held on Tuesdays according to City Administrator Elmer Cox.

CHAIRMAN—Chairman Ed Fessel announced Tuesday he thought the P&Z Board would be in a position to submit the seventy page zoning ordinance to the various members of the City Council for review prior to the next regular session. The Board has been working on the lengthy new revised ordinance for approximately six months.

Friday is deadline

PORT ST. LUCIE—The last day for registration for the 13 week cake decorating course will be Friday, January 23 at the Port St. Lucie Marina. Classes start at 9 a.m. and the fee is five dollars.

Slate named

PORT ST. LUCIE—Officers for 1976 will be elected at the Port St. Lucie Yacht Club meeting scheduled for Tuesday, January 27. Meeting time is 8 p.m. at the CESA Community Center.

The officers elect are Nelson Howery for Commodore, Arthur Coulon, vice commandore, Josephine Walker, secretary, George Jacobs treasurer.

Directors named are Fred Adler, George Lindberg, Robert Clemens, Bill Hoover, Joe Cornwell and Ernest Geswein. Past Commodore Mike Reeb automatically becomes a member of the board.

News of Nettles Island

of last week was filled with sunny days. There were quite enthusiastic swimmers in the and sunbathers, beach lers and surfers could be seen at beach. Friday evening began a full moon glistening in golden over the river a lovely sight. we all started to feel the peratures drop again and by day morning, the heaters were ned on and the heavy jackets being put on. Even then, the g cold winds on the Island kept of the fun loving vacationers. There just wasn't much to outdoors.

is surprise, Sunday afternoon ed a few hearty souls in the ming pool. I guess the heatest and sauna make a good ination and the cool temperatu just didn't hamper that tion.

didn't see much of the male ation of Nettles Island on day afternoon. All available were tossed into the Super Queens and those watching weren't aware of what the outside peratures were like.

even had empty spaces on the courts this weekend which the first time in well over a So, you can bet it was either or outdoor activity was less ant than the football game.

was considerable prepara during the week for the most tant annual board meeting ction of new board members. voting machines were brought in on Friday and early Saturday morning the board met for discussion and annual reports. The next two hours were open to the lot owners for questions and answers ending in time for a lunch break before the 1-4 p.m. voting period. It was a busy afternoon with voters coming and going, waiting their turn, hurrying to get out of the cold hoping their votes would put the candidates of their choice in office.

After all the votes were in, officers elected for 1976 were Harry Lipper, Melva Cooke, Harry Briggs, Ann Murphy, Clark Johnson and Clifford Larkins.

The TOPS, Take Off Pounds Sensibly, Club held a fruit sale Saturday afternoon with tremendous results. They were all sold out by 1 o'clock. The fruit was excellent, tangelos so big and juicy, the customers were coming back for second helpful after sampling the first. Maxine Gillary chaired the sale and the H. & M. Packing Company supplied the fruit. We never could have done it without the help of Lyle Jones, who picked the fruit up for us and delivered it to the clubhouse.

The Shuffleboard Club held its handicap tournament on Thursday morning, January 15, starting at 9:00 a.m. Thirty-two shufflers participated in some very competitive games.

Congratulations to first place winners, Dave Ostrander and Maurice Letson, who shuffled away with the grand prize, a pair of shuffle sticks. Two gold packs went to runner-ups, Irene German and Lew Brown. The trophy remains on display in the recreational rental office with the winners' names inscribed. It really good time was had by all participants.

There will be more shuffleboard action added to the fun. The most outstanding was Bob Rody, who lived up to his name.

The Body Beautiful, female impersonation, and Miss Tutti, dressed most appropriately for the shower rather than the shuffle courts, complete with towels and soap.

Co-chairmen Jack Summers and Bob Coulliard are now forming a second league, which began Tuesday, January 20, at 10:45 a.m. All interested newcomers are invited to sign up for competitive league play.

Sal and Val Stallings, from Buffalo, N.Y., are enjoying a short visit here with their good friends, Millie and John Ross. They are enroute to Miami for a three week vacation and, hopefully, for some much warmer weather.

Lucille Borecki, mother of Ron Engel and Wayne Borecki, is back to spend the rest of the winter. Her husband, Henry, was planning to make the trip with her but was delayed a few days by business. Lucille, who had her bags all packed, decided she wasn't going to wait any longer than she already had and kept her arrival date as planned.

She knows it will warm up in a few days, not like Wisconsin, so is very happy to be back, and we're all very pleased to see her here again.

We have an exciting dance coming up this Saturday night, January 24. The Women's Club is sponsoring the "Snowball Dance," given in honor of the board of directors, complete with the 16-piece orchestra that helped make the New Year's Eve dance such a success. Hope you all have your tickets bought.

Another big event coming up in February is the "Minstrel Show." It will be presented for four consecutive days, featuring the Roaring 20's and Bicentennial celebration.

Al Ganz is in charge again and hopes it will be an even bigger success than it was last year. Tickets are already on sale for the night of your choice.

There were many anxious moments at Outdoor Resorts at Nettles Island Sunday evening when the dark cloud of smoke spotted around 5 p.m. turned into a raging forest fire.

The fire department said they had been aware of it since Saturday and it was under control, but they were not aware of the fact that it had jumped their fire line and was now raging and by 6 p.m. with the high winds prevailing, had threatened danger to the hotels, resorts and Nettles Island residents.

At one point both sides of A1A were aflame, and the winds kept pushing the flames south until the fire was within a mile of Nettles Island filling the entire front island with smoke. Many feared they might have to evacuate and started making preparations.

As the flames got smaller, our heartbeats got light and, thank God, they were able to contain it. We were all thankful that night.

ADVERTISE--Fr. Frank Alvarez, pastor of All Saints Episcopal Church, told Kiwanians Monday to advertise God and Country Day, planned for February 15 at Martin County High School auditorium.

Powers won't seek county re-election

JENSEN BEACH--Veteran Martin County Commissioner Timer Powers said Tuesday that he will not seek re-election.

Powers' surprise announcement came at the beginning of the Commission meeting.

"I have decided not to seek re-election in 1976," Powers said.

And then the Indiantown businessman said:

"Every day of my governmental service has been a challenge--and a very distinct honor."

He said he wanted to make his announcement early enough for any potential candidate to arrange their business and seek the open post.

"This will allow another individual to share this challenge and share such honors. This will allow the public the opportunity to have another individual on this board, and thus will allow the public an opportunity for new thought and new thinking and new direction."

The 12-year veteran on the commission also noted that "the realization that my family responsibilities are increasing daily. Our oldest son will be 10-years-old and youngest four. The next few years are very important ones."

Powers, 38, was elected to the Commission in 1964 and has served as chairman, and chairman of the Finance Committee for a number of years.

Last year he advanced, and promoted, the idea of Community Service Centers in the outlying areas of the county.

He called the mini courthouses "an exciting new concept in government."

Many county office holders and community leaders endorsed Powers' idea.

Needed: a renewal of faith n our nation and government

JENSEN BEACH--Plans for the cond annual God and Country Day ere outlined Monday to the Jensen each Kiwanis Club by Fr. Frank lvarez, pastor of All Saints piscopal Church.

"There is a need in the United tates of America for a renewal of ith in our nation and in Almighty od," Alvarez told the group.

Explaining the purpose of God and ountry Day, Alvarez said it was esigned to "arouse a deeper sense patriotism and love of country e have to get back to the feeling at this nation is truly under God."

The event will feature Col. Donald Peterson, an astronaut, as the ain speaker, and will be held at the artin County High School gymnaium on February 15, beginning at 30 p.m.

"I am proud to be a part of it," lvarez said, "and feel it will help ople restore their heritage."

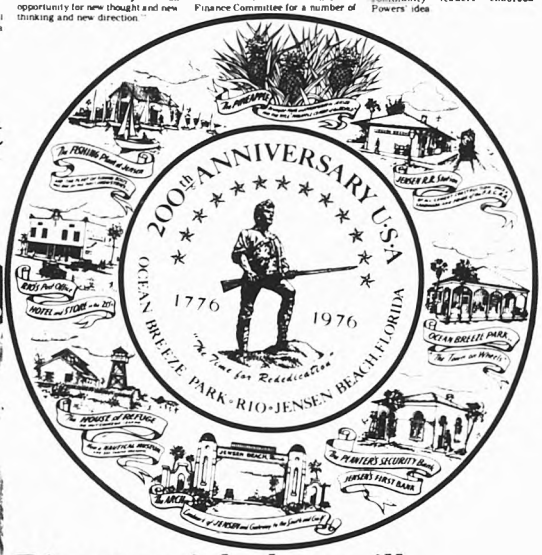
lmost 1,500 oters register

JENSEN BEACH--Almost 1,500 rsons registered to vote since cember, according to Supervisor Elections Sandra Randolph.

Of the approximately 1,490 voters gistering since Dec. 1, 767 were publicans, 642 Democrats and 87 re classified independents.

Democrats are still on top in the mber of registered voters with ,695, to 11,295 Republicans and 67 other parties.

The nearly 1,500 persons registered since December puts a big dent in e approximately 2,000 purged m the rolls last October. State law quires citizens not voting in a o-year period be dropped from the ting list.



Bicentennial plate will feature Jensen drawings

JENSEN BEACH--An ambitious program that is certain to be a success was announced this week by the Jensen Beach-Rio Bicentennial Committee.

A blue and gold commemorative plate, with scenes of Jensen Beach, Rio and Ocean Breeze Park, has been created in a drawing by noted artist Carl Engel. The ten-inch plate will be sold in a limited edition by the committee, with orders being taken now.

Costing ten dollars, the plate will feature scenes of pineapple growing, the fishing fleet, the old bank, House of Refuge, Jensen arch, Rio post office, the old FEC railroad station and Ocean Breeze Park office.

A pamphlet is planned to explain each of the scenes of the history of the area.

Orders are being taken for the plate at the Snook Nook and at the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce.

"This should really be a collector's item," Klett said.

Phone cable is cut

JENSEN BEACH--A Southern Bell cable was accidentally cut Tuesday afternoon on U.S. 1 and Jensen Beach Cutoff Road, knocking out a few hundred telephone customers in the area, Genn Sutton said.

Sutton, company manager in Stuart, said, "Another utility company was working in the area when the cable was cut."

"We hated the temporary disruption of service to our customers," Sutton said. "Most of the customers had their service back Tuesday afternoon."

Rainfall is below normal

JENSEN BEACH--Rainfall for December was about 27 per cent of normal for the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District (FCD), it was reported at a meeting of FCD's governing board.

Bill Brannen, FCD director of field services, said that if the area receives normal rainfall for the next five months, there will probably be no shortages this year, but deficient rainfall and large uses could cause shortages before the rainy season in May or June.

Lake Okeechobee is at 13.29 feet mean sea level, according to Brannen. A year ago the lake stood at 14.34.

Two file in town race

SEWALL'S POINT--Former Martin County Commissioner Ed Gluckler has filed for a seat on the Sewall's Point Commission.

Also seeking a seat on the commission is Robert C. Russell of High Point.

Gluckler was defeated for re-election to the County Commission two years ago.

It is the first political outing for Russell, who is retired.

Three commissioners are to be elected in the March 2 voting. The terms of Mayor William Sowden, Commissioners Francis Clarke and Richard Granfield will expire.

Clarke has announced that he will not seek re-election.

A primary will be held Feb. 24 if there are more than twice the number of candidates for the vacancies.

Deadline for filing is Feb. 9, and voting will take place at the Town Hall.

Samaritans elect new leaders

JENSEN BEACH--Officers and staff of the Jensen Area Samaritans Ambulance, Inc., were elected at a recent meeting.

Bill Stephenson was elected president, succeeding George Krauss.

Other officers are Roger Hazel, vice president; Mrs. Eve Wagner, secretary-treasurer; Henry Sheward, day-shift supervisor; Mrs. Nellie Cook, assistant.

Night shift supervisor, Krauss and Robert Nydam, assistant; Fred Rust, squad instructor and supply officer; Mrs. Maxine Bailey, building supervisor and Art Riley, squad engineer.

Executive directors include: Roger Hazel, Mrs. Eve Wagner, Walter Redit, Jim Calkins, Krauss and Stephenson.

Directors are Mrs. Rose Kay, Sheward and Nydam. Dr. Richard Penick was elected to the honorary board of directors.

Bicentennial flower show set

STUART--A bicentennial flower show, entitled "Americana Rejoice and Sing" has been set for February 27 and 28 at the First United Methodist Church.

Sponsored by the Garden Club of Stuart, the horticulture division is open to the general public. Anyone having a healthy, well groomed plant, terrarium, bonsai, or a specimen of flowers, shrubs, vines, vegetables or fruits is invited to enter it at the flower show. Mrs. John Leedy, chairman, outlines the show regulations as follows:

Plants must have been in the exhibitor's possession for at least three months. The pot should be in good proportion to the size of the plant and very clean. Plants must be free of insects, disease, dust, old flowers and faded leaves.

Plants and cut specimens are to be brought to the church on Thursday, Feb. 26, between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. or very early Friday morning. All exhibits to be judged must be in place by 10:30 a.m. Friday, Feb. 27, and removed Saturday, Feb. 28, between 8 and 9 p.m.

Education, legislation, liability all covered as Dr. Penick returns info

JENSEN BEACH—Hepatitis information will be among topics to acquaint residents with the whole medical profession, the result of informative sessions held at a recent meeting of the 1976 Advanced Medicine Associates conference, according to Dr. Richard Penick, M.D.

Dr. Penick, president of the Martin County Medical Society, represented the 76 member association at the AMA meeting in Chicago last week.

Seven seminars were held, dealing with topics ranging from continuing medical education, new attic programs, legislation affecting medicine, claims, problems related to the professional liability emergency.

Penick said that the seminars were attended by doctors, lawyers, arbitration mediators, government agency heads.

"By disseminating this information to the local physicians, we feel that they better able to take many stands on current issues, in turn, provide better service as to patients and the local community," Dr. Penick added.

us this letter to the Council - he past year we have watched ty being torn apart. We have dragged through the newspapers so often that we have become targets of ridicule. We have watched old friendships smashed. In a city which is growing as fast as ours is, we have watched a Council so concerned with law suits and hatred, that they have forgotten that their first concern is new business and the needs of this growing community.

Our former Councilmen worked long and hard to make this city what it is. As in most growing businesses, they each wore many hats, trying to save this city money which they did. Their bookkeeping practices may have been poor, and their legal advice was awful, but they have paid for those mistakes.

We are appalled to learn that some members of the present Council would now start their sorry business all over again. Our former Councilmen have already had to refight battles they worked hard for, and now some members of the Council have decided that the widows of two of our deceased Councilmen should have to give back monies their husbands worked for. Not only is that appalling, it is despicable.

The pound of flesh has already been collected. There is no limit left for personal vendettas. It is past time to put an end to this business and start accomplishing the tasks you were elected to do.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I would like to say a few words expressing the position of the Interested Homeowners in regard to the collection of any monies due to the City of Port St. Lucie.

Certain people and media are saying that the money already repaid to the City is enough, and further effort should not be made. But the Interested Homeowners whose membership stands at 605 thinks otherwise.

The Auditor General's report says that these monies "should" be returned to the City. Should, now seems to be the key word. By definition Mr. Webster takes up the word "should":

1. should is the past tense of shall
2. should is an auxiliary used to express OBLIGATION, DUTY, PROPRIETY, and NECESSITY.

This definition makes it very clear that the Auditor General's office expects the City to recover the money involved so that the City will be in accord with good accounting principles as laid down by the Auditor General.

Sincerely,
George Blackmond,
Finance Chairman
Interested Homeowners

Gentlemen:

I have been deeply concerned for the welfare of our city. Many things have been done in the past through some bad planning and also poor legal advice. Many individuals have been injured and also we have made a bad impression on the outside world.

We have been through the courts and much has been reviewed. Corrections have been made by those involved.

It is my understanding that the court advised that pensions to two widows were quite legal. What is to be gained by requiring them to return the monies? They were not at fault.

Let's forget the past and spend our time working in harmony to build a better city and a good reputation for our community.

We are all interested in good government and this city's welfare.

Sincerely,
Esther and Edmund H. Wilcox

To the City of Port St. Lucie Council:
LET THERE BE PEACE.

You lady and gentlemen were given the honor to be elected to your present position by the voters of this pleasant city for the express purpose to:

1. Act in the best interest of the city and all its citizens.
2. To plan ahead for all the things that must be planned for a fast growing city.
3. To look behind only for lessons which tell you not to let that happen again.
4. To conserve any assets you and the city inherited from previous administrations.

Now you are involved very publicly in a very controversial plan to go the law suit route to try to collect some monies spend by an ill advised former council. If you go forward on the costly plan for everybody involved you may or may not collect as much as you spend of city money. It could possibly be that you are also ill-advised on this subject.

We are dead sure that pitting former friends and neighbors against each other and publicly tearing the city apart in the eyes of outsiders is NOT what you were elected to do.

We have lived in Port St. Lucie over eight years and before that spent many pleasant vacations here before retiring. We love this city and the many friends we have made here.

PLEASE LET THERE BE PEACE

Sincerely,
The Russell K. Millers

Dear Sirs:

As a citizen and taxpayer of Port St. Lucie, I should like to ask that you cease hounding your predecessors on the Council and begin the business of running this City as it should be run.

If there were mistakes in the past, they were made in good faith with advice of legal counsel available at the time and certainly those procedures needed to be corrected.

Your predecessors did some very fine things for this City, a fact you seem eager to have us forget. For example, a police force, a post office and door to door mail delivery, a fire house with rescue vehicle among others.

So far I have not seen much evidence of constructive thinking or acting on the part of this Council and it seems to me the time has come to stop bickering and start working on the present and future needs of Port St. Lucie.

Yours very truly,
Virginia M. Gelas

To the Mayor and Council Members of
The City of Port St. Lucie
Gentlemen and Lady:

Enough is enough. When quite a few of my friends draw my attention to the fact that I must be living in a City that is completely corrupt and becoming more so with each issue of the papers, I feel it is time to write a letter to you to see if such bad advertising can't be stopped.

It seems to me that the Present Mayor and City Council Members are deliberately trying to tear apart our City instead of trying to unite it, or build a stronger community structure.

Right or wrong, the past Mayor and Council Members could have committed some grave errors, as you undoubtedly will do also, but this does not justify the bad publicity we are getting in the papers from Fort Pierce to Palm Beach in almost every issue.

It is time to forgive and to go forward in making this City the kind of a place we all know it can be. By all of the Council Members and the Mayor working together not pulling apart, we can have the finest City in Florida.

I sincerely hope you can all find in your hearts the need of complete cooperation in your endeavor to complete your fine work of making this City grow in UNITY.

Sincerely yours,
Howard E. Chase

Gentlemen:

It has come to our attention through the press that you are considering the question of the return of monies to the city treasury by past and present councilmen. It is our understanding that the city's legal counsel did not find any objection to the payments made to the councilmen and the integrity and honesty of the councilmen is not involved.

We are citizens and voters in the city of Port St. Lucie and are very conscious of the bad press the city has received in the past. We hope to see an end to this.

We want to see a healthy and harmonious relationship between members of the council so each may devote his time to a thorough study and evaluation of the problems facing the city at present.

Let bygones be bygones. We are proud of our city. We want a good press and want others to look upon our city with envy. Let's end this once and for all.

Respectfully,
William and Helen Finch

Gentlemen:

It is the opinion of a great number of permanent residents of the City of Port St. Lucie that the City Council should drop the "payback" charges against former councilmen and their widows, and I must agree.

Certainly, if we the taxpayers feel you have already accomplished your major purpose, then you should give more consideration to creating a meeting of the minds among yourselves.

The monies under discussion were voted and passed in good faith, with the full approval of the then acting City Attorney, in whom they had complete confidence.

Let's let the issue drop and spend the same amount of time and money attending to the business at hand.

Mr. Mayor, you have the controlling vote to remove the Iron Wall being built through the center of our fine little City--how about using it???

Sincerely,
J.C. and Edith Cooley

Lady and Gentlemen:

Mayor Sharpe's recent statements to the press indicate that the Council will very shortly be considering further action through the Courts or otherwise in an effort to recover additional sums of money from past and present city officials.

By vote taken on Sunday, the 25th of January, the Directors of the St. Lucie Country Club Home Owners Association, representing 353 members, wish to plead for your very serious and compassionate consideration of the welfare of the entire community in any action that you may take.

Port St. Lucie is not the only municipality in this broad land to have suffered because of certain acts committed by elected officials, nor will it be the last. We all hope, however, to see the end of the dissensions which has made our community a major item of embarasing news for the past twelve months. Port St. Lucie does not need this kind of publicity.

In considering the fact that the Grand Jury did not return any indictments in its report of October 1975, we wonder as perhaps you may also that there may be insufficient genuine guilt or genuine ly illegal acts to justify further legal expense to the City. Unless such action can be certain to do more than achieve a vindictive end, it must be beneath the dignity of your office to even consider it.

May we then, without partisanship, and with only the best interests of the community in mind, respectfully urge you to relieve your friends and neighbors of further controversy over this matter. After a period of calm deliberation take such action that will make us proud that we elected you to your present high office.

On behalf of the Directors,
Russell J. Wolf

Dear Councilmen and Councilwoman:

As a home owner since 1964 I have seen the City of Port St. Lucie grow from a handful of people to what is now a sizeable population. During all of this time until about a year ago, there was harmony among the people and enjoyable living.

Of late all of the embarrassing publicity and notoriety attendant investigations, allegations, council bickering and invective by some has caused a serious rift in our community. This rift is growing yet wider as efforts to collect additional monies stretch out the controversy beyond the findings of State audit, Grand Jury findings, and Court decisions.

In the growing process there have been quite obviously errors made by City officials. Some of the errors have been downright stupid, others ignorant but apparently none of them with intent to defraud. I commend the Interested Home Owners for their concern and subsequent revelations and for the Court which ordered flagrant abuses to be repaid and I commend, too, those who made prompt settlement as ordered by the court.

Inasmuch as the errors of yesteryear have been corrected, it is time for us to settle back in harmony and peace and then go about the job of developing the present and the future plans of our City.

It has been my privilege to live in quite a few cities and towns in these United States over the past forty years. Some towns were better places in which to live and own a home than others. Life was enjoyable in those towns where the people lived in harmony and were very proud of their community. I fear lest our reputation is slipping and our community spirit failing to have the pride our City deserves.

I respectfully suggest that a continuance of this controversy is not in the best interest of unity and harmony. Let bygones be bygones and let us get on with the business at hand.

Sincerely yours,
George P. Armstrong

Commodore's Ball is announced

JENSEN BEACH--Final arrangements for the annual Commodore's Ball of the Anchor Line Yacht Club were announced Monday by Allen Moore, general chairman.

Set for Friday, February 20, the affair will be held at the Stuart Elks Club and feature a prime rib dinner.

Induction of incoming flag officers with Lon Wear assuming the top office as Commodore will be a highlight of the event. Past Commodore Ed Nix is to serve as installing officer.

Every effort is being made to make this a gala evening for Anchor Line members and guests, Moore said.

Happy hour starts at 6 p.m., dinner from 7 to 9, followed by dancing until 1 a.m.

Burns dinner is Friday

JENSEN BEACH–The annual Burns dinner of the St Andrew Society of Florida will be held Friday, January 30, at the Stuart Elks lodge. Traditional haggis will be featured, with the ritual "address" and "stabbing," the dish being piped to and from the head table with kilted pipers leading the chef, the haggis carried on a silver tray.

The dinner will begin promptly at 7:30 p.m. after guests have been piped to the head table.

William M. McKay, president, announced "Dress–semi-formal optional, or Highland dress for those who have it." Dancing and entertainment will follow the dinner.

Quilt show nets $679

JENSEN BEACH–The Indian River Chapter of the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation announced this week that its recent Quilt Fair cleared $679.54.

The fair was held at Indian River Community College with more than 100 quilts on display. Fourteen quilts were sold.

Chapter secretary Renee Marsteller said, "Thanks to the Quilt Fair, the recent Swimathon and the generous contributions of many people, we were able to send $2,500 to the Foundation's national office all to be used for diabetes research."

Lydia Circle meets

JENSEN BEACH–The Lydia Circle of the Jensen Beach Christian Church met Wednesday, January 21 at the church.

Devotions, entitled "Such as I Have to Give," were presented by Thelma Bennett and the business meeting was conducted by President Zylpha Salyards.

Margaret Reid, Hazel Hucheson and Thelma Parrett were welcomed as new members of the Circle.

Lydia Circle meets again at 2 p.m. Wednesday, February 18.

(Assisted by reporters Elizabeth O'Donnell and Betty Taylor.)

Sunday was beautiful, warm and sunny, so the church service had a large attendance. Reverend Clark Thompson officiated. The opening prayer and announcements were given by Stanley McCart. Delores Brink was the organist and Norma Quillan the soloist. Mark Sumner, Les Ullmann, Bob Barton and Bert Turner ushered.

A wonderful "Golden Anniversary Party," which is an annual affair here in Holiday Out, was held Sunday in the clubhouse. Fourteen couples who have been married 50 years or more were honored. Punch, cookies and coffee were served to the large crowd who came to honor their friends.

Following the reception, a catered dinner was served to the celebrants. Raymond Johnson gave the blessing and Vergual Smith served as mistress of ceremonies.

The Horace Taylors, married 56 years, had the honor of cutting the large, beautifully decorated cake.

Chairlady of the event was the originator of the celebration Mary Sumner, assisted by Lisbe Smith, Grace Pearsall, Alice Perault, Erma Barton, Martha Lewis, Catherine Ullmann and Nelle Logan. Dorthea Blair and Delores Brink furnished organ music throughout the afternoon, including accompanying community singing of some old favorites.

Don't forget the Auction Sale this Saturday, January 31, at 11 a.m. Bill McKinnon will once more do his thing behind the mike, ably assisted by Ada and Pike Stuart, with Don Landis as clerk. These folks operate professionally back home in Maine, and we're lucky to have them work for us.

Hot dogs with trimmings will be sold, along with hot coffee and cold sodas, so don't worry about lunch.

Donated items must be at the rec hall by 10 a.m.

Food donations go like hot cakes and Chairman Betty Taylor is soliciting for all kinds of goodies.

Please, everyone, do your part – come, have fun, and most of all buy. It's in a good cause. Bring your own chairs.

Last week's bridge scores were: Sophia Holler, 5410; Ruth Jacobson, 5310; Bob Barton, 4110.

The H.O. bowling started last Wednesday at Jensen Lanes.

Seems some were off their usual good form, but all enjoyed the meet. More H. Outers are urged to join the fun. Bowling time is 12:30.

Three game scores were:

Ira Gingrich	475
Mac McPherson	467
Bill Studebaker	449
Ken Baxter	434
George Trumbull	426
Roy Leonard	384
Bea Leonard	443
Dorothy Studebaker	427
Lynn Baxter	328
Rusty Baxter	316

Mac Williams' 2-game total was 164.

We welcome Wesley and Ruth Arbo from Leominster, Mass. They are retired and have purchased lot 324 from Mr. Hoover.

And are they busy! bought a new trailer, paved the driveway, installing a screen room.

They have been here as guests before and Ruth's brother George Poor tried to tell them to settle here. After coming here last year for three weeks and staying three months, they decided it was time to buy. They really fell in love with our way of life here.

Welcome aboard, hope you will find many new friends.

Two of our residents, Esther Gentry and Rachel Hogue, are in Martin Memorial Hospital at the present time, but both are doing well, and we wish them a complete and rapid recovery.

Mr. Hogue sat next to me at the Pot Luck Supper the evening of January 19, and told me he and Rachel had planned quite a celebration for their 56th wedding anniversary on the 20th, but her illness would mean postponement until she was home from the hospital. Happy Anniversary, any how.

Just saw the Williams home opened up, so that means Florence and Ralph have returned from spending the holidays with their daughter and grandson in West Virginia, and with their son, his wife and granddaughter in Ohio. I'll bet they are glad to be back in the sunshine again.

Dot and Morris Watt came in just in time for Dot to join the art class which meets on Monday mornings from 9 to 12. We are all delighted with our new instructor, Grace Ciero, and happy that we exceeded our quota of 15 by 2. Marie Johnson had gone over early that morning to turn on the heat in the rec hall, so we were cosy and warm for the lesson – a snow scene.

Chris May, Edna May's grandaughter, stopped by for a few days on her way home from Miami to Tallmadge, Ohio.

The Hobby Group met as usual Tuesday at 1, and enjoyed the cakes, coffee and tea prepared by our hostesses, Bessie Kieper and Mabel Proctor. Everybody was busy working on projects for the Hobby Show February 14th, which we hope will be the best ever. So mark that date on your calendar and Be There!

The Pot Luck Supper was, as we have come to expect, a genial time for all to enjoy good fellowship and good food – lots of good food. Mr. Conklin presided at the coffee urn, and his brew always makes the meal perfect. Bessie Kieper and Minnie Fowler were the hostesses, and saw to it that everything was attractively displayed and everyone was urged to come back for seconds.

Afterwards, Mr. and Mrs. Fowler showed slides of trips they had taken throughout the New England states, Nova Scotia, and Canada, including a visit to the Binns, beautiful home in Marin Heights, Province of Quebec.

Martha Ebner's nephew Frank Parrinello and his wife Bea surprised the Ebners by calling from Atlanta to say they were on their way, so Gene picked them up in West Palm Beach and brought them to our park for some fishing and fun. Of course they were welcomed at the Pot Luck Supper, which they enjoyed immensely, and Bea came to Hobby with Martha and Julie, and Martha's sister-in-law, Helene. Frank and Bea are from Oceanside, Long Island, and when they left here, continued on to Miami.

Ruth and Merle Conklin's home is "bustin' out all over" in celebration of their 60th wedding anniversary on the 27th. Also, Ruth's birthday. Their son, Roger, and his wife Bernice are here from Bowling Green, Ohio. Colleen Braun, their granddaughter, and her two daughters, Kimberly and Elizabeth Braun, from Cincinnati, Ohio. Added together, that makes four generations gathered together for a momentous occasion. Our most sincere and heartfelt congratulations, Ruth and Merle.

Victory party pushes fund drive to $15,630

JENSEN BEACH--More than 300 persons gathered at the Jensen V.F.W. Sunday afternoon and evening to help push the Jensen Beach-Rio Community Fund to $15,630 as the drive closed out for the year, and $463 was added in the party.

We didn't make our $18,000 goal, but we hope that last minute funds to be turned in by some workers will push the total over the $16,000 mark," said Mrs. LaVaughn Tilton, president of the drive.

Mrs. Tilton had high praise for the Jensen VFW post, which turned over its facilities and monthly jam session to the fund drive.

There were 28 musicians, including a seven-piece rock band named the Ebony Blue, playing its first engagement in the United States after returning from engagements in Australia.

Wendell Halverson, chairman of the session, introduced the musicians who took part.

Tom Flanagan, Ted Peters and Rich Tordarsche, a trio that plays at Ichabods Steak House in Juno, were also featured.

Other musicians appearing from local clubs in Jensen Beach, Stuart, Fort Pierce, Vero Beach and West Palm Beach included Irv Wamnes, Bill Sherman's Trio, Sherman Swing, Bob Everly, Herb Menke, Jim Foley, Paul Cipra, Ed Bisch, Don Maiers and his eight piece band, Stewart Baker, Nick Nicholas, Louie Roberts, John Miller, Lee Nall, Bob Hoffman, Carl Bjorkland, Walter Avard and Jerry McGrath, played for the six hour session.

Community Fund leaders included Rich Neeson, Dick Campbell and Kathleen Spencer. They auctioned off prizes and collected funds during the day. A blackboard kept patrons advised of the funds collected during the victory party.

The officers and board of directors of the Community Fund will meet Thursday night at 7 p.m. at the Tilton home to finalize the disbursements of funds, according to Mrs. Tilton.

Mrs. Spencer told The Mirror that all agencies listed will share in the funding, including the Samaritans Free Ambulance, Langford Park Association, Martin County Council on Aging, Mars Hill Association, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts and the Animal Rescue League.

VFW personnel working to make the day a success were Bill Massinda, commander; Bill Lewis, house chairman; P.T. Barnick, Junior Vice Commander; Al Pond, Bob Gillespie, Boy Waldmann, Al Gottlieb, Tony Simone, Rocky Vorrasi and Bill Pinckney.

VFW Auxiliary members participating were: Lillian Hodge, president; Betty Gallegos, Lena Lewis, Betty Jelonek, Ellen Gimza, Vera Murphy and Elsa Waldmann.

Shawver upsets CWA, takes lower lead

BY DONNIE WILKIE

JENSEN BEACH-C.F. Shawver Construction played brilliant defense for the first half, and then gradually favored CWA in the second half, on the way to a 9-7 upset victory in the second week of the Jensen Beach Optimist Club-sponsored Junior Basketball Program.

The surprise win means that Shawver now leads in the Lower Division with an undefeated record of 2-0, while previously unbeaten CWA slips to 1-1, tied with Optimist for second place.

Brian Lambeth paced the Builders, as he posted five of his team's nine points, and Todd Jackson added two key fourth quarter points. The other two points were tallied by Jeff Gray.

CWA trailed 3-0 at halftime, after a completely scoreless second quarter which featured many shots on the basket, but no bull's-eyes. And, although CWA outscored Shawver in the third stanza (3-2), they still trailed going into the final period, 5-3. Both teams scored four points in the final quarter, but the key to the game occurred when CWA's Mo Casey failed to convert either end of a two-shot foul. Shawver risks its two game winning streak this Saturday versus the Optimist Club.

Last week, the Optimists bombed the hapless Lions Club, 14-2. Wilfred Wiley's season-high total of 12 points was the highlight of the entire afternoon. Wiley poured in two points in the first quarter, four in the second, two in the third, and four more in the closing eight minutes.

This Saturday's other game features CWA against the Lions Club, beginning at 2 p.m. The Optimist-Shawver showdown occurs immediately after the 2 p.m. game.

TEAM	W	L	GB	PCT

Gold Coast and Pittman collide Saturday for lead

BY DONNIE WILKIE

JENSEN BEACH--It couldn't be more dramatic, except for the fact that this Saturday's Upper Division collision between Gold Coast Tires and Pittman Insurance will not decide any championship.

However, when the two teams take the court at 3 p.m., they will be going all out to win the contest and take over first place.

Neither team has been defeated in their two games, and they have not had a very serious scare. Gold Coast blew a substantial lead against CWA, letting their opponents close to within two points, but David Kenny and Tom Dargis started hitting everything they threw up, and Gold Coast coasted to a 45-29 win. Kiwanis stayed close for most of the first three quarters, but the Gold Coasters pulled away late in the third stanza and won easily, 32-18. Coach Bob Delancy's team has all the potential for an undefeated season and has but one obstacle to get past--Pittman.

The Insurancemen have probably the best rebounding power in the league, with Jeff Hall and Malcolm Delancy supplying a huge number of rebounds per game. There could be more scoring though, and this could well be Pittman's weak spot. Besides Hall, who can shoot only from inside, and Delancy, who is a hot and cold shooter, there is almost nobody else. Coach Barry Allison has been using his bench to offset this problem, and players like William Banks and Al Mier have been pitching in a couple of points here and there, and so far, Pittman hasn't been seriously challenged. CWA was never in the game with them, as Bob Merlano's forces were forced to take bad shots, and Leroy Wells, their top scorer, was held to only seven points. Against Kiwanis, Pittman had to score heavily in the third quarter to offset a Kiwanis comeback, but still led by seven going into the final period and won by nine.

The determining factor in this Saturday's game could well be how effective Hall can be against the Gold Coasters. It is clear that he will be guarding either Kenny or Dargis, and more than likely it will be Dargis. As mentioned earlier, Hall can't shoot well from outside, so Delancy will have to pick up the slack. If he is not hitting, it could be a very long afternoon for Pittman.

On the other side of the ledger, if Pittman can shut down everyone but Kenny and Dargis and keep them from destroying the nets, then Pittman could win, in a low scoring contest.

The two coaches are both unique in their own ways. For Gold Coast, Delancy is relatively quiet and easy going, as he just watches his men "do their thing." Meanwhile, Allison is very aggressive during the game, is always shuffling his players in and out, and seems to be a bit on the nervous side while his team is fighting it out.

This Saturday's contest, therefore, could go a long way toward deciding an eventual champion in the Upper Division.

Channel work okay

JENSEN BEACH--A long awaited Palm City navigation channel has received a final go-ahead as the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District (CFCD) approved a $67,310 construction bid.

When the 815 foot long channel is completed, it will be possable for the first time to navigate from the Palm City public park north to the ocean and south to Lake Okeechobee through the South Fork of the St. Lucie Canal, an FCD official said.

Work on the 25-foot wide channel will begin in February and is scheduled for completion April 23.

The channel has been in the negotiating stage for more than five years while permits were acquired and an appropriate spoil area to meet environmental requirements was sought.

CWA and Kiwanis bow in basketball action

BY DONNIE WILKIE

JENSEN BEACH--CWA and Kiwanis, both with quality players, but both of whom are in over their heads in the Upper Division of the Optimist Club sponsored basketball program, each lost their games last Saturday, thus setting up a showdown between them this week, with the loser falling into sole possession of last place.

CWA fell prey to Pittman Insurance, in a game which was never really close. Jeff Hall held Leroy Wells to only seven points, while Malcolm Delancy poured in 15 points, as Pittman coasted to a 38-29 victory.

Hall and William Banks each scored four points in the first quarter, as Pittman took a 10-0 lead. Delancy came to life in the second canto, as he burned the cords for nine points, and Pittman led 21-9 at the half. CWA rallied in the third quarter, behind the red-hot shooting touch of David Bocchino, who scored six to close the margin to only four, 25-21. But early in the fourth quarter, Jeff Hall strung seven points together in a span of only three minutes to help seal the win. It was the second win in two games by the Insurancemen, while CWA hits the dust at 0-2.

In the day's finale, Gold Coast Tires spotted Kiwanis an early four point lead and came back to win going away, 32-18. Bonnie Wilkie opened the game's scoring with a pair of free throws, and John Geraghty added a field goal to give the Kiwanians a 4-0 lead. But Gold Coast's David Kenny popped a couple of two-pointers to even it at 4-4 at the conclusion of the first quarter. The second stanza was a defensive struggle, with each team posting only two points in the first seven minutes. But then, with the score tied at 6-6, Tim Dargis tipped in a missed shot to put Gold Coast on top by two. On the inbounds pass, the ball was slightly fumbled, and Kenny stole it and rushed in for an easy layup, which he converted. However, in the Junior Basketball Program, there is a rule prohibiting any kind of pressing in the opponents backcourt. Charlie Red, the Kiwanis coach, immediately began to protest vigorously, but to no avail. The decision had already been made, and the basket would count.

From then on, Kiwanis did not play very well. They were outscored in the second half by a score of 22-12, and finally lost 32-18.

Kiwanis leading scorer was Wilkie, who scored eight points. John Geraghty had six for the Kiwanians. Meanwhile, the game's leading scorer was Kenny, with ten points. Tim Dargis had eight, while Calvin Delancy popped six, all for Gold Coast.

This week, Gold Coast meets Pittman for undisputed possession of first place, while in the preliminary CWA battles Kiwanis. The action gets underway at Langford Park at approximately 2 p.m.

Paul and Helen Christen were happy to have a visit from their friends Mr. and Mrs. Don Knapp from Tennessee. They spent several days here and loved our park.

Many of our Lake Manor people attended the wedding ceremony of Martha Sandow and Tom Rooney on Saturday at the First United Presbyterian Church. A lovely service was conducted by Reverend Carl Poltrein.

The bride looking lovely in a suit of coral and carrying a beautiful nosegay of mixed flowers came down the center aisle on the arm of a dear friend, Merle Barnes from Port Salerno. Her matron of honor was her friend Della Shipman and Herbert Buermeister served as best man. A nephew, Jimmy Hewis, served as an usher.

Martha's mother, Mrs. Fannie Maynard of Ocean Breeze was in attendance as were Tom's relatives Edwin and Lena Lustig from Stuart and Paul and Joyce Green and two children from Coral Gardens.

Many friends attended from Ocean Breeze Park as well as Lake Manor, both at the beautiful church and at the Rooney mobile. Visiting was enjoyed as well as tasty refreshments served by Clara Burmeister. All here wish them a long happy marriage.

Another very happy event was well attended by ninety-two, twenty being relatives and friends of Glenn and Gladys Oakes who were honored with a 50th wedding celebration at our hall on Sunday. Our gratitude is extended to Ed and Fern Hill, Bill and Edna Eastman, Andy and Ethel Bullock and Charles Siman, the very capable committee who handled the arrangements.

We are also grateful to all the ladies who made all those beautiful cakes and cookies which made the serving table look so pretty, along with gold candles and a beautiful floral centerpiece.

Our honored guests looked lovely also, Gladys wearing a beautiful gown of sombre shades of pink to coral.

Their guests from out of town were Margaret Oakes, Cochranton, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Oakes, Greenville, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pegan, Meadville, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oakes, Tamplor, Florida.

We are very grateful to Ethel Brewer who poured the coffee and also for the use of her lovely service. A very sincere thanks goes to the Rosengartha for the use of their gold chandelier and to all who helped us in any way.

It was so nice to have our visiting guests pour the punch. Many thanks to Margaret Oakes, Virginia Pegan and Nancy Oakes.

The Oakes gave a very delightful supper in their mobile for relatives, close friends and the committee. Some very lively conversation was enjoyed and very tasty foods also.

On a less happy note we are wishing Margaret Rosengarth a quick, complete recovery. She is now in Martin Memorial Hospital.

Ken and Bernie Dubuque were happy to have their daughter Beth DeMeo and her husband Paul and two children Peter, age seven, and Katie, age five, visit them for six days. They are from Waymasing, Pa.

I was particularly noticing Peter one day watching intently as Bob McCourt was casting in our lake. He was an active boy as was the girl, both enjoying our park.

Now we must all settle down back to normal again.

And to all - Peace.

News of Nettles Island

BY DOROTHY ENGEL

Ah yes, this certainly is more like it. A week ago at this time we were all sitting inside with our heaters on and this Sunday evening, all the door and windows could be left open or you could enjoy taking a nice walk without bundling up.

It looks as though we have had a lot of vacationers come in this weekend. Welcome to Nettles Island and we hope the warm weather stays around for awhile.

There are still quite a few lot owners returning for the winter, too. I would appreciate everyone stopping in to let me know when you have returned so I can let everyone know. Also, when you have family or friends come to visit, stop by the recreation hall and let me know who they are and where they're from. We not only like to read about it but they'll enjoy seeing their names in print, stating they were here during their vacation.

I'd like to know who's having a birthday, not anniversary, too, whether you're 20 years or 70 years old, we would like to wish you a happy birthday. You don't have to tell us what one it is, you know.

Ron Engel is celebrating a birthday on Feb. 1st. His mother Lucile Borecki, who flew down a week ago Sat. is celebrating her birthday on Jan. 29th. Her husband Henry flew in later this week and his sons Wayne Borecki and Ron Engel and their families were happy to see him again.

It didn't take him long this time either. After trying very hard the past few years to catch something he could be proud of, Henry got a hold of three beautiful blues in the surf.

His brother John and Margo Borecki from Washington, D.C., were down for a few days' visit this week. They had to leave before they could enjoy the fish for dinner, so they had blues for breakfast Fri. morning. Nothing wrong with that.

Andy & Jean Winter on lot 1061 have been here for a month already and plan to be here for three more weeks. I hope the next 3 weeks are warmer than the last three.

Lot 1049 is occupied for the next three months. Lot owners Jo & Keith Longman from Canada and their daughter Linda are back for the winter. Keith is one of our talented panel players. Linda is going to school in Ft. Pierce during their stay this year.

Donald & Eloise Eve, lot 1020, arrived two weeks ago and will be staying up until May. They are from Illinois and happy to be getting away from the snow and ice.

Bill and Rose Klingenburg, from Michigan, are here for a longer stay this time. They'll be here until April so they should find some time for a little relaxation and are probably getting the sailboat ready to be put in the water.

Herman Bender has had the pleasure of a visit from long time friends and fellow worker Mr. and Mrs. Hatch Brady from Point Pleasant, N.J.

The Vandergraafs, the Marquardts, Virginia O'Neall and Theresa Stout enjoyed a spaghetti dinner prepared by another good friend of Hermans, Mary Benner. Mary says she prepared the entire dinner with slight help from the host, Herman.

Marlin Marquardt again had the pleasure of helping Harriet entertain two sorority sisters, Jo Dorweiller from Minneapolis & Pattie Regan from Washington, D.C. Last year we provided better weather but Jo left in 12 degree below Minn. weather, so this is fine as long as the sun keeps shining.

The recreation hall on Nettles Island was again the scene of another successful dance Sat. night. Our Woman's club sponsored the "Snow Ball Dance" in honor of our board of directors.

The "Attitude Adjustment" hour from 8 to 9, put everyone in good form for the dance.

All those guests from the north country were right at home as snow flakes fell and filled the hall as decorations. A snow man sat as a centerpiece at each table and snow ball corsages for each of our board members set the pace for a great evening at Nettles Island.

The ladies really outdid themselves in the hors d'oeuvres department. Everyone's still raving about them. Thanks to all the workers who really made the evening a huge success.

Are you all aware of the barbeque pits available to all lot owners now. They're all completed and available anytime you desire their use. A $5 deposit for the key can be put down at the rec. dept. rentals office anytime and as long as you clean them up again, your $5 will be refunded.

They're there for your use, funded and constructed by the Men's and Women's clubs of Nettles Island, who hope you'll get a lot of enjoyment from them.

Men are like steel, when they lose their temper they lose their worth.

Top students

JENSEN BEACH–Two area students at Stetson University, Deland, were on the dean's list for the fall quarter.

On the honor list with 118 other upperclassmen are Robert Potter, 127 Linda Drive, Jensen Beach, and LF Emmick, 212 Olive Ave., Port St. Lucie.

Sailboat races held Sunday

JENSEN BEACH–Nineteen sailboats turned out for the St. Lucie Sailing Club's one-design class boats races Sunday afternoon in the Indian River, just north of Stuart Causeway.

In the Hobie 16 division, Steve Edmonds of Riviera Beach took two firsts in the only two of the four races in which he participated. John Hackney of Stuart had one first and three seconds in his four starts. Capt. Stephen Rathkopf also of Stuart took one third place. Robert Stanton of Fort Pierce had one first place and two third place finishes.

Hap Walter and Eddie DePool both of Stuart, and Jack Sammons of West Palm Beach shared most of the honors in the Hobie 14 competition. Walter had two firsts, a third and a fourth in the four races. DePool took a first, a second and two thirds, and Sammons took first once and second twice in the three races he started.

Verick Schwartz, Norm Castle and Henry Franklin, all of the Lake Mangonia Sailing Club in West Palm Beach, cornered the competition in the Sunfish class. Schwartz had two firsts and a third, Castle a first and two thirds, and Franklin had three seconds.

St. Lucie Sailing Club class boats race one Sunday each month just off the Stuart Causeway. Next month's races will be held on February 22 at 1 p.m. The club's cruising boat division races monthly on the North Fork of the St. Lucie River, meeting next on February 15, also at 1 p.m.

Club celebrates 26th anniversary

JENSEN BEACH--A gala 26th birthday celebration highlighted last week a meeting of the Jensen Beach Garden Club. Six arrangers interpreted "Anniversary Party" in recognition of the occasion, and tea and birthday cake were served by Mrs. Donald Whitson and her committee. Mrs. William Van Vliet, Mrs. Leon Zdancewic and Mrs. Sydney Lowrie.

Main speaker for the day was Sandy Caparelli of Mother Nature's Greenhouse who spoke on house plants, their culture and usefulness as decorative units. She demonstrated how to build a successful terrarium.

Mrs. William Stephenson reported on the progress of the Bicentennial Colonial Tour to be held February 8, from 1 to 4 p.m.

Included in the tour will be visits to the two oldest churches, two houses, the Community Center and tea will be served at All Saints Episcopal Church. Tour maps are printed on the reverse side of the tickets which sell for $1 and are available at the Chamber of Commerce, Snook Nook and from Mrs. Stephenson, 334-1960.

President Anne Lartaud conducted the meeting and expressed the club's appreciation to the 707 Nursery for all their assistance in the selection and donation of plants for The Arch and also for the Grevillea Robusta (Silk Oak) "Liberty Tree" planted at the Environmental Center January 22 in honor of Arbor Day and the Bicentennial.

Jay Jarrett, supervisor of the Environmental Center, assisted Garden Club members in planting the "Liberty" tree and selected the location. Club members attending the ceremony were Mrs. Lartaud, Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. Fred Peterkin and Mrs. Arthur C. Mills.

Historically, the Liberty Tree was a 120 year old elm in a grove of trees in Boston during the prerevolutionary days. It became a meeting place for the Sons of Liberty, a group responsible for rebellion against the Crown of England. A pole in the top of the tree flew flags as signals for the Sons to meet and carry out various actions, one being the Boston Tea Party.

During the seige of Boston, the tree was chopped down by British soldiers, but became famous in song, story and cartoons in this country and abroad.

Now Jensen Beach has its own Liberty Tree, an apt tribute to the nation's birthday.

AR sponsors bicentennial exhibit

...Museum Sunday, February 22 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The show is open to all Florida artists. Spaces will be given on a first come, first served basis. Each artist will have a 12 foot space. It is suggested artists bring their own racks. A $5 fee will be payable on arrival.

Mrs. Taggasell, DAR regent, will present a special award for the best historical painting of the colonial period. This does not preclude entry of other works however. Categories for entries are oils, acrylics and mixed media, water colors and graphics including pastels.

Ribbons will be awarded to all winners and cash to some. There will be no judging of crafts, but craft exhibits will be welcome.

For further information call Madelene Reheiser after 5 p.m. at 334-1961.

Library book sale is this week

STUART--The semi-annual Martin County Library Association book sale has been scheduled for Friday and Saturday, January 30 and 31, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in the Conference Room of the library.

Florella Bartlett, chairman of the sale, says, "We have a better selection of books for this sale than we had last July. And of course, we have the usual variety in non-fiction, text books, fiction and children's books. Come one or both days, browse among the books and pick up a bargain."

She added, "We are not going to raise the price of the books at this time, although we have been urged to do so. By retaining the same low prices, 25 cents for hardcover books and 10 cents for paper backs and magazines, we hope to sell all of the books we have on hand."

Proceeds of the sale will be used towards the purchase of new equipment for the new addition to the library now under construction.

Club bazaar is scheduled

JUPITER--The 1976 bicentennial edition of the Jupiter Island Garden Club bazaar will be held Saturday, February 14 at Christ Memorial Chapel, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Heading the bazaar as its co-chairmen are Mrs. Albert L. Cole and Mrs. Cornelius E. O'Connor. Mrs. Joseph V. Reed is honorary chairman and Mrs. Bolton Sullivan is treasurer.

There will be hundreds of bargains particularly in the attic treasures and antiques departments, Mrs. Cole said.

Other departments include this year needlepoint paintings, horticulture, conservation and bicentennial.

Proceeds from the bazaar will be used for a two year scholarship in the natural sciences to be awarded to a Martin County High School graduate to fund a program within the school system for classes in the natural sciences for all ages and a summer program for teachers who wish to work for graduate credits and for continuing beautification projects.

'Carousel' starts

Council votes for court action

PORT ST. LUCIE--It doesn't take a crystal ball to predict another lawsuit involving this south county community following Tuesday's heated council session.

The city's split was more evident than usual as residents packed into the city hall to voice opinions as to whether or not the Council should proceed with court action, if necessary, to collect the $50,000 from several previous and one present council member.

After an hour-long session of pros and cons, a three-two vote of the Council makes the civil action virtually a reality.

Residents pushing for collection of the funds maintain those involved have paddled their futures well enough with the pension plan Circuit Court Judge James Alderman ruled legal several months ago.

Those council persons advocating court action for collection are Vice Mayor Frank Rose, City Treasurer and Councilwoman Lolita Kernohan and Mayor Sharpe.

Councilman Bill McChesney cast a negative vote and Councilman Larry Kimmel, one of those involved in the pending court action, abstained.

When North Port resident and a director in the Civic League Mike Reeb suggested it might be more beneficial for the entire community if the Council would concentrate more on the future of the city and profit from the past mistakes by moving ahead, he was attacked by the Mayor and accused of doing a complete about face from the position he had taken a year ago with the Civic League.

When Reeb asked to discuss the matter, he was told by the mayor to "sit back down."

The mayor later apologized for his abrupt remark.

According to City Attorney Spencer Gilbert, a petition signed by ten percent of the electorate could bring the matter to a referendum.

Double-header at CESA Sunday

PORT ST. LUCIE--Where but at the Community Center (CESA) could one find a mouth-watering meal and glorious goodies to eat on the spot or take home?

Sunday's double-header special event offers both. Outside will be the Port St. Lucie Anglers' Club cookout and barbecue, and inside a bake sale sponsored by the Port St. Lucie Republican Club.

Proceeds from both events augments the Center's operating funds.

There are some of the limited number of cookout tickets still available. Orders phoned to the Center at 878-1388 will be delivered to individuals' homes.

Persons interested in donating baked items may call Frances Lee at 878-0507, Agnes LaFrance, 878-2377, or June Johnston, 878-2412, who say, "Your Port St. Lucie Republican Club supports CESA. Please help us do so."

Hours for both events are 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday, February 1.

COLOR GUARD--The Andy Matton Post Color Guard stood attentively during the flag and pole dedication held Saturday at the Community Center.

DONOR--Mrs. Florence Dabney, center, donated the flag to the Port St. Lucie Community Center (CESA) during brief ceremonies conducted Saturday afternoon by the VFW Andy Matton Post and their Auxiliary.

Rio Lindo will honor women

PORT ST. LUCIE--Commemorating the Bicentennial Year, the Rio Lindo Garden Club Flower and Horticultural Show coming to the Community Center (CESA) Friday, February 6, is entitled "The Distaff Side of America."

The show will honor American women who, from earliest settlement days to the present, have contributed to the growth and development of the United States.

Artistic arrangements of flowers will be divided into three classes.

The first is "Revolutionaries in Crinoline", citing Betsy Ross, Molly Pitcher, Barbara Frietschie, Anne Hutchinson and Mary Lindsey. "Ladies of Distinction" as exemplified by Mother Seton, Mary Baker Eddy and Eleanor Roosevelt, and "Petticoat Pioneers" such as Mary Lyon, Frances Perkins, Dorothea Dix or Babe Didrickson Zaharias are the other two classes.

Novice arrangement categories are "Settlement Maidens" and "Belles of the Beaux Arts." Examples of the first might be Pocohontas or Virginia Dare, and of the latter, Marion Anderson, Helen Hayes or Clare Booth Luce.

A general horticultural exhibit, a Bonsai display and a bird exhibit will round out the show.

The entries will be judged Friday morning and the show will be open to the public from 2 to 8 p.m. for a small admission price. Proceeds from the event are for the Community Center operating funds.

Refreshments will be served.

Dinner tickets are on sale

PORT ST. LUCIE--Tickets for the "Bicentennial Dinner with a Twist" are available at the Community Center Office or from members of the IAC committee in charge of the event. Tickets are limited and early reservations are urged.

Third in the series of special events at CESA during February, the dinner will have a different approach from most bicentennial affairs.

Before the United States could become a nation, it first had to be discovered as a land and in this major event, sponsored by the Port St. Lucie Italian and American Club, will commemorate the discovery of America and the roles of Italians such as Christopher Columbus and Amerigo Vespucci.

The menu will feature an Itahan hero sandwich with Italian bread, Italian meat balls and a special Italian sauce, antipasto with Italian dressing, and Italian cookies, all prepared and served by IAC members.

Serving on the IAC committee are Mrs. Joseph Van Asco, Mrs. Augustine Cappiello, Mrs. Willard Dabney and Val Gieb, club president.

Highlighting the affair will be some very special entertainment.

Lucie kids paint hydrants

PORT ST. LUCIE--The young people of Port St. Lucie have started painting the fire hydrants throughout the city for their part in the Bicentennial Celebration. They worked Saturday and Sunday and said they really enjoyed themselves.

Admiral Fradd of the Bicentennial committee supplied the paint and the brushes were donated by the 7-11 and Western Auto.

Next Saturday they will be at it again. If any other kids in Port St. Lucie are interested in joining in the fun, call Nancy at 878-3078.

The hydrants along Prima Vista, Airoso, Floresta and Entrada are finished, but there are a lot more to be painted.

Those who worked include Andy and Nancy Saffioti, Lesly Harmon, Justine Conboy, Nick Chappel, Robin, Lisa and Marybeth Buttone, Karen and Janet Kurpicki, Bobby and Lori Laurito, Bill Andersen and Dawn Taffner.

IAC session is Sunday

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Italian & American Civic Association (IAC) of Port St. Lucie meets this Sunday, February 1, 7:30 p.m. at CESA.

Refreshments will precede the business meeting. Members are reminded to bring their contributions for the Chinese auction which is to follow the meeting and promises a lot of fun for all.

An invitation has been extended to club members and their friends by Jean Tealey of FIT to attend a lecture by Italian Ambassador Roberto Gija and Philip Guarino.

Guarino is the deputy director of the Republican National Committee, Senior Citizen Division, in Washington, D.C.

The lecture, entitled "The Spirit of '76", will cover topics of special import to senior citizens in general.

It all takes place in the campus chapel in Jensen Beach on Monday, February 2, at 2 p.m.

Charter is granted extension

PORT ST. LUCIE--Although Mayor Schuyler Sharpe was critical of the Charter Revision Committee for not completing the new charter draft within a one year period, he did cast an affirmative vote granting a sixty day extension to the group.

According to Revision Chairman Solomon Raffe, the completed draft, some sixty pages in length, will be turned over to the City attorney for review within the next couple of weeks.

City approves clay purchase

PORT ST. LUCIE--The City Council Tuesday approved the purchase of eleven cubic yards of clay for Sportsman's Park to the tune of $2,475.

According to vice-mayor Frank Rose, the clay will be purchased from a Melbourne firm. Delivery of the fifteen truckloads will begin this Friday.

'To seine or not to seine' is Anglers' topic

PORT ST. LUCIE--To seine or not to seine Lake Okeechobee will be the topic of the evening at the next session of the Port St. Lucie Anglers' Club.

Meeting time is 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, February 3, at the Northport Marina.

Dr. Dwight P. Goforth of the state Fish and Game Commission and Jim Harvee, fishing editor of the Miami Herald, will be the guest speaker.

A meeting of club directors and committee chairmen will precede the regular session at 6:30 p.m.

Drive classes slated

PORT ST. LUCIE--Indian River Community College is sponsoring a driver education class beginning January 28. Classroom sessions will be held Wednesdays from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. in the CESA Building in Port St. Lucie. Individual driving instruction will be held on Saturday afternoons. "This is a basic driver education course that includes 30 hours of classroom instruction and six hours of individual driving behind the wheel. This course is designed to help the beginner as well as the licensed driver who need more experience and confidence.

Riverettes resume Monday meetings

PORT ST. LUCIE--Starting with the February meeting, the Port St. Lucie Riverettes will return to their regular Monday date.

Monday, February 16, a covered dish luncheon has been scheduled to begin at 11:30 a.m., followed by a Japanese auction and short business meeting. Meeting place will be the home of President Mrs. Marion Lepole, 146 Famie Lane, Port St. Lucie.

Carter is appointed

PORT ST. LUCIE--Fred S. Carter, M.D., was apointed to serve on the Port St. Lucie Health Committee at Tuesday's City Council meeting.

The appointment, made by Resolution 76-2, became effective immediately.

Reagan state coordinator will address Republicans

PORT ST. LUCIE--Highlighting the February 12 meeting of the Port St. Lucie Republican Club will be an address by David Nickels, state coordinator for the Ronald Reagan campaign.

Meeting time is 7:30 p.m. at the Community Center (CESA) in Port St. Lucie.

Newly elected officers and directors will be installed at that time by Jack LaFrance, program chairman, and Hazel Greenbaum, a Republican leader for many years.

The new officers are Fred Johnston, president; Jack LaFrance, executive vice president; Ernest Riefler, vice president; Doris Kronberg, secretary; Olga Atkins, treasurer.

Directors to be installed are Dr. Claude Grizzell, Sue Hickman, Agnes LaFrance, and June Johnston.

Dues for the coming year are payable at this meeting.

Program chairman LaFrance says refreshments will be served and adds, "Bring a friend."

F.I.T. festival is scheduled

JENSEN BEACH–Florida Institute of Technology in Jensen Beach will hold an open house and is sponsoring a Fold Craft and Music Festival.

The open house will be Friday, Feb. 13, and the festival will be Feb. 14-15.

Activities scheduled for the open house include diving techniques and oceanographic vessels demonstrations and open laboratories.

Guest speaker for the festival which will continue from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. will be Dale Crider, a wildlife biologist and folksinger.

Italian envoy visits F.I.T.

JENSEN BEACH–The Italian ambassador to the United States, Roberto Gigi, visited Florida Institute of Technology (FIT) Monday and made a brief talk to a small audience.

Gigi joked about the local version of the Italian national anthem, a musical recording that played on and on and on.

"We usually play it a little faster," Gigi noted.

He said his stop at FIT would be followed by a tour of other towns and cities in the state. "You learn most from the smaller cities," Gigi said.

He noted that it is difficult to get in contact with the realities of America in visiting only large metropolitan areas. He said that the climate of Florida is not much different than that of southern Italy.

"We have palm trees, too."

Phillip Guarino, deputy director of the Republican National Committee's senior citizen division, was on the program with Gigi.

CUTS RIBBON–Ralph Hartman, chairman of Martin Memorial board of directors, cut the ribbon last Saturday to officially open the new addition to the hospital. Board members and residents who gathered for the hospital tour look on.

Hospital addition is opened

JENSEN BEACH–A ribbon cutting ceremony Saturday officially opened the $7.6 million addition to Martin Memorial Hospital.

Ralph Hartman, hospital board chairman, cut the ribbon with directors and county residents gathered for the occasion.

A tour of the new facility followed the brief ceremony.

Not all areas of the new wing are ready for use, but they were ready for public inspection.

Completion of the new facility gives the hospital 216 beds. There were 121 available before construction.

The patient floors opened several weeks ago and hospital officials say the final inspection and installation of equipment in the emergency room and other areas will be in mid-February.

In the new addition a new dietary section which can handle meals for 500 patients and hospital employees, an emergency room with several examining rooms and an entrance for five ambulances, an X-ray section for five examination rooms, a surgical intensive care unit were viewed by residents on the tour.

The fifth and sixth floors of the new wing are empty, but interior walls and other furnishings can be installed to add another 100 beds to the facility.

Several new large operating rooms will increase the capacity for surgery. The largest of these will be used for neuro-surgery and will contain special equipment.

The project has been under way for more than two years and the hospital plans to open two more floors in 1978.

EARL B. CRAWFORD

EDGAR GLICKLER

Candidates for town posts

SEWALL'S POINT–Two candidates in the Town of Sewall's Point 1976 election are Ed Glickler and Earl B. Crawford.

Crawford, a retired rear admiral, has been a resident of Sewall's Point since February 1974.

The U.S. Navy veteran entered the U.S. Naval Academy in 1932 and was promoted to rear admiral in 1964. He lives at 2 Mindoro Street, Sewall's Point Archipelago.

Glickler, a former Martin County commissioner, has lived in Martin County almost 18 years, has been a resident of Sewall's Point over three years.

Glickler is a veteran newsman and is a member of many organizations including the Audubon Society, Outdoor Writers Association and chairman of the Advisory Council of the Martin County Conservation Alliance.

Crawford is vice president of Archipelago Community Association, the Navy League of the United States, Sr. Lucie River Council.

The retired rear admiral said that you cannot stop growth but you can control it. And he said that people should get their money's worth out of taxes.

The terms of the commissioners expiring in 1976 – Mahon, William Sowden, Commissioners Freeman Clarke and Richard Granfield.

If there are more than six candidates in the race, a primary will be held February 24.

The election is scheduled for March 3.

DOT reports I-95 'fixed'

JENSEN BEACH–The western route of Interstate 95 through Martin County is a firm decision, according to State Department of Transportation (DOT) district engineer Ben Simpson.

Simpson met with Martin County Commissioner Maggy Hurchalla and County Engineer Ken Ferraro last week to discuss the county road program.

Simpson told the county officials that I-95 through the county is set for west of Florida's Turnpike and will remain west of the turnpike.

The state engineer said that design work on the road has started by state engineers.

Commissioner Hurchalla said Simpson reported that the route could be changed in northern Palm Beach County but the Martin County route is fixed.

A Federal Highway Administration official several weeks ago at a Tequesta meeting asked the DOT to submit new plans for an easterly route for the I-95 section north of PGA Boulevard in northern Palm Beach County.

Since the administration made that request several communities and chambers of commerce have passed resolutions urging a route of I-95 east of the turnpike.

Plaza suit

JENSEN BEACH–The legality of the Executive Plaza building purchase will be tested in court this week.

Circuit Court Judge James Alderman started hearing testimony today, Wednesday, at 9:30 a.m.

Circuit Court Clerk Louise Isaacs is being sued by the County Commission because she refused to sign the first payment of $227,700 of the five-year lease-purchase agreement.

Mrs. Isaacs attorneys advised her not to sign the check because of doubts about the legality of the agreement.

The Executive Plaza controversy has been going on since last summer and has resulted in a new agreement, Attorney General Robert Shevin opinion, and a Grand Jury investigation.

Bicentennial dinner is February 23

JENSEN BEACH–The first in a series of bicentennial dinners will be held Monday, Feb. 23, at Holiday Inn on Hutchinson Island.

Sponsored by the Jensen Beach Bicentennial Committee, tickets are $10 not including cocktails. The event begins with cocktails at 6:30 p.m. with the dinner starting at 7:30 p.m.

Navratil will introduce Col. Peterson and there will be a solo by Marjorie Cooper and songs by the Tropichords.

Col. Peterson who is training for future manned space flights is expected to arrive in Jensen Beach on Saturday afternoon before the Sunday afternoon program.

His wife Bonnie is expected to join him for the program.

Community Fund releases funds

JENSEN BEACH–The final collection figures on the first Jensen Beach Rio Community Fund drive are reported as $14,416.77 according to LaVaughn Tilton, president.

Mrs. Tilton reported that total expenses of the drive came to $170 for printing materials. All other costs were donated to the drive.

Distribution of the funds which did not reach the $18,000 goal are as follows:

Samaritan Free Ambulance, $4,900 not including $540 sent direct during the drive; Langford Park, $4,500; Palm Glades Girl Scouts, $1,000; Boy Scout Troop 811, $700; Cub Scout Troop 801, $300; Mary Hills Community, $500; Martin County Council on Aging, $2,000; and Martin County Animal Rescue League, $200.

Jackie Hall, vice president, has been named chairman of the nominating committee for next year's drive.

Advertise when the economy is worst, Wolfe tells Jensen

JENSEN BEACH–If a business-man pulls back his advertising and promotion when times are bad, it's a big mistake, according to Frank Wolfe, president of Southeastern Market-ing.

Wolfe told Jensen Beach business-men at their breakfast meeting Monday that the best time to advertise is when the "economy is worst, and suggested, "if you don't, things are going to go bad."

He suggested that the business-man's club could become a political power in the county, citing a like organization, the Southside Busi-nessman's Club of Jacksonville as an example.

"Your club will grow into something big in time," he said, adding that such a group could have political clout to help the business area grow.

The lack of a major highway through Jensen Beach is what has kept it from being as large as Stuart or Ft. Pierce, according to Wolfe, who said the merchants must define the business community to see what you have before you can pull people off U.S. 1 to shop in Jensen Beach.

In answer to a question on seasonal business, Wolfe predicted that there would be a time in the not too distant future when all year business would be the same.

"We're not reaching the summer market, and there is not much we can do about it. Miami (and Disney World) gets the summer business because it seeks it. When travel becomes easier, there will be no seasons."

Fred Meeker, chairman of the group, suggested that businessmen work together to promote the area.

"We will build a building block by block, not instantaneously, and see the future growth of our community," Meeker said.

The next breakfast meeting will be on Tuesday, March 2.

PAT OPEN–The new PAT office of First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart was officially opened Monday in the Savannas Shopping Center. Taking part in the opening were, left to right, David Irons, president, Dennis Hudson, chairman of the board, Dale Hudson, senior vice-president, and Larry Thibaut, director of marketing.

PROPOSED BILLBOARD–The Greater Motel and Restaurant Association hopes to erect this type billboard along interstate highways and Florida's Turnpike to entice tourist to come to Martin County. Martin County Commission recently refused the association money for the project.

First National opens PAT at Savannas Shopping Center

JENSEN BEACH–The opening of "PAT", the new 24-hour teller service at Savannas Shopping Center was announced this week as officers of the bank gathered here.

Through the Personal Automatic Teller system, it will be possible for First National customers to with-draw cash and transact other banking activities after regular banking hours, as well as on weekends and holidays.

First National's Automatic Teller can provide currency, either $25 or $50 per use, a total of $100 in any 24 hour period, from the customer's checking or savings account or as a cash advance on his Master Charge account. It will also accept deposits into either account, transfer funds from checking to savings account, or from savings to checking account, and handle loan payments.

Activation of the Personal Automatic Teller is instigated by use of either a First National PAT card or Master Charge photo card. The plastic cards have a pre-encoded magnetic stripe that can only be deciphered by the machine. In order to make any transaction, the customer must tap in his own personal security code number. If, after three attempts, he fails to match the number encoded on the card, the machine retains the card and advises the customer that he will be contacted by the bank. This system prevents anyone from obtaining funds with a lost or stolen card.

This is the third such facility opened by First National in the county, the other two being at the Ocean East Mall and First National's main office in Stuart.

Martin blood bank records high population donations

STUART–The people of Martin County gave blood to the tune of 7.34 percent of the population, almost twice the national average, and three times the average in Palm Beach County, according to Sara Elmer, head nurse of the blood bank.

The latest figures released by the Palm Beach County Blood Bank, parent group of the Martin County chapter, indicate that the organiza-tion at Martin Memorial Hospital is doing a better job than any other group in this area.

The national average of blood donors to population is 4.0.

In Okeechobee County, the average is 2.20 percent, and in Boca Raton the population has a blood donor average of .058 percent. Palm Beach County has a 2.51 percent average.

"We're proud of the people of Martin County. When we need them they turn out, and our various blood banks for businesses and groups have kept our average up. We know we can count on the people of our county," said Mrs. Elmer.

She added that blood donor plans are available to meet the needs of every individual or group in the county.

The blood bank is open on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. For information, call 287-5200, extension 353.

Cruise nets $1,000

STUART–Terry Schroeder, fund raising chairman for the Martin Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, has announced that the Starlight Cruise held last month was a great success, netting more than $1,000.

Peggy Combs, co-chairman for the event, says special thanks goes to the radio and newspapers for their wonderful cooperation in publicizing the affairs of the Auxiliary.

"This first cruise was such a fun time besides raising money for the Auxiliary's project-Martin Memori-al Hospital and its patients," she said.

Letters to the editor

To the editor:

May I say a few words to give the public back of wrongly obtained matter a boost? It seems that the papers are giving only one side of the issue.

I was away from Port St. Lucie for almost a year having become fed up with high handed way a practically one dissenter. time was ridiculed and laughed at for asking questions and protesting Mayoral and Council pay raises and non-contributory pension plans whereby the tax payers paid in and the ex-Mayor, Council and City attorney took out.

Where were all these bleeding heart citizens while the Mayor, Council and City Attorney operated contrary to their own advantage and moneters betterment. They were on the golf course and at the Country Club letting Good Old Gene and his council look out for them. A few and I mean very few were at the council meetings cheering him and his team along knowing that he would be taking care of them and his beloved Country Club area of the city.

All these letters that I have been reading asking forgiveness of a goodly sum of money paid in by all of the tax payers, but which were introduced into the pockets of a few, are the division of the city as a reason for not pursuing the return of the money. To this, I answer "big wash".

The rift in the city was started when the first of the people who had built homes and moved into the North portion of the city began to ask for some representation, either in or from the City Council, and a fair deal for them in regard to numerous complaints they had with various builders other contractors mail deliveries overgrown snake infested ditches dark and danger ous streets speeders, trash dump ing unattached out buildings trail ers etc. When the Mayor and council did nothing, some of us decided that we should join a home owners association as there is muscle in numbers. To this end inquiries to the Port St. Lucie River Park Home Owner's Association were given a polite and sympathetic ear but we were told that the fore mentioned could not represent us as they were from the non-incorporated area and would carry no weight with the city.

The Port St. Lucie Country Club area had a home owners association of which Councilman McChesney was President at that time. They rapidly called a meeting when they found out that some of the North enders had expressed a desire to join. They then proceeded to change the name and by laws. The name was changed to the Country Club Home Owners Association and the by laws changed which barred all but home owners in the country club area from membership. I personally took this as an affront and a snobbish action and mentioned it to the Mayor and Council at a meeting at which Mr. McChesney was present. Mayor Kavanaugh the council and Mr. McChesney assured me that this was not a snobbish action but one which had been undertaken because the people in the north end of the city and the people in the country club area did not share the same interests or problems making membership in the Country Club Home Owner's Association unadvantageous to us and it was suggested that we start our own association. Another dividing action! Mr. McChesney seems to have a very short memory.

When General Development Corporation decided that their security force should be eliminated the Mayor, Council and City Attorney came up with a tax plan whereby all of the City property owners would pay for a police force which was, and still is, only visible outside the country club area occasionally and did nothing to enforce laws concerning speeding violations trailer set ups high grass on lawns unattached out buildings, but did and are doing a good job in the country club area. Is not this city one city?

While I realize that most of the older ordinances were enacted when Port St. Lucie was just the country club area enforcement was sought for by the people in the north end and they were mostly ignored. Another dividing cause.

There has been talk of a divided city. Perhaps a permanent division at Port St. Lucie Boulevard would be the most advantageous to all. The country club area could remain in the City of Port St. Lucie and a divorced north end could join with River Park to become the largest city in St. Lucie County. Port St. Lucie. Beware.

Let them pay back that which they are not entitled to or the said division or rift may never be healed.

Respectfully,
George F. W. Ehrsam

To the Editor
and Port St. Lucie
City Council:

The Board of Directors of the Port St. Lucie Civic League, Feb. 2, voted to request the City Council to take a second look at its action to sue for the recovery of certain funds allegedly received improperly by former city officials.

Following the election the League Board publicly supported the present City Council's desire to bring the city together and get on with the important business of governing the entire city as one.

The Board's action is in no way an acceptance of the view that the former city officials had any right to take for themselves the funds in question.

The question at issue today is whether it would be productive for the city to sue to recover.

The Board believes the action voted by the City Council would probably be unproductive as far as reclaiming the funds in question, and would be an expensive legal venture possibly representing a net loss to the City.

The Board applauds the Council's determination to handle city funds with judgment and dedication. It concedes that the action taken thus far has had this thought in mind.

The Board will appreciate the Council's reconsideration of this matter and will follow with much interest the Council's action.

Very truly yours,
Port St. Lucie Civic League

Bombings and sabotage

WASHINGTON—Twenty years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Ridiculous as it sounds, that is the maximum federal penalty for a demented fiend who plants a bomb in a public building.

Even if someone is killed—or if 11 innocent men, women and children are killed as occurred in the tragic New York LaGuardia Airport bombing—the maximum penalty under federal law is still a mere 20 years behind bars and a $10,000 fine.

And, given the leniency of some judges and some probation and parole boards, bombers may spend a lot less than 20 years behind bars, even for such a heinous crime as the LaGuardia bombing.

For that reason, I am co-sponsoring legislation to stiffen the penalties for all bombings and similar acts of sabotage, and particularly for such incidents which result in death.

In cases which result in death, the only suitable punishment is the death of a bomber. Therefore, the legislation I am co-sponsoring mandates that anyone convicted of a bombing which kills another must be sentenced to die himself. There is no discretion for softhearted and softheaded judges to let the bomber off with a lighter sentence.

If you kill someone with a bomb, you die. That is as it should be.

Further, this legislation would increase the maximum allowable penalty for non-fatal bombings and similar sabotage cases to a $100,000 fine and life behind bars.

Harsh crimes deserve harsh punishment. And I know of no harsher, more heinous crime than an indiscriminating bombing.

Unfortunately, the number of such cases is growing, and at a dismayingly high rate. Last year, according to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, there were 89 such bombings in the United States. That's almost twice the 45 reported in 1974 and more than three times the number of cases in 1973.

We must defend ourselves against these inhuman monsters by using the strongest deterrent we can muster. And that is the death penalty.

Perhaps if they become convinced they could pay with their own lives for their crimes, they will think twice before planting the dynamite aimed at indiscriminate killings.

Bombings and other senseless acts of terrorism and sabotage strike fear into the hearts of men and women by their very senselessness. How do you defend against crimes carried out with no rhyme or reason?

You defend against them by imposing the harshest punishment possible: death.

The Congress did it once. In 1950, Congress added senseless bombings to the list of federal offenses punishable by death. Unfortunately, in 1972, when the Supreme Court struck down capital punishment, it struck down as a deterrent for bombing.

More than a year ago, the Congress wisely decided to restore death as the penalty for aircraft hijacking.

Now we need to do the same to the bombers who threaten the very fabric which holds our society together.

Unless we show that bombers and the like will be punished under the law—and punished swiftly and severely—we run the risk of a return to vigilante law.

The public has a right to demand protection. And unless the Congress is willing to respect that right, then the people would have no choice but to take the law into their own hands.

NEW OFFICE: Attorney Neil W. MacMillan has opened a new office at 1074 NE Commercial Street in the Savanna Shopping Center, Jensen Beach.

Winners named

JENSEN BEACH—Winners of the door prizes presented at last week's dessert card party sponsored by the Jensen Beach Women's Association were Florence Robbins, Trudy Chihasz and Mary Carroll.

An Association spokesman said there was a large turn-out for the affair.

SCUTTER: Don Smith left, spoke on the plan to raise silver Silver coin in a soliciting drive for the bicentennial to benefit the Gulfstream Council and Camp Tarina Scotia. At right is Kiwanis program director Bill Seibel.

A blood pressure station has been established for the benefit of the park. It will be held on a three week cycle on Sundays at the rec hall with a staff of registered nurses. On duty Sunday morning were nurses Winnie Ballard and Marge Bowers. Hostesses were Dot Clark and Betty McKnight.

The p.m. nurses were Anne Crisconi and Marge Bowers, with Elizabeth O'Donnell and Doris O'Dell acting as hostesses. One hundred sixteen came in to have their pressures checked.

Tuesday evening, Jack Cammack gave a most interesting one-half hour talk on tides and currents and methods of life saving used on Martin County beaches. After the talk, he showed some equipment and many pictures of interesting seaside happenings, ending with a question and answer period pertaining to the dangers of the ocean and to life saving. A very good attendance came out to see and hear this most informative program. Jack is the husband of Mary Cammack, the clerk in the rec.

The third annual Auction Sale, held on Saturday, was a fun affair and a monetary success. The committee gives thanks for fine weather and efficient help on all sides. Most appreciated is Bill McKinnon for his hours-long work in selling donated articles. We are so lucky to have him and his helpers, the Stuarts, handle the sale each year.

You folks who missed this event, please mark it in your memory as an event to attend next year.

Bingo was fun for a large crowd of fans on Friday night. Dorothy Buisset won the first coverall, Grace Madden the second. Winner take-all was split between Mary Nealis and Fred Cue.

There is room for more bowlers on Wednesdays at noon at the Jensen Lanes. Why not join the fun?

Three game totals for men were a tie for high between Ken Baxter and Bill Studebaker, both with 478. Bill Hendricksen, 433; Roy Leonard, 428; Mac McPherson, 425; Mickey Remick, 396; Bob O'Reilly, 321.

Bea Leonard topped the ladies with 420. Dorothy Studebaker had 383; Rusty Baxter, 360; Marian O'Reilly, 291; Lynn Baxter, 279; and Mae Williams, 257.

Herb and Pauline Rough of lot 110 had a most welcome visit from their Niles, Michigan neighbors, Dick and Janet Pelkey, who drove up Monday from Miami Beach to surprise them. Their visit was too, too short. The Pelkeys were in Florida on convention and their time was short.

There was a lot of excitement around the block of lots 98 to 112 last Wednesday morning. Seems that Vernon and Rosemary May were out in p.j.'s and robes, running between and looking under trailers.

Everybody wondered what had happened and found out that little Cricket, a show dog belonging to Donna Schneider, had gotten out and away. They couldn't find him or get him to respond to their calls. Finally, Rosemary spied and caught him and, needless to say, he was secured until Donna returned home.

A reunion pot luck was held Tuesday in the rec hall attended by Steve and Edie Pointon of Walkerton, Ontario, Canada; Herb and Pauline Rough of Niles, Michigan; Rosemary and Vernon May; Mildred and Chuck Armock; Carl and Joan May, all of Sparta, Michigan; Luther and Mary Traynor, Carroll and Ruth May, all of Lexington, Kentucky; Jim and Donna Mumber and children Debbie and Jimmy Joe of Grand Rapids, Michigan; Ray and Doris May of Conklin, Michigan; Mr. and Mrs. John Hushion of Newark, Ohio; Donna Schneider and Allen May of Bel Air, Maryland; Tom and Lorry Goodwin of Port St. Lucie; Gordie and Irma St. Louis of Blowing Rock, N. Carolina.

This is the same group who met in Canada last summer. It is so nice to have these get togethers. Three were unable to make the second time around.

Roy and Doris May, lot 112, had a visit from son Allen and friend Donna Schneider from Baltimore, Maryland, along with Donna's dog Cricket.

They all went to Disney World, Coral Reef and Everglades Park. This was their first trip to Florida and they only had a week's stay as Allen had to get back because of business. So they did well to take in all three places of interest.

The attractive blonde with Tom Murphy is his sister Pat Leone from Philadelphia. The weather hasn't been its Florida best during Pat's visit, but she has enjoyed having big brother Tom teach her to snorkel and swimming in our pleasantly heated pool.

The dinner dance last Thursday night was attended by 135 enthusiastic patrons. The committee, chaired by Austin and Mae Williams with the assistance of Bob and Marion O'Reilly and Ken, Rusty and Lynne Baxter, worked very hard on this, the first dinner dance. Maryland Fried Chicken catered the delicious ham dinner.

Hallie Arrowsmith won the door prize, a beautiful bicentennial ceramic plate created by Rusty Baxter. It was Hallie's birthday and 134 voices serenaded her with the birthday song.

Jack and Nellie Yousey wish to express deep appreciation for the expressions of concern and good wishes given to them when Jack had his unfortunate bike accident recently. They were glad that they were here in Holiday Out when the accident occurred, people here are real friends at any time, but especially so in times of trouble.

Jack is doing fine, walked the week after fracturing his hip and is now driving his car. We have good doctors in the area as well as good people.

Don't forget to sign up in the lower rec hall so that the committee in charge of the pot luck supper on Thursday, February 5, will know what you plan to bring. Supper is at 6 p.m. and afterward, Bert Turner will show slides.

The committee for the affair is Edith Pointon, Lillian Seibert and Velma Grant.

Trudy and Nelson Beatty have left the park for their new home in Stuart. It's a shame to lose them, but we all wish them well at their new address.

The F.J. McCoys of Arlington, Va., have spent a week in the park and are already looking forward to returning next year.

Earle and Edwina Palmer are delighted with their new Holiday Rambler, which was delivered last week. It's a real beauty.

George Taylor has returned home from the hospital and shows daily improvement. He has been taking short walks around the park, but mostly likes the sunshine on his patio and chatting with visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Froese, from Ontario, will be with us on lot 200 for another week before going back to chilly Canada. Two of their sons hope to visit the park later in the season.

Gil Hall, at this writing, is still in Martin Memorial Hospital for tests. We all send best wishes and hope to see him around the park very soon.

Irene and Tom Russell entertained friends for coffee and fresh made "sticky buns" on Sunday morning.

Bob and Marilyn Wilson have left the park for some interstate touring. They will be back in about two weeks, in time to be here for her sister Janice's visit and George Taylor's birthday. George and Olive are the girls' parents.

Oscar and Bea Lupke had a pleasant visit with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Toburon, on Monday. The Toburons are staying in Deerfield Beach at a friend's home.

Hazel and Carl Edmondson have returned to the park after a few days' trip to Boca Raton.

Nell and Mac McFarland said goodbye to their children on Monday, after having them here for some ten days. Florida's weather was none too kind, but at least the men did get in some good fishing.

Mary Bonar and Betty Taylor challenged Ellena Percy and Henry Bonar at cribbage Saturday and won handily. Care to try again, folks?

Welcome to new arrivals Lester Maxwell, lot 516; Bob Fogg, 454; William Woodward, 257; Clifford Wolf, 423; Samuel Avery, 894; Austin Gettings, lot 138; William McQuater, 482; Peter Covitz, 523; Fred Jinges, 190; M. Millen will speak

JENSEN BEACH—The Reverend William D. Millen, D.D. will be the guest preacher at the First United Presbyterian Church of Stuart on Sunday, February 8, at the 11 a.m. service. His sermon topic will be We Are Responsible.

Dr. and Mrs. Millen have been in Stuart for the past week directing the debt reduction campaign of the church. He is the senior field representative of church building campaign services for the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

Members of the church are calling on the whole congregation this week, under the direction of Dr. Millen, to explain the condition of the building fund for the new sanctuary and offer the parishioners the opportunity to participate in the debt reduction campaign.

First United Presbyterian Church is located on Pine Lake Drive in North River Shores.

Tigers nip North Shore in overtime

BY DONNIE WILKIE

STUART–It is not often that you see a player who is not only taller than Rafter Campbell, but who can dominate the game while Campbell is the lineup.

But that was the case last Friday night as All American candidate Greg Nelson faced Campbell in a head-on duel. The result: both players were brilliant, and the game turned out to be one of the most exciting high school basketball games around.

It took two overtimes and some last second shooting by Lawrence Downing to pull the Tigers through a tough game ambush by the Mustangs 60-59.

The entire game was a see-saw battle. The score was knotted 10 times and the lead changed hands nine times. Each team would get hot, take a lead, then cool off and fall behind only to come back and charge into the lead again.

The Mustangs led for most of the first quarter, as Clyde Phillips scored nine points. However, it took 20 points at the end of the quarter to give the Mustangs the lead, 18-16. Martin County controlled the second quarter as Allen Thomas and Campbell combined for 10 of the Tigers' 15 points. The Martin Warriors took a 33-29 lead as the two teams returned to the locker rooms at halftime.

Floyd Andrews gang came out roaring in the third quarter, as they began to control the tempo of the game. North Shore racked up the Tigers and almost put them away in the third quarter and led 52-47 between periods. But the Tigers showed their courage by battling back while an overflow crowd went absolutely mad.

Trailing 54-47 with only 7:30 remaining, Martin County began their comeback, and finished it with 4:50 left as Peter Thompson stole an inbounds pass and tied the game at 57-all with a short jumper. He then sank a technical foul attempt to put his team on top 58-57.

North Shore would not give up though, as Craig Battles sank two free throws to tie the game at 70-70 with 10 seconds left, and the fourth quarter ended that way.

The first overtime was a total deadlock, with each team getting nine markers, but the key play occurred with 38 seconds left, when Campbell fouled out of the game. Only 12 seconds earlier, Thomas had picked up his fifth foul.

So Martin County was faced with the unenviable task of playing without their two best rebounders. But Coach Don Wallen has a solution for everything–or at least it seems that way.

The Tigers got control of the basketball with 2:47 left in the second overtime and proceeded to dribble in and out for two and a half minutes. Finally with 17 seconds left Dowling drove through the lane, and while attempting to shoot, was fouled by Phillips of North Shore. Dowling sank one out of the two shots, and his teammates held North Shore scoreless in the last seconds.

Thus Martin County upped its record to 19-3 with their only losses coming in the holiday tournaments in Orlando and St. Petersburg.

The Tigers take on Boca Raton, a team they soundly defeated here on December 12, 94-52. Game time is 8 p.m.

FINAL REHEARSALS–The musical "Carousel" is in final rehearsals at The Barn Theater and the opening performance will be at 8:30 p.m. Friday, February 6. Other performances will be held each Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings throughout February. Caroline Fitzgerald, John Ferra and Marion Thompson rehearse a scene above.

Elections highlights yacht club meeting

PORT ST. LUCIE–Nelson Howery became the new Commodore of the Port St. Lucie Yacht Club last week when the group held its annual election of officers.

A turnout of 150 members was on hand for the meeting held at the North Port Marina.

Others elected include Arthur Coulon, vice-commodore; Mrs. Jo Walker, secretary; and George Jacobi, treasurer.

Fred Adler, George Lindberg, Robert Clemens, Bill Hoover, Joe Cornwell and Ernest Gessweni are the directors. Past Commodore Mike Reeb automatically becomes a member of the board.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by Edris Kessler and her committee.

The evening's 50-50, managed by Bill and Doris Hinchcliffe, was split three ways by Ernie Gessweni, Pat Blalock and Ethel Nicholson.

Gang in stride

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Friday Site Gang was back in form last week with a full house.

Clyde Fuqua Snooper had an easy night, making a rather short report. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Anastasi from Rochester, New York, visiting the Tony Camelon, and Mary Lodge of Chicago Heights, Illinois, visiting Mary Ballarina.

Tickets for the pancake breakfast to be held at the North Port Marina on Sunday, April 4, were distributed.

The breakfast will be benefit the Knights Templar Eye Foundation.

Committee appointments will be announced at a later date.

Pittman topples Gold Coast

BY DONNIE WILKIE

JENSEN BEACH–Jeff Hall can get a pair of free throws and David Pitts did only one.

That was the story last Saturday as Pittman Insurance downed Gold Coast Tires by a score of 23-22, in overtime. As expected, the game was a very interesting, but low scoring contest.

The first quarter was a feeling out process as the two teams exchanged the ball frequently, but produced only six points between them. Gold Coast led 4-2, and did it because they held Hall and Malcolm Wiley scoreless. But that did not last very long, as they combined for seven Pittman points in the second quarter. But Gold Coast kept it close, trailing only 9-8 at the half.

Richard Kerlins, who had been kept quiet in the first half, added four points in the third quarter and by the end of the period the Gold Coasters led 17-16. Both teams registered a pair of field goals in the fourth frame, but a Pitts throw by Delancy tipped the game in favor of a tie. The quarter ended with the score tied at 21-21, so the overtime period of the game had to be played. In the overtime Hall made two free throws to make it 23-21, and the game was tied in the bag. But with the clock showing only seven seconds left in the game, Kenny was fouled, and he was awarded two shots. He made the first, but then missed the second.

Gold Coast slips to 2-1, while Pittman stands at 3-0.

In the other game, Kiwanis registered their first win of the year by downing CWA 46-32. John Wolf made his season debut a successful one by scoring 16 points, and received a lot of help from Donnie Blake and Gregg Jackson. Wilkie scored 15 points and grabbed nine rebounds, and Jackson snatched 18 rebounds and tallied 4 points. David Pitchino scored 16 for the losers, as 0-3 Kiwanis is 1-2.

Kiwanis led after every period: 6-2 after the first, 20-10 at halftime, and 34-18 after three. CWA's sorely missing center Leroy Wells was forced to run with the Kiwanians, and that proved deadly, because Kiwanis had too much rebounding.

CWA meets Pittman in this week's second game, but the biggest confrontation occurs at 2 p.m. between Gold Coast and Kiwanis. If Kiwanis could win, they would be right back in the thick of things with two games still to be played. All in all, the Senior Division race should go right down to the wire.

Shawver downs Optimist on overtime foul shot

BY DONNIE WILKIE

JENSEN BEACH–It wasn't easy.

With time running out in the second period of the year's most exciting quarter, Eric Gray, scoreless in five quarters of play, sank a foul shot to give undefeated C.F. Shawver their third consecutive victory, 7-6 over the Optimist Club.

Up until the second overtime, the whole game was a two-man show featuring Brian Lambeth and Wilfred Wiley. Both scored six points, but it was Wiley who kept his team in the game as he continually matched each Lambeth shot. Optimist led by one point after each of the first three quarters. But Lambeth posted a free throw in the fourth quarter to know the score and send it into overtime.

In the other game, the Lions Club upset CWA 14-12, giving Shawver a two game lead over the rest of the league with only three to play. John Atkinson scored six points to lead the Lions, while Holly Dickenson, Billy Mang, and Mo Casey all had 4 for CWA. Both teams are 1-2, and each have one game left with every team in the league.

This week's action gets underways at 2 p.m. when Optimist plays the Lions, and continues an hour later with the CWA-Shawver game.

Winners were: Rudy Maurer and Ulrike Lutter, 62½. Mercy Barnes and Roger White, 60½. Bill and Charlotte Finnan, 60. Al and Vicky Richard, 58½. Louise Ressler and Stella McCoy, 56½.

Game time is 7:30 every Wednesday at the Youth Center. Roger White is director and a partner is guaranteed.

DEBRA LYNN FALLS

Falls, Rebmann are wed

MIAMI–Candelabra and arrangements of mums and daisies graced the Visitation Catholic Church in Miami, creating a lovely setting for the marriage of Debra Lynn Rebmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rebmann of Miami, to Stephen James Falls, 1041 N.W. 19th Street, Miami, and Lot 509, Holiday Out, Jensen Beach, on January 24th.

Father Quinn officiated in the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a satin floor length gown with long sleeves, a veil of illusion and carried a bouquet of yellow roses with baby's breath.

Bridesmaids Denise Rebmann, Debbie Joyce, Debbie Yankanich and Kathy Anderson were attired in floor length peach colored dresses with jackets trimmed in white lace.

Mrs. Rebmann chose an aqua marine floor length gown for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother wore a gown of baby blue with beaded neckline.

Kenneth Kurnik served as best man and Kevin Mulkey, Scott Cuen and Chuck Yankanich as ushers.

A reception followed, catered by members of the Knights of Columbus. The hall was beautifully decorated with flowers and bells.

During the festivities, the bride's sister performed the Hawaiian Wedding Dance.

After their return from their wedding trip to Seven Springs, Pennsylvania, the newlyweds will be at home at Coral Village Trailer Park in Fort Lauderdale.

They are both graduates of Sunland High School in Miami.

Out of town guests included aunts and uncles from Marion, Waverly and Pennsylvania, friends and relatives from Jensen Beach and Stuart.

Dutton plans family night

PORT ST. LUCIE–Members and friends of Dutton Memorial United Presbyterian Church will enjoy a family night covered dish supper on Friday, February 6, at 6:30 p.m. The Saver Discussion group have prepared the program for the evening. Each family is asked to bring a hot dish or a salad and the necessary table-ware. Beverages will be served.

Mr. and Mrs. John Conrad of White City are furnishing the flowers for the altar Sunday in honor of their 43rd wedding anniversary.

Flower Show is scheduled

PORT ST. LUCIE–The main topic of discussion at last week's meeting of the Rio Lindo Garden Club was the Flower Show at the Community Center (CESA) this Friday, February 6.

The display will be open to members, friends and the general public from 2 until 9 p.m. There will be a donation at the door and light refreshments will be served.

The Stewarts will have an opportunity to see all exhibits and ribbon awards. In addition to the horticulture and design exhibits, there will be a bonsai display.

Sharks are showing up in the surf

JENSEN BEACH–There have been sharks sighted in close to the beaches throughout the past week, and two big ones were caught. A notation in the Shark Nook report mentions a 156 pound shark caught on Friday, doesn't say who caught it, and on Saturday a 9 foot 7 inch hammer head, weighing in at 267 pounds, was caught just south of U.R.A.

Knowledgable anglers say the sharks are in after the smaller fish that are on because of the cold.

Whether it's because of the cold or whatever, blues were pretty plentiful again throughout the week.

Ted Bloom caught 60 in three outings, John Wilbert, five. Al Wade, 11. Walter Neff, 18. E.A. Thomas had 13 blues. M. Davis Jr., 6 blues.

C. Cananzi used cut bait to catch 16 blues. T. Russell had 5 blues. Bacus, 8 blues. Reg Branson, 47 blues and Frank Morgan caught 9 blues, totaling 25 pounds.

Albert MacFarlane tried the surf on Saturday and brought home 7 blues, caught on cut mackerel. Al Kroll had 7 blues on plugs. Clarence Roberts, 19 blues. Bob Myer, 7 blues and Joe Tromba, 12 blues on krocs. A. Mrs. Stoffer caught 8 blues on Sunday.

Bob Maxwell used krocs to catch 30 blues. Jess Foley had 42 blues on cut bait, and Ocean Breezites Stan Swartz, Van Vleet and Warren Strayer teamed up to catch 17 blues. Strayer had 3 blues on Saturday.

Bob Estes landed a total of 44 blues in two outings. Eddie Edgers, 37 blues, and Bill Holloway used a Ryan plug for two blues.

Wayne Sprague was out two times catching 19 sand perch, 9 jacks and 15 snookers. Joe and Irene Pinder caught a total of 11 blues, 4 jacks and a whiting in four outings.

A variety of other fish were taken during the week, including a 47 pound drum by John Beckie. Dan Wagner caught 32 weakfish in the river, using Florin Charles Krus had 23 trout for 10½ pounds. Russ Bolton, Peter Miller and Joe Sevcik teamed up to take 1 snook, 1 red, 2 jacks and a jack from the South Fork.

Joe Apfelbeck caught 15 sheepshead on the 10 cent bridge using shrimp. Fred Heom had one pompano and 14 blues. Bill Rydlewski, Gus Smith, Doc Smith and Tom Lagonette, all fishing and a channel bass. Rip Henderson and Mr. and Mrs. Shold used Fidlers for 27 sheepshead and a 4 pound margate.

Eddie Sisra had 2 weakfish. Ed Wagner, 7 trout and Fred Dushanek, 10 trout.

Howard and Sylvia Chilton tried going outside on Saturday, trolling Jap Feather Jigs, and caught 14 Spanish mackerel to 5 pounds 12 ounces and 2 blue runners.

Ken Snow and Steve Smyth were offshore on the Sno-Burger and caught two 7 foot sails, trolling Hallyhoo.

Gary Cartwright, Ralph Milner, Steve Mozak and Jim George tagged and released a sailfish and caught one 12 pound dolphin.

Bob Teschlen, off shore on the Sunshine caught 4 dolphin, 23 Spanish mackerel and 2 bonita.

Clarence and Frances Wilkinson, from Akron, Ohio, tried their luck in the inlet and caught 36 snapper, one 7 lb. channel bass and 9 trout.

Pine Cones

BY BOB RAMSEY

On your mark, get set, GO!

Just finished making my rounds on my skateboard accumulating news and have to get rolling with Pinelake Village news, so let's have your undivided attention.

Put down your racing form, set aside coloring book and read, read, read!

The Pinelake Village Arts & Crafts Festival. Just to avoid any hurt feelings and any pouting here, in condensed but authentic form, is a rundown on what it took to make the Festival a smashing success, bringing in a crowd estimated to be between 700-800 patrons of the arts from within a radius of 50 miles of Jensen Beach.

First we have a heavy work load by the entire Tilton clan, consisting of Lavaughn and Ransom Tilton, Sharon Tilton, Dennis Graves and Joe Dickries as well as others who gave of their efforts in making the show one to remember for a long time.

We have, for instance, the galley slaves working in shifts in the kitchen selling food to a lot of starving visitors, namely, Nonie Grissell and Amanda Abo, Norma Quillen and Irene O'Donnell, Rose DeVries and Jerry Arkins, Bam & Jim Bruns. Many thanks to this group for a job well done.

Then we come to the door prizes registration volunteers, Mildred Trantham, Ruth Hunecke, Edith Devitt, Grace Duren, and Betty Quinn.

Last of this work came two winners, Polly Norris and Agnes Kain, both of Stuart. Congratulations are in order.

And do you know what? I was about to expose myself to a six man panel for possible court martial by not including the full list of pearl divers so let me add them at this point, so back to the kitchen again and include in our list of credits the following names. Edith Devitt and Ann Meney, Doris and Bob Peterson, Vi O'Neil and Astrid Olson, Skip and Russ Stevens. And believe me, there were no AWOL's, in everyone was on the job. Everyone loves us.

Next we come to the exhibitors and what they displayed. If I miss anyone, put it down to ignorance and the fact that about the only thing I have ever covered along this line was a floating crap game and a soap box derby.

Ruth Bowman Ruth tells me she had been living in Jensen Beach and hails originally from Drexel Hill, Pa. I could not possibly dwell on individual exhibits suffice it to say that to my mind they were all splendid. I am sure any art lovers in this area are familiar with Ruth's work with an emphasis being placed on knife work as opposed to the brush.

Roger Heckman of Stuart who tells me he displays works of braising and cut coins of silver.

Lillian Brown also of Stuart and originally of Hamilton, Georgia who exhibited a beautiful line of semi-precious stones.

George Gomez of West Palm Beach accompanied by his little brother and showing hand crafted jewelry, another beautiful display.

Betty Cline, now residing at Nettle's Island but originally from Salesville, Ohio, showing a unique line of paintings on slate cut and painted to a tasteful design. Betty is a veteran under the title "Our Hang Ups." Her slate has been recovered from such sites as strip mining locations which took a lot of work to recover.

Tom Hendricks in his first show of lovely sand dollar designs. Tom was assisted by his mother and hails from Stuart.

Are you still with me? Don't go away.

Capt. Nat Gross and Betty Gross of Leisure Village with a showing of hand carvings, water colors and acrylics, well worth the looking and consideration. I told Nat to look up Paul King of Leisure Village with whom I served on the USS Ranger back in '35, and incidentally, any more of those Navy characters around this area?

Scott Woodward of Ft. Pierce who, at the tender age of 17, had on display, what I, as a dum dum in art recognized as a fabulous collection of oils on painted wood. I even installed him by mentioning decoupage and quickly got an explanation of the difference. It restored my faith in the younger generation. Every time I get the idea that it is a lost generation I casually get my come-uppance. Fabulous work.

Joe Pavin of Port St. Lucie working in acrylics and sculptured slates. His display would defy any remarks I might make about it. Only those knowing this type of art would appreciate it. Joe tells me he will be having a one man show at Disney World on February 12. If you happen to be there look him up. Joe is originally from Thompson, Conn. and can give you an in-depth background on this interesting hobby through a brochure which he has prepared for this purpose.

So, there you are and as much as I enjoyed covering the whole thing and really getting an insight on lovely work of this kind, if I never cover another one, it will be too soon. Let me say again, thanks to everyone even remotely connected with the effort which went into it and it is sincerely hoped that Pinelake Village will make this an annual classic. A few more cars in the park and we would have been renting our driveways for ten bucks a throw.

If I missed anyone, may the saints preserve me! The phone kept ringing, the door was being pounded on and Gil Gris is now a nervous wreck, but we made it.

Off we go to our other social notes.

Mr. & Mrs. Robert Zieman of Little Rock, Arkansas visiting Norma and Cher Quillen. Mr. & Mrs. Chester Eliason of Mt. Dora visiting Edna & George Horne. Margaret Bokart of Mishawaka, Ind. and Natalie Gravel of Colon, Michigan visiting with Camiel and Rachel LaClusye.

Odyssey at the last bingo game the jackpot was split between Bill Conners and Al Seccia. That bingo game is the way it's becoming one of the in things of Pinelake Village. The crowd is swelling to the point where we'll have to knock off Ransom for more tables or have people standing in the aisles with a bingo card around their necks.

A couple of remarks on The Jensen Beach Mirror asking your indulgence for a moment. As I mentioned last year, I am not in the business of selling newspapers as I went out of that line at the age of 12 years when I collected 85 cents on my delivery route and got ripped off by a 13 year older who outweighed me by 25 pounds at which time I became very disenchanted but, if you would like to keep abreast of this column as well as the fine work done by columnists of other parks and locations, it is suggested you subscribe or pick up on Wednesdays or have it mailed to you during the year as many others do. It keeps you in touch with doings and old friends.

Herb and Clara Burmeister, along with friends, the Klines and Hertz's, took a four day cruise recently.

Leaving Fort Pierce by bus on January 26, they sailed out of Miami on the Monarch Sun at 5 p.m. the same day. They spent one day at Freeport and three days at Nassau and reported they all had a most wonderful cruise.

A special evening was spent in celebrating Clara's birthday, along with other passengers, also anniversaries. To make the affair very festive, they were all given crowns to wear and horns to blow. They all said they had a marvelous time and plenty of the finest foods, and all felt their figures would show it.

Clara especially delighted in arising early, like 5 a.m., along with another member of their party, and doing some tall climbing on the ship so as to see well over the water.

Sing-along is Friday

JENSEN BEACH--The Ocean East Mall will again be the gathering place for a Sing Along on Friday, February 6, at 7 p.m.

On January 23, the "Senior Swingers" of the Martin County Senior Activities Club entertained an enthusiastic group with songs from the past, bringing back memories of famous composers such as Sigmund Romberg, Irving Berlin, Jerome Kern, George Gershwin, Victor Herbert and many more.

And what music lover will ever forget the "Indian Love Call" and "Rose Marie" by Rudolf Friml, both composed in 1924?

These and many more will be played and sung, so why not make a date so spend an great evening of pleasant nostalgia.

"Our music is said to be quite dancable, and many have been doing just that," said Joe Forsberg, president of MCSAC.

Bring along a folding chair as seating is very limited.

Venture Out News

by The Punch Hitters

By Jackie Phillips

Dr. Livingston, I presume?" ...no, but beautiful green grass."

She replied.

Bob Kitts saw wife Helen peering at their brook earth with a magnifying glass. Remember, just one week ago we reported the "Great Earth" movement on Swordfish Lane?

Timber. Finally, Al and Jackie Phillips had their dead tree removed. Like an old shoe, we miss it. Ha Ha.

I think that I shall never see a poem lovely as a tree."

How very true.

No one. For two.

ROYAL PALM Mo to grace

The lot of Bromberger's place

Charlie and Anne of lots 703 and 704 had these beautiful trees planted this week. They enhance not only our finger, but the whole of Venture Out.

Watch the Bulletin Board in the rec hall for details of the St Valentine's Dance. A word to the wise: "Watch that bulletin board" your re only means of communication of what, where, when and why. No excuse for "I didn't know" if you get in the habit of looking at the board.

Herman and Dorothy Nazzaro of lot 647 are happy to have Jesse and Dom Ravo of Haledon, N.J. as their guests. Jesse is Herman's sister. The great part of the visit was that Jesse made her first airplane ride to get here. The tickets were a surprise from their children who knew that if they had asked Jesse if she wanted the tickets, she would have said "No!" May your days here be happy and filled with sunshine, Jesse and Dom.

We heard, via the grape-vine (how else?) that a juke box has been donated to our rec hall, complete with records. Thanks are due to the wonderful Prews - Lou and Bud.

Head for the Hills!" "Is it a log" Is it too much tea?" None of these - it was a real live alligator, 6 to 8 feet long, playing in the third canal. Al Phillips took pictures to prove it. What next?

So sorry, and sad, to see Marge Owen in a neck brace, necessitated by a pinched nerve. Hope by time this edition of the paper is "on the stands" Marge is minus the collar and plus good health.

Louise Campbell of So. Marlin reports that Dr. Arnold Ruxon and wife Sherle of lot 771 returned to the snow country - Cobblesville, New York, last Friday. While at Venture Out they enjoyed a visit from their son who is a senior at Princeton. He drove back north with his parents. So Marlin area will look forward to their return in April.

Louise and John Campbell entertained a number of people from Hobart, Indiana last week. Dorothy Maud and Roselle Mundell, followed two days later by the Carrs and Kittredges. Venture Out should give Louise and John some kind of special recognition for the number of couples they have lured to our beautiful park. Hobart, Indiana, especially, must not have had anyone left there this January.

Swordfish Lane is graced by the presence of a lovely lady, Mrs. Tom Gentry. (Kathy) and her two elfin children, Olin and Geoffrey. Kathy is a niece of Lucy and Toad Bowling and lives in Lexington, Ky. These three delightful people brought the sunshine, just don't take it back with you next week, Kathy!

Our loss is Monterrey's gain! Venture Out will miss Alice and Bill Nickau, but wish them all happiness and good fortune in their new condominium. Please keep in touch with your friends here - you two special people.

Ever see a grown man cry? Herman Nazzaro had a beautiful channel bass jump out of his - you won't believe this - bait box and back into the water - giving Herman a fishy stare as he swam blissfully past the boat. This is a true "fish story" and you'll have to ask Nazzaro and/or his friends Tom and John for the particulars - it's all beyond me!

We're happy to have Ken and Izzy McKee back on the first finger for their annual visit. The McKees are good friends of the Barretts, having been neighbors in Youngstown, Ohio for many years.

We miss June and Len Litster from our finger, but glad that they are still in the park and only one finger away. If you see a pretty red-head bicycling by and a man hauling huge blues from the trunk of his car, you'll know it is the Litsters of Ontario.

Derwood and Gloria Dickinson are very happy to have their son and daughter-in-law, Dick and June, here at Venture Out for 10 days. They have a new 5th wheeler parked on the lot next to the Dickinsons.

Indian River by Mabel Cook

The F.T. Cook's family, Fred, Naomi, Kim and Becky, left Saturday after a week-long visit with their parents. In spite of the cold weather they enjoyed every minute. They toured Disney World, Kennedy Space Center, Lion Country Safari, House of Refuge and also got in some time for beach combing, swimming and a little sun.

Sure pleased to have Warren and Peg Claussen from Dovargic, Michigan, back with us for two to three months.

The Men's Club pool tournament was won last week by George Sterling, and this week by Chuck Ward.

Marvin and son Russell spent a few days in Ft. Lauderdale this week.

We are all sorry to hear that Clint Mushlit was re-admitted to the hospital Friday night. He is in the intensive care unit in Porter Memorial Hospital.

Sorry some of this news is a little late, but Yours Truly and Thornton have been laid up with the flu bug this past week.

After many delays Replas' screen room is up. Now Muriel can enjoy herself.

The Fredericks' new Kountry Aire is set up. We hope they enjoy it.

Sandy's yard on lot 895 is looking beautiful with all the flowers, plants and bird bath. Are mother and daughter in competition?

The season seems to be in full swing. What few rental lots there are seem to be full all the time.

Jane Nolan will be tied up in the cold north for awhile. Her sister passed away Sunday morning. I know very well that one person is anxious to have her return. A little of this housework is enough.

VENTURE HARBOUR

Ernestine Ravinet has good news for us this week. Unabelle is steadily improving. When Unabelle was in intensive care at the hospital and unable to speak, Ernie gave her a pad and pencil to communicate to him what seemed to be on her mind. She took the pad and wrote one word - "FOOD."

Also in the food news department is that Catherine Higgins got a very fine report from her surgeon this week that she may now do anything she wants to do within moderation. She has several projects lined up and is raring to go.

Pat and Larry Bell have Pat's mother visiting them. Jessie and Les Shaver have Jessie's mother and Ellie and Ron Ellis have Ellie's parents also visiting. Hopefully the weather will soon improve for all our visitors. It's been a long siege of what we consider cold weather but is very pleasant compared to that cold cold north.

Amy and Joe Freitag have become our theatre patrons. They have arranged for us to see Carousel on February 20 at the Barn Theatre.

For the future, Joe is organizing a March theatre party to see Everybody Loves Opal" at the Manatee Dinner Theatre. This should be a lot of fun because you have dinner at the Groggery, pre theatre and then go to a local barn in the Pt. Salerno area.

Freitag will give us particulars on the bulletin board, so keep watching for details. We are fortunate to have the Freitags organize these things for us. They are devoted theatre and opera lovers and want us to enjoy as much of this as the area provides.

Great to see lights on again at the Dickeys. They certainly get down here as often as they can, even if for short visits.

Sam Tucker, enjoying having Winn and Tom Widlake with him, is now looking forward to the arrival of Marion and Les Chase of Massachusetts. The five of them are very close friends and every year enjoy being down here as long as possible.

Art League general meeting is February 12

JENSEN BEACH–The general meeting of the Jensen Beach Art League will be held on Thursday, February 12 at 10 a.m. in the Harry Hoke Memorial Hall of First Federal Savings and Loan in Jensen Beach.

All members and prospective members are invited to attend.

Pioneers lose to Broward

JENSEN BEACH–Wednesday night the Indian River Pioneer basketball team lost a hard fought District 4 game to underdog Broward North 79-75 in the Pioneer gym. The loss practically eliminated the Pioneers from contention in the conference and a chance of defending their state title. The Broward North outfit who came into the game with a mixed 8-9 overall record and a 2-1 in conference were behind almost the entire game and were seven back at halftime 44-37. Coming back in the second half with a dazzling display of outside shooting, Broster Wimbs led all scorers with a total of 30 points. He was followed very closely by Henry Brown with 20 points. Meanwhile the Pioneer squad with a record of 12-5, could not do much right as they saw their seven point halftime lead diminish quickly in a 5 minute span. Usually reliable forward Leroy Oliver was held to three points, and Joe Manley only 9 in a losing effort. Darryl Turner had the hot hand with 20 points followed closely by Jasper Hatton with 18. Gerald Preston chipped in with 14.

The Pioneers next home game will be Saturday against Dade Downtown at 7:30 in the Pioneer gym.

Barracks 854 coming events

JENSEN BEACH–Barracks 854, Veterans of World War I, and Auxiliary will hold monthly meetings in Langford Park Hall Jensen Beach on Friday, February 6.

Meetings start at 1:30 p.m. and will be followed by coffee and cake served by the Auxiliary. All World War I veterans in the area are cordially invited.

The next Auxiliary dessert card party is scheduled for 12:30 p.m. Thursday, February 12 in Langford Park Hall. Chairman of the event is Henrietta Horton. For reservations, call 334-1021.

A sewing session for veterans in the hospital will be held on Wednesday, February 11, starting at 10 a.m. also in Langford Park Hall. Those attending are asked to bring a sandwich. Coffee will be served.

Spanish class

STUART–A course in basic conversational Spanish for adults is held at Martin County High School at 7 p.m. each Tuesday.

The course, taught by Elena Valdes, a native speaking Spanish instructor, features the conversational aspects of Spanish with some necessary grammar. At the outset, adults will learn appropriate greetings, how to order from a menu, how to secure transportation or accomodations, and other phrases necessary to ease communication in Spanish speaking countries.

Registration for the course is $2 payable at the time of registration. Adults may enroll at the library at Martin County High School at 6:30 p.m. Mondays through Thursday.

Baptists will celebrate their third anniversary

PORT ST. LUCIE–This Sunday, February 8, members of the Port St. Lucie First Baptist Church will celebrate their third anniversary as a fully organized Southern Baptist Church.

The Reverend George A. Durham, pastor of First Baptist, will celebrate his sixth anniversary as a pastor.

Day long activities in recognition of the double celebration include a guest speaker in the morning worship service, dinner on the grounds following the morning service, an old fashioned hymn sing at 2 p.m. and a color film, "War Lord Meets Christ" will be shown at 7 p.m.

Dr. Edgar R. Cooper, a native Floridian, is the scheduled guest preacher. After many years of service as pastor of several Florida churches, Cooper became editor-manager of the Florida Baptist Witness in January 1971, and still serves in that capacity.

First aid course this Saturday

PORT ST. LUCIE–A standard Red Cross multi-media First Aid course will be offered at the North Port St. Lucie Marine starting Saturday, February 7, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

The six dollar fee includes materials used.

Minimum age is 13 years. Anyone interested in senior life saving must take this course.

For more information, call 878-3505 after noon or 878-3191 mornings.

Free glaucoma check, feedfest is February 15

PORT ST. LUCIE–The local Lions Club will hold another of their famous "flapjack feedfests" at the North Port Marina Sunday, Feb. 15.

Serving time will be from 7 a.m. until 2 p.m.

As a special part of the activity, the Lions Glaucoma Mobile Screening Unit will be at the site for free eye examinations.

According to a Lion spokesman, the unit will remain in the area for three additional days at the following locations.

February 16, the unit will be stationed at the Port St. Lucie Community Center (CESA); February 17, at the St. Lucie Shopping Center; and on February 18, it will be in Spanish Lakes.

The Screening unit will be open from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. at all locations.

Puppet show is Tuesday

PORT ST. LUCIE–All children, ages four through nine, are invited to meet Goldilocks and the Three Bears at the Port St. Lucie Branch Library next Tuesday, February 10.

The well known characters will be featured in a puppet show at 3 p.m., which will include participation by the children.

The puppet shows presented regularly at the Library are designed to teach creative dramatics through participation, as well as providing an opportunity for some great fun.

The Library will be closed for regular business while the show is going on.

Booby prize is a tie

PORT ST. LUCIE–Barracks 2936, Veterans of World War I, presented a second Bunko Party for January last week with a good turnout at the Marina.

The spirited games ended up with a tie for booby prize between Edith Benner and Lyle Thomas, each winning only three games out of 15 played so far, the first time ever for a double booby.

Edith, however, was accorded the honor of picking the winner of the door prize, who was Jeanette Spiers.

First place went to Mary Thomas with 13 wins. Narina McClurg also had 13 wins for second place. Third and fourth were Ruth Allaway and Marie Benz.

The committee in charge included C.C. Benz, chairman, Leo Malone and Peter Specht.

The next Bunko Party will be held on the fourth Thursday of the month, February 26, at 8 p.m.

Mrs Gross heads stamp club

PORT ST. LUCIE–Mrs. Eric A. Gross was elected president of the Port St. Lucie Stamp Club at the annual meeting held recently.

Others elected include Edward Kotax, vice president, and Thomas A. Hulegas, secretary-treasurer.

Plans are being developed for the organization of a junior branch of the club. Junior members Jay Skolnick and Donald McAfee were elected vice presidents to organize the junior branch.

The Port St. Lucie Stamp Club has 30 active members and meets on the second Thursday each month at Port St. Lucie Community Center. Meeting time is 7:30 p.m. It is a member of the American Philatelic Society.

Everyone interested in stamp collecting is welcome to attend the meetings.

Wimodausis will install

PORT ST. LUCIE–A double-header celebration is planned for the regular meeting of the Port St. Lucie Wimodausis Club on Wednesday, February 11.

First of all, the members will celebrate their 13th birthday as a local organization. Also planned is the installation of new officers, with Clara Clobus, the club's first president, serving as installing officer.

Ada Haines will take over the reins as the new president. Dorothy Brunton, vice president, Florence Dabney, secretary, Vera Abbott, treasurer.

Directors to be installed include Marion Thurston, Nell Peterson, Gemma Kerley, Ila Mae Madorie and Edna Dittler.

The Wimodausis Club is open to all wives, mothers, daughters, sisters or granddaughters of Master Masons and meets at the CESA building the second Wednesday of each month.

Some voice opposition to lawsuit

PORT ST. LUCIE–+At least two members of the Interested Homeowners of Port St. Lucie Inc. were on hand at the City Hall Tuesday to voice their opposition to a recent letter written to the Council and distributed to the news media urging court action if necessary to retrieve nearly $50,000 from several previous and one present council member.

The letter written by George Blackmond, finance chairman of the Interested Homeowners, claimed to express the position of the 655 members of the organization in regards to the collection of monies due the City of Port St. Lucie.

The letter stated in part that "certain people and media are saying that the money already repaid to the City is enough and further effort should not be made."

"But the Interested Homeowners, whose membership stands at 655, thinks otherwise," Blackmond stated in his letter.

Seymour B. Fleming, a member of the Interested Homeowners, and the first to take the floor, claimed the organization had not called a meeting for "months and months" not since the last trial.

Fleming, who was one of the plaintiffs in the original suit brought against the City, said their endeavors were rewarded with the court decision and added it was his intention to abide by that decision.

"Our objectives have been met. It is finished. Personally I don't want to be a part of any crusade by Blackmond or anyother person trying to perpetuate this matter," Fleming said.

"I very much resent such a letter being sent," he concluded.

Interested Homeowner vice-chairman Marvin Waldbillig was the second member of the group to voice his opinion on the matter.

"I don't want any part of beating a dead horse.

"The real estate picture in our city has deteriorated because of the constant three-two votes of this Council. I would like to see a unanimous vote one time," Waldbillig said.

Charles Hayde, president of the Civic League, also urged the Council to take a second look at the matter before plunging the city into another lawsuit.

"The League based its decision on a belief that the many intangibles in the matter make it possible that the city would be getting involved in a potentially expensive legal proceeding with the prospect of a very slight return," Hayde told his listeners.

Another resident, Elmer Johnson, questioned several of the entries made by Councilwomen and City Treasurer Lolita Kernohan in the city's financial statements during the workshop session.

Items mentioned included FP&L franchise taxes, interest on Certificates of Deposit and the accounts receivable regarding the fire station transaction.

Although the city treasurer was not prepared to answer the questions, Johnson was promised the answers after she had checked it out completely.

When Mayor Schuyler Sharpe was questioned as to whose legal advice he had followed in pushing this matter, he said, "I have received all my information from the State Auditor."

City Attorney Spencer Gilbert claimed he had not give any recommendation or advice to the Council or anyone else to sue or not to sue for the collection of these funds.

It is believed that City Administrator Elmer Cox, under the direction of the Mayor, will seek advice from outside legal counsel obtained through the bar association.

BICENTENNIAL PAINTERS–A group of young people gathered Saturday morning at the home of Annette Saffioti to prepare their paint and map out their plans for painting the city's fire hydrants a flamboyant red, white and blue. The paint for the project was furnished by Adm. John E. Fradd (USN Retd) as part of the Bicentennial program. Fradd heads the Bicentennial Committee. Pictured above, front row, left to right, are Annette Saffioti, Karen Kurpicki, Andy Saffioti, Mary Beth Bottone and Dawn Taffner. Standing, left to right, Nick Chappell, Janet Kurpicki, Robin Bottone, Bill Anderson, Laurie Laurito, Nancy Saffioti, Leslie Harmon and Lisa Bottone.

Arts and crafts are offered

PORT ST. LUCIE–An Arts and Crafts Class, sponsored by Indian River Community College, is offered to Port St. Lucie residents, with registration at 9 a.m. Monday, February 9, at the Marina.

Instructions in macrame, sand art, Ming trees and more will be included in the course.

THE LOCKS–Pictured above in the St. Lucie Locks are five of the eight boats that participated in the three day cruise to Hendry Isle this past week.

All members of the Port St. Lucie Yacht Club, the thirty eight members attending departed from the Sandpiper Resort Marina Thursday and returned Saturday evening.

Carter wins with eight under par handicap golf

PORT ST. LUCIE–High handicap golfer Fred Carter had a great day on the Saints Course last Thursday and ran away with top honors in the weekly golf tournament of the Sandpiper Bay Men's Golf Association, winding up all alone at eight under par in the match play versus par handicap event.

Flight leaders for the day were:

Class A–John Huncharek, 5 up; Mike Reeb, Charlie Brown, 3 up; Don McConnell, Norm Gardone and Bill Coarse, 2 up.

Class B–Graydon Smith 4 up; Roy Rutherford and Elmer Pond, 3 up; Archie Gates, Warren Thorpe and Tom Hassell, 2 up.

Class C–Carter 8 up, Don Fisher 4 up, Sid Tanner and Mark Vasey, 3 up, Seymour Fleming and Augie Hofmeister, 2 up.

Of the 118 contestants, only Joe Chappelle '77, Huncharek '77, McConnell '77 and Coarse '79 broke 80.

The high point of the day occurred on the 12th hole when the threesome of Coarse, Huncharek and McConnell II birdied the par four hole, then followed that up by parring eachone of the next five holes.

This week it's partners best ball with full handicaps.

Fiester is president of 9-holers

PORT ST. LUCIE–The St. Lucie Country Club Ladies Nine-hole Golf Assn. elected officers at their annual meeting held after play last week.

Inda Fiester is the new president, Jodie Fessel, vice president, Ann Bogarth, secretary, and Edna Kessler, treasurer.

Outgoing president Joe Hart announced that, due to an increase in membership during the year, the club has now been officially accepted into the Golf Commuittee.

Bingo Bango was the play of the day on the Saints Course. Helen McNally and Penny Lewallen tied for first place.

Altha Jones, Aletha Legge and Kay LaPlair shot to a three-way tie for second place and Ann Searles took third all alone.

Leiberth leads

PORT ST. LUCIE–Virginia Leiberth led all the way with a nice low gross 84 when the North Port St. Lucie Ladies Golf Association met last week at the Holiday Country Club of Stuart.

Play of the day was low gross and low net using only two clubs and a putter.

"A" Class was won by Mrs. Leiberth, low gross 84, and Ann Beckvar, low net 70.

"B" Class honors went to Kay Harris's low gross 92 and Eleanor Wise with 66 for low net.

"C" Class winners were Regina Justi, low gross 99, and Bobbie Baker had the low net.

Millen will speak

JENSEN BEACH–The Reverend William D. Millen, D.D., will be the guest preacher at the First United Presbyterian Church of Stuart on Sunday, February 8, at the 11 a.m. service. His sermon topic will be "We Are Responsible."

Dr. and Mrs. Millen have been in Stuart for the past week directing the debt reduction campaign of the church. He is the senior field representative of church building campaign services for the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

Members of the church are calling on the whole congregation this week, under the direction of Dr. Millen, to explain the condition of the building fund for the new sanctuary and offer the parishioners the opportunity to participate in the debt reduction campaign.

First United Presbyterian Church is located on Pine Lake Drive in North River Shores.

Savannas is No. 1 on state list

JENSEN BEACH--Purchase of the Savannas is still on the state priority list, ranking among the top 12 state areas which will be acquired from a $200 million endangered-land bond issue.

A panel of state agency heads Monday recommended top priority for the 12 areas.

The Interagency Advisory Committee placed the Savannas--the vast wetlands in Martin and St. Lucie counties--in Working Group Priority I.

Natural Resources Director Harmon Shields said he doubted agreements could be negotiated on all the purchases. He said when deadlocks develop, other lands will be substituted before the fund is all used up.

The recommendation will go to the Cabinet for the final decision on whether the projects should receive concentrated attention from Natural Resources Department negotiations.

The recommendation is a reversal of a policy adopted by the council in November to drop all wetlands from the Group I list, because they are protected by federal and state regulations, and to limit the list to eight projects of 75 per cent of 75 per cent of the remaining funds.

One official noted that the council recommendation removes the danger that the Savannas purchase will be abandoned unless the governor and cabinet do something unprecedented.

There are approximately 200 property owners in the Savannas--which extends from Jensen Beach Cutoff Road on the south to Midway Road in St. Lucie County, and between U.S. 1 on the west to the Florida East Coast Railway.

Back in 1973, Ney Landrum, director of the Division of Recreation and Parks at that time, said the vast wetlands met all the state main criteria for state purchase.

Landrum was quoted as saying that the state considers the environmental qualities, the susceptibility of lands to damages and whether the land is threatened by imminent development. "The Savannas meet all three of those criteria," Landrum said.

A "Save the Savannas" committee was organized in 1973, composed of Martin and St. Lucie counties officials to study ways of protecting the Savannas.

Since 1973, there have been public hearings on proposed purchase of the Savannas, and surveys of the 10,200 acre marsh by state representatives.

'Candidate night' is scheduled

SEWALL'S POINT--The Indialuce Homeowners Association will sponsor a "candidate's night" at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 17 at Sewall's Point Town Hall.

Gerald O'Brien, president of the association, said all candidates in the Sewall's Point election are invited to attend the session.

"While it is a meeting of the homeowners association, we want all the people of Sewall's Point to attend," O'Brien said.

There are seven candidates in the Town Commission race, including Earl Crawford, Ed Gluckler, Carl Laughlin, V. Matthews Rau, Robert Russell, Elizabeth Sheridan and William Swaden.

The primaries will be Feb. 24 with the six top vote-getters on the March 2 election and the three top vote-getters will win the available commission seats.

MCHS leaders are named

JENSEN BEACH--The 1976 honor students at Martin County High School have been announced, and Nancy Ing will be valedictorian as a Jensen Beach student.

Brenda Sue Fulton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin D. Fulton of Port St. Lucie, is salutatorian.

Miss Valedictorian is Nancy Ing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Ing of Stuart.

Miss Ing hopes to become a veterinarian and Miss Fulton hopes to attend West Point cadet. She will attend West Point, one of 15 service academies, if she is appointed by a U.S. congressman.

Those ranking the top 10 percent of the class of 400 students include:

Seven candidates in town race

SEWALL'S POINT--A Martin County teacher and a retired military officer are candidates for the Town Commission of Sewall's Point.

ROBERT RUSSELL

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Sheridan of 21 Estarita Way, and Robert C. Russell, 2 Island Road, High Point, are among the seven candidates qualifying for election.

Mrs. Sheridan is a teacher at Stuart Middle School, and Russell was associated with Marshall Fields and is specializing in merchandising and marketing.

A graduate of Eastern Kentucky University with a major in political science, Mrs. Sheridan has been a resident of the county for six years, and a Sewall's Point resident for the past three years.

"As a university student, Mrs. Sheridan worked with state legislators, and said, "I'm very concerned with government.

"I'm concerned about the future of Sewall's Point, its growth and the utilization of the tax dollar," she continued.

Since becoming a resident of Sewall's Point in 1971, Russell has been active in church and civic affairs.

A 31-year veteran of the Army in World War II, Russell is a member of the Audubon Society, Animal Rescue League, Martin County Historical Society and coordinated the Community Swimming Pool fund-drive, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Stuart.

ELIZABETH SHERIDAN

Since there are seven candidates a primary will be necessary to select six candidates for the election.

The primary will be held Feb. 24 and the six candidates who receive the most votes will be back on the ballot for the March 2 election. The top three vote-getters in March will win the three available seats.

Others in the primary include Carl Laughlin, Matthew Rau, former Martin County Commissioner Ed Gluckler, Earl Crawford and William M. Swaden, the only incumbent Town Commissioner.

This year's campaign will feature a political rally at Town Hall at 7 p.m. Feb. 18. Most of the candidates have agreed to attend the session, according to Joyce Dickinson, who suggested the candidate's night several days ago.

Martin County Supervisor of Elections Sandra Randolph said there were 501 Town residents eligible to vote.

Plaza contract is valid

JENSEN BEACH--Circuit Court Judge James Alderman Monday ruled that the Martin County's agreement to purchase the Executive Plaza building is a valid lease purchase agreement and ordered Circuit Court Clerk Louise Isaacs to sign for the first year's rental payment.

Judge Alderman heard final arguments in the trial last week and Monday issued his six page ruling.

At issue was the commission's agreement to lease the 27,000 square-foot building for $237,700 a year and buy it after the first four payments.

Mrs. Isaacs on advice of her attorney refused to sign the warrant questioning the validity of the agreement.

In his ruling Judge Alderman pointed out:

"It is not surprising that attorneys opinions are not unanimous on the legal question here presented."

The judge noted that Florida Statute 125.031 does not specifically define what is meant by "lease purchase arrangements" and no appellate court cases dealing directly with the point raised in this case have been brought to the court's attention.

Mrs. Isaacs said Monday that she will go over Judge Alderman's document.

In the next couple of days if everything is in order I will sign it," Mrs. Isaacs said.

Judge Alderman noted the growth of the county and the need for office space.

"The county courthouse which was adequate in the 1950's no longer meets the functional requirements of the county. There is no real dispute that the present facilities are inadequate and seriously impair the efficient operation of the county government," the judge wrote in his opinion.

The judge notes that the evidence on the question of whether the $237,700 annual rental payment due under the terms of the agreement exceeds the fair rental value of the property is conflicting.

The judge further states:

"After considering and weighing all of the evidence, the court concludes that the Board of County Commissioners did not abuse its discretion. The agreement was negotiated at arm's length for the mutual advantage of the two contracting parties. The Board of County Commissioners made a business judgment on behalf of Martin County.

He also noted that under the terms of the lease purchase agreement the county may be paying more per square foot for rent than it would if it were simply leasing the building.

Judge Alderman said: "In this case there has been no showing of fraud and based upon the evidence, the court finds that there has been no violation of legal duty by the Board of County Commissioners. If the people of Martin County disagree with the business judgment of their elected representatives their remedy is to be found in the ballot box."

Fleet blessing is scheduled

JENSEN BEACH--The Fifth annual blessing of the Fleet and Boat Owners Appreciation Day will be held March 21 according to Benedict Benedict, chairman.

Trophies for the most decorated boats in the marine parade will be awarded. Trophies will be awarded for the best decorated power boat and to the most decorated sail and power boat. Three judges aboard the Sea Ranger will select winners.

The blessing of the fleet will be performed by a priest with three participating clergymen aboard the lead boat anchored in the St. Lucie River between markers 21 and 22.

Following the fleets of boats grouped by yacht clubs or by non affiliated boats will rendezvous at points in the area of the reviewing boat.

Benedict said more than 250 boats passed in review last year and more are expected this year.

Following the parade there will be a Coast Guard Appreciation Day banquet at Sandpiper Bay, Port St. Lucie.

Application forms for the blessing and parade and tickets for the banquet may be obtained at any of the clubs or at marinas.

The following members represent ing their participating yacht clubs or boat organizations are on the committee:

Benedict, chairman, Florida 59 U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary; Phil Baker, Don McLean, Bill Wilson, Anchorage Yacht Club; Leon Wear, Fred Stein Jr., Anchorline Yacht Club; Edward McCabe, Coconut Point Yacht Club; Dale Hudson, Crossroads Yacht Club; Nelson Howery, Port St. Lucie Yacht Club; Dumas Boardman Jr., St. Lucie River Power Squadron; John Cruz, St. Lucie Sailing Club; Robert Ellsworth, Eldon Soetje, Saints and Sinners Yacht Club; Theodore Caldwell, Soundings Yacht and Tennis Club; Fred Hinkle, Yacht Club of the Yacht and Country Club.

Fireworks fund found friend

JENSEN BEACH--The Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Fireworks Fund got off with a bang Monday night as one of the largest donations to the fund was received by the chairman of the Fireworks Fund Committee.

Fred Stein Jr., chairman, received a $200 check from the Jensen Beach Optimist Club. Club president Bill Mang made the presentation at the chamber board of directors meeting.

"This is one of the largest donations ever received by the fireworks fund," Stein observed.

"This really kicks off the fireworks fund drive," Stein added.

Stein, who headed last year's successful campaign drive, noted that $750 already has been deposited for purchase of the 1976 July 4 fireworks display on Jensen Beach Causeway.

"We have $500 on deposit at the bank but we need an additional $3,000," he said.

The chamber directors also heard several committee reports at its monthly meeting, including Resort and Fishing Guide report.

Directors were well pleased with this year's guide and expect the 1977 guide to be bigger, at least 80 pages, with more color.

Directors also voted to continue the chamber news letter with the chamber picking up the expense for the next letter. Some directors proposed having a businessman sponsor each newsletter.

It would be good for business to sponsor it," chamber president L. D. Kirkpatrick.

Each newsletter costs about $50 to produce. A decision on how to finance it is expected to be made at next month's meeting.

And immediate chamber past president Art Hansen reported that the proposed solar auditorium "is still in the works."

"While we are waiting for federal funds we are doing something," Hansen said.

Hansen said that the Society for Advancement of Free Energy (SAFE) is doing some research on windmills providing free energy.

A meeting of SAFE is going to be held soon at the Environmental Studies Center in Jensen Beach.

Sunshine amendment

JENSEN BEACH--Governor Reubin Askew's financial disclosure "Sunshine Amendment" is published this week on Page 4 of The Mirror to give residents the opportunity to ballot for inclusion of the constitutional amendment in the November election.

See Page 4 for further information.

Registered voters are asked to fill out the form, list their comments and return the form to The Mirror.

'Just-a-minute' service is available

JENSEN BEACH—The "Just A Minute" Calling Service," a community program of the Woman's Club of Stuart, is available to Jensen Beach residents and anyone in Port St. Lucie with a 334 phone number.

Now in its eighth year, the service is free. The program includes calls to patrons who will be alone for a short time while the family is away or neighbors will be gone. Also included are those who are just home from the hospital and needs the calls for a short time.

A volunteer calls every morning at a set time to inquire about the patron. If the volunteer cannot make the call, she arranges for a substitute.

If a patron does not answer after several calls and the neighbor is not available, the volunteer calls program chairman Vivian Michael to have the telephone company check on the. Sometimes she calls the hospital to see if the patron has been admitted. She may check with other neighbors or go to the home in person. As a last resort, she calls the police or sheriff. If the phone is out of order, the telephone company makes a special effort to make repairs the same day.

The primary purpose of the calls is to check on the safety of patrons, but people in need and cases where a sick bath patron and caller is alone are in the hospital where they are their morning call goes unanswered.

More than 100 persons have been served since the program's opening.

Mrs. Dorothy Wise developed the idea when she was out of town leaving her husband alone. She asked a neighbor to call him daily and realized that many residents could use such a service. She discussed the idea with Mrs. Alberta Livermore, president of the Woman's Club at that time who in turn asked Mars. DeCapite and Vivien Michael to organize the program.

The committee keeps a confidential file with notations of medical information, doctors names and the names and numbers of a neighbor or two and the name, address and phone number of a near relative. The service is not limited to the elderly, but is available to anyone living alone. For safety reasons, identities of patrons are not revealed and the calling lists are kept strictly confidential.

Among the callers are Irene Coover co-chairman, Dorothy Wise, Isabelle Taylor, Alberta Livermore, Florence Cater, Mars. Worder, Marian Ferris, Alvina Grubb, Kitty Rueder, Elizabeth Wendlebor, Katherine Lyday, Esty Behrens, Barbara Whitehead, Elmina Joslyn, Alice Serenis and Mrs. Michael.

Anyone desiring the free service may call Mrs. Michael at 334-0955 or Mrs. Coover 287-7238.

The parade following the same route as last year will begin at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. Webb is parade chairman and Mrs. Schlemmer is co-chairman.

DeBarges win McDonald's cruise

JENSEN BEACH—Highlighting the festive three-day re-opening of McDonald's on Stuart last weekend was the awarding of four 7-day Caribbean cruises for two.

Jerry and Alice DeBarge of Riverside Village, Jensen Beach were Sunday's "Treasure Chest" winners. Their cruise topped the list of more than 1,500 prizes given away that day, including 10-speed bikes, cameras, radios and more.

Friday's special event involved customers voting for their favorite crew people. The winning crew people were Patty McNulty and Violet Knox. They were awarded 7-day cruises for two as was winning customer Marilyn Cantrell of Stuart. More than 4,000 patrons participated in the voting.

The weekend celebration marked the opening of McDonald's new indoor dining area.

Dooby boys land sails

JENSEN BEACH—Top fishing honors go this week to Sunny and Todd Dooby. Sonny, 12 years old, landed a 7'4" sailfish on Friday fishing off shore with George Roberts. Ten year old Todd caught a sail measuring 6'10" and released one. He too was fishing outside with George Roberts. The sails were caught on live blue runners.

Joe Stahler was outside on the Joe Jane on Thursday and brought back 2 dolphin, one 29 pounder and one at 15 pounds.

Some pompano and whiting joined the blues in the surf. John Barstow used shrimp to catch 100 whiting. Adam and Sophie Lopeski had 15 whiting. Steve Steele 2 pompano to 2 pounds. Carl Isaksen 30 blues and 2 pompano. Leslie Zimmerman one 3 lb. pompano and 4 whiting.

Bill Collins caught 12 blues. Bob Castleman 8 blues. John Wilbert, 8 blues. Roger and Cory Deermount 30 blues. Joe Fronhall, 8 blues to 5 pounds and Clarence Wilkinson and Bob Rhoades caught some snapper and sheepshead in the inlet.

Walter Bless used shrimp and cut ribbon to catch 4 blues and 3 whiting. Joe Trimba had 12 blues. Joe Stahler 6 blues. Ted Bloom 14 blues. Pete Peterson and Stan Coppinger 11 blues and Bunny Springmann caught one's pound blue.

Bill Beck caught 4 three pound blues on cut mackerel. Steve Hampton had 5 pompano. Bob Weir, 6 pompano and somebody caught 30 pompano but didn't register his name. All the pompano were caught using flies.

Fred Hein caught 4 blues and the Hetherings, Violet and Harold teamed up for 30 whiting.

Jerry Allegrombie and William Phillips trolled the South Fork with Russ Bolton and came up with 2 speckled trout.

Stanley Adair had an 11 inch and Albert and Bill Wagner 23 trout. Wagner and Frank Paterson caught 15 trout. Charles Kessler, 4 trout. George Sayers, Bill Zellers and Russ Bolton, 3 trout, 2 trout and a red. Bill Hollaway, 1 blue and 1 ribbon fish.

Art Rivait and Don Ford caught 25 weakfish, 24 on shrimp and 1 on 1/2 oz. jig.

Good News for Savers

STATEMENT ACCOUNTS GIVE ADDED BENEFITS

New Savings Service Offered

JENSEN BEACH, Fla. — Thanks to the advent of the computer, the old fashioned "passbook" is no longer necessary at First of Martin County.

All that is required is an identification card, small enough to fit into your wallet or purse, which is your proof that you have a savings account at First of Martin County.

Any regular transaction deposit or withdrawal can be done by filling out the proper slip and showing your ID card. You'll receive a receipt from the teller and soon after the end of each calendar quarter, you'll receive a statement of your account through the mail. It will show all deposits and withdrawals, the interest you have earned over the last three months and your current balance.

No longer will it be necessary to carry a bulky passbook which has to be updated each time you make a transaction. No longer will you have to wait in line to have your interest posted at the end of each quarter. From now on, with an identification card, you will be able to cash checks some months at any of our offices. And as new services become available, your Statement Savings Account will bring them to you more rapidly.

Besides the convenience that a statement account provides, it also automatically keeps you updated on the interest you have earned. If you don't make frequent deposits or withdrawals, you'll recognize the value of this service.

Like all regular savings accounts at First of Martin County, Statement Savings Accounts earn the highest possible interest — 5.25% compounded daily for an effective annual yield of 5.39%.

Stop by at any of First of Martin County's five convenient financial centers and talk to a savings counselor about statement savings. They'll be happy to convert your present passbook account to a Statement Savings Account or, if you don't have a First of Martin County account, they'll be glad to open one for you.

Statement accounts may be opened at any of First of Martin County's five offices during regular business hours — 9 A.M. to 3 P.M. Monday through Thursday, and 9 A.M. to 6 P.M. on Friday.

Letters to the editor

To the Editor:

I heard with complete astonishment a letter signed by George Worsfold and I would like to quote the first paragraph:

I would like to say a few words expressing the position of the Interested Homeowners in regards to the collection of any monies due the City of Port St. Lucie. Certain people and media are saying that the monies already repaid to the City is enough and further effort should not be made. But the Interested Homeowners whose membership stands at 655 thinks otherwise."

I happen to be a member of the board of Interested Homeowners. There has not been a meeting called by my knowledge of the Interested Homeowners for months and months and months - not since the last trial. Now if a meeting had been called I would have been my position I think this is what I would have stated at that meeting.

As a engaged the services, the Interested Homeowners, of an attorney who pursued this matter through the courts. We collected monies from 655 people of this area-monies for that end money to be wisely spent for the expenses of this area. I think our endeavors were rewarded. The court made a decision. Practically every point in the exception of one, was in the favor of our endeavors.

I further would have said that I think that was our intention from the beginning and I believe that it was our intention from the beginning. But once the court made its decision we were actually to disband which I haven't heard anything further about.

I personally do not want to be a part of any personal vendetta by Mr. Blackmond or maybe a better word would be crusade. I think that our objectives have been met. I dislike very much now reading in the papers what has been going on in the city by certain people who are trying to perpetuate this matter. Following the court's decision and I very much resent a letter being sent out to the press and the Council by a member one member of the Interested Homeowners, claiming to represent 655 people, which is absolutely untrue.

Seymour Fleming
Port St. Lucie, Florida

To the Editor:

It begins to appear more obvious every day that George Blackmond is the General (self-appointed) without an army. For the past year he has repeatedly quoted a following of some 655 loyal patrons to his undying cause of who knows exactly what. Maybe he is just angry with the world in general and has decided that this is the time and place to express his unhappiness. He must be a very lonely man today when he recently discovered that some of his former loyal patriots had deserted his camp and wisely acknowledged that Fighting just for the sake of fighting did not make any sense. These same former allies recognized that enough is enough and there is a point of no productive return as the primary cause of their initial objective has long since been achieved.

Maybe the misguided members of the City Council will finally feel free to operate on their own reason and rationale in City Hall once the umbilical cord of creation and guidance has been finally severed on Overbrook Drive.

It was interesting to note how quietly the B-S team (Blackmond and Sprague) withdrew from City Council chambers last Tuesday following the statements of Mr. Waldhilling and Mr. Fleming countering the actions and attitudes previously expressed publicly by Mr. Blackmond purportedly in behalf of the defunct Interested Homeowners Group.

And, one could obviously ponder that now that George and his Interested Homeowners treasury have depleted the funds supplied by "well intentioned" citizens for payment of legal fees to harass the "living and the dead", has now decided to urge City Council members (elected through his efforts) to use further monies derived from the City Treasury to pursue his crusade of legal actions.

In any event, it now appears that most thinking people have "got the true message and seen the light as it really is". We can only hope that eventually, with some minor miracle, Mayor Sharpe, Vice-Mayor Rose and Councilwoman Kernohan will also "see the light".

So may I suggest, my dear General, that you regroup the remnants of your phanton army and slowly fade away.

Bafalis names candidates

JENSEN BEACH-U.S. Rep. L.A. (Skip) Bafalis has nominated three Jensen Beach area high school seniors as candidates for appointment to the nation's military academies.

The three high school seniors are among 50 central and south Florida candidates nominated by Bafalis and will vie for five appointments.

Competing for the appointments are Brenda Sue Fulton, 336 Flora Drive, Jensen Beach; Johnnie A. Ham, 704 N. Spruce Ridge Road, Stuart; and Scott A. Rydell, 1919 SW Pine Tree Way, Stuart.

Food stamp abuses

WASHINGTON--Did you hear about the man who received food stamps just by declaring that he was a full time gold prospector?

Or about the high-income couple who qualified for food stamps simply by owning an expensive home and deducting their car payments and union dues?

Not very funny stories are they?

I don't think so. I don't think Americans laugh at the excesses which have helped increase food stamp costs a staggering 14,203 per cent over the last ten years. I find no humor in a program whose eligibility standards are so loose that by last year one in every four Americans could qualify for food stamps at least one month out of the year.

In fact, I can think of no program which so infuriates so many hardworking taxpaying Americans. I can think of no program which, if left alone, will do so much to destroy the American system.

The food stamp system has been twisted from its original purpose. Rather than provide assistance to the truly needy, it has turned into a subsidy for those who know how to manipulate the rules. Strikers, for example, can walk off the job knowing they will continue to eat, courtesy of the American taxpayer, by signing up for food stamps. This perversion of the program cost the public $240 million between 1969 and 1971, according to one estimate.

College students from wealthy families, strikers, persons making $16,000 a year - all of these have gotten comparatively free rides from the American taxpayer, thanks to food stamps. Some of the more obvious abuses have been corrected.

But the drag on the working American is growing. In 1970, one in 47 Americans received food stamps; in 1973, one in 17, and by last year one of every 11 Americans got them.

For the sake of those who make an honest living and must pay up, this must be stopped.

That's why I am sponsoring the National Food Stamp Reform Act.

That's why in my recent statement to the House Agriculture Committee in support of my bill, I urged we tighten eligibility requirements for food stamps, while increasing benefits to those who really need the help. No longer would manipulation of deductions allow a chiseler to siphon off food stamps, because eligibility will be based on gross rather than net income. And strikers would no longer find their side of labor disputes subsidized by the taxpayer.

The reform act would also be bad news for loafers. Able-bodied recipients with no children under six would have to register for work and prove that they're job hunting before receiving food stamps. The same goes for drug addicts and alcoholics in rehabilitation programs, who don't have to do anything now to cash in on the food stamp bonanza.

At the same time, the act would increase benefits to the truly needy by 29 per cent. But it will still save the taxpayer about two billion dollars a year, just by refusing aid to those who don't need it.

If the reform act just removed the loafers and opportunists from the food stamp rolls, it would be an excellent law. If it just saved two billion dollars of the taxpayers' money every year, it would be an excellent law. And if it just raised benefits to the needy of our nation, it would be an excellent law.

But there is another reason for enacting food stamp reform that makes the act not only an excellent law, but a necessary one.

I'm worried about a few years from now, when the courts and the giveaway artists have stretched the program so far that one of every two Americans is getting food stamps. The day will soon come, unless drastic action is taken now, that for every American working hard and losing his shirt to the taxman, another American is living off the cuff.

When that day comes, the working man will stop working. Why should he pay to the taxman what he will

And when middle America quits paying taxes, those who have lived off public money will get a rude awakening. Some may even starve because they've forgotten how to work.

Speak up, citizens

Alice Hickey

The people of Port St. Lucie have a responsibility to their city, a responsibility that far exceeds the flicking of a switch in the voting booth once every two years.

Elected officials have the responsibility of running their city in the best way they see fit. Seldom do these officials take office as experts in the field of government.

Show me the one who can be knowledgeable in all aspects of even local government, and I will show you a true genius.

These officials must rely on legal counsel.

The responsibility of running a city, however, is not solely that of the elected officials.

The residents of that city also have a tremendous responsibility.

The are responsible for taking an interest in their city, supporting those they have elected, and making their wishes known.

Criticism is a part of that responsibility, but let us bear in mind that criticism must be constructive.

Port St. Lucie is a beautiful city. From its inception, it has grown and continues to grow through the efforts of a handful of dedicated people.

Today there is a dark cloud hovering over that city.

The council, as well as the residents are faced with making a decision on whether or not to plunge their city into another lawsuit, a lawsuit to retrieve some $50,000 from several previous and one present council members.

The time is now for the people to speak up and make their wishes known.

At present the council is split 3-2 on the issue. The majority, the newest of the council elected last March on a reform ticket, favors court action to collect the money.

The major portion of this money, $32,193.69, according to the auditor's report, is money paid as compensation to former councilmen for other duties performed as employees of the city. Such duties were faithfully carried out by these persons.

For the most part, the balance of the missing money was expended for medical payments, car allowances, office and administration expenses which were unsupported by vouchers, but would have been permissible had they been covered by a Resolution.

These various expenditures were made and compensation paid on the advice received from the then city attorney, and the record keeping left much to be desired.

I do not in any way condone the careless way in which some of these [illegible] were handled. However, I find it extremely difficult to take [illegible] action against an elected [illegible] [illegible] who have stolen from the city till to embellish [illegible] personal savings accounts.

The one and only person whose opinion should be questioned is protected by law, former City Attorney Rupert Smith.

Legal counsel is employed to interpret the law. This is their responsibility.

[illegible] the most part we accept his opinions. We have no reason not to, just as the present council has accepted the recommendations of Spencer Gilbert.

When, for one reason or another, these opinions are challenged by law and found to be less than accurate interpretations, it's just too bad.

The legal counsel can bow out, which certainly appears to be the case, and those who accepted those interpretations in good faith are left holding the bag.

They are labeled "criminals."

If the $30,000 tabulated over a five year period were divided equally among the seven persons involved, each person would have collected $710 per year.

In my book, that would hardly constitute criminality.

The Council needs your help in reaching this most important decision.

Speak up, citizens. Make your wishes known.

This is our first year without a paid recreation director, but Mary Ellen Meacham, a member of the Board of Directors, is chairman of the recreation committee and deserves our gratitude for her efforts in trying to keep us all happy, healthy and busy.

A pat on the back is also due to our board of directors who serve without remuneration and spend long hours pouring over budgets, condominium legal hassles, to say nothing of listening to the inevitable "nit picking" of some lot owners. It's our first year without "Big Daddy" but we'll make it!

Last Tuesday a group from Venture Out took a drift-fishing boat trip. It turned out to be a red letter day for Stingray Drive residents.

Dr. Norris Ashine topped them all with a 23¾-lb grouper. Warren Claussen was second with a 23½-lb amberjack, delicious when smoked, and all the others were carrying bags of varying catches. The day's catch amounted to 296 fish. congratulations to all you happy anglers.

Mel and Belle Helner stopped a couple of years ago and liked our area so well that they have returned for another visit. Welcome back, folks!

We extend a warm welcome to Ed and Ina Welsh, friends of Harriet Foster, who are spending a couple of months with us on Harriet's lot.

Happy to hear that Clint Mushlit is out of the intensive care unit and feeling much better. Hurry home, Clint, to enjoy a visit with your son and daughter in law who are here now.

By Bill Pyott

Helen Pyott's brother Don and his wife Mary Ella just left after visiting here for three weeks. They followed Bill and Helen down after the Pyotts spent Christmas with their two married boys and their families and their son Gary in Pennsylvania.

Bill and Helen are here now until May when Gary gets out of school. He attends Biscayne College in Miami.

The Glazes, Gene and Gonty, are having a nice visit from hometown friends, Bud and Sara Erwin. They have been doing a lot of fishing from Gene's boat. Gene, Bud and Bill Pyott were out last Wednesday and had a very good catch of trout. On Thursday evening, they all got together for a big fish fry.

Welcome to new lot owners, Mr. and Mrs. Porter and son of lot 92.

Mr. and Mrs. Stouffer, lot 911, have had some nice landscaping done on their lot. Ditto Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bernard on their lots 915 and 916.

VENTURE HARBOUR NEWS

Good news is to report today on some of our friends who have been ill.

Anabelle Ravinet is progressing very well as you can tell by Ernie's smiling face.

Jessie Shaver is feeling better and even went grocery shopping with Lester. She fell pretty rocky after that, so she'll have to learn to take it easy after a bout with the bug.

Selma Valaro is also on the mend.

Bob Smythe had surgery last week up at Sebastian River Medical Center. is mending on schedule and hopefully should be home soon.

Edith and Dick Painter have a busy household. Daughters Jean Pellard from Bergenfield, N.J. and Marjorie Rickey of Orange Park, Fla. came in for a family reunion. Marjorie brought her two children, Dawn and Leigh, and a good time was had by all. Jean Pellard left her husband and son home this time because she needed to get away from it all for awhile after a heavy schedule of her regular job teaching nursing at Flower Fifth Hospital in N.Y.C. and going to school herself. Even though the weather has been cool Jean has managed some sunning at poolside with her father.

Freitags are enjoying their one year old grandson Blake whom they had never seen before. Their daughter-in-law came down from Chicago with Blake so that he and his grandparents could get acquainted.

Dr. and Mrs. Hartles Bouard of Candlewood Isle Conn. visited their friends Hilda and Larry Atkin this week. Hartles noted that Larry was heavier than last year and Hilda told him that Larry's weight goes up and down regularly. Hartles nonchalantly commented that Larry was obviously practicing the rhythm method of birth control.

Louise Shepherd who always has more visitors than Carter has pills (all very enjoyable) now has her son Jim, wife Anita and their three darling children, David aged 6, Katie 5 years, and Thad, 3. Louise always gets a big kick out of her family and we're sure they love seeing Grandma. They come from Solomon Islands, Md. and enjoy it here very much.

Auxilians will give $25,000 to MMH

STUART—Highlighting last week's general meeting of the Martin Memorial Hospital Auxiliary was the members decision to donate $25,000 to the hospital for furnishing the new cafeteria dining area and conference rooms. The check will be presented at the annual installation luncheon held in April.

Dr. James Harrell was the guest speaker talking about cancer and stressing the need for women to have examinations regularly.

President Marge Bishop said that Auxilians will be on hand to help at the Heart Heart Forum for this season.

Scheduled for 8 p.m. February 19 at the Lyric Theatre.

Connie Bauman was awarded a 7,000 hour pin for volunteer hospital work by awards chairman Merle Phillips.

Mrs. Phillips present a 3,000 hour pin to Frances Greco. 2,000 hour pin to Margaret Barnart. 1,000-hour pins to Ruth Fox, Virginia Geiss and Betty Green.

Vida Butcher, Julia Mustapic, Dorothy Sheppard and Ethel Thomas received 500 hour pins. Ned Cooper, Dorothy Gorin, Billie Hunsicker, Lynn Legoueix, H. Garton Lewis, Dorothy Johanson, Helen McGraw, Sally Marin, Pat Meginniss and Lee Shurr, 300 hour pins.

One hundred hour certificates were awarded to Joann Avery, Edith Beck, Evelyn Brosnan, Edna Connell, Harold Gifford, Mary Grant, Frances Hubenet, Edna Kane, June Luton, Helen Meimer, Martha Reuther, Frances Rosier, Genevieve Stephen and James Wilham.

Fifty hour emblems went to Irma Baratta, Alice Churchild, Katherine Freygagn, Ila Fuller and Mae Mickens.

Mrs. Phillips reported that 412 volunteers worked a total of 7,547 hours during the month of January.

BANK PARTY—Delton Hudson, chairman, First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart, and Carrie Belle Law, cashier, hold a special cake prepared in honor of First National exceeding $100 million in deposits. First National is Martin County's first financial institution to reach the $100 million mark. Mrs. Law and Hudson hosted a party for First National's officers, staff and directors to celebrate the event on Thursday, February 5. Trust assets in excess of $50 million are not included in the $100 million record.

Garden Club Circle news

STUART—Garden Club of Stuart circle meetings for February are as follows:

Allamanda Circle will meet Thursday, February 26 at 10 a.m. in the Riverland Clubhouse on Route 76, Martin Heuselmans, author of The River Killers, will present the program.

A showing of nature slides will highlight the Bauhinia Circle session Wednesday, February 25, at the home of Mrs. Henry Shepard. Meeting time is 10 a.m.

The Jacaranda Circle meets Thursday, February 19 at Possum Long Nature Center at 12 noon. Members are asked to bring a bag lunch and lobbing chair. A guided tour of the center will be given by Mrs. E. Conlin.

Periwinkle, Satin Leaf and Tabebuia Circles met earlier in the month.

Prince of Peace Church organizes

JENSEN BEACH—The Prince of Peace Lutheran Church will be formally organized and constituted as a member congregation of the Florida Synod of the Lutheran Church in America at a special service of worship this Sunday, February 15.

The service will be at 8 p.m. at the Trinity United Methodist Church in Jensen Beach and will be conducted by the Reverend Dr. Royall Yount, President of the Florida Synod.

Work in forming the new congregation began in April of 1975 when Reverend A.V. Socker was sent to this area by the Division of Missions. Reverend Socker said that today's Prince of Peace is the strongest congregation under development by the L.C.A. in the state, adding that it is more than twice the size of most congregations when they are formally organized.

The congregation held its first annual meeting last Sunday, electing the first church council.

Council members include Rod Aderhuldt, Dr. William Anderson, Jack Arnold, Dr. Larry Crouthamel, Mrs. Eleanor Dibbits, C.A. Gilbert, son, Mrs. William Johnson, Mrs. Linda Kirchman, Frank Lockwood, Ken Mueller, Mrs. Ruth U. Hare and Clifton Suggs.

The congregation owns land on U.S. 1 one mile south of Stuart and plans are under way for construction of a church.

Prince of Peace now holds services every Sunday morning at 9:30 a.m. at Trinity United Methodist Church on Arch Street. Jensen Beach. Pastor Socker said that Prince of Peace owes a special thanks to the Pastor and the people of Trinity Methodist for sharing their facilities.

AA cruise with no booze

JENSEN BEACH—Members of Alcoholics Anonymous, AA, have achieved a breakthrough in cruise tradition. The Ocean Cruise without Booze.

The S.S. Ermadi Isle convention ship of Eastern Steamship Lines, will carry 900 AA and Alanon members to and from Nassau October 8-11 from Miami.

There will be regular AA meetings aboard ship and in Nassau, symposiums, lab and work seminars as well as entertainment including a one day stopover in Nassau for shopping and touring. Nassau is rich and quaint here.

Cruise plans will be announced at all AA group meetings including the local club which hosts at the Jensen Beach Community Church every Wednesday evening.

The cruise will be the first in AA's 40 year history and similar in all respects but size to the monster conferences numbering in the 10's of 1000's held every five years throughout the U.S. and Canada.

AARP meets February 19

JENSEN BEACH—Martin County chapter AARP No. 2251 will hold a regular meeting Thursday, Feb. 19 in the First United Presbyterian Church community room, Pine Lake Drive, North River Shores. Meeting time is 1:30 p.m.

Carl Wahlquist, insurance consultant for AARP, will talk on insurance plans and conduct a question and answer period.

Tickets for the AARP sponsored performance of Carousel at the Barn Theatre on February 26 will be available.

Leslie Cromwell is finalist

STUART—Leslie Cromwell, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cromwell of Stuart, has been selected to be a finalist in the 1976 Miss Florida Teen Ager Pageant to be held at Winter Park High School this month.

The Miss Florida Teen Ager Pageant is the official State finals to the Miss National Teen Ager Pageant to be held in Atlanta in August.

Resigning Miss Florida Teen Ager is Patti Blount of Bartow.

Contestants are judged on beauty of face and figure, poise, personality and scholastic achievement. There is no swimsuit or talent competition but each contestant will be required to write a 300 word essay on the subject, "What's Right About America", which will be judged on content and delivery.

Don't Wait Until You Are Grown to be Great. Be a Great Teen Ager is the slogan of this year's event. Contestants are expected to participate in volunteer community service programs and to participate in school and civic affairs.

The winner of the State pageant will receive a scholarship, other prizes and all expense paid trip to compete in the national pageant where $10,000 in cash scholarships will be awarded.

Miss Cromwell's sponsors are the Craft Corner and the Jensen Beach Travel Service in Jensen Beach and Rivieras of Stuart. Her hobbies include ballon bicycling, tennis, boating and traveling.

A cold front packing 65 mph winds and rain swept through, drenching the area and causing damage to buildings, crops and landscaping in Jensen Beach and Port St. Lucie.

Area residents were asked to vote on whether the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce should present a charter for the incorporation of Jensen Beach at a February legislative public hearing or if it should wait a year to do so.

A stop and go traffic light was installed at the intersection of U.S. 1 and Palma Vista Boulevard in Port St. Lucie.

Dedication ceremonies were being planned for the 'Arcadian' bell to be installed at All Saints Episcopal Church. The new instrument would provide the ringing of the Angelus and service calls automatically.

Fashions for cancer is Tuesday

STUART—Phi Beta Psi presents "You've Come a Long Way, Baby" Tuesday, February 17 showing the year's styles as opposed to years gone by.

Show time is 8 p.m. at the Stuart Elks Lodge. Fashions will be by the She Shoppe and Kiddie Kastle.

Door prizes and drawings for a cruise for two to the Bahamas, a basket of cheer and several other items will add spice to the gala event. Refreshments will be served.

Proceeds from the annual event sponsored by the cancer sorority are used for local cancer patients.

For tickets or additional information call 283-4849.

Lions seek help for guatemalans

PORT ST. LUCIE—Lion Bill Strout announced this week that the Port St. Lucie Lions are seeking help for the stricken citizens of Guatemala.

The Lions started collecting much needed clothing on Monday, placing a large container for donations at the Winn Dixie in the St. Lucie Shopping Plaza. Strout said more containers would be placed in other areas right away.

Blankets are especially needed, he said, adding that the items contributed will be delivered to Miami and airlifted from there to Guatemala all at no cost to the club or contributors.

The Lions will pick up items if donors call 878-1540.

Festival is coming soon

PORT ST. LUCIE—The annual Spring Festival and Bazaar for the Port St. Lucie Community Center is fast approaching.

Set for March 5 and 6, the festival will have art exhibits, pantry shelf, boutique booths, garden items, browsing corner, pony rides for the youngsters, games, refreshments to name just some of the things that will be offered.

The grand prize will be a three-day trip for two to Nassau donated by Travel House of Fort Pierce, chairman of the event Mrs. Archie Porter announced this week.

Shufflers draw one

PORT ST. LUCIE—Central East Coast League shuffler competed with Orchid Acres last week and with four courts in play won two and lost two.

PSL winners were Nina Bergamini and Ruth Dobler, Ernie Spinello and Tom Scott.

Orchid Acres brought a good cheering section along with them, adding to the enjoyment and helping to make the refreshment hour large and fun, a spokesman said.

The Indian River League traveled to Vero, coming back very pleased with their 6-4 win.

Winning PSL teams were Joe Keating with George Durkovitch, Larry Hett and Bus Gilbert; Art and Yvonne Boudreau, Ralph Cooley and Bob Cousino; Mary Marsh and Byron Mingus.

Airman honor student

PORT ST. LUCIE—Airman Hain R. Huncharek son of retired U.S. Army Colonel and Mrs. John Huncharek of 2642 Hals Street, Port St. Lucie has graduated with honors from the U.S. Air Force technical training course for aircraft mechanics.

Airman Huncharek who was trained to maintain, repair and service aircraft currently in use by the Air Force is being assigned to a unit of the Aerospace Defense Command at Tyndall AFB, Florida.

Classes try Spanish

PORT ST. LUCIE—The Spanish classes of Port St. Lucie and Spanish Lakes combined forces recently, filling two large buses to travel to and spend an entire day and evening in Little Havana in Miami. Transportation was provided by Indian River Community College since it was essentially an educational field trip project. However, under the guidance of Mrs. John Axtles, Spanish instructor, it was given again that one can have fun while learning.

Song sheets in Spanish were provided by Mrs. Axtles for rousing song fests on the buses.

Upon arriving in Miami, the 80 participants broke into small groups to fend for themselves for lunch in restaurants where Spanish is common and English is not. In all a tribute to Mrs. Axtles, dedicated teaching that even students in beginners classes were able to read the menus and communicate their food choices.

Following an afternoon of browsing and shopping which included book stores, jewelry shops and food markets where many unfamiliar items were displayed, the day was topped off with a happy hour and authentic Spanish dinner at the Versava Restaurant, located in the heart of Little Havana.

Students agreed it was a memorable occasion and they are looking forward to the next field trip sponsored by IRCC.

Masonic Club to host dinner

PORT ST. LUCIE—The Spanish Lakes Masonic club is hosting a dinner party for the Port St. Lucie Masonic Lodge at 6 p.m. Thursday, February 26 in the Spanish Lakes recreational center.

Admission will be by ticket only. Those attending are asked to bring their own silverware.

A limited number of tickets are still available for members of the PSL club. They are asked to call 878-1264 ... [illegible] ... for ticket information.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hamilton hoped for a little warmer weather in Florida but are enjoying the sunshine.

Charles Greatmacher of Bloomfield, Pennsylvania is also visiting Orchid Acres and enjoying being together for a week in the sunshine state.

Tom and Pamela Wilde of Sarnia, Ontario were entertaining Doris, brother and his wife Maxwell and Eva Russell of Syracuse, New York. The Wilde's are also showing the folks all the sights in Florida.

Ella and Harlow Millard of Abete Lane celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary at an open house on Sunday, February 8 at the home of their son Harlow, Jr. and his wife Libby on Willow Avenue.

Their son Arthur and his wife Dorothy of Tavernier, Florida son Lawrence of Rohnert Park, California and daughter Marion Schere of Port St. Lucie and Rotoversea, Florida were all present to help in the get-together.

There are nine grandchildren and four great-grandchildren and although they weren't all present, there were several of the reception.

The women of the Port St. Lucie Methodist Church assisted in greeting guests and serving refreshments which was greatly appreciated by the happy anniversary couple.

UMW schedule activities

PORT ST. LUCIE—The United Methodist Women (UMW) of the Pioneer Lawn Methodist Church will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday, February 18 in the Woodland Hall on Dalton Avenue.

Mrs. Benjamin Bouthot Vero Beach is unnecessary to Brazil for several years and is the guest speaker. The program topic is "Fruitful Witness."

Mrs. [illegible] the program chairman is [illegible] and Brazilian products.

All members of the church are invited to attend this meeting.

Colonial tour is success

JENSEN BEACH—The more than one hundred people who went on the Historical Tour sponsored by the Jensen Beach Woman's Club and chaired by Mary Lord took a trip back in history. The community Center was decorated with the Bicentennial theme, the Americana and the Stars, Flags and three candles red, white and blue.

The horticulture was well received by the public and great interest was shown in the many unusual seeds and cuttings. Mrs. Harold Lartaud accompanied her exhibits with a card giving culture and directions for growing her exhibits.

An arrangement on the piano interpreted the 1776 period. Two others of 1876 in the Victorian manner and a third 1976 depicting voyage into space. All three were exhibited by Mrs. Arthur C. Mills, Jr.

The Christian Church was graced by a lovely arrangement of white gladiola. All Saints' Church had two beautiful altar arrangements of all white spider and football mums. All three arrangements in the churches were the work of Mrs. Fred Morris. Tea and cookies were served by Mrs. August Burmester and her committee. The flowers on the tea table were arranged by Mrs. Burmester.

Various rooms in the lovely Tilton [illegible] were [illegible] with arrangements by Mondamin Garden Section, Federated Garden Clubs and Donald Wilson.

Arrangements in the Commodore Room were by the Commodore Garden Club. The second [illegible] were by the Mondamin Garden Club. Mrs. Fred Hendricks and Mrs. Edward Mack were co-chairmen. The [illegible] were by Mrs. Fred Morris, Mrs. [illegible] Mrs. [illegible] supplied the history of the house and the group of [illegible] Jensen Beach High School Marching Band [illegible] the lunch in the building. The [illegible] were [illegible] delightful [illegible].

Mrs. Lund is the grandmother of Mrs. Elmer Jones, the daughter of Mr. Elmer Jones, the [illegible] Mrs. Burmester and her committee.

FILED—Arline Signore filed for State Committeewoman for the Republican Party on January 9, 1976. Mrs. Signore has been a resident of this area since 1969 and resides at 244 S.W. Spruce Ridge Drive, Stuart. Active in Republican Party affairs, she is a member of the Martin County Republican Club, the Jupiter Tequesta Club, and was delegate for Martin County Club Singer Island in 1975 and one of only 30 Floridians to attend an invitation only Florida delegation luncheon in Washington, D.C. She calls attention to the fact that this is a non-paying job and the candidate elected in the March 9 primary will attend all meetings at her own expense.

NE LAKE VILLAGE

Pine Cones

BY BOB RAMSEY
334-3347

...we are coming to you from ...ove the madding crowds of ...County in our tree top house ...on a split pine overlooking S... ...ast Road ... Florida's only ...ole long race course, while we ...in the strains of danceable ... furnished by the Pinelake ... Midnight Disturbers."

...day now, we intend to erect a ...

...sign leading out of the park saying "Abandon hope all ye who enter here" ... meaning Savannah Road again. Have you tried it yet or are you one of a growing number who fear to try it and opt to walk the distance to Jensen Beach along with the school kids? Traffic and more traffic.

Or, have you ever been faced with this multiple whammy-you are heading North on U.S. 1 around Cove Road, destination Hutchinson Island, Obstacle No. 1 is a stop light at the old Grant's Plaza, further up the road, a stop while traffic makes a left turn at one of our most popular eating establishments, ditto the main light in Stuart, keep going, and two more waits for left turns that look like they lead to oblivion, and then an open Roosevelt Bridge followed by a turn into the 707 cut off, and guess what here comes a freight train, thru Rio and on to the Jensen Causeway, and you guessed it, another open bridge. How's your blood pressure by now? Another left turn at the county beach to head north and you're home free.

By this time you need two bells and some tender conversation not a bit of static.

After last week permit me a breather of just a few social notes.

Two brand new grandchildren in Pinelake. First of all we announce the arrival of Heather Noel weighing in at 6 lbs. granddaughter of Brenda and Clarence Davis of Lot 23. She'll call her home Jupiter and incidentally she is the ninth grandchild for the Davises. Congratulations to the proud grandparents.

Next we have Kevin Huget Seccia at 9 lbs. 4 ozs. born Dec. 31. This is the fourth grandson, no girls yet, of Ethel and Al Seccia. The Seccias just returned from the launching in Jersey and report all is well. No complaints, even if they do want to see a girl sometime. Congratulations, again to the beaming grandparents who will be glad to show you pictures at the drop of a hat when they become available.

Jim and Marie Pattison are visiting Skip and Bass Stevens down from Hancock, New York for all types of visitors, the same beef COLD. And how about these people who come down here and win jack pots and clean up in poker and go home loaded. Marie took our jack pot, leaving us with a lot of empty bingo cards. Another good crowd out.

The Germans are back from Saginaw, Michigan. What did we say before? Cliff Darrell and Dora Hobson of Cedersville, Ohio are visiting Rose and Joe DeVries. Arthur Freeland of Erie, Pa. visiting Grace and Joe White. Tom and Gloria Palmer helping Rita and Bob Palmer celebrate their 31st anniversary by going to the dogs and winning $120.

Sue Mays is just back from New Berne, N.C. after visiting her mother. A full lot of visiting going on around here. Who's minding the store?

Our sorry to hear that Marie Sydoriak has been very ill in Martin Memorial Hospital. At this writing she is still there. Everyone is praying for you, Marie, hang in there and hurry home.

Other casualties on the list: Ray and Mary Bates laid up with the flu for a week or more and Sal Bewes with shingles, and oh how they hurt.

What happened to Pea Pool? Or is everyone still hibernating after the holidays. Ever so often a steep throat and wants everyone to know he feels lousy.

Wake up, America! Cards night falls every Friday for mixed games and more players are needed.

Last Friday, Skip Stevens, Mary Bates, Kate Ramsey and Mary Grau played bridge, their own kind, you know, very unscientific and foreign to Mr. Culbertson, but bridge just the same, and with no arguments as to "did you trump my trick, partner?" Amateurs are cordially invited with the emphasis on amateurs.

Have you tried ceramics lately? A nice class is going on in Rio right now and lots of the gals in the park are deep into it. Interested? Call Rachael LaClysse.

Latest on Gene Gray is that he will have arrived home by the time you read this, after a very trying experience for both him and Mildred. Nancy Crossett can fill you in.

And what ever became of my kidney pie recipes and no restaurants.

Here's one that will get you a one way, all expense trip paid for by a dying uncle in Tombstone, Arizona. Who was the "Velvet Fog"

Watch your diet and crash with behind your ears. Back next week.

P.S. Another reminder on our Night at the Races on Feb. 21 at 7:30 p.m. Contact Rita Palmer for tickets as needed. Time is getting short there is a deadline and help is needed from every quarter. Please get aboard.

Horse races slated at Pinelake Village

JENSEN BEACH-More than 200 horse track enthusiasts are expected to crowd the rail on Saturday, February 21, when residents of Pinelake Village sponsor a six beat Night at the Races program at their clubhouse.

To suit the occasion, the clubhouse will be transformed into a modern parimutuel race track with gaily clad men and women manning the betting windows where the public will plunk down their "funny money" and name the race they have chose to win.

The doors will open at 7:30 p.m. with ample time allowed for patrons to become acquainted in their surroundings.

Admission is $2.50 per person and may be obtained from any Pinelake Village resident or at the clubhouse office daily. When the tickets are surrendered on race night, patrons will be tendered a sum of funny money. Those at the track may select the thoroughbreds they think will win and place their funny money bets at the windows.

Sharron Tilton, activities director at Pinelake, said the net profits of the colorful extravaganza will be donated to the Palm Beach County Kidney Association. PDKA, an organization embracing five counties including Martin County, is dedicated to research in kidney diseases and treatments.

Rita and Bob Palmer are in charge of ticket sales.

Welcome back to Sherry and Lenora Dobbs from Peru, N.Y. who arrived on January 30. I was out on my trike and was right at their location when they drove in. We're happy to have them back. They had Lenora's brother Pat Perryer and his wife travel along in their car visit them here for a few days, then leave somewhere else. They will stay about two months and are from Dannemore, N.Y.

Jack and Dorothy Baenie, from Lockport, N.Y. are visitors of Marion Burke. They are friends of long standing, since Marion lived in Lockport.

Another good crowd turned out for bingo Friday night. Hank Sanders won the first coverall. Marion Schreir, Eugene Boelter, Jean Reynolds and Allen Surkow split the second coverall. Ruth and Ionia Mean won the winner take all.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson entertained Friday night with a cocktail party celebrating Ray's 70th birthday. Guests included Frank and Anne Gilbert with their houseguests Al and Francis Davis of Daytona Tom and Win Wittlake, Alice Perrault, Les and Kathy Tillmann, Ed and Evelyn Frost, Clarence and Bertha Ouellette, Gordon and Edna Emaus.

Afterwards the group went to The Tahoose in Stuart for dinner and dancing. A good time was had by all.

Maureen Holmes, lot 276, has her daughter in law Doreen Rohnemann and baby Kerry staying with her for a little while. They are in transit from Long Island to Dallas, Texas, where they will live.

Bert Turner's daughter Joan from California has been visiting in the park. We know that Bert enjoyed taking her out in the boat.

Vernon and Rosemary May have visitors on lot 117. Steve and Margaret and son Michael Brown from Conklin, Michigan. Margaret is the Mays' daughter. They will be spending two weeks here, hoping for warmer weather while here. Michael told me that he left a lot of snow up in Michigan. Guess we will have to tell the Chamber of Commerce.

We received good news. Gene Gray returned home to Pinelake Village after eight weeks absence in a hospital in Texas. A welcome sign was put out for him to see when he got home. Everyone here at H-11 was happy to hear of his return also.

Bud Shirley, Ralph and Sandy Corning came down from New York State to spend two weeks on lot 49.

Flo and George Simmons have children and grandchildren visiting in the park. They are staying in the Smith trailer on lot 48 and are hoping the weather warms up fast.

Preatha Trumbull was taken to Martin Memorial Hospital last week. George tells us doctors are checking her out to find what her trouble was, and that she is feeling better, thank goodness.

Hazel and Carl Edmonson took Betty Taylor to the Waters Edge next door at Windmill for dinner last week. They all report that the dining room now open is lovely and the food very good.

Jean Taylor read a letter from Erma St. Louis to friends last week. The traveling couple are in Mexico now and heading south. We are all hoping they can bypass all the trouble in Guatemala.

Elizabeth Faust took Ellena Percy to the Crow's Nest for a Maine lobster dinner the other day. Took them so long to return to the park that Ellena missed the re match crib game at B. Taylor's trailer. This time the ladies were the ones to go down to defeat at the hands of Henry Bunn and Art Marsh. Never mind, there's always another evening.

The officers of the Lot Owners Assn. for 1976 are Dan Schmidt III president, Marvin Terry vice president, Charles Tillmann treasurer, Betty Taylor secretary. Max Lewin was chosen by acclamation to fill the executive committee vacancy. The meeting also featured short talks by all the nominees for the Board of Directors.

A fish fry was held at Bea and Oscar Lupke's trailer last week. Enjoying the fish, salad and hush puppies were twelve of their friends.

It's a pleasure to report that Gil Hill came home from the hospital as this column went to press last week. He is feeling much much better and appreciates all the interest.

Ann and John Jedera are in from Canada enjoying their stay on lot 216.

Jack and Lorraine Fraser had to return to Rochester, N.Y. on a hurried trip when Jack's mother died last week. Our most sincere sympathy goes to Jack and his family.

Fran and Howard Wade entertained a group of Holiday Hill friends in their lovely Stuart home Sunday afternoon at a Happy Nothing Day party.

It was a happy day, too, for guests Mr. and Mrs. John Larson, Mrs. Marietta Brocklebank, Pat Leone, Tom Murphy, Rosalie Bryson, the A. Crescenis, Millicent Furman, Mac O'Donnell, Doc Bennetts and Carl Townsend.

The VHU Volunteer Help Organization, the group dedicated to helping neighbors in emergencies, held their annual meeting Sunday afternoon. Richard Clark, the person most responsible for bringing the organization into existence, resigned as president and the following slate of officers was elected: Bill Greeling president and Marie Greeling his assistant, Vance Neugebauer vice president, Alpha Koerperll secretary treasurer, Bud Wuencke supply officer, Don Day fire marshal.

It is hoped that another 8 hour first aid course will be offered soon so that more Holiday and Venture Inn residents will be qualified to assist with checking the stories and others.

Speaking of help in emergencies, please be generous when local captains seek your support for the Jensen Area Suffering Americans in Distress. We all have a strong feeling for those who are hear the ambulance siren approach our gate but what a relief to know that help is available when we need it.

* * *

The persons who contribute to the Samaritans goes to VHU and is used to purchase oxygen and equipment, fire extinguishers and the blood pressure testing apparatus used at the blood pressure clinics conducted here every three weeks.

Savannas is No. 1 on state list

PORT ST. LUCIE—Purchase of the Savannas is still on the state priority list, ranking among the top state areas which will be acquired from a $200 million endangered-land bond issue.

A panel of state agency heads Monday recommended top priority for the 12 areas.

The Interagency Advisory Committee placed the Savannas—the vast wetlands in Martin and St. Lucie counties—in Working Group Priority 1.

Natural Resources Director Harmon Shields said he doubted agreements could be negotiated on all the purchases. He said when deadlocks develop, other lands will be substituted before the fund is all used up.

The recommendation will go to the Cabinet for the final decision on whether the projects should receive concentrated attention from Natural Resources Department negotiations.

The recommendation is a reversal of a policy adopted by the council in November to drop all wetlands from the Group I list because they are protected by federal and state regulations, and to limit the list to eight projects of 75 per cent of 75 per cent of the remaining funds.

The official noted that the council recommendation removes the danger that the Savannas purchase will be abandoned unless the governor and cabinet do something unprecedented.

There are approximately 200 property owners in the Savannas, which extends from Jensen Beach Cutoff Road on the south to Midway Road in St. Lucie County, and between U.S. 1 on the west to the Florida East Coast Railway.

Back in 1973, Nes Landrum, director of the Division of Recreation and Parks at that time, said the vast wetlands met all the state main criteria for state purchase.

Landrum was quoted as saying that the state considers the environmental qualities, the susceptibility of lands to damages and whether the land is threatened by imminent development. "The Savannas meet all three of those criteria," Landrum said.

A "Save the Savannas" committee was organized in 1973, composed of Martin and St. Lucie counties officials to study ways of protecting the Savannas.

Since 1973, there have been public hearings on proposed purchase of the Savannas and surveys of the 10,200 acre marsh by state representatives.

Census figure probe pledged

PORT ST. LUCIE—Members of the State Legislative Delegation assured Port St. Lucie Mayor Chester Sharpe they would investigate the latest census count for this south county community.

The unfairness of the State Department of Revenue in using the census figure was one of the items I presented to the Delegation at 1 Thursday during the public hearing held at the St. Lucie County Courthouse," Sharpe reported at Monday's Council session.

The recent up-dated census performed by the Census Bureau gave a preliminary count of 3,921, or an increase of 621 over the 3300 reported by the University of Florida.

Another item which Sharpe brought before the Delegation was an appeal for representation on the Fire Board. Port St. Lucie, according to the mayor's statement, operates about eighteen percent of the taxes supporting the district without having a representative of the city on the Board.

Both Mayor Sharpe and the St. Lucie County Commission protested the Village Bullhark law claiming the State forces counties and municipalities to spend more for certain services while the State does not equally.

City approves new telephone system

PORT ST. LUCIE—After a careful study of the proposed new telephone system at City Hall, Elmer Cox, city administrator, was authorized to proceed with the necessary arrangements for the expanded system Tuesday morning during the regular Council session.

Two proposals have been presented to the Council within the past month, one from Florida Inter-connect, a Winter Haven firm, and the other from Southern Bell, for revamping the present system.

In recommending the Southern Bell proposal, Cox told the council that although he considered both proposals to be excellent and that the city would benefit by the installation of either, he did consider Ma Bell's offer the most feasible to accept.

In justifying his recommendation, Cox pointed out that the services obtained from Southern Bell so far had been very good. The cost of this system is approximately $750 less installs plus a savings of about $12 per month over the Winter Haven firm.

He felt that the city will also stand to benefit from the technical advances made by AT&T, the administrator told his listeners.

According to the proposal, there would be no insurance costs under the Bell system, broken instruments would be replaced, and service is local.

In the event the City Hall was to move to new quarters, Southern Bell would move all the equipment without charge and without interruption in service.

New zoning ordinance to be aired by council

PORT ST. LUCIE—The City Council Tuesday agreed to devote the entire workshop session, if and when, to reviewing the city's most comprehensive document, the 70-page zoning ordinance tentatively labled 76-1.

The document will be submitted to individual councilmembers for their advance study this week according to P&Z Chairman Ed Fessel who is hopeful the item will come before the council at next Tuesday's workshop session.

The P&Z Board has spent approximately six months putting the package together, a package which will replace the city's original zoning ordinance plus many of the amendments.

Just Monday the group spent over three hours tying up the loose ends and getting additional input from several independent builders in the area as well as from General Development Corp.

Two major items covered in the ordinance are height of buildings and density.

Describing the document as a real fine comprehensive plan, Fessel suggested more backbone was needed in the city government to support all the ordinances.

The city has a responsibility to accomodate all of its citizenry. It can not penalize those desiring to invest their money in the more elaborate homes by permitting a $25,000 home to be constructed next door, Fessel pointed out.

Residents asked to back youth athletic program

PORT ST. LUCIE—This week, February 8 through February 14, has been declared by resolution of the City Council as "Port St. Lucie Youth Athletic Week" during which area clubs and local residents will be asked to donate funds to the city's junior athletic organizations.

Uniforms and equipment are needed to properly equip 250 young baseball and football players. The drive was kicked off on Saturday's parade.

Frank Rose, Vice Mayor, and Ken Offit, member of the Recreation Committee, proposed the week long fund raising effort, noting that hundreds of youngsters are kept busy and out of trouble in the junior athletic programs.

He urged community support saying, "The Little League players haven't had new uniforms in years, showing the boys' appearance by wearing the boys' appearance by wearing muffins."

Bafalis will keynote Lincoln dinner

PORT ST. LUCIE—Republican Congressman L.A. "Skip" Bafalis and Mrs. Mary will be honored guests at the annual Lincoln Day Dinner sponsored by the Republican Executive Committee of St. Lucie County Saturday, February 14 at 6:30 p.m.

Bafalis will be the keynote speaker for the affair which is to be held at the Ramada Inn in Fort Pierce.

Festivities will begin with cocktails at 6 p.m. followed by dinner at seven.

Anyone desiring tickets may contact Mrs. Jean Bullock at 464-2296 in Fort Pierce or Fred [illegible] in Port St. Lucie.

Golfers score holes-in-one

PORT ST. LUCIE—The golfers dream, a hole-in-one was scored by two golfers last month.

Nancy Thomas of Cuba, Illinois accomplished the feat on the 125-yard 11th hole at Holiday Country Club of Stuart on January 18.

Joe Forster, a member of the Men's Golf Association at Sandpiper Bay, had a hole-in-one on the same 8th hole on January 25.

City clamps down on soliciting

PORT ST. LUCIE—Two ordinances one prohibiting the installation of drainage pipes across the entire front of lots for and the second regulating solicitors, canvassers and peddlers within the city, received the final reading at approval Tuesday when the council adopted both by unanimous vote.

The ordinance regulating solicitors requires the licensing of any solicitor, canvasser, peddler, hawker, transient merchant or itinerant merchant before engaging in business.

To obtain the license the prospect must first file an application at the city clerk. The applicant must also produce a photograph taken within ten days of the application, be fingerprinted, provide two letters of recommendation, a brief description, and signed statement as to whether [illegible] misdemeanor or felony [illegible] ordinance [illegible] applicant must provide a [illegible] to operate in the city [illegible] the application certifying the applicant is free from contagious infectious or communicable diseases.

A ten dollar fee will be charged to cover the investigation and all is in order the applicant will be issued the necessary license for the time of the year.

In other actions the Council Tuesday authorized the City Administrator, Elmer Cox, to advertise for bids on the field lights and other equipment at Sportsman Park.

According to Vice Mayor Frank Rose, the city can save as much as twenty five percent of the contract price by hiring an electrician and helper to do the required wiring.

Agenda is changed

PORT ST. LUCIE—Fred Johnston, president of the Port St. Lucie Republican Club, announced a change of agenda for the meeting of Thursday, February 12.

Tommy Thomas, state chairman for the Reagan presidential campaign, will be the featured speaker, replacing David Nickels, a Reagan field man.

Republicans interested in knowing more about Reagan's platform and thinking will want to attend this meeting. Following Mr. Thomas talk, questions will be answered and refreshments will be served.

The meeting will be held at the Community Center (CENA) in Port St. Lucie beginning at 7:30 p.m. All Republicans are welcome.

Mens golf scores

PORT ST. LUCIE—Winners of the North Port Men's Golf League this week were as follows:

Flight A Ron Black 60, flight B Vern Keller 61, flight C Charles Cotter 66.

Flight D was a triple tie at 61 between Vern Lundstrum, Jack Umara and Fred Adler.

Closest to the pin on number 3 was Hank Sewell. Joe Lesoravage came closest to the pin on 15.

Fire board change is rejected

PORT ST. LUCIE—In a [illegible] vote last Thursday, the St. Lucie County legislative delegation rejected a proposed change in the county fire board which would have given the City of Port St. Lucie representation on that board.

Currently, the fire board is comprised of two representatives from the St. Lucie County Commissioners and one member at large appointed by the governor.

The dissenting vote was cast by Representative Chuck Nergard.

The county commission did decide however to accept requests by firemen and Fort Pierce city officials for a year-long study relative to the makeup of the board.

Mayor Schuyler Sharpe called for a change in representation on the board stating Port St. Lucie residents help support the fire board by paying taxes. He termed the present setup taxation without representation.

Robert Sollette who represents the firemen's union told his listeners there was no telling what [illegible] would make up the proper fire district board makeup without a planned study being conducted.

The county board, he the reasons for the opposition to the proposed change by the firemen.

Port St. Lucie has been visited by area department members Russell Rogers to aid in the fact gathering study.

Mayor Sharpe is optimistic the study will be beneficial to all.

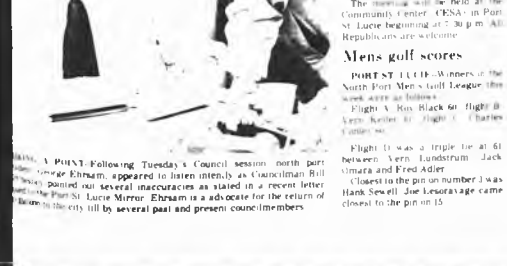
Tickets are available for bicentennial dinner

PORT ST. LUCIE—Tickets are still available for the Italian and American Civic Association Bicentennial Dinner this Friday, Feb. 13 at 7 p.m.

Additional details for the gala event have been announced. Wil Radcliff will provide a program of Italian music on the organ during the dinner and cocktail hour. Movies will be shown after dinner depicting the discovery of America and there will be on display a model of a Spanish galleon similar to the ship on which Columbus made his voyage, furnished by Vic Kozlowski.

The menu consists of a variety of Italian foods.

Tickets may be obtained at the Community Center office or from members of the Association. Funds raised by the event are for the benefit of The Community Center.



TAKING A POINT—Following Tuesday's Council session, north port [illegible] George Ehrsam, appeared to listen intently as Councilman Bill [illegible] pointed out several inaccuracies as stated in a recent letter [illegible] the Port St. Lucie Mirror. Ehrsam is a advocate for the return of [illegible] to the city hall by several past and present councilmembers.

Voter list is growing

JENSEN BEACH–Last fall there [illegible] 2,000 names dropped from the Martin County voter registration rolls but then came the surge of registration for the March 9 presidential preference primary.

Supervisor of Elections Sandra Rudolph said that the total of eligible voters is 24,264. This is about 900 below the peak registration in 1975 of more than 25,190.

In the two-year voter list purges, voters who have not voted for two years are sent notices telling them they'll be removed from the county voter roll unless they renew their registrations.

The purge of non-voters is required by Florida law every two years.

Break-down of registered voters shows that Democrats outnumber Republicans 15,873 to 11,134, with independents numbering 842, and other party registrations 415.

In Jensen Beach, Precinct 1, there are 1,473 registered Democrats and 1,286 Republican s with 127 independents and 59 other parties.

Precinct 1 has the most registered voters in the county. Hobe Sound Precinct 8 is second with 2,854.

Ocean Breeze Park, Precinct 14, has the fewest number registered with 295.

Mrs. Randolph points out that voters will have to cast ballots in the party in which they are registered in the presidential primary. All voters can participate in the state amendment on the ballot – water management districts.

The county has 60 voting machines for the 18 precincts and lacks nine machines to meet the state requirement of one machine for every 350 voters. Five new machines have been authorized for the September primary.

She said that applications for absentee ballots are being printed and her office is accepting applications for absentee ballots which will be mailed to voters.

Any person who registered before Jan. 24 will be eligible for the March 9 primary.

FIREWORKS CHECK–A $200 check for the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Fourth of July Fireworks Fund has been donated by the Jensen [illegible] Club. Making the check presentation is Bill Mang, left, club [illegible] Sid Stein Jr., chairman of the Fireworks Fund.

Plaza check is signed

JENSEN BEACH–Circuit Court Clerk Louise Isaacs has signed the $237,700 first payment check on the purchase of the Executive Plaza.

But occupancy of the controversial three-story building isn't expected soon. One courthouse official said that it may take as long as six months.

County Administrator Jack Noble said that officials have not settled on a floor plan for the interior of the building, which is almost empty on the second and third floors.

After Circuit Court Judge James Alderman ruled that the lease-purchase agreement by the County Commission was valid, Mrs. Isaacs conferred with her attorney.

She decided against appealing the ruling.

Mrs. Isaacs challenged the county's purchase of the building and the commission took her to court to sign the warrant.

She noted that whatever the costs of the suit, "it will be worth it." She noted that her refusal to sign the check, the attorney's opinion which caused the county revise the first agreement resulted in a savings of $27,000 in the purchase price.

Mrs. Isaacs last October refused to sign the check and Attorney General Robert Shevin said the proposed 8 percent interest to be paid by the county was illegal. The second agreement carries a 7.5 percent interest rate.

Mayor gag order

Hot campaign in Sewall's Point race

SEWALL'S POINT–A gag rule on town employees and an attempt to fire the police chief has turned an otherwise dull campaign into a red-hot political turmoil in Sewall's Point.

Mayor William Sowden, a candidate for re-election, used the gag order Feb. 1 and then issued another statement each 14 explaining his first directive.

And an attempt to fire Police Chief Dominick Amodeo resulted in a number of residents about 100 strong to voice support of the chief at City Hall.

There are seven candidates in the commission race, with one to be eliminated in the primary set for Feb. 28.

Registered voters will mark their ballots in the primary for three candidates. The six who receive the most votes will be on the ballot again March 2 when three top vote-getters will be elected to the Town Commission.

Candidates are Ed Gluckler, Robert Russell, Earl Crawford, Matthew Rao, Elizabeth Sheridan, Carl Laughlin and Sowden.

Most of the candidates have expressed concern that the town's growth and the need for a comprehensive land use plan.

A move to comply with state [illegible] laws resulted in a mother [illegible] campaign and Town Hall [illegible] Tuesday that all candidates but Rao and Sowden had not fully complied with financial disclosure statements.

While all candidates have made campaign statements, they have not endorsed the mayor's statements regarding the issue of a gag rule.

"I don't think it would be appropriate to make a statement at this time," Gluckler said.

The public meeting earlier this month on the attempt to dismiss the chief apparently sparked the unrest in the community and the large turnout of candidates. Mayor Sowden and Commissioner John Hossler voted to dismiss the chief but did not receive support of their fellow commissioners.

Mayor Sowden, in his second directive, noted that he does not give off the cuff verbal answers to questions about Sewall's Point, but I shall in every case, furnish reporters written statements as quickly as possible.

The gag order drew a strong reaction from retiring Commissioner Frank Clarke who said he plans to complain to the governor and the Ethics Commission about the directive.

Mayor Sowden noting Clarke's remarks stated in his Feb. 14 written press release that Clarke nor any other commissioner raised a question about the Feb. 1 directive.

"I must assume therefore, that Commissioner Clarke is either grandstanding or neglecting his responsibilities," the mayor wrote.

As mayor, one of my responsibilities is to insure that all news sources in this area are provided all the information pertinent to the government of Sewall's Point that they need in order to prepare accurate informative reports. This is to achieve maximum results the news release function has been placed where it belongs, in the hands of management personnel in this case commissioners who of necessity are most knowledgeable about the total operation of the town rather than in the laps of the several individual department heads who are familiar only with their own departments.

Sowden said his news releases are an attempt to funnel information to news sources by the most accurate and efficient means possible.

Navitsky will keynote annual Taxpayer meet

[illegible] County School Superintendent Jerome Navitsky will be the principal speaker at the 26th annual meeting of the Martin County Taxpayers Association.

Mayor, doctors are candidates

SEWALL'S POINT–The incumbent mayor and two doctors are among the seven candidates in the Town of Sewall's Point commission race.

Mayor William Sowden, Dr. Carl Laughlin and Dr. Matthew Rao are in the thick of the town election.

Mayor Sowden who has been on the commission for the past two years, said in a prepared statement that his platform is simple and direct: honesty in government.

A native of Collingswood, N.J., Mayor Sowden has been a resident of Sewall's Point since 1972.

Also a New Jersey native from Lakewood, Dr. Rao said he decided to become a candidate after the meeting over the possible dismissal of Police Chief Amodeo. Dr. Rao says [illegible] one of the main defenders of Chief [illegible] Dr. Rao said he would like to see [illegible] running a town businesslike [illegible]

Dr. Rao would like to see a comprehensive land use plan developed by professional planners, Dr. Rao said.

We need more beautification in this town with more public recreation," the doctor continued.

Dr. Rao is a former health officer for the New Jersey Highway Authority and is a practicing physician and the president of Graphic Development Corp.

A native of Clarksburg, W. Va., Dr. Laughlin of 35 W. High Point Rd. is a practicing orthodontist.

Dr. Laughlin said there are several issues to be considered in the commission race including controlled growth, conflict of interest, budget and public involvement.

If elected to the commission, I would urge that questionnaires be sent to all registered citizens to get their comments on vital issues.

In this manner the voices of the citizens would be heard and made an intricate part of the government."

He said he is concerned with the governing of the community in which he and his family reside.

Dr. Laughlin has offices in Stuart and Fort Pierce and is currently serving as a director of the newly formed India Lucie Rotary Club. He is a member of the Committee on State and National affairs of the Fort Pierce Chamber of Commerce.

Shawver clinches lower title, upper division tied

BY DONNIE WILKIE

JENSEN BEACH–There is still one week remaining in the schedule but for C.F. Shawver Construction, the year has had its highest moment already, because in action last week they clinched the 1976 Lower Division Championship at Langford Park.

It was not that easy however, as the Optimist Club gave the Builders a tussle finally losing only 10-9 before fairly big crowd Saturday. It was the play of Wilfred Wiley that kept the Optimists in the game as he poured in seven points to take over second place in the league scoring standings with 26 points.

But Shawver's balanced attack gave them their fifth straight victory of the season, without a loss. Todd Jackson had six, while league scoring leader Brian Lambeth totaled four to give him 27 on the year. Shawver led 6-5 at halftime.

In the other game CWA beat the Lions 14-12. Billy Mang led CWA with six points while four others collected two apiece. For the Lions Bruce Delaney sank eight, all of which came during the Lions furious fourth quarter rally. In the fourth stanza the Lions outscored CWA 10-6. Holly Martin missed two crucial free throws late in the game which could have tied it up. CWA held a 6-2 lead at the half.

In the Upper Division Gold Coast Tires won their fourth game of the year, against only one loss, by downing Pittman Insurance. The Insurancemen were previously undefeated and ties only at 32-32 after the third quarter before Gold Coast began to close the gap. By the end of that third quarter, Gold Coast trailed only 20-27 and Jack Todd Pittman scoreless in the final stanza, en route to their 40-32 win. The two teams are now tied and it is expected that was after next week's games. There is still a playoff scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 28.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT PETITION FORM

Please print name as it appears on voting list

PRECINCT NO.

COUNTY

I, the undersigned voter of Florida, and hereby petition the Secretary of State to place the following amendment to the Florida Constitution on the ballot in the general election to be held November 2, 1976.

Section ... is created to read:

... Government. A public office is a public trust. The people shall have the right to secure and sustain that trust against ... and shall have ... right:

(a) To require constitutional officers and candidates for such offices and, as may be determined by law, other public officers, candidates, and employees to file full and public disclosure of financial interests.

(b) To require public officers and candidates for such offices to file full and public disclosure of their campaign finances.

(c) Any public officer or employee who breaches the public trust for private gain and any person or entity inducing such breach shall be liable to the state for all financial benefits obtained by such actions. The manner of recovery and additional damages may be provided by law.

(d) Any public officer or employee who is convicted of a felony involving a breach of public trust shall be subject to forfeiture of rights and privileges under a public retirement system or pension plan in such manner as may be provided by law.

(e) No member of the legislature or statewide elected officer shall personally represent another person or entity for compensation before the government body or agency of which the individual was an officer or member for a period of two years following vacation of office. No member of the legislature shall personally represent another person or entity for compensation during his term of office before any state agency other than judicial tribunals. Similar restrictions on other public officers and employees may be established by law.

(f) There shall be an independent commission to conduct investigations and make public reports on all complaints concerning breach of public trust by public officers or employees not within the jurisdiction of the judicial qualifications commission.

(g) This section shall not be construed to limit disclosures and prohibitions which may be established by law to preserve the public trust and avoid conflicts between public duties and private interests.

(h) Schedule—On the effective date of this amendment and until changed by law:

(1) Full and public disclosure of financial interests shall mean filing with the secretary of state by July 1 of each year a sworn statement showing net worth and identifying each asset and liability in excess of $1,000 and its value together with one of the following:

a. A copy of the person's most recent federal income tax return, or

b. A sworn statement which identifies each separate source and amount of income which exceeds $1,000. The forms for disclosure and the rules under which they are to be filed shall be prescribed by the independent commission established in subsection (f), and such rules shall include disclosure of secondary sources of income.

(2) Persons holding statewide elective offices shall also file disclosure of their financial interests pursuant to subsection (h)(1).

(3) The independent commission provided for in subsection (f) shall mean the Florida Commission on Ethics.

Florida weather has [illegible] Florida and no mention [illegible] cold front as of this time [illegible] needless to say everyone [illegible] seen about it. The crowds at [illegible] are a very good indication [illegible] are enjoying all the [illegible] and warm breezes.

[illegible] the colds coughing and [illegible] viruses in this area lately [illegible] no one has cold the next [illegible] weather we've had this is [illegible] to be so ordered.

[illegible] face that beautiful full [illegible] evening." It looked like [illegible] pumpkin in the sky at [illegible] ing in the darkness later [illegible] have liked to go down on [illegible] beach to view it shining [illegible] wind.

[illegible] exercise class is growing [illegible] more as the air gets [illegible]

[illegible] those of you enjoying the [illegible] that time don't mind [illegible] jacket and waiting [illegible] cars to cover before [illegible] get swimming [illegible] is the only hour [illegible] can request use of the [illegible] activities any other [illegible] appreciate it as better [illegible] participation in the exercise [illegible] support you good you'll [illegible]

[illegible] morning exercise class in the [illegible] Hubbaway is [illegible] very popular. There [illegible] hall was filled with [illegible] her and women alike [illegible] morning. It's good to know [illegible] concerned with keeping [illegible]

[illegible] are getting bigger and [illegible] week too. That's the [illegible] longer stand that old diet [illegible] enjoying trying new [illegible]

[illegible] week the emphasis was on [illegible] going to go along with a [illegible] afterward during [illegible] England look us on an [illegible] out of distance as tourists [illegible] Parisians live it. I heard [illegible] on how sure it was [illegible] stroll program he puts on [illegible]. This was the second [illegible] and there'll be another this [illegible] after Jan. 16th. This time [illegible] and Austrian Alps and [illegible]. The Sound of Music [illegible] some gorgeous scenery.

[illegible] were many on the beach [illegible] seeing very lucky when [illegible] arrives and dollars which [illegible] days there to find.

[illegible] made the find of [illegible] Sundays afternoon when [illegible] Nautilus floated right in [illegible] treat for all of us to see this [illegible] which has fascinated [illegible] centuries. Even National [illegible] recently had an article [illegible]

[illegible] lucky ever gets to the [illegible] Harriet and Marlin [illegible] have walked miles up [illegible] beach for two years [illegible] ever find a live shell [illegible] very interested in the [illegible] shell in the sea knew [illegible] was that Millie had [illegible] so glad it was Millie [illegible]

[illegible] 1970 trailer home of [illegible] Marlin are old buddies [illegible] Minnesota Jerry [illegible] Harrush. After 40 [illegible] Florida have a lot to talk [illegible] they all took a trip to the [illegible] and Key West. All this [illegible] boast of Florida weather [illegible] delightful visit.

[illegible] have guests [illegible] Sheila Hunziker and [illegible] her daughter Elizabeth from Highland Falls New York have been having a great time on Nettles Island and the beach. They all left Monday morning for Disney World, but they'll be back.

Russ and Hazel Seely, lot owners here have a lot of friends wondering where they are this week.

Well they're on an Airstream caravan to Panama. They got through Guatemala before the earthquake struck. They were in Managua, Nicaragua at the time where there was still evidence of an earthquake that had hit there a few years ago.

They mentioned the curious townfolk sticking their heads inside speaking Spanish, wondering what it was all about.

The more they travel the more they love the "good old U.S.A." The price of a small jar of peanut butter there was $2.50 and gasoline is 86 cents a gallon.

Anyone wishing to write them can get the address and their itineraries from Dean and Edith Avis.

Dean Avis took Joe Catapano out in his boat Saturday afternoon and showed him how to fish. Joe who had never fished before caught three trout totaling 11½ pounds.

I bet Joe thinks there's nothing to catching fish now and he'll be out again.

Remember how handsome the "Big River Boat Gambler" looked in the Minstrel Show last week? That was our Island fisherman Hank Ohralick.

We only expect to see him fishing and now guess what? We found out that he makes his own pumpernickel bread from scratch. How's that for versatility? He puts the dough in his car, closes the windows and lets it rise in the warmth inside the car. He even brought a nice loaf just baked over for Evelyn Staley. Proof of his ability.

The Women's Club again sponsored a lovely Valentine dessert fashion show under the direction of Pat Kitchen. Jeanne Holmes and Helen Samuel.

It's hard to say what really made the party.

First beautiful decorations by Edye Adams and her crew of workers.

Second the yummy pineapple upside down cake replete with whipped cream and hearts.

Third the fashions from Real Fashion Shop located in our own shopping center. Hank Schumaker as commentator told of each lovely pants suit, sportswear, separates, jewelry, hats and handbags making all want to jump right into spring. Models were Margaret Gimble, Violet Sampson, Pearl Walter, May Tifft, Irene German, Pat Kitchen and Eleanor Hooper. The shop also provided gift certificates as door prizes.

Fourth Vi Simpson in a lively, funny skit plus our organist Danny Sousine and Herb German on the mike controls.

I hear the shop is busy helping make all of us the talk of the Island in beautiful spring clothes. All the rest of us who just enjoyed the affair extend a big thanks to all who worked. And this was all accomplished on Friday the 13th!

A boat trip on the Cross Rip takes place this Wednesday. Women's Club members intend to have participation this trip. No work for anyone except our ticket seller Vi. Shop and initial arrangements by Connie [illegible]

Audubon film will feature Oregon refuge

STUART The third Audubon film in its Wildlife Series will be shown at 8 p.m. Friday, February 27 at the Stuart Women's Club on East Ocean Blvd.

James D. Hammond, former editor and war correspondent for the New York Times in Asia, will be on hand to provide insights into his beautiful film of the Malheur National Wildlife Refuge in Oregon. Hammond has an impressive background to contribute to his field. Part owner of a film company, art collector and expert in the field of sound recording, his many talents and interests are also reflected in such disparate abilities as the handprinting of limited editions and of ornithology wine tasting.

In Malheur Marsh Meadow and Mountain the film takes viewers to the greatest wildlife refuge outside Alaska where a great upthrust of ancient lava provides water and wilderness for three hundred and thirty species of wildlife. From the rare Trumpeter Swans to the delicate pronghorn antelope, Hammond's camera catches his subjects in unforgettable moments of courtship and adventure.

Tickets may be purchased at the door on the night of performance, or call Mr. Robert Wagner 334-6890 for reservations.

Legion plans annual potluck

JENSEN BEACH The American Legion Post and Auxiliary of Jensen Beach is sponsoring a Past Commanders and Past President dinner Monday, February 23 at the Legion Hall on Savanna Road.

Festivities will start at 5:30 p.m.

All Legion members are invited and asked to bring vegetables (beets or beans) or [illegible]. Meat will be furnished.

Saturday, February 14 was set aside especially for lovers and Mary Lloyd as the Merry Club hostess, Cupid, organized another splendid evening of entertainment for the lucky ticket holders. (In that we could only provide space for the hundreds more who had to be left out because the facilities are so limited.)

Bouquets of appreciation to Edye and Dick Adams whose singular efforts produced the gorgeous decorations for the Knights and Ms. Maids, newly ladies who turned out to entertain their champagne displays that was both scrumptious and delicious, and to Coleman Dee for helping to send us up the happy road with singing whiskers, sours and champagne punch.

The [illegible] enjoyed warm gifts of [illegible] to the sweet and one and all hoped that this [illegible] of [illegible] would be repeated [illegible] Mary's [illegible] South Jensen [illegible] Perhaps [illegible] could [illegible] to get [illegible] [illegible]

CHAIRMEN AND GUESTS—Co-chairmen of the Second Annual God and [illegible] committee are shown with their wives and the guest speaker [illegible]. The committee held a dinner for Astronaut Donald Peterson and his wife, Bonnie, at the Outrigger Restaurant Saturday night. From left are Virgil Rathbone and his wife, Victoria; Astronaut Donald Peterson and his wife, Bonnie; and Father Frank Alvarez and his wife, Celeste.

FIRE CHIEF AIDE—Astronaut Donald Peterson and his wife, Bonnie, are shown at the Outrigger Restaurant. The Air Force colonel, who was the main speaker at the Second Annual God and Country Day, and his wife were guests of the God and Country Day Committee.

[illegible]ons of USA. The Second Annual God and Country Day had a nice [illegible] and country symbols. These youths are entering the [illegible] as part of the grand procession.

REPLICA—Astronaut Donald Peterson stands next to a replica of the Liberty Bell which was on display at the Second Annual God and Country Day Sunday at Martin County High School auditorium.

BANNERS AND FLAGS—Civic and church groups had their flags and banners in the grand procession of the Second Annual God and Country Day [illegible] Sunday at Martin County High School auditorium.

Astronaut is speaker

Program called inspiring event

JENSEN BEACH—The Second Annual God and Country Day was an inspiring event, Father Frank Alvarez, co-chairman of the program said.

Runaway Donald Peterson and his wife Bonnie won the hearts of the people of our community, he said.

Col. Peterson was the main speaker at the program held Sunday Feb. 15 at Martin County High School auditorium.

Col. Peterson said the individual [illegible] in his religious and patriotic beliefs has kept America together.

He said that he does not believe the basic values of Americans have disappeared as evidenced by the many people at the program.

It was also noted by the astronaut in his brief talk that the basic values of America—democracy, free enterprise, individual freedom—have been challenged over the last years of this country's growth.

Runaway technology makes it difficult for the average individual to stop and make us feel small and unimportant, Col. Peterson said.

He referred to the success of the Apollo program and the dedication of the people who were determined to make it a success.

Col. Peterson who served as a member of the support crew for Apollo 13, talked of the space program at his Saturday press conference.

He said he never was a serious contender to be one of the Apollo moon flights because he never was [illegible].

I hated to see the program end. It was more than a program, it was a way of life for thousands of dedicated people.

Two days before Apollo 11 was launched there was a problem with closing the hatches on the lunar module and some people literally spent 20 hours on the launch pad working without a break. Apollo flew because 20,000 people wouldn't let it do anything else, he said.

The astronaut who is involved in NASA's space shuttle vehicle program also noted. I don't claim to be extremely religious. I believe in God and go to church but you couldn't call me a church leader. But I believe that if any one influence is needed, it is a stronger religious feeling in this country.

And he stated in his Sunday talk that the country has problems—increasing crime, drugs, pornography and we are attacking all of these with big monies and technology but the ultimate answer comes down to the few dedicated men and women who are determined not to let this country fail.

Representatives from five countries attended the program and Father Alvarez noted. Our success thanks to all those who contributed of their time and talent to have made the Second Annual God and Country Day such a grand demonstration of devotion to God and country.

Co-sponsors of the program were All Saints Episcopal Church and Jensen Beach American Legion Post 126 with Virgil Rathbone of the Legion Post serving as co-chairman.

Changing thinking

The 'quiet revolution' expands beyond ERA

BY DICK CAMPBELL

JENSEN BEACH—Somehow the [illegible] women's liberation don't [illegible] when told to Valerie [illegible] the past endures them. [illegible] a point about stereotyped [illegible] and makes the humorist [illegible] point.

She is dedicated to feminism and [illegible] an intelligent case for [illegible] a case built upon [illegible] the wealth of male [illegible] opportunity.

"There is only one thing that I [illegible] that man can do that a [illegible] can't," she said smiling at [illegible] Jensen Beach Kiwanis [illegible] members Monday.

The gist the message [illegible]

The assistant state coordinator of the National Organization for Women, NOW, explained the expanding role of her group in state and national politics.

We are fomenting a revolution I call it the quiet revolution because it must happen in the home.

We want full equality.

Mrs. Adams, a resident of Sewall's Point, explained that Florida's NOW, composed of 1,800 members, has opened a legislative office in Tallahassee to lobby for women's rights.

After explaining the progress of the Equal Rights Amendment over the past three years, it passed the House of Representatives in 1975 but was defeated in the Senate, Mrs. Adams said. We have to concentrate in other areas.

She said NOW would be working on the right to choose rape and compliance to the law legislation in the 1976 legislature besides continuing its efforts to have the legislature pass the ERA.

The State of Florida is not an equal rights employer, she said.

Basing her comments on the misunderstanding of the feminist movement, Mrs. Adams said that the average woman now earns 57 percent as much as men and called the average a loss for in 1968 women earned 64 percent as much as men.

Fully employed women with a high school education earn less than men with a grade school education, she said.

She added that the drive for women's rights has opened up the public eye to the problems they face and changed people's ideas.

From an organizational effort made up of 30 women, NOW has grown to a membership of over 40,000 nationwide and is trying to bring women into the mainstream of life.

We work on awareness, making people aware of the stereotyping of women, legislative lobbying, enforcement of regulations forbidding discrimination in schools that are sexually segregated.

Her comments dealt with the stereotyped manner in which schools would put girls in home economics and boys in shop courses, as well as the disparaging inequities of athletic funding of boy versus girl sports.

In a question and answer period, Mrs. Adams scored the Kiwanis Club for not permitting female members.

A Kiwanian said, "If women get equal rights, it will break down the concept of man as head of the house and women would take over executive jobs that men now hold and men would be working for women.

"Yes," said Mrs. Adams.

SPEAKER—Valerie Adams told of the efforts of the National Organization for Women to bring about equality for her species to a group of Kiwanians meeting at Frances Langford's Outrigger Restaurant. At right is Kiwania[illegible] chairman Bill Selmi.

Woman's hostesses are named

PORT ST. LUCIE—Beautiful Waters Homemakers Club members who will serve as hostesses at the club's "Woman's World" at the St. Lucie County Fair Friday, Feb. 20 include Mesdames Jones, Richardson, Legaard, Jaroszewicz, Bowen, Armet, Eberle, Moncure, Downey, Smith, Holbeck, Neckelsen and Norton.

At the club's monthly meeting, Mrs. Mettie Jones discussed plans for the Bicentennial celebration which will be a three year schedule of events including a county wide picnic with fireworks on the Fourth of July.

Mrs. Mary Scott gave a history of the pageant. "Along These Waters" which is to be presented at the Amphitheatre later this month. The club is planning to attend as a group on opening night, February 29.

It was decided to contribute to the Port St. Lucie Athletic Fund Drive to benefit Little League and Optimist Youth Activities.

Hostesses for the meeting were Alice Bowen, Dorothy Hazell, Thelma McCombs and Ethel Michelsen, chairperson.

SIGNS AUTOGRAPH—Astronaut Donald Peterson signs his autograph with Father Frank Alvarez and his wife, Celeste, looking on. The occasion was at a Saturday night dinner at the Outrigger Restaurant honoring the astronaut and his wife, Bonnie. Col. Peterson was the feature speaker at the Second Annual God and Country Day.

Free golf clinic slated for Spring Bazaar

PORT ST. LUCIE—A free golf clinic will be among features offered by the Port St. Lucie Yacht Club at its Spring Bazaar booth at the Community Center March 5 and 6.

Two half hour sessions will be offered each day. The final day some lucky person will win a full set of [illegible] with head covers and bag. Tickets for the golf clubs are on sale by Yacht Club members.

Special prizes will be tagged on all kinds of golf equipment for the two day event. All proceeds go to the Community Center's operating fund.

The Valentine Dance was delightful. Wearing the men handsome and the ladies lovely. All who donated their time, talent and effort towards its success serve our thanks and appreciation. Kay Colleen's decorations were picturesque as usual.

The bowling and Ruperts were the talk of the show. Ethel Rupert and Lou Sommers gave a great exhibition of the Charleston. Lucy and Toad Bowling danced the prize dance of the night - to the tune of 'Tiger Rag' for which Toad had made a special request - they were unbelievable. Jim Rupert kept the ladies busy dancing laughing and just being his usual debonair self.

Toad and Lucy put their recent vacation of N.H.H. plans to good use by coming to the aid of a lady who had had fall. Congratulations to them and also to Mate and Bill for their concentrated efforts in theatre first aid for the benefit of all of us.

Church Aid Circle meets next week

JENSEN BEACH--Highlighting the regular monthly meeting of the Church Aid Circle of the Jensen Beach Community Church will be a book review by Esther LeMessurier.

Entitled "Doers and Dowagers", the book was written by Delivia Warburg Roosevelt, a daughter-in-law of the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Dessert and coffee will be served at 1 p.m., preceding the business meeting. Hostesses for the day are Marie Bradley, chairman, Mabel Arnold, Ethelberta Hurst, Ina Logan, Julia Wood, Mary Shuring, Thelma Kime, Lillian Manwaring and Lucille Knucles.

Sculpture class

JENSEN BEACH--A sculpture class for adults is taught at Langford Park, Jensen Beach, Friday mornings at 10 a.m.

The basics of sculpturing in clay (terra cotta and white stoneware) are taught, and the student learns how to build a sculpture from start to a finished piece of work. Instruction is provided in all subjects including portrait heads, birds, animals, fish and flowers.

Instructor Bergi Wood, local artist-sculptress, provides visual, individual instruction for the students.

There is no charge for registration. Adults may sign up any Friday morning at the Recreation Hall in Langford Park at 10 a.m.

REHEARSAL--Rehearsal for the Martin County school system's Bicentennial Pageant was held last week. Some 2,000 students, including a 600-member chorus, will take part in the show Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 11-12 at 7:30 p.m. at Long Field in Stuart.

Sandpiper Resort is scene

Demo candidates will convene here

PORT ST. LUCIE—Top ranking democratic presidential hopefuls will converge on this Treasure Coast city March 6 to attend a Bicentennial banquet sponsored by local Democratic clubs and prime the pump for the Florida Primary on March 9.

Six announced candidates and several others who could be talked into running will attend a $25-a-plate dinner dance at the plush Sandpiper resort at which each will be given 10 minutes of stump time to garner primary support.

Larry Johnston, chairman of the coordinating committee for the sponsoring South St. Lucie County and Martin County Democratic Clubs, said acceptances for the event have been received from Sen. Henry "Scoop" Jackson of Washington, former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona, Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, Gov. Milton Shapp of Pennsylvania and former Oklahoma Senator Fred Harris. Johnston said Gov. George Wallace of Alabama also is expected to attend although his acceptance has not yet been confirmed.

Gov. Reuben Askew will deliver the keynote address and Dempsey Barron, President of the State Senate, will present the clubs' Thomas Jefferson Memorial Award to Gov. Askew, after which the candidates and non-candidates will take over the Sandpiper Bay dais to deliver their last minute primary pitches.

"We're asking each speaker to confine his remarks to 10 minutes," said Johnston, "but due to the nearness of the Florida Primary and its importance nationwide, I wouldn't be surprised if some of the talks ran into overtime."

More than 300 local, state and national Democratic leaders, including National Committee Chairman Bob Strauss, State Chairman Ann Kramer, Ambassador Averill Harriman, Florida Senators Lawton Chiles and Richard Stone, are expected to join Sandpiper Bay's Florida and Atlantic Ballrooms for the event.

In keeping with the bicentennial theme of the banquet, a one-eighth scale model of the Liberty Bell will be exhibited by Citizens Federal Savings & Loan Association of St. Lucie County.

The festivities, which start at 7 p.m., will be covered by national newspaper and broadcast media and security arrangements are being handled by U.S. Secret Service and other federal agencies assigned to the Democratic candidates.

Reservations for the event may be made by calling 878-0405 in Port St. Lucie, 464-1252 in Fort Pierce, 287-2888 in Stuart, and 334-1766 in Jensen Beach.

VOL. 2 NO. 7 FEBRUARY 18, 1976

Residents help needed

More police pondered

PORT ST. LUCIE—Concerned over the rising crime rate in their city, Council members Tuesday met with Sheriff Lamar Norvell to discuss the feasibility of adding one full time experienced deputy plus car and supplementing this protection by organizing an auxiliary police force in this south county community.

The entire proposed package would cost the city just short of an additional $13,000 per year.

Referring to the crimes showing the most drastic increases, vandalism and burglary, Norvell told his listeners that although an additional unit patrolling the area would certainly help to deter crime, the eyes and ears of the citizenry is also needed.

Twenty patrol cars will not stop the planned burglaries. In this instance, the residence to be burglarized has been cased, sometimes for several days. The burglars have walkie talkies and can tune in on the police frequency. There is very little that can be done unless the residents of the area assist by becoming more alert and reporting suspicious people and cars to the Sheriff's Department via the 911 emergency number," Norvell said.

Residents need not fear involvement by making such a report. According to Sheriff Norvell, they will not be contacted by a deputy if they make such a request.

Norvell praised the auxiliary force in St. Lucie County, pointing out these volunteers relieve the professional officers for conducting more essential duties.

Both Captain Wayne Scrambler, S.L.C. Sheriff's Dept., and Arnold Haslow of the auxiliary force offered their assistance to the city in setting up the proposed auxiliary ten-deputy unit.

Norvell estimated the cost of organizing such a force at $3,061.50.

Although there is no age limitation for the auxiliary deputies, the applicant must pass a physical examination and attend an 80-hour law enforcement course offered at IRCC.

Several reasons for the crime rate increase in Port St. Lucie were cited by the sheriff.

At the time the original contract was signed with the city in 1971, there were approximately 300 miles of paved roads to be patrolled, but today there are 580 miles east of the turnpike and a couple hundred miles west.

There are more access roads coming into the city now with the opening of the interchange and the completion of the 25th Street extension, Norvell said.

He did point out, however, that extra deputies were always available should a major problem arise in the city. The services of every department including the helicopter patrol, vice squad, detective bureau, bloodhounds, trained divers and two patrol boats will be made available on request.

"I think we are moving ahead and have them [criminals] on the run in St. Lucie County. We want to keep it that way," Norvell said.

According to the minimum cost estimates provided by the Sheriff's Department, one full-time deputy will cost the city an additional $11,425.05 per year including salary, uniforms, life insurance, health insurance and retirement.

Ten auxiliary deputies, including uniforms, badges and brass, gun and gunbelt will cost $3,061.50.

The additional patrol car, fully equipped and including the insurance and estimated maintenance, will be $14,843.00.

The question of whether or not to increase police protection has been a matter of discussion between council members for the past several months.

Bicentennial party is set for March 13

PORT ST. LUCIE—A gala Bicentennial cocktail and dance party has been set for March 13 at Sandpiper Bay from 5 to 7 p.m.

An all-expenses paid trip to Jamaica is one of a number of door prizes to be awarded at the event. Door prize tickets are available and a purchaser need not be present to win.

The party will be the Bicentennial Committee's major fund raising activity for the Port St. Lucie Fourth of July celebration which the committee promises will be the largest and most exciting event ever staged in the area.

Tickets for the dance and cocktails may be obtained by calling John E. Fradd at 334-8843 or Don White 878-0578.

Persons interested in volunteering to assist in the Fourth of July preparations are asked to call either of the above.

Although Cox declined to name the interested attorney(s), it was learned Jim Littman is one of those considering the matter. Littman represented the Interested Home owners of Port St. Lucie in their suit against the city last year.

Cox, who will interview the attorney(s) will provide the background material the audit and the Grand Jury findings so that a decision can be made.

The City Council will make the final decision on the lawsuit and the hiring of an attorney.

MAKING A POINT—Tommy Thomas, State Campaign Chairman for Ronald Reagan told members of the Port St. Lucie Republican Club that for the sake of future generations and the good of the country, "we must elect Reagan and at the same time send him some congressmen." Thomas spoke to the group last Thursday night at the Port St. Lucie Community Center.

City is interested in GDC site

PORT ST. LUCIE—The City last [illegible] possible interest in [illegible] Hall site providing [illegible] Development Corporation [illegible] willing to lower the price [illegible] $ 000. The developer [illegible] $12,500 per acre [illegible] the Annex and Port St. [illegible] site.

Mayor Nicholas Sharpe and City Manager Elmer Cox met with [illegible] Traub, senior vice president in charge of commercial [illegible] and Morgan Koyen to [illegible] selling price and at the [illegible] lease inquiries at the [illegible] Hall lease renewal. The [illegible] expire February 1.

[illegible] officials made it clear [illegible] not want to discuss the lease [illegible] at this time because the [illegible] complex is for sale. [illegible] however, that [illegible] sale is forthcoming on the [illegible] complex. GDC [illegible] make every effort to see that [illegible] interests would be protected under the transaction.

In reference to the proposed [illegible] Mayor Sharpe said the [illegible] asking price of $12,500 [illegible] was much too high. He [illegible] the City might be interested in a price of $5,000 per acre on the fourteen acre tract only.

Traub agreed that with the growth of the city the fourteen acre tract should be adequate for five or more years to accommodate a City Hall, police station and, possibly, a new library, with ample parking space provided.

Although Traub could not make any commitment, he did assure City officials he would discuss the selling price with his superiors in Miami.

While water is available in the area, Traub suggested it would be some time before a sanitary sewer system would be needed.

According to Cox, GDC has agreed to furnish the city with a map of the property.

Are you flying flag?

PORT ST. LUCIE—The PSL Bicentennial Committee asks, "Are you flying your flag this Bicentennial year?" as area residents are urged to display the colors.

"Fly the Flag" kits are still available at reduced prices to homeowners in the area. Complete with a 3 by 5 fast color flag, 6' chrome finished staff, halyard, mounting bracket and gold eagle ornament, the kits are distributed by the PSL Women's Club and the Homemakers Club of Spanish Lakes.

To get a kit, call Mrs. Harold Hazell at 878-6553 in North Port St. Lucie; Mrs. Albert Miller at 878-4714 in Spanish Lakes; Mrs. Robert Greiger at 334-1574 in Sandpiper.

Presidents Council meets Thursday

PORT ST. LUCIE—The Presidents Council of Port St. Lucie will meet in regular monthly session Thursday, February 19 at 2 p.m. at the CESA building.

The Council is composed of the heads of all clubs and organizations operating in Port St. Lucie. Council President Cedric Benz stated recently that some clubs are conspicuous by their absence from the meetings and urges them, if impossible to attend, to send a representative in their place.

Sandpiper Men's Golf

PORT ST. LUCIE—Low handicapper Don McConnell turned in a net 72 card that included a trio of three-putt greens and three birdies for a round of par last Thursday when the Sandpiper Men's Golf Association played their weekly tourney.

Despite his par showing, McConnell was unable to edge out Frank O'Beirne who won the Class A Flight Stableford handicap competition with 44 points.

Others who had net scores under 60 for the day were Joe Chappelle 75, O'Beirne, Walt Wilmas and Jim Johnston 77, and Larry Lorentson 78.

Thursday's Results: Flight A: O'Beirne 44, McConnell 42, Leroy Culpepper and Johnston 41, Paul Bacon and Wilmas 40.

Flight B: Seymour Fleming 41, Archie Gates 40, Will Hyde, Duke Evans and Tom Hassell 39, Howard Hickman 37.

Flight C: Sid Tanner 47, Tony Guarino 45, Jim Waldie 43, George Aitken, Nelson Howers and Fred Carter 42.

In the Stableford, one point is won for a bogey, two for a par, three for a birdie and four for an eagle, all on a net basis.

Next week, it's the three best balls of foursome, net.

ATTENTIVE LISTENERS—The Port St. Lucie Republican Club members turned out in force last Thursday evening at the Community Center to hear Tommy Thomas, State Campaign Chairman for Ronald Reagan. Thomas urged his listeners to support the only man who can stop "the socialist societs we are leading to." "Governor Reagan is not and never has been part of the Washington syndrome," Thomas said.

Boehm joins the Navy

PORT ST. LUCIE--The U.S. Navy Recruiting Station in Fort Pierce has announced the active duty enlistment of Wade A. Boehm of 125 Aldea Court, Port St. Lucie, into the U.S. Navy.

After passing rigid entrance requirements, Boehm chose a career as an Electrician's Mate. He is currently undergoing nine weeks of recruit training at Orlando after which he will be afforded an opportunity to take up to 14 days leave.

Upon completion of his leave, he will report to the Navy's Electrician Mate school where he will learn the many aspects of generation, distribution and use of electricity in the Navy.

Nursing seminar is scheduled

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Indian River Community College Nursing Department and the St. Lucie Unit of the American Cancer Society have combined efforts to sponsor the second Continuing Education seminar for local nurses.

Entitled "Cancer Seminar for Nurses," the seminar will be held at the Sandpiper Bay Resort on Morningside Blvd. Port St. Lucie, on Friday, March 5, beginning at 8 a.m. Registration will be held from 8 to 9 a.m. Any area nurses who registered at the first seminar in November the registration will involve only $5 and luncheon charge of $5.

Duplicate bridge

STUART--The Stuart Duplicate Club held its regular weekly session on Wednesday, Feb. 11th at the Youth Center. There were eighteen tables in play, divided into sections.

In north-south, section A, South/East were Jack Siegman and Les Rossa 129; Gladys & Elmer Nordstrom 115; Polly Schulman & Flora Raffe 114; Olive Mahony & Marge Rose 106.

East West were Arch Gates & Mart Stapleton 133½; Louise Ressler & Stella McCoy 131½; Mary & Gerry Boyd 114; Isabel & Ralph Rigsbey 109.

Winners Section B, North/South were LaJune & Wayne Vaught 125½; Des Plunkett & Ted Wallick 108; Elwood Spickard & Sue Schlegel 104; Rudy Marrer & Ulrike Lutter 91½.

East West were Betts & Al Dinger 108; Vicky & Al Richard 103½; Soma & Ben Libson 91; JoAnn Myers & Arline Dunn 89.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. Wednesday evening at the Youth Center on Flagler Ave. All area duplicate players are welcome. Roger White is director and a partner is guaranteed.

Yacht Club will hear physician

PORT ST. LUCIE--Highlighting next week's regular Port St. Lucie Yacht Club meeting will be a film and lecture by Dr. George W. Fikia a chiropractic physician from Vero Beach.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting by Edris Kessler and her committee.

Meeting time is 8 p.m. Tuesday, February 24 at CESA.

SAND PILE--A Martin County Road Department recently dredged out the sand bar that had built up under the western relief span on the Jensen Beach Causeway. Removal of the sand bar displaced some pelicans that had been waiting for fishermen to toss them pieces of their daily catch.

New Yorkers take note

PORT ST. LUCIE--A Central New York Picnic has been set for Sunday, March 7 at Wickham Park, Melbourne starting at 1 p.m.

Participants are asked to bring lunch and beverages.

Doris A. Wendt, 1 Palo Alto Lane, Spanish Lakes, Port St. Lucie, Fl. 33452, phone 878 4033, has details.

...BEACH—Father Michael Sullivan, ...deParres Catholic Parish and ...of the fund raising program now under way, discuss "Project Outreach" by which the Parish hopes to raise sufficient funds to build a chapel and multi purpose center on the church's property located on South Savanna Road

Project outreach is started

JENSEN BEACH—The Catholic Community of St Martin dePorres on South Savanna Road in Jensen Beach is in the midst of a fund raising program to realize sufficient financial support for construction of a Chapel and multi purpose parish center.

In his official announcement of the drive, which is entitled "Project Outreach," Father Michael Sullivan, Pastor of the three year old Parish said that the estimated costs of construction will approximate $350,000.

While our proposed structure is still in the design phase of development we are leaning toward the multi purpose concept since such a plan will better suit the uniquely diversified requirements of a community of Catholics," said Father Sullivan. "In such a building the people can continue to grow in spirituality, the parish family can become a highly cohesive force and parish organizations can flourish thereby contributing more fully to the community at large," he added.

Dave Deci a founding member of the church has been named General Chairman for the St. Martin dePorres Project Outreach program which has recently surpassed the $100,000 mark in advance gift pledges.

Deci who has distinguished himself in Jensen Beach by his selfless devotion to and association with various governmental, civic and charitable activities is past president of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce and presently serves Martin County as Chairman of the Manpower Program.

"The people of St. Martin dePorres want their own building," said Deci, "and if our continuing advance gift phase donors prove as generous as those who have been asked to contribute, then I fully expect our goal will be achieved and the building realized at an early date."

Father Sullivan indicated that following design approval by the Archdiocese of Miami Building Commission working drawings will be completed, plans let to bid and contracts signed.

"They are now sitting on Mr. Henderson's desk," she added.

In addition, Philbrick has told Samaritans that the $20,000 slated for the building was cut to $10,000 due to the expense involved in a Rio Fire Department fire engine.

In the opinion of Vince Bocchino a builder, the building should cost $25,000 if built this year, but would probably increase in cost to $35,000 next year.

"The plans call for a squad room and three bays for the Samaritan ambulances.

"I'm the building supervisor but I have no building to supervise," Mrs. Bailey said.

100 artists expected at show

JENSEN BEACH—More than 100 artists are expected to exhibit their paintings at the Tenth Annual Jensen Beach Outdoor Art Festival March 6-7 at Langford Park.

We expect at least 1,200 paintings to be on exhibit during the two day show, chairman Ernie Baker said.

Sponsored by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce the annual festival is held to provide artists an opportunity to exhibit their works to the public.

Baker said he has sent applications to artists as far away as California and to several artists who live in New York and New Jersey.

The show will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day and the entry fee is $2.

Baker said each exhibitor will be allotted to feet of space on the fence for hanging pictures or space in the field for easels or tables.

The chairman also points out that each exhibit must be identified with a three by five card showing the name of the artist and the price of the work is offered for sale.

Last year almost 100 artists exhibited their work and Baker said this show should be the biggest in the 10-year history of the festival.

SHOW PAINTING. Ernie Baker, chairman of the Jensen Beach Outdoor Art Festival, holds one of the more than 100 paintings that will be on display for the 10th annual show at Langford Park March 6-7.

Florida Power & Light nuke hearings proceeding

JENSEN BEACH–A state hearing is under way in Fort Pierce to determine the radioactive protection measures Florida Power and Light Co (FPL) must implement in order to construct a second nuclear plant on Hutchinson Island.

In opening day testimony, four scientific experts said the proposed second nuclear generating unit poses a negligible radiation hazard to the surrounding communities.

Centering on questions of radiation and the plant's environmental impact, the hearings are expected to continue all week with participation by FPL, the state Department of Environmental Regulations, DER, and several intervenors.

St. Lucie Two, if it receives licensing requirements, will adjoin the St. Lucie One nuclear plant.

SPL witnesses said that the estimated radiation doses to individuals from all paths and from both reactors are trivial. And another witness added that radiation emissions of nuclear power plants are small indeed compared to natural background radiation and other man-made sources of radiation.

The hearings required prior to cabinet action on FPL's site application expected shortly, will be restricted to the radiological impact of a second nuclear unit. Similar hearings were conducted by the state last June, but the issues were restricted to the non-radiological aspect of the plant.

All testimony expected to be offered this week has been submitted in writing to hearing examiner Chris Bentley.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the construction firm of Ebasco Services, prime contractor for St. Lucie One, said recently that layoffs will occur almost daily between now and June, when the nuclear facility is scheduled to begin operation.

Ebasco workers under contract to FPL, have completed work on the containment building but still are occupied with final details on the auxiliary buildings.

An FPL spokesman said core-loading is planned for the first week in March.

Arthur Coulon is new associate

PORT ST. LUCIE. The Port St. Lucie property specialists gave a warm welcome last week to their newest associate, Arthur Coulon. Art, an experienced Port St. Lucie property specialist himself, has been helping people for seven and a half years become happy owners in the Port.

Besides his untiring efforts in real estate, Art keeps himself busy with other activities such as being the Director of the Port St. Lucie Community Center, a member of the St. Lucie County Board of Adjustment, incoming Vice Commander of the Port St. Lucie Yacht Club, and a member in good standing of the Port St. Lucie Masonic Club. Both he and his wife Sally reside in the community at 410 S. Saratoga.

Orchid Society meets Wednesday

STUART. The Martin County Orchid Society will meet on Wednesday, February 25 at 8 p.m. in the Levi Johnson Agricultural Center.

Members are asked to note the day change as the society's meetings are usually held on Thursday.

Members are reminded to bring orchid plants for the display table which will then be used in the Orchid Society exhibit at the Stuart Garden Club Show on February 27 and 28.

Bates Orchid Nursery will provide a color slide program on epicats, vandas, etc. for the Wednesday night session.

St. Joseph breakfast is March 7

JENSEN BEACH. The annual Parish Breakfast sponsored by St. Joseph's Guild will take place at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, March 7 at the Stuart Holiday Inn.

Father Edmund Gazewski will be the guest speaker and entertainment will be provided by Phillip Henkell, accordionist.

For reservations, call Tatiana Ryder, chairman, at 283-7560.

OPEN TOURNEY–Lois Humphreys, left, director, and Rose Marie Marchione, vice president, rolled the first ball officially opening Martin County Women's Bowling Association Annual Tournament at Jensen Lanes Saturday, Feb. 21. They are both dressed in Bicentennial gowns.

MCWBA tourney started Saturday

JENSEN BEACH–The 5th annual Martin County Women's Bowling Association championship tournament got under way over the weekend with team events bowled on Saturday and Sunday.

Single and double events are scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, February 28 and 29.

Entries for the competition include 16 teams, 104 singles, 52 doubles, 90 handicap all events and 11 scratch all events.

Two teams top bowlers

JENSEN BEACH–There was a first place tie in the team events in the Martin County Women's Bowling Tournament Feb. 21-22 at Jensen Lanes.

Bantam Mothers and Hyacinths both had 2888 scores, handicap.

Tweedie Birds placed third with 2831 and Tucker Insurance was fourth with a 2806 score.

North Jensen Texaco placed fifth with 2928 and Handy Lions came in sixth with 2901 score.

Other teams include Household Electric Servicemaster, Grumman Aerospace, Kreugers, Elnrist, Anchor Real Estate and Jensen Beach Industries, Inc.

All the bowlers on each team were given Bicentennial pens for a souvenir and the girl who bowled the highest series on her team received a lapel pin in the form of a Bicentennial drum.

Registration is extended

JENSEN BEACH–The Optimist Club of Jensen Beach will extend baseball and softball registration for another week. Final registrations will be taken this Saturday, February 28 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Langford Park.

The many federal forms

...GTON—Forms, forms, forms. The federal government is the proud author of some 5,146 forms sent out from Washington each and every year.

There are forms for the businessmen and taxpayers filling out forms for regulatory purposes. If there isn't a form for something, there is probably some bureaucrat hiding away somewhere trying to think up one.

It is no secret that Americans, both as individuals or as businesses, spend more than 130 billion hours each year just filling out forms.

That's why I have co-sponsored legislation to force the major regulatory agencies to justify their very existence or go out of business.

Under this proposal, the 11 major regulatory agencies would automatically get a zero budget. Then they would be forced to come to Congress to justify their work, to show that they have and are continuing to serve a real public need. Only if they can do that would they be given an appropriation.

And, if they can't, they would cease to exist. Agencies that are abolished would have their functions transferred to existing agencies so that the public would not lose any protection, just a non-functioning bureaucracy.

This would not only apply to the 11 existing major regulatory agencies — the Civil Aeronautics Board, Consumer Product Safety Commission, Environmental Protection Agency, Federal Communications Commission, Federal Maritime Agency, Federal Power Commission, Federal Trade Commission, Food and Drug Administration, Interstate Commerce Commission, Nuclear Regulatory Agency and the Securities and Exchange Commission. It would apply to any newly created regulatory body.

I don't expect this legislation would result in the abolition of all of these agencies, or in the abolition of many of them.

But I do expect it to force them to take a good, hard look at what they're doing, how they're doing it and what it is accomplishing.

It would require them to decide whether they are serving a useful purpose, or just carrying out an empire at taxpayer expense.

And it might even put an end to the red tape and paperwork obstacle course now personified by the federal government.

stories about businesses forced to shutdown because of arbitrary and often conflicting dictates from federal agencies.

Last June, U.S. News and World Report estimated it costs consumers and taxpayers $130 billion a year to comply with and support federal regulatory bodies. That's $2,000 added to the cost of the goods and services the average family purchases each year.

That is a high price to pay for regulations that may not be serving a purpose, for rules that may actually be working against us.

That's why I have co-sponsored legislation to force the major regulatory agencies to justify their very existence or go out of business.

Under this proposal, the 11 major

Letters to the editor

To the editor:

Recently there has been much controversy in the news media concerning the pros & cons of nuclear power. I would like to express my views on this subject. We are in an energy crisis as everyone knows and must plan our future course carefully. The demand for electric power keeps doubling every ten years and shows no signs of stopping. We must find economical means to supply this energy our very survival depends upon it.

...gas are in the long run not suitable for several reasons. First, if we rely on oil, we will have to mortgage our souls to the Arab nations. Second, all three sources are far more vital as the raw material for the petro-chemical industry which manufactures thousands of items from plastics to medicines upon which our society is dependent. To simply burn them to heat water is to me a sin.

Solar, Geo-thermal, Tidal, Wind and other alternative sources do not as yet offer any practical solution and will not for years.

Nuclear Fission power is a proven alternative. It has a safety record unparalleled in industry, in spite of scare statements by certain groups who are more dedicated to fostering dissent and impeding progress rather than a sincere concern to rationally evaluate the situation.

The history of mankind from the caveman to the present age has been marked by many significant milestones. Nuclear fission power is the state of the art today. If we as a people are to progress, we must be willing to meet the challenges of an advancing technology. We have always done this in the past and God willing, we will continue to do so in the future.

State attorney seeks files

JENSEN BEACH--The state attorney's office has ordered Martin County Sheriff James Holt to produce reports, tapes and payroll accounts in the investigation of two Sheriff Department deputies.

Holt received a subpoena for the information during the weekend, and has instructed personnel to gather the information requested by the state.

The information is sought in connection with the investigation and upcoming grand jury probe of Capt. Gerald Brown and Sgt. John Roberts of the Sheriff's Department. The two have been making probes of drug smuggling operations.

In the Holt subpoena, the state attorney's office seeks to obtain evidence of tapes and transcripts submitted and recorded by the investigation of 12 persons, including attorney Alton Beasley, Donnie Raulerson, Charles Ramps and Vance Thomas.

In a Fort Pierce drug case last summer, Beasley was convicted of delivery of marijuana, a misdemeanor conviction which he has appealed.

The state attorney's office wants Holt to supply information and records since January 1975 relating to Beasley and others involved in the incident which led to Beasley's conviction.

Those include Raulerson Ramps, who was acquitted in the incident. Others whose records were subpoened include Vincent McClendon Murphy LeBlanc, Douglas Simmons, Thomas John Peter Hinsel, David Bruner, Robert Cullinane, Michael Guttverdal, and Peter Michael Davis.

In a press release last week, State Attorney Robert Stone said he and Holt have had several discussions concerning the investigation of employees in the sheriff's department.

"Our investigation is near completion and we are prepared to present the entire matter to the grand jury. The matter has gone on for some time, and I feel it should be concluded," the state attorney said.

Sheriff Holt stated the cloud had been over his department for some time, and he wanted the matter concluded one way or the other. Stone said in his release.

bunko night

PORT ST. LUCIE--Barracks 2936, Veterans of World War I, will hold its monthly Bunko Party at the North Port Marina this Thursday, Feb. 26, starting at 8 p.m.

The games will be preceded by the regular meeting of the Barracks starting at 6:30 p.m.

Everybody is invited to participate in the Bunko games. Six prizes will be awarded and refreshments will be served. A nominal charge is made.

The committee in charge is Cedric Benz, chairman, Leo Malone, and Peter Specht.

CELEBRATING--Jerry and Alice DeHarge, popular managers of Riverside Village, are celebrating their 43rd wedding anniversary this Saturday, February 28, and reunion for 13 more years says Alice. They were married in Springfield, Mass., and have lived in Jensen Beach for 20 years. They have one daughter, Mrs. William Andrews, and two grandsons, Jerry and Billy. Their daughter and son-in-law will entertain family and close friends at a dinner party in their honor at the Royal Lion on Saturday evening. The DeHarges hope to embark on a seven-day Caribbean cruise early in March.

Pitt- the meeting of the two.

23-22 in an overtime thriller four weeks ago. Gold Coast's Kenny missed the second of two free throw attempts with :04 seconds left in overtime to give the Insurancemen the win. In their second game, two weeks ago, the Gold Coasters held Pittman scoreless in the last ten minutes en route to a 40-35 come-from-behind victory. At one point in that game, Pittman led by 14 points.

There are two factors in this playoff. First, it seems apparent that the Dargis-Kenny duo are fairly equal with Pittman's Hall-M. Delancy twosome. If one of these pairs dominates the other, the game could be over before it starts. But if they perform equally, then it comes down to their depth.

Pittman's third leading scorer, Pop Delancy, scored only 14 points in six games but makes up for his points drought with hustle. The same can be said for William Banks, who tallied 13 points on the year.

Gold Coast's offense, which produced an even 40 points a game, features Calvin Delancy, who tallied 39 points, the eighth highest total in the league. Guards Terry Wolf and Chris Crook (20 and 11 points, respectively) add more power to the Gold Coast attack. Thus, Gold Coast, with a solid five-man attack, is the favorite to win the title.

Immediately following the title tilt, the All-Stars will take to the courts against the champions, whoever they might be. Twelve All-Stars were picked, including all of the top ten scorers except John Wolf (ninth) and Donnie Wilkie (tenth). The All-Stars are: Leroy Wells, David Bocchino, and Tony Carnot (CWA); Jeff Hall, Malcolm Delancy, Pop Delancy and William Banks (Pittman); Tim Dargis, David Kenny, and Calvin Delancy (Gold Coast); and Gregg Jackson and John Geraghty (Kiwanis).

Members of this team will travel to Palm Beach Gardens on March 13 for a first round game in a tournament. One week earlier, Palm Beach Gardens' team will come here to play an exhibition game.

All-Stars who play for the champions, whoever they turn out to be, will be playing for their team against the remaining All-Stars in this Saturday's All-Star game.

Optimist kickers defeat Port St. Lucie, 5-2

JENSEN BEACH–In their second game against Port St. Lucie this year, the Optimist Kickers opened the scoring with Roger Swicker PSL tied it up shortly after, but Dean Tucker scored the first goal of three (hat trick) to make the halftime score 2-1 for Jensen.

Early in the second half, Port St. Lucie tied the score 2-2, then it was touch and go for awhile until Dean Tucker drilled in two more and John Conklin booted one in to make the final score: Jensen 5, Port St. Lucie 2.

In the second game of the afternoon, first place Steelers went up against the last place Dolphins who showed they had no intention of staying in last place.

The first half was close with Dolphin Chuck Areni scoring the first of three goals (hat trick) to make it 1-0 Dolphins at halftime.

In the second half, the Dolphins put it all together. Areni scored his second, Rich Luther, Jay Brock and Ray Atkinson scored one each, and Areni drilled in his third goal.

To prevent a shutout, Rich Lord scored for the Steelers to make the final score 6-1 Dolphins.

Shawver unbeaten; All-Stars named

JENSEN BEACH–CF Shawver Construction concluded a perfect season Saturday with a 15-8 win over the Lions Club, for their sixth straight win.

Shawver broke the game open in the fourth quarter, shutting out the Lions 7-0. Todd Jackson put them ahead with seven minutes left in the game, and then salted away the win with a free throw in the late moments of the contest. Eric Gray and Chuck Dixon each had hoops in the final canto. Jackson had five points for the winners, while Bruce Dufaines led the losers with four.

In the other game, CWA bombed the Optimist Club 18-8. It was the most points scored by one team in the lower division this season. Billy Mang had a season high 10 points while four of his teammates scored two each. League scoring champion Wilfred Wiles had four points for the Optimists.

This Saturday at 2 p.m. the All-Stars will play CF Shawver. Members of the All-Stars are: Jeff Gray, Todd Jackson and Brian Lambeth (Shawver); Natalie West and Billy Mang (CWA); Wilfred Wiley and Jeff Meyer (Optimist); and John Atkinson, Jack Crowley, and Bruce Delancy (Lions).

Members of Shawver on the All-Stars will play for their team against the All-Stars. The team of stars will host Palm Beach Gardens in an exhibition on Feb. 6th, at Langford Park.

Bicentennial show winners named

JENSEN BEACH–The Bicentennial Art Show at the Elliott Museum sponsored by Halpatiokee Chapter of DAR and coordinated by Madelene Rebenser, was divided into two main categories: historical painting and regular exhibition of oils, acrylics and mixed media, water colors, pastels and graphics.

Best of show in the historical division went to Carol Kepp for "Cannon in the Woods."

Margaret Dustin's "Colonial Wash Day" took first place. Third went to Norma Parker's "Colonial Lady." Ringer's "Antique Bouquet" third and Madelene Trombower took fourth with "Church and Liberty Bell."

Misty Morning by Herman Riemann won best of show honors in the regular exhibit category.

Oil painting winners were Carol Kepp first for "Beach Scene." Margaret Dustin second for "Spring Rain," a Friendly Race by Erna Black third, and fourth Lillian Moore's "Quaking Aspen."

Acrylic mixed media winners were Micky Wagstaff's "Flowers." Adrian Shuring second. Boats of Holland Ruth Bowmans "Cottage" third and "The Golden Falcon" by DeStefano fourth.

Hubert Neuburger took first place in the water color pastel graphic division with a watercolor landscape. Helen Manchester second also with a watercolor landscape third place to Jam Bird for her pastel portrait and Helen Manchester's "Ye Old Inn" graphic took fourth honors.

The exhibit was presented last Sunday. Judges were Mrs. Janet Hutchinson, Mrs. Hubert Wells and Mrs. Charles Taggaselle.

USPS informs consumers

JENSEN BEACH–The greatest enemy of the mail order client is the informed consumer, Postmaster Harold Salzler said today. That's what Postal Consumer Protection is there to shield the honest yet informed consumer.

Although the vast majority of mail order firms are honest, reliable and necessary to U.S. economy, a few bad apples can spoil the rest of the basket, he said.

Being aware is the best way to combat the spoilers. Postal Consumer Protection Week, February 23-28 is designed to inform the public of available postal consumer assistance, the Postmaster added.

Not only can informed persons protect themselves and their families but they can also help alert the Postal Service to rackets and schemes which may be costing American consumers more than an estimated $395 million a year, he said.

One flexible and relatively new consumer protection program in operation at the Postal Service combines the talents of the Postal Inspection Service, the Service's Consumer Protection Office and its Consumer Advocate in resolving complaints of alleged mail-order swindles when postal customers fail to receive merchandise ordered, refunds promised or find that the product or service purchased is not as advertised.

You see, Salzler added, shopping by mail can be time-saving and thrifty. While other shoppers fight each other for parking spaces, the mail order shopper can relax at home while making purchases. And be assured, we at the Postal Service will protect the right to continue to shop by mail with confidence.

In 1971 the Postal Service's Consumer Advocate Office and Consumer Protection Office began for the first time to notify legitimate mail order merchants of postal customer complaints against them.

The program was successful. It was extended nationwide after test results registered approximately 80 per cent of customer complaints resolved. The postmaster said.

Complaints alleging fraud or misrepresentation of products and services sold by mail are reviewed by the Inspection Service and a determination is made whether to initiate enforcement action to terminate continuing commercial deception or where it appears the mailer is merely operating under inadequate controls to settle informally under the consumer protection program. The consumer is notified in each case of the action taken.

F.I.T. loses to Miami-Dade

JENSEN BEACH–The neophyte Florida Institute of Technology tennis team in Jensen Beach fell before an experienced Miami-Dade Central team, 8-1, in its intercollegiate schedule last Thursday.

In scoring, Kevin Beck was defeated by Tom Wright, 3-6, 6-4, 1-6. Scott Downing lost to Steve Keppinger, 0-6, 0-6. Fred Styer was defeated by Albert Bettran, 1-6, 1-6. Chuck Capone bowed to Doug Cramer, 0-6, 3-6. Paul Harran was defeated by Calixto Ingle, 1-6, 1-6.

In the only FIT win, Dean Sutton defeated Christian Garcia, 7-5, 4-6, 6-2.

In doubles, Beck and Capone were defeated by Bettran-Keppinger, 0-6, 2-6. Styles and Harrais were defeated by Wright and Cramer, 2-6, 4-6, and Downing and Sutton were defeated by Telecher and Tataglou, 3-7, 0-6.

North Port winners

PORT ST. LUCIE–Scores of the odd holes minus half your handicap was the play for the North Port St. Lucie Ladies when they met at the Holiday Country Club of Stuart on Wednesday.

Winners were:

A Class: Fran Sellers, 31 Alys Scott, 32.

B Class: Betty Fields, 26; Eleanor Rose, 28.

C Class: Jane DeVore, 28; Regina Justi, 29.

D Class: Jane Schmidt, 26; Mary Schlesinger, 32.

The second annual tournament will begin on Wed. March 3 and will run through the 31st with the banquet being held on April 7th to award the prizes.

Card party planned

PORT ST. LUCIE–A get acquainted card party has been scheduled by the Democratic Women of St. Lucie County, for Tuesday, March 2.

The affair will be held at the North Port Marina starting at 1 p.m.

Refreshments will be served, however those attending are asked to bring their own cards.

Two girls in contest

STUART–Two Stuart girls are the first to enter the 1976 Martin County Fair Lady Contest which will be the opening night program at the fairgrounds on March 8.

Nancy Mackie, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mackie, was the first applicant followed closely by Lora Sailes also 17, years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Sailes.

'Hamfest' is slated for Saturday

JENSEN BEACH–The Bicentennial Hamfest will be held Saturday, Feb. 28, at the Tri-County Rehabilitation Center.

Ham radio operators from about 40 states are expected for the meeting.

A spokesman for the Hamfest points out that the program is good for the entire year.

Gertrude and Lowell Foster have acquired a second great grandchild their granddaughter Linda and her husband Chester Woodles of Montgomery, Alabama have a son, Dustin Lowell after his great grandfather. Woodles who was born February 2, 1976.

Mrs. Nelle Carter, Alice Tweit's mother is back again visiting Alice and Emil glad to be in the sunshine after the rigors of Clinton, Wisconsin and plans to remain for two months.

Sue Art Starrett's with the poodle belonging to the new bride, Alice Bradford McBrair and he explained he was dogsitting until she and Bob return from their honeymoon trip.

Rachel and Rene Hogue have found North so Mrs. Hogue can have treatment closer to home and their son Lowell and his wife will follow shortly.

Grace Stetser has a big smile on her face these days because her daughter and son in law, Grace and Bob Merlo are here for their vacation from Latham, New York.

The Eastlacks are entertaining their daughter Dorothy and son-in-law, Don Fuhrmeister of Woodbury, New Jersey, who drove down accompanied by their daughter Karen. They are enjoying the beach and the ocean and are acquiring a good portion.

We sang Happy Birthday to Julie Ettner during the Pot Luck Supper on the 16th although Julie's birthday is February 15 when her son Gene and daughter in law Martha hosted a birthday dinner at their home in Stuart.

Then we learned that Bea Penrod's birthday would be the next day, the 17th, so we sang to her also.

Jack Binns informed us his birthday occurred in July when he and Olive would be at their home in Canada, so we sang to him too.

Babe and Lucy Adamson have been busy, their grandson Ken Bair is here from Pittsburg, Pennsylvania for his vacation and they went to Orlando to meet Lucy's sister Adelin Laurie who flew down from Gilliam, Missouri, then on to Kuntis, Florida to attend the International Avion Trailer get together with Everett and Marion Stone, and to the Rally in Camp Wilderness at Disney World.

Last Monday morning, our Art instructor Grace Gwen put some of us to work doing a woodland scene and the rest of us on whatever we chose.

The four remaining members of the Tweit family, Emil and his brother-tile, both of whom live in our park, a sister Tone Tweit, who came from Oslo, Norway to be reunited with Emil after 48 years and another sister, Gunhild Carlson from New York City had a family reunion at the home of Alice and Emil. Tone is planning to stay until the end of April, at least.

Emil, who is our Resident Banana King, told me he lent a clump of that delectable fruit because of the cold weather, but more are on the way.

News of Nettles Island

BY DOROTHY ENGEL

Mother Nature really cooperated last week and we had a large number of northerners benefiting from the lovely weather as school boards had a semester break and many families left the snow behind to come to Nettles Island. The new swimming pool, shuffleboard courts and rec hall were buzzing with activities.

Ed Brown was the horseshoe champion of winter last week and accepted a challenge from Jim Daly last winter's champ with the match to be played on Monday, Feb 23.

The "Small Fry" and their teachers are having a delightful time at the Saturday morning story hours. About a dozen children participate and more are welcome. They listen to stories and records and are making their own picture notebooks and learning how to use the library.

More books and records are needed. If you have any, bring some along on your next trip to the resort.

Are there any volunteers who would like to use their special skills in story telling, singing, etc. to help in this project?

Last Wednesday, about 60 members of the Women's Club and a few husbands met in the parking lot at the rec hall, drove to Stuart and embarked on a delightful cruise down the river. The trip took them down the intercoastal waterway, way beyond Hobe Sound. The guide pointed out the homes belonging to celebrities, such as Vaughn Monroe and Frances Langford to name a couple.

The river narrows past the St Lucie Inlet where they viewed a large number of birds. All in all, the 3½ hour trip was most delightful with weather made to order.

The horses were running again on the Nettles Island Raceway Saturday night providing a lot of fun and excitement. With Dave Henry as announcer and Matt Vogel figuring the odds there was never a dull moment. Out on the track with the prancing horses were our lovely jockeys, Ruth Belevance, Monica Hudnall and Lee Vogel.

While the bets were being placed refreshments were available.

If you haven't been to our race night yet, don't miss the next one. There's a good chance you'll be a winner.

Proceeds go to the Lot Owners Association.

Square dancing highlighted Sunday evening. Ray Theisman, lot 36-1, who did it last year, is running the program for the group.

Basic steps were taught with tapes. Club level dancing followed with an enthusiastic crowd, many gaily dressed, ready for a good time.

I bet a lot of the onlookers will be in there trying it themselves next Sunday. Everyone's welcome. Sundays at 7 p.m.

Polly Hall will play the organ this Wednesday for our pot luck dinner, music and evening entertainment.

Last week's slide program was very enjoyable. The committee is still looking for a slide projector, so if you know anyone wanting to sell one, contact the recreation department. Entertainment ideas would be welcome, too.

Thursday morning the dedication of the barbeque pits on lot 1070 took place with an orange pancake breakfast for all the workers.

It was the idea of Sam Nealey, who drew the plans, and Marlin Marquardt, who carried them to completion.

The project was sponsored by the Men's Club. The Women's Club tried to help, but the men gave them back their money. So, the women will do something to beautify the area later.

The willing workers were Francis Burns, the first bricklayer, closely followed by Bob Boykin. Brick haulers and cement mixers were Howard McCracken, Sterling Cole, Mike Irish and Don Kitchen. Sod layer was Clark Johnson and Val Leger and Elmer Hagen did the electrical work. Glen Rickert was responsible for the fine brick laying and Pat Conway acted as cashier.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cowen visited Bob and May Tifft for a week. The Tiffts didn't want to influence them, left the decision up to them and, sure enough, the Cowens left as proud owners of a lot and trailer.

Our condolences go out to Bobby Lord and his family who lost their father John Lord last week. Many of us in the resort were acquainted with Mr. Lord.

Our congratulations are extended to Don Paris, lot owner here, who has been promoted to Chief of Security for Nettles Island.

The committee in charge of last week's well-planned share dinner was Karl and Elizabeth Duffield, Margaret Elken, George Marsh, Bob and Cap Brice, Ed and Fern Hill, Andy and Ethel Bullock.

Andy gave the table grace and Bob Brice announced the birthdays and anniversaries, asking that guests be introduced by their hosts. Red, white and blue streamers and American flags graced the tables. Eighty persons enjoyed the large variety of delicious food.

Some stayed for a sing along with Cap Brice at the piano. Our guests said it was a wonderful affair.

Mid-week Coffee had a good attendance on Saturday. Russell Allen and Ed Stuart were hosts and games were played.

Eleven threes turned out for lying on Friday night. Lorin Hankes and Fred Ballard called the games.

The Hymn sing group, rejoicing, practiced again Sunday for the Fri. morning, better night sing.

Lorri Mc Guire, 11 year old granddaughter of the Clubhouse, wanting to use the piano. Miss Woodruff is also practicing, singing for a Feb. coronation up north.

Bill Lovegood and Walter Atwood were the ushers at the three-handed round robin played on the 23rd.

Full house for party

JENSEN BEACH. Due to a brisk demand for tickets to their Mar Di Gras Ball, scheduled for February 28 at the Elks clubhouse in Stuart, the Gulfstream American Club is unable to fill anymore orders for tickets.

The sell-out is attributed to the original Mountain Climbers, the original Hawaiian Band from West Palm Beach, who played here and in Fort Pierce at Thunder Fests last fall.

Our place is getting back to normal after having four friends here for ten days. They enjoyed their visit, especially associating with the friendly folks here. They liked shuffling and fell in love with the art of shelling. We were pleased with their visit and are glad they liked it all so much.

It is a pleasure to report that Carl Roman is at home again and send our good wishes.

And to all — Peace.

PINE LAKE VILLAGE

Pine Cones

BY BOB RAMSEY
334-5547

Are you there? Paying attention? Eyes and ears." Probably not. It is the Sunday morning after Saturday night before, and as the sun rises majestically out of the east where else, and the cattle meander to pasture and the kids ride the horses down the road to school, me I sit fat, dumb, and happy, writing a column when I would rather to say that any self respecting Pinelake resident is still in the sack, especially at 6:30 a.m., and Go Go sitting at my feet, a disgusted look on his face as much as to say "Are you all right?" Anyhow, here goes.

Pinelake Village Night at the Races. When we undertook the project, we viewed it with trepidation. Being a relatively new Park, there was no question that there was concern on the part of a handful of nervous Nellies as to whether it would work or not. Such concern was wasted since it turned out to be a smashing success! Let's give credit where credit is due - A crowd of some two hundred lovers of horse flesh attended; or maybe it was the inclination to make a buck or two.

There was Bob Palmer who bore the brunt of organizing the whole affair, doing a bang up job during the whole night; Rita Palmer, with an advance sale of 280 tickets, which as anyone knows, is no easy job, guys like Howard Arkins, Bob Peterson, Joe Devries, Camiel LaCluyse, Ray Bates, and bringing up the rear and cleaning up after the horses, Jim Bruyn.

Then we come to Esther Yost with her crew of hash slingers, Rachel LaCluyse, Doris Peterson, Rosie DeVries, Mary Bates, Kate Ramsey, Bam Bruyn, Edith Devitt, plus others who jumped in to help. All who gave of their efforts above and beyond the call of duty are entitled to The Pinelake Unit Citation, the Purple Heart and the undying gratitude of all residents.

At the end of the evening, Bob Palmer auctioned off the entire Bake Sale, and anything else that wasn't nailed down including the furniture, but Ransom Tilton balked at this. The only sour note of the evening was when he refused to auction off the sourkraut which we were up to our ears in, and that was not intended as a sour joke. And, while the whole thing was going on, the ducks were outside the doors hoping they would get a hand out!

In a more serious vein, proceeds will go to The Kidney Foundation and our local ambulance squad. We'll have more information later on this and will keep you aware of the time the presentation will take place.

So, what else is new?

Skip and Russ Stevens have been entertaining friends for the past two or three weeks. First, there was Jim Pattison and his wife Marie, of Hancock, N.Y. Russ and Jim's friendship goes back fifty years or more to the time when they hopped their first ice wagon together.

Then came Dudley and Alice Vees of Satellite Beach, Don and Helen MacLean of Boca Raton and Arthur and Helen Mandeville of St. Pete. They brought along an album with pictures going back that 50 years. Bet that was a session. "Was that a zoot suit with a reet pleat?" Anyway, they all would up at the Outrigger for dinner.

Everyone of their guests had high praise for the park and, whether they know it or not, may wind up here with the rest of us. Who knows? Incidentally, this Pattison guy was the one who raided our poker game for gas on the way home, and almost lost a couple of fingers feeding the ducks. They were that hungry. And, what are you doing with your stale bread?

Met Al McIntyre for the first time at the Night at the Races. He and Estelle are at 122 LaVaughn Circle for two weeks with their guest Lillian Horn of Saddle Brook, N.J., Ethel's sister. I'm told also that Ethel took our last bingo jackpot.

Here's that Bruyn again--after a vulgar display of throwing money around and buying a TV, Bam tells me (and this is an exclusive) Jim has now decided to go all out, since he is getting fed up with walking or running a hundred yards with a lantern at 3 a.m., and is now putting in inside plumbing. --And, she is getting tired of cleaning kerosene wicks and chimneys. Just showing off, that's all. But, you've got to admit one thing, the kid has heart and swings a wicked vacuum cleaner at the Club House after an affair, little knowing that once you do a job in Pinelake, you are married to it from then on. Of course, you could hear him muttering under his breath something about "What a dirty, rotten bunch of litterbugs!"

And, suddenly I stopped dead in my tracks, choked up, and tears came to my eyes cause there stood my old buddy Leroy, whom I have not seen for a year or more. Leroy, where were you when I needed you? After a heart-rending reunion of a few minutes, I started taking his bets and all was right with the world.

At the risk of being repititous, two points more and I'll let you get back to your boob tube. First, extra portions of thanks to Ray Bates for the job he did on publicity for the Night at the Races. It received the widest possible publicity through the news media but it required leg work. Nice job Ray.

The other point is that Irene and Larry O'Donnell would like to personally thank everyone who participated through work and attendance. They want everyone to know that Larry, who is a hemo-dialysis patient, tells it is only through efforts of this kind, with a resulting backing of research, that eventually the problem can be licked. Feel good about it. We had a good time and enjoyed giving to a worthy cause.

Marie Sydoriak and Gene Gray are still resting up. Hope to see you both riding bikes before long and yelling "Look Mom, no teeth!"

+ + +

Want to really date yourself? In the old movie "Rio Rita" starring Bebe Daniels, who was the comedy team?

Clean out that closet you've been talking about and take your Geritol.

See you next week.

Club held annual dance

JENSEN BEACH--The Anchor Line Yacht Club held its annual commodore's ball at the Stuart-Jensen Elks Lodge on Friday, February 20. There were more than one hundred seventy-five members and guests in attendance. This event climaxed a year of club activities, under the direction of their outgoing Commodore Dillard Collier, Sr.

Officers and directors elect were installed by past commodore Edward Nix.

The Officers installed were Lon Wear, Commodore; Lesley Wen, Vice Commodore; Robert McGraw, Rear Commodore; Anita Gibson, Treasurer; Virginia Yankovich, Secretary; Frank Robertson, Fleet Captain.

The new Directors are Ned Cooper, Gerald Gamber, Max Nell and Charles Tiffin. Still on the board to complete their two-year-term are Ione Gertie, Austin Loucks, Fred Marquardt and Len Wilkins.

The retiring directors are Rae Carroll, Robert Conkling, William Heger and John Marshall. The Fleet Captain, Arthur Penick, having completed his 1975 term, also retired.

Auxiliary plans dinner

JENSEN BEACH--At next week's meeting of the Jensen Beach Fire Department Auxiliary, plans and favors will be made for the dinner party to be held at 6 p.m. Saturday, March 13, at the Fire House.

Meeting time is 8 p.m. Monday, March 1.

Capt. Phillips at Ohio

JENSEN BEACH--U.S. Air Force Captain Donald J. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Phillips of Jensen Beach, has arrived for duty at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio.

Captain Phillips is a psychiatrist with the USAF medical center.

Sandpiper Invitational Tennis draws top talent

PORT ST. LUCIE--Tournament director Mario Obando predicts wide open battles for the men's and women's singles and doubles titles in the Second Annual Sandpiper Bay Invitational Tennis Championships scheduled here Feb. 27-29.

Obando, who sent out invitations in January, said early response for the renewal, which is sanctioned by both the Florida Lawn Tennis Association and the USLTA, has been enthusiastic.

"In addition to top pros and amateurs in Florida," said Obando, "I have received acceptances from very good players as far away as Connecticut, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. The quality of play this year will be very high."

Obando, a three-time Costa Rican national champion and former top varsity player at Penn State, said acceptances have been received from former Swedish Davis Cup player Sven Ginman of Miami, Kevin McCarthy of Vero Beach, Bob Grossman of Stuart, Jack Biedenharn, professional at Indian River Community College in Fort Pierce and Allen Quay of Fort Pierce.

The Sandpiper Bay professional said he expects last year's men's singles winner, Jim Boyce of Toronto, to defend his title in the 1976 renewal. Boyce, a former Canadian Davis Cupper, defeated Miguel Olvera, former Davis Cup star from Ecuador, for the 1975 title.

Obando said leading women players who will play this year includ former Rollins College star Ann Flint of Hartford, Conn., Patty Frutiger of Miami who was ranked seventh in Florida in 1975, Mary Anne Biddiscombe of Coral Gables and pro Ruth Barnett of West Palm Beach.

The field, which is limited to 64 men and 32 women, will also include teenager Mike Dickinson of Maitland, Fla., a top-ranked junior, Mark Padilla, a member of the University of Miami's 1975 varsity team, Alan Benson and Bill Cantrell of Tampa and Murry Evans and Grey King of Mobile, Ala.

All matches will be held on Sandpiper Bay's 11 championship courts, starting at 1 p.m. Friday, Feb. 27. Additional bleachers will be erected at the resort's new tennis pavilion to accommodate spectators. Admission will be free.

Obando said all matches will be best 2 out of 3 sets with a 9-point tie breaker if a match goes to six-all. Entries for the tournament close Feb. 25 at 6 p.m. and Obando will announce the draw Feb. 26 at 5 p.m.

Savannas purchase closer

JENSEN BEACH--A state official will meet with Savanna property owners Thursday, March 4 at the Walton Community Center, Dr. Walter Stokes said Monday.

Norman McMillan, purchasing agent for the Bureau of Land Acquisition, Division of Recreation and Parks, will discuss purchase of the savannas with the property owners.

"We will be getting down to the actual signing of contracts," Dr. Stokes said.

We are turning a very important corner (purchasing the vast wet lands," Dr. Stokes continued.

Dr. Stokes headed the committee of "Save the Savannas" composed of Martin and St. Lucie County residents who worked to get the state to purchase the vast marsh land extending from the Jensen Beach Cutoff Road north to Midway Road in St. Lucie County.

Nothing has been signed yet, Dr. Stokes added, "but we are at the point of nailing it down."

Meanwhile, a national public charity has unveiled plans to make available 200 acres of the Savannas to the state at $100 an acre -- one-fifth the appraised acre value.

The trust for Public Land said it has arranged to purchase the 200 acre tract at $50 an acre from General Development Corp. (GDC), the largest landholder in the Savannas.

The trust uses profits from resale to acquire and convey land for open space needs of the public.

Resale of the GDC tract to the state, according to plan, would be contingent on the state's acceptance of certain conditions, including a proposed land management plan.

The management plan would be developed jointly by the trust, GDC, the Department of Natural Resources and local conservation groups.

Trust official Joel Kuperberg revealed the proposed resale of the GDC tract at a meeting of the Martin County Conservation Alliance.

Kuperberg said the DNR would be approached with the proposal as soon as GDC draws up an option for sale.

The Savannas has been earmarked by the state as a high priority purchase in an environmentally endangered lands program passed by the state Legislature in 1972.

More than $9 million of a $200 million bond issue was set aside by the state for purchase of the Savannas.

Residents protest, ordinance is tabled

PORT ST. LUCIE--A proposed ordinance designed to prohibit any commercial activity within a residentially zoned area was the topic of much discussion at Tuesday morning's Council meeting.

One resident, Mrs. Mark Stevens, termed the ordinance as discriminatory and claimed the document was aimed directly at their Port St. Lucie home used as a model for Chevrolier Builders, Inc., while occupied by her and her husband.

The model is located at 1665 S.E. Port St. Lucie Boulevard and, until September of 1975, had been used by Hawk Realty, Inc., as a branch office. At that time the city refused to reissue an occupational license.

Mrs. Stevens stated the document, levying a fine up to $300 and/or thirty days in jail for violators, represents nothing short of "economic black mail."

Mayor Schuyler Sharpe denied the statement, saying the ordinance was not directed towards the model home being used as a residence any more than it was directed at the auto mechanics, furniture builders of anyone else using their residences as a headquarters for conducting business.

The Stevenses maintain no real estate business is conducted within their home.

We are simply using our home as a builder's model, a place where he can display his wares," she told the Council, adding that all contracts were written at our broker's office, Interstate Realty on U.S.1.

Councilman Larry Kimmel was of the opinion the proposed ordinance was redundant.

The city is zoned, we have a noise abatement and a nuisance ordinance on the books. I should think the latest piece of legislation is redundant," Kimmel said, suggesting ordinance 26.8 be dropped.

While the city maintains the ordinance was intended to eliminate all business activities from residentially zoned areas, it was pointed out by the opposition that there are many businesses being conducted in private homes. The insurance representative, the architect, an interior decorator and a locksmith were cited as examples of those who have been issued occupational licenses with the only addresses listed as their residences.

With that, the first reading of the ordinance was tabled until a later workshop session. At that time the Council will try to decide exactly where the line is to be drawn.

Another complaint registered by residents attending the session was that, although the proposed ordinance was discussed briefly at last week's workshop session, it did not appear on the workshop agenda.

If my wife had not been at city Hall last week, this ordinance would have been passed today," Stevens told The Mirror later Tuesday.

PSL homeowners protest lawsuit

PORT ST. LUCIE--Vern Forrar, president of the Port St. Lucie Homeowners Association, Tuesday urged City officials to abandon efforts to collect nearly $50,000 allegedly owed by several former and one present councilmember.

Reporting to the Council on behalf of the executive council of the homeowners group, Forrar said:

"We, the executive council, do not want the Port St. Lucie City Council to take any court or other action in regards to those monies they claim are due from present and former councilmembers as a result of the suit brought about by certain people in 1975."

Forrar explained that in view of the fact that no indictments were forthcoming from the Grand Jury, his committee felt the entire matter should be dropped, not only as a matter of economics, but to bring harmony to the City of Port St. Lucie.

Woman's Club is one year old

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Port St. Lucie Woman's Club will be one year old in March. It has grown from its original 22 charter members, with Mrs. Donald Fisher, president, to its present limit of 100 with a waiting list for prospective members. Their activities are many and varied.

February 26 members and their guests will attend the Manatee Dinner Theater performance of Barefoot in the Park". Mrs. Robert Johnston, chairman, and her assistants, Mrs. Harold Brodie and Mrs. Jim Hannum, announce it is a dinner evening.

March 20 there will be a flower fashion show card party at 12:30 p.m. at the Sandpiper Bay Club. Fashions will be by [illegible]. Reservations may be made by calling 334-2562 or 878-1873.

March 25 an "Irish Affair" to be held at the CESA building at 6 p.m. Members, their husbands and guests will enjoy a fun evening together at a pot luck supper. Mrs. Harold Brodie is chairman. For reservations call 334-0905, 878-0312, 334-2513. March 1 deadline is March 12.

The accomplishments are many. The club has contributed funds to Kendall Girl's Ranch, TOT LOT in the Port St. Lucie recreational area, the St. Lucie Elementary School beautification program, youth programs at Sportsman Park and Stuart Rehabilitation Center.

The club is promoting the sale of flags, hoping each member will fly the flag this Bicentennial year. Call Mrs. Harold Brodie 878-0533 for kits.

The Port St. Lucie Woman's Arts and Crafts Show produced 200 ribbon winners. Three entries won ribbons at the Florida 10th District Woman's Club Festival, and a Star ribbon winner, Mrs. Roger Jones, will take her jacket costume to the State Woman's Club Arts Fair in April.

Club members enjoyed a trip to the Norton Museum in Palm Beach when they were given a tour of the museum by the very able executive director emeritus, Grant Bedford.

Mrs. Joseph Fiester chaired the December Charity Ball, a very successful fund raising event of the club year.

GDC gets grass in city contract

PORT ST. LUCIE--It would seem the problem of grass cutting at Sportsman Park has been solved.

A resolution was passed unanimously Tuesday by councilmembers authorizing the mayor and city clerk to execute a contract with General Development Corporation for the grass cutting job. For this service the City will pay GDC $2,330 per year.

According to Elmer Cox, city administrator, two other firms were contacted without success. One of the firms did not have adequate equipment to handle the job and the second was simply not interested.

City adds cop and car

PORT ST. LUCIE--The first official step toward beefing up the police protection in Port St. Lucie was taken Tuesday when the Council voted unanimously to employ a full-time deputy and a patrol car. Total cost of the package will be $26,268.

Tuesday's actions were in line with the recommendations made last week by St. Lucie County Sheriff Lannie Norvell, who also suggested the organization of a ten-deputy auxiliary police force to supplement the protection.

Recent crime statistics indicated drastic increases in vandalism and burglaries in this south county community, most of which are occuring during daylight hours.

The new deputy will patrol the city during the select hours.

While the city officials had indicated an interest in the organization of an auxiliary police force, no move has been made at this time to secure the volunteers.

City Administrator Cox was authorized to pursue this possibility.

PARADE OF FLAGS--Bantam bowlers carried the flags in the opening ceremonies of the Martin County Women's Bowling Association Annual Tournament at Jensen Lanes Feb. 21. Kim Bergstraesser carried the American Flag, David Axton carried the Florida State Flag, and Tresa Gilbert carried the Bicentennial Flag.

BEACH CEREMONY--Martin County Commissioner Timer Powers presided at the first official bronze plaque monument ceremony for the public beach access strip on Hutchinson Island. Mrs. Virginia Forrest, center, was selected to take part in the ceremony because she was the first individual to contribute the entire amount of $25,000 needed for the beach access strip together with matching funds. Commissioner Maggs Hurchalla looks on.

State attorney seeks files

JENSEN BEACH--The state attorney's office has ordered Martin County Sheriff James Holt to produce reports, tapes and payroll accounts in the investigation of two Sheriff Department deputies.

Holt received a subpoena for the information during the weekend and has instructed personnel to gather the information requested by the state.

The information is sought in connection with the investigation and upcoming grand jury probe of Capt. Gerald Brown and Sgt. John Roberts of the Sheriff's Department. The two have been making probes of drug smuggling operations.

In the Holt subpoena, the state attorney's office seeks to obtain evidence of tapes and transcripts submitted and recorded by the investigation of 12 persons, including attorney Alton Beasley, Donnie Rauderson, Charles Ramps and Vance Thomas.

In a Fort Pierce drug case last summer, Beasley was convicted of delivery of marijuana, a misdemeanor conviction which he has appealed.

The state attorney's office wants Holt to supply information and records since January 1975 relating to Beasley and others involved in the incident which led to Beasley's conviction.

Those include Rauderson, Ramps who was acquitted in the incident, others whose records were subpoenaed include Vincent McClendon, Murphy LeBlanc, Douglas Simmons, Thomas John Peter Hinsel, David Bruner, Robert Cullinane, Michael Gunnerdal and Peter Michael Davis.

In a press release last week, State Attorney Robert Stone said he and Holt have had several discussions concerning the investigation of employees in the sheriff's department.

"Our investigation is near completion and we are prepared to present the entire matter to the grand jury. The matter has gone on for some time and I feel it should be concluded," the state attorney said.

Sheriff Holt stated the cloud had been over his department for some time, and he wanted the matter concluded one way or the other. Stone said in his release.

CELEBRATING--Jerry and Alice DeRarge, popular managers of Riverside Village, are celebrating their 43rd wedding anniversary this Saturday, February 28, and credit for 43 more ... says Alice. They were married in Springfield, Mass. and have lived in Jensen Beach for 21 years. They have one daughter, Mrs. William Andrews, and two grandsons, Jerry and Billy. Their daughter and son-in-law will entertain family and close friends at a dinner party in their honor at the Royal Lion on Saturday evening. The DeRarges hope to embark on a seven-day Caribbean cruise early in March.

Art show, pancakes at Langford Park

JENSEN BEACH—Several thou[sand] are expected to jam Langford Park this weekend to [see] the Tenth Annual Art Festival and [pan]cake breakfast sponsored by the Jensen Beach Lions Club.

The art show, with more than 100 [artists] exhibiting their paintings, will open at 9 a.m. Saturday, March 6 and continue through Sunday.

The Lions Club will hold a fertilizer sale Saturday and the annual March pancake breakfast will start at 7 a.m. Sunday and continue until 2 p.m.

We expect at least 3,000 paintings to be on exhibit during the two-day show," chairman Ernie Baker said.

Sponsored by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, the annual art festival is held to provide artists an opportunity to exhibit their works to public.

Lions Club president Harvey Schlemmer said the fertilizer sale was made possible through the purchase of a carload of 50 percent organic 6-6-6, which will be sold at $4 per 50-pound bag.

The club purchased 800 bags, and if any of the fertilizer is left after Saturday, the sale will continue Sunday.

A large crew of skilled pancake flip-floppers and sausage sizzlers will be on hand to serve the expected throng of people, Schlemmer said.

Tickets for the breakfast—all you can eat—are $1.50 and proceeds will go to the club's charity fund, the president added.

In addition to the breakfast, people who attend will be eligible to win numerous door prizes, undergo glaucoma tests at no additional cost and have their blood pressure checked by Jensen Beach Samaritans.

Also, the Lionettes will have a variety of cakes and cookies available. Shirley Wilson is chairman of the Bake Sale committee, and Al Walker and Jimmy Dean are co-chairmen of the pancake breakfast.

Voters choose commissioners

JENSEN POINT—The Town of Jensen Point voters Tuesday named Earl Crawford, Ed Chuckler and Robert Russell as the three new commissioners. They were the top vote getters in the regular election.

Mayor William Sowders, the only incumbent on the ballot, finished fourth in the four-candidate race. He received six votes, eight fewer than Crawford.

Crawford received 14 votes, Earl Laughlin 12, Elizabeth Sheridan 11 and Sowders and Russell 10 each to round out the primary ticket.

Commissioners Roberta Clarke and Rich Stanford, whose terms also expired, were not candidates for re-election.

The new elected commissioners will take office March 16 at the organizational meeting.

Commissioners will elect a mayor, vice mayor and appoint town officials, town clerk, police chief, etc.

After the primary, Dr. Earl Laughlin proposed that the three lowest vote getters drop out of the March 2 election making the election unnecessary.

However Town Attorney John Fenniman said that the election must be held. The law requires the commissioners must be serving by an election by the people, the town attorney said following the primary.

Fenniman made the statement when the commissioners were asked to certify the primaries results.

Dr. Matthew Rao was eliminated in the primary, receiving 28 votes.

Sandpiper resort is scene

Demo candidates convene Saturday

JENSEN BEACH—Top ranking Democratic presidential hopefuls will converge on this area March 6 to attend a Bicentennial Banquet sponsored by local Democratic clubs to prime the pump for the key Florida Primary on March 9.

Seven announced candidates and several others who could be talked into running will attend a $25 a plate dinner dance at the plush Sandpiper resort.

At hand will be Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona, Sen. Henry "Scoop" Jackson of Washington, Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana, Sen. Robert Byrd of West Virginia, Gov. Milton Shapp of Pennsylvania, former Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma and former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter.

Each candidate will be given 10 minutes to seek support of party members attending the Saturday shindig.

Harry Johnston, chairman of the coordinating committee for the sponsoring South St. Lucie County and Martin County Democratic Clubs, said, "We're asking each speaker to confine his remarks to 10 minutes but due to the nearness of the Florida Primary and its importance nationwide, I wouldn't be surprised if some of the talks run into overtime."

Gov. Reubin Askew will deliver the keynote address and Dempsey Barron, President of the State Senate, will present the clubs' Thomas Jefferson Memorial Award to Askew.

More than 300 local, state and national Democratic luminaries are expected to join Sandpiper's Florida and Atlantic Ballrooms for the warmup for the March 9 primary.

Johnston said the demand for tickets has been so great that extra space had to be secured for the affair.

"Fortunately, he added, "we were able to get more room so there are a few tickets still available."

Numbers to call for reservations are 287-2800 in Stuart, 334-1760 in Jensen Beach, 878-9405 in Port St. Lucie, 464-1252 in Fort Pierce.

Time and site of a press conference will be announced when it's determined that all or most of the Democratic leaders will be on hand since they are coming in from all directions at all different times.

THREE BALLOTS—Martin County Supervisor of Elections Sandra Randolph holds three ballots that will be used in the March 9 primary. Ballots are for Republicans, Democrats and a referendum on an amendment relating to water management. Mrs. Randolph reminded residents that they must vote in the party in which they are registered.

Fair lady contest

County Fair opens Monday

JENSEN BEACH—Ribbon cutting ceremonies at 2 p.m. Monday, March 8, will officially open the annual Martin County Fair.

Area officials will join Kathy Cabre, last year's Martin County Fair Lady, in cutting the ribbon at the main gate.

Deggeller's spectacular magic midway opens at 5 p.m. and main event of the opening night, the Fair Lady competition begins at 7:30 p.m.

Entries in the contest include Nancy Mackie, Lora Sadler, Margaret Kelly, Jodi Brown, Kim Parker, Nancy Guttron and Lisa Cunningham.

Some of the gifts that the winner will receive include $25 savings bonds from the Jensen Beach Optimist Auxiliary, Civitans, First National Bank and Trust Co. of Stuart and Hobe Sound National Bank.

The Stuart National Bank will open a $10 savings account in her name and Osborne Street Music Charles will give a Tru-Tone multi-band portable radio. There will be a gift certificates from Ocean East Mall shops, the Thimble and Bonnie's.

Other merchants will give the winner gifts and prizes. Gold charms will be given by the Soroptimist Club, contest sponsors, and the Martin County Fair Association and Gay's Jewelry will give a silver bowl to the winner.

Ron Beckes will be master of ceremonies and judges will be Mrs. Mozelle Lord, Mrs. Margaret Borland and Hal Kelly.

Planning members include Pat Rydell, Martha Norton, Margaret Sessman, Rosaleen Murray, Vee Chambers, Mary Lou Hawkins and Louise Miller.

Senior Citizens Day will be held Tuesday from 2 to 6 p.m. with all senior citizens admitted at half price until 6 p.m.

The Hildairs show and beef show will be held Tuesday night with the cow milking contest following the two shows.

Kids Day is set for Wednesday with all children grades 12 and under free until 6 p.m.

The fair continues through Saturday with special events each day. The gates open at 2 p.m. each day except Saturday, March 13, when Rusty Spurs Horse Show starts at 1 p.m.

Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children kindergarten through grade 12.

Five join ambulance

JENSEN BEACH—Five volunteers have joined the Jensen Beach Samaritans Free Ambulance volunteer Nellie Cook said Tuesday.

She said two of the volunteers have completed the medical self help program and three started the program this week.

The medical self help program is under way at Stuart Middle School.

They then will attend the defensive driving course which starts March 23 at the school, Mrs. Cook said. They will be ambulance drivers and attendants.

At present there are 13 emergency medical technicians, EMT and 18 drivers, and there should be a crew of about 80 handling the work load she said.

The new volunteers are Robert and Vivian Hendip, Robert McKinley, Russell Zander and George Thomas.

Persons who want to be ambulance drivers or EMT's can apply to Mrs. Cook at 334-5312.

Requirements to be a driver include a valid state drivers license, a 24 hour medical self help course and an eight hour defensive driving course.

To be an EMT, all of the above is required plus an 82 hour course at Indian River Community College.

Big vote predicted

JENSEN BEACH—A 80 per cent voter turnout for the March 9 presidential primary is predicted by Martin County Supervisor of Elections Sandra Randolph.

"There is a lot of interest in the presidential primary," she said.

Mrs. Randolph noted that she has issued more than 100 absentee ballots through last Friday.

Only 109 absentee ballots were counted in the presidential primary in 1972, she said.

Voters are reminded that absentee ballots may be obtained at the supervisor of election office in the courthouse up to 5 p.m. March 8.

The last time I can accept absentee ballots is 7 p.m. on election day," the supervisor said.

Mrs. Randolph reminded voters that they can only vote in the party in which they are registered.

Those who are not registered as Democrats or Republicans may not vote for the presidential nomination candidates but they may vote in a referendum on an amendment relating to water management, she said.

And she pointed out that each individual has to request his own absentee ballot.

Mrs. Randolph held two sessions last week for election workers. One hundred seventy-five workers attended the two sessions.

After the March 9 primary, Mrs. Randolph said she will continue going into various communities to register voters.

There are 24,264 registered voters in 473 Democrats, 11,134 Republicans, 842 Independents and 425 other parties.

Six machines will be used in Precinct No. 1, Jensen Beach at Langford Park Fieldhouse. Precinct No. 1 has the most registered voters in the county—2,945.

Water loss probe is asked

JENSEN BEACH—An investigation into the loss of water on the Indian River Estates is urged by the Indian River Freeholders Association.

Water control and Southern Water Control District officials say it wants the investigation, but residents won't have to. General Development Corp., which presently owns the savannas, maintains that the savannas have been recognized by the state as an environmentally unique area which should be preserved.

Mrs. Elsie Van Gieson, association president, says residents won't have to. General Development Corp., which presently owns the savannas, maintains that the savannas have been recognized by the state as an environmentally unique area which should be preserved.

Mrs. Elsie Van Gieson, association president, says residents won't have to. General Development Corp., which presently owns the savannas, maintains that the savannas have been recognized by the state as an environmentally unique area which should be preserved.

Mrs. Van Gieson can be wasted in the information necessary to the wetlands and maybe the trend of rapid she continued that the association engineers of concerned citizens, Van Hook listed areas of water loss which should be investigated.

These include ditches and canals and borings made in the hardpan surface of the savannas which the letter states allows the water to drain off.

"If anything can be done to stop this, it should be done or the whole wetlands will turn into a dustbowl, not fit for fish or fowl, instead of an ecologically important and beautiful areas," the letter states.

During the winter months, the savannas has become dry in many areas. The freeholders are convinced that it is water loss caused by manmade borings and ditches and canals, not natural drought that is at fault.

The vast wetlands extend from Jensen Beach Cutoff Road north to Midway Road in St. Lucie County, and west of Indian River Drive to U.S. 1. The Freeholders Association borders the savannas.

Meanwhile, there will be a meeting of the association and other Indian River Drive residents Thursday, March 4 at 7:30 p.m. at the Walton Clubhouse.

Purchase of the savannas by the state will be discussed at the meeting.

The savannas has been designated by the state as a high priority purchase in an environmentally endangered lands program. More than $9 million of a $200 million bond issue has been set aside by the state for purchase of the savannas.

Norman McMillan, purchasing agent for the state Bureau of Land Acquisition, Division of Recreation and Parks, will be at the meeting along with State Rep. Chuck Sergard and Dr. Walter Stokes, chairman of the Save the Savannas Committee.

Committee reports

JENSEN BEACH—Several committee reports are on the agenda for the Monday, March 8, 7:30 p.m. meeting of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce directors.

Philbrick: I won't run

JENSEN BEACH—Martin County Commissioner Ross Philbrick said Monday that he will not seek re-election to the District 1 Jensen Beach area seat on the commission.

"Even though I want to continue to work for the good of our county," Philbrick wrote in a brief press released after serious consideration, Lois Philbrick's wife and I agree that I should slow down somewhat."

The District 1 Republican is serving his first term on the commission.

"The affairs of Martin County have been uppermost in my mind for better than 10 years, including the last three and a half as a member of the Board of County Commissioners," Philbrick stated.

Philbrick called for a Grand Jury investigation into the purchase of the Executive Plaza.

He said his decision not to seek re-election will give me the time needed to devote to the post of Republic state committeeman, which is far less demanding than that of commissioners of the works at the duties of commissioner.

Better get a will

Probate code changes many procedures here

BY DICK CAMPBELL

JENSEN BEACH—An explanation of the new Florida probate code left at many questions as answers in the minds of the novices, that was evident as Judge Dwight Cooper made an effort to explain the new simplified code to Jensen Rotarians.

The very complex probate law of Florida was simplified in a new code effective January 1 1976, but the complex legalistic terms were not, leaving the neophyte as lost as before.

Perhaps the best advice given was to "get a lawyer."

Upon death either a will names a personal representative or the court will, Geiger said. That was made very clear.

For that representative to act requires a "letter of representation" issued by the court.

The representative then places a legal notice in a local newspaper asking creditors to place their claims, giving three months for those claims to clear. The representative then pays the claims under the jurisdiction of the court unless that representative objects to the claim.

If he does, the representative files an "objection" and the claimant can file a lawsuit to achieve his aims.

If the representative is slow, the claimant has three years to force the administration of the estate.

The entire process is designed to close out probate of an estate in Florida in one year.

But, admits Judge Geiger, the federal government doesn't move as fast, so it can take as long as it wants to recover the necessary taxes to close out the probate of the will, and the state cannot move until the federal government does, thus subverting the purpose of the new probate law.

If the above makes sense, that's fine but it doesn't make use of the Judge's comment, "get a lawyer."

Other notes of an equally confusing nature include:

CREDITORS have three years to force administration of an estate if probate has not been filed.

SPOUSES have an elective thirty percent share of the fair market value of the estate, less out-of-state real estate. It is called a "dower right." The dower ceases to exist in three years.

EXEMPT from probate if jointly held property, homestead real estate, furniture, furnishings, automobiles up to $5,000 in value, and personal effects of a value less than $1,000.

NO WILL provides that the spouse gets $20,000 of the assets and one-half of the balance of the estate, and the children of both get the rest.

WILLS must be filed with the clerk of court within ten days of death.

GIFTS made in a will have validity if the husband and wife have become divorced after the will was made.

ANATOMICAL gifts (eyes, organs, etc.) can be made in a will or in writing, and must be witnessed to be effective at death.

REQUIREMENTS to make a will are that a person be eighteen years of age and of sound mind.

ADMINISTRATOR of an estate can be named in a will or will be named by the court.

A BOND must be filed by the administrator unless the will states there be no bond, or if a bank or savings and loan association is named to handle the trust.

IN SIXTY days, a report of assets must be filed by the administrator.

There are three different kinds of administration: a formal administration outlined above, a family administration where there are a surviving spouse and lineal descendants and less than $60,000 in assets, a summary administration where people agree on the distribution of the estate and there is $10,000 or less of assets.

If the personal property of a deceased amounts to less than the cost to wrap up probate, a letter from the court can transfer the assets with money first going to creditors.

Judge Geiger reiterated his suggestion that of a person is in doubt: "Get a lawyer."

Chanticleer is review boat

JENSEN BEACH—The yacht Chanticleer owned by Ralph and Frances Farrington will be the reviewing boat for the Fifth Annual Blessing of the Fleet and Coast Guard Appreciation Day on March 21, according to Edward H. Bindel, chairman of the event.

Francis Langford-Evinrude will be one of the committee of judges who will view the boats seeking awards which will be awarded to the best decorated sail and power boats and to the most humorously decorated sail and power boats.

William H. Connelly, chairman of the Martin County Bicentennial Committee and Sheriff James Holt will also be judges.

The blessing of the fleet will be at 1:30 p.m. Clergymen who will be aboard the Chanticleer in the St. Lucie River between Markers 21 and 22 are Rev. Frank H. Alvarez, rector of All Saints Episcopal Church; Dr. Carl Pollhein, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church of Stuart; Rabbi Mel Hecht of Temple Beth El of Fort Pierce.

Rear Adm. Austin C. Wagner, commander of the Seventh Coast Guard District has been invited to view the ceremonies. A Coast Guard craft will be in the river for the blessing.

Following the parade there will be a Coast Guard Appreciation Day banquet at Sandpiper Bay Resort in the Florida Ballroom. At the dinner parade participants will receive Blessing of the Fleet parchments and trophies will be awarded to the boat decoration winners. Music for dancing will be provided by the Southern Comforts.

Application forms for the Blessing of the Fleet and Parade and tickets for the banquet may be obtained at any of the clubs in all area marinas.

HONORED—The Board of Trustees of the Martin County Historical Society paid tribute last week to two members who, as trustees and officers, have made outstanding contributions to the society and to the community. Shown with Historical Society President Ralph Hartman Jr. left, are Mrs. William Clark Shepard and Ross Philbrick holding their commemorative plaques. Historical Society photo by Dennis Doyle.

Learning to play Jai-Alai from your seat is a whole lot easier than learning to play it on the court.

All it takes is a little luck, a few bucks and a good set of lungs to cheer on the winner.

It shouldn't take you more than one game to understand what's happening. (It's a lot like handball. Only 100 times faster and much more exciting.)

It's a sure bet you never watched anything more fantastic.

And whether you win a Perfecta, Quiniela, Double or Big Q, the thrill is always the same. Unbeatable.

Come out and try Jai-Alai. If you're looking for the time of your life, you can't lose.

It was a happy Michigan Night at O.B. Saturday, Feb. 28.

M.C. Arnold Sherman opened the program with a blessing, followed by a Michigan talk by Ethel Jones. A Michigan exhibit painted by Irene Charles, a poem written and presented by Florence Nunn, piano and banjo music by Ruby Wren and Harry Farmer.

A sing along featuring old time songs was led by a quartet: Arnold Sherman, Jay White, Malcolm Wilday and Bob LeHarre. They also sang "Happy Birthday U.S.A." and "Michigan My Michigan."

A kitchen band featured Ila Mae Nunn and her kitchen helpers, followed by a skit by Clyde Sulliff and Company.

Refreshments were enjoyed and the evening wound up with dancing.

Americana Country Bazaar is March 13

JENSEN BEACH—The Jensen Beach Women's Association presents a spring festival, sometimes a fair, sometimes a bazaar, each one of the three. This time it is an Americana Country Bazaar to be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday, March 12, at the Association clubhouse.

Lunch and snacks will be available throughout the day, while patrons buy or simply browse through the many booths selling imported antiques, crafts, toys, plants, jewelry, country items.

Proceeds will be used to purchase needed equipment at Martin Memorial Hospital.

Annual rummage sale is March 13

STUART—Users of the Women's Club of Stuart will open a sale on Saturday, March 13, for the club's annual rummage sale.

Offered will be clothing, house wares and many items used for the disposal of the fair. The sale will end at 4 p.m.

Persons with donations for the sale may bring them to the clubhouse between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Friday, March 12.

STAR student is selected

Honors in the Hills, Inc. sponsored by Historic Stuart, Inc. recognized eight students as outstanding students in the Florida Bicentennial Year at a luncheon at Commander's Table, Stuart. Each student received a Recognition Certificate.

Peter Bogin, a junior at the Central Florida Christian Academy, received recognition for his participation in the Academy's athletic program. Bogin is a member of the basketball team and participates in the Academy's soccer team.

Jon Sauter, a junior at Jensen Beach High School, was recognized for his participation in the school's band program. Sauter is a member of the band and participates in the school's concert band.

Peter Bogin and Jon Sauter were selected by the Florida Bicentennial Commission to represent Martin County at the Florida Bicentennial Youth Conference in Tallahassee, March 4-6.

The purpose of the conference is to bring together students from each county in the state to discuss the future of Florida. Fifteen students will be selected from the state to represent Florida at the National Bicentennial Youth Conference in Washington, D.C. in July.

Bogin and Sauter will be joined by the Florida Bicentennial Commission staff, state legislators and representatives in the Fifth Congressional District. The district of which Florida's fifteen congressional districts will be completed in Tallahassee, has a Florida Bicentennial Youth Committee.

According to Bogin, the group will participate in legislative hearings, attend caucuses, and discuss issues and problems within the Florida government.

Rain, absences put damper on junior basketball action

BY DONNIE WILKIE

JENSEN BEACH--If you were among the group of 18 (or your home number, you probably didn't count) who were outside ... probably wish you had stayed

It was just as miserable at Sailfish Park Saturday, as one game was washed out and the other was tampered by the steady rain and occasional downpour

The weekend playoff game between Gold Coast Tires and Pittman Insurance built up as the league's biggest thriller, never was and an automobile accident in the league broke a runaway

Pittman Insurance, the Upper Division champion never made it a real game. He was involved in a 50-point smashup in Rio, while Lambeth ended the game with five of Shawver's nine points, as Todd Jackson and Jeff Gray each threw in two points apiece

For the All Stars, Billy Mang had four points all in the first half, while John Atkinson and Natalie West each had two

The Upper Division game was cancelled with 5:52 remaining in the second quarter and Gold Coast leading the All-Stars 7-6. The major highlight of the short encounter was a 40 foot shot by Bob Casey of Gold Coast that went in just before the clock expired in the first period. Gregg Jackson had four points for the All Stars

As you might expect, rain played a role on Saturday's activities. It was 2:51 before the playoff between Gold Coast and Pittman got underway. That game was scheduled for 2 p.m. The Lower Division All Star Game got going a little sooner, at 2:49. And then of course there was the game in the Upper Division that was rained out

Post season action starts this morning back so they played him for another minute and a half. The Pittman four however was too weak to take seriously, and although Frank Reddick and Banks played way above their heads in a gallant attempt to offset the odds, Gold Coast won by 17 points

In the Lower Division's All Star Game, C.F. Shawver, undefeated during the season, was routed by the stars of the other three teams, 16-8

Wilfred Wiley of the Optimists led the parade with eight points. Wiley, the league's top scorer with 38 points, enjoyed his best game since his record 12 point performance six weeks ago. His four second quarter markers led an All Star barrage which left hapless Shawver behind 12-1 at halftime

Shawver's best performer in the first half was Brian Lambeth, the league's third highest scorer only three behind Wiley. Although Lambeth scored only one point he made some spectacular defensive plays which prevented the All Stars from scoring

Shawver outscored the All Stars in each of the last two periods by a 4-2 margin but they could not overcome the 11 point halftime margin. Lambeth ended the game with five of Shawver's nine points, as Todd Jackson and Jeff Gray each threw in two points apiece

For the All Stars, Billy Mang had four points all in the first half, while John Atkinson and Natalie West each had two

The Upper Division game was cancelled with 5:52 remaining in the second quarter and Gold Coast leading the All-Stars 7-6. The major highlight of the short encounter was a 40 foot shot by Bob Casey of Gold Coast that went in just before the clock expired in the first period. That game was scheduled for 2 p.m. The Lower Division All Star Game got going a little sooner, at 2:49. And then of course there was the game in the Upper Division that was rained out

Post season action starts this

Saturday, as Palm Beach Gardens Upper and Lower Division All Star teams invade Langford Park for a doubleheader against our best players. Last year in a series against Mizell, the All Stars from Jensen Beach had our glasses on a row, spread over three divisions

On March 13th, the Jensenites travel to Gardens for a first round game in a four team tournament involving teams from North Palm Beach, Riviera Beach, Palm Beach Gardens, and of course Jensen Beach

Normans & Kramels win mixed scramble

PORT ST. LUCIE--A Mixed Scramble tournament sponsored by the North Port St. Lucie Ladies Golf Association Sunday at The Holiday Country Club of Stuart was won by Walter & Carol Norman and Walter & Alma Kramel who shot 37.

Close behind in second place with 38 was the foursome made up of Dick and Virginia Liebert, Henri Pessimi and Rose Roth.

F.I.T. wins two, loses eight

JENSEN BEACH--In its tennis tilt with Brow and Community College North Campus last week F.I.T. won two matches losing eight.

Scott Downing led In Dave Polaves 0-6 0-6. Gregg Brown defeated F.I.T.'s Chuck Capone 1-6 5-7. Alex Llarena after losing the first set defeated John Kelly 6-3 4-6 1-6. Dave Sutton was defeated by Neal Kolnick 2-6 3-6. Paul Harris gave Rollie Olin a run for the monies in the second set of their match losing 0-6 5-7.

Kevin Beck scored one F.I.T. win beating Randy Bieber 6-0 6-1. Fred Styer had a tougher time beating BCC's Jeff Brown 6-2 7-5.

BCC took all of the doubles matches. The scoring went Beck Downing defeated by Polaves/Bieber 1-6 and 4-6. Styer and Kelly bowed grudgingly to Brown and Llarena 4-6 6-2 1-5 tie breaker and Capone/Harris were defeated by Kolnick/Brown 1-6, 3-6.

It's a busy week for the gals of Port St. Lucie who are getting ready for the Spring Festival to be held Friday and Saturday March 5th and 6th at the Community Center on Prima Vista Blvd. Breakfast will be served from 8 a.m. Sandwiches from 11 a.m. and at the Bar-BQ pit "Untidy Josephs" and Hot Dogs from 11:30 to 1 p.m. Don't bother to cook breakfast or lunch, come on up to the Community Center and enjoy the food and fellowship. Then after you've eaten, take advantage of all the activities around the Center. Remember the outcome of the Fair is for your benefit. The more profit the sooner we get a bigger Community Center and let the girls and guys know you appreciate all they have done for you.

Last Thursday the Port St. Lucie Masonic Club members and their wives met at games for a dinner meeting with the members and wives and/or guests of the Spanish Lakes Masonic Club at the recreation hall at Spanish Lakes. After a delicious catered dinner the Spanish Lakes Chorus provided a most delightful evening of songs. They sang "Star Spangled Banner", "Let There Be Peace On Earth", "It's A Small Small World" and songs from The sound of Music. Spanish songs and "Things to be proud of". They were great! Wasn't glad the invitation. Port St. Lucie has all kinds of clubs and activities, so why not a Chorus? Surely there are enough singers in the area that would make up a chorus that we too could be proud of. It only takes one person to get the ball going, so how about it, you out there get going and let's have a Port St. Lucie Chorus.

Members of the Wimodausis Club next Wednesday, March 10th will be privileged to hear Mrs. Addie Emerson who is head of the St. Lucie County Museum. Dessert will be served at 1 p.m. Mrs. Emerson is very much involved in the Historical Society and members and guests will find her talks most interesting.

Art Show at school

STUART--The Second Annual Gallery Showing of Art and Fashions, featuring the work of students of the Adult Education Department, will be held Saturday, March 13, in the Open Concept, Stuart Middle School, Georgia Avenue, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Fashion show is scheduled for 1 p.m.

More than 300 works of art, and many high fashion garments, produced by adult students, will be displayed. Art instructors will give demonstrations showing the steps in the construction of an original painting or sculpture.

PINE LAKE VILLAGE

Pine Cones

BY BOB RAMSEY
334-5547

All right, you guys, fall in and stand off, and we'll put those opinions off your faces. We have serious things to discuss.

Such as the Annual Pinelake Village Luncheon and Fashion Show which takes place on March 16, beginning at high noon. Those of you who attended last year know that it was a sell-out and we don't want a lot of disappointed people.

All the information I can scrape together right now is that Sharyon Tilton will be acting as coordinator, Jackie Hartman will be acting as narrator and Norma Quillen will be fulfilling her always excellent job of fixing up the chow tables.

Tickets are now available at the office or by calling Sharyon on the phone. We are even going to have male models, so it looks like a mixed bag which everyone should get a kick out of.

Next week we'll try to update things with more information, but the important thing to remember is reserve now. Fashion display will be by the Stuart Department Store.

They're moving in so fact that we don't get a chance to welcome someone before someone else sneaks in under the fence. So, welcome to Bill and Louise Hoogervorst of lot 24 and Edith Coleman of lot 23.

+ + +

Little squibs here and there. Ray Bates wants wide publicity for the Lion's Pancake Breakfast on March 7 at Langford Park starting at 7 a.m. and running until the batter gives out.

Still trying to get people to come up to the club house on Friday nights at 7:30 p.m. for cards. As of now, we have a bridge game going and two poker games. We need pinochle players, cribbage, canasta, or perish the thought, rook.

The burden of providing your own group rests with you or you can consult with the local "Rap Line". I was asked by a few residents to yell loud and clear about this, so consider yourself yelled at. Besides, TV is lousy on Friday, and TV is one of the four things which brought down the American society! Some day we'll tell you what the other three were. Seems like we had more fun when we were listening to KDKA on a crystal set.

This comes under the heading of painful experiences. Ever receive a call about 7 p.m. just as you are settling down to a nice happy hour and the voice on the other end of the line says "Guess who?" At this point, you're in no mood for guessing games, but you volunteer Raquel Welch? Turns out to be your wife's second cousin Penelope and her husband Jake who is a boilermaker in Hackensack but right now, he is on unemployment and they just thought they might take a ride to Florida between checks.

They also have in tow, their two little rascals. You know the types, the kind who, when they just walk into the room, make the pictures fall off the walls? So, you say, "Where are you?" Turns out they are just up the road in Jacksonville but will be popping in about four hours from then. Around 11:30 p.m. they show and by this time, the old man is going ape trying to figure out where to stack the bodies.

Oh yes, they forgot to mention Penelope's girl friend who lives just across the street from them in Hackensack, right? Then comes the pitch: "Now, we don't want you to put yourself out, we're just staying overnight, just give us a cup of coffee and a stale bun cause we'll be leaving early in the morning for Miami, and are there any cheap motels around these parts?"

The early morning blast off for Miami don't happen and around 7 a.m. the two monsters suddenly discover that Pinelake Village has a lovely swimming pool, shuffle board courts and three ducks to torment. This being Friday, they could be talked into staying over until Monday morning and trying to locate that cheap motel in the Miami area, 'cause remember, Jake is pressed for time and has to be back in Hackensack for that next check!

The upshot of the whole thing is that the two rotten, little kids go into sleeping bags on the porch, you give up your own bed for Penelope and Jake and the girl friend from across the street walks the floor all night complaining of a migraine headache which can only be overcome by periodic trips to the ice box for snacks. By the time Monday morning rolls around you have it figured that there is a good case for justifiable homicide here and besides, what jury would convict?

Monday morning finds you minus three roasts, thirty pounds of hot dogs, and three fifths of booze, as the lovely group pulls out of the park with the parting shot "Maybe we'll drop in for a few minutes on the way back up to Hackensack." This is retirement?

Then, I get chewed out for not giving answers to my questions every week, so I'll back up a little. Mary Pickford, Norma Shearer and Alexis Smith are all Canadian born. The comedy team in the show "Rio Rita" was Wheeler and Woolsey.

Bob Peterson is always my nemesis on oldies. So, all right, wise guy, who took the part of "Ma" in Grapes of Wrath?

Last minute notes: Rita and Bob Palmer's daughter Pamela is in Good Samaritan after a nasty fall. We're sorry to hear about this. Our best to Pamela.

Ray Bates' phone number is 334-3340 for the Pancake Breakfast tickets.

+ + +

You may free when ready Gridley. I'm going below for a cup of coffee. See you next week.

D & M News Notes

BY MILDRED STINNETT

Martha Ebner did the calling at Bingo last week, for a very large group of people.

+ + +

We are happy to welcome Leon Proctor and Esther Gentry home from the hospital. Leon spent a week there but Esther had a longer stay.

+ + +

Wanda and J. Burton had abandoned Orleans, Indiana, for their home here and plan to stay until the end of March.

+ + +

Jane and Marvin Winninger have as their guest, Jane's mother, Geneva Brock of Centerton, Indiana, who will remain over Easter. Mrs. Brock lent us some of her exceptional crocheted items for our Hobby Show; she's a very talented lady.

+ + +

The elder Winningers, Herman and his wife, entertained Herman's niece, Marilyn Abel, her husband Stanley, and their two children, Eric and Shawna, and Herman's nephew, Harlin Winninger, who is Marilyn's twin; his wife Wanda, and their daughter Tina. All of them are from Millersburg, Indiana.

Melva and Cletus Schultetus came down from Kankakee, Illinois to occupy their home for a short time, and after they returned to Illinois their cousins the Bottvvalats, who are also from Illinois, are staying at their place.

+ + +

Stella Dobrowolski's house guest, her cousin Katherine Okurowski of Ozone Park, Queens, New York, is here for a visit and they have been doing lots of shopping, both attended our Hobby Show, and played cards at Ladies' Night last Friday.

+ + +

In spite of plumbing problems, Olive and Jack Binns are having fun with their younger daughter Beverly and her son Bruce Bennet who came all the way from Baie d'Urse, Canada, to spend three weeks here. They have reveled in the beach and ocean, taken a trip to Disney World and shopped in West Palm Beach.

Our Hobby Show on Feb. 24 was a huge success. The guest book contains the names of more than 350 people, and everybody enjoyed the coffee, punch and homemade cookies. Everything was well organized, the displays of hand made articles resulted in many sales, and those items not for sale were much admired. The White Elephant Sale galloped along at a fast pace, and we'd like to thank all and sundry who came.

Special thanks is due all the members who so ably worked before, during and after the show, and the husbands who handled the parking so well, but space does not permit listing all their names.

Venture Out News

By Jackie Phillips

Mr & Mrs Kenneth McKee have smiles a mile wide! Their daughter [illegible] her husband Phil, and their three children are here for a visit. The Elbatrichs drove 1,300 miles in [illegible] hours from Youngstown, Ohio to V.O. They have a comfortable Motor Home and the youngsters, Cindy, Sara-jane and Twoie are the best of travelers. Grandpa and Grandma can be proud of all five of them.

* * *

Bayne and LaBelle Barrett are enjoying the visit of their daughter and her husband from Youngstown, Ohio. The Barrett's neighbors on Waterford Lane shared the excitement and pleasure of the wedding, last year as of Becky and Herbie now Mr. and Mrs. Urban Ollin.

* * *

Louise and John Campbell welcomed Louise's cousin, Helen, and her husband Tom. They had planned on only two days, but now expect to stay three weeks instead. At least V.O. gets in one's blood.

Louise and John have a new grandchild also. Megan Melissa. We can imagine the joy the Campbell's feel for the "little one" as the sons have brothers.

Ethel and Emerson Williams have gone on their lot 758. They are from Columbus, Ohio and all their friends and neighbors are happy to have them back.

* * *

Rose and Chuck Ward of Sebastian have been visiting Orlando and Disney world with Helen's sister, Betty Evans.

* * *

Derwood and Juanita Dickinson spent three days last week visiting friends and relatives in Bradenton and Port Richey. Sure to get away from it all.

Lots of good "dongs" to look forward to.

A dance in the rec hall this Saturday, March 6, at 8:30 p.m. BYOB - fun, fun!

The St. Patrick's Day Dance on March 13 with cocktails from 4:30 p.m. 'til 6, dinner, a "live" orchestra. Tickets, limited to 100, are available from Lydia Mills or Margie Owen - get them soon.

A Flea Market and Art Show on March 20th, 1 to 4 p.m. in the rec hall. Tables will be available to rent at $2, and can be shared with a neighbor if you wish to. This market and art show will be for the benefit of the purchase of chairs for the rec hall. Twenty-three V.O. students will display their art, which will be judged by representatives of the IRCC. There will also be some art for sale by professional artists. Everyone is looking forward to this day - and keep in mind your own objects of art for the flea market - what's your junk is someone else's treasure!

Helen and Boyd Kitts brightened up Pole Swordfish Lane considerably with their week long guest, pretty Linda DeMarcus of Knoxville, Tenn. Helen's niece. They took Linda on a two day trip to Cypress Gardens and Disney World, much to the disappointment of the Lane's male population, who had diligently polished boats, cars, bikes and go-carts in the hope of showing Linda around a little themselves. Well, fellas, you can't win them all!

* * *

Kay and Jim Gibson, 716, had open house last week for long time friends, Betty and Freddy Proulx of Arlington, Va. Bessie and Fred Barrett of Toronto, Ont., and four Florida couples who shared with them an RV caravan to Mexico in November '74 - Meta and Joe Hanagan of Bradenton, June and Al Coleman of Clearwater, Jo and Jim Cook of Cocoa Beach, and Natalie and Ed Wilcox of Melbourne.

Fortunately three of the couples brought along their own rigs. Things were really jumping at 716.

Three game totals for V.O. bowlers last week were:

Bob Lehner-476, Al Suckow-446, Marion Asline-424, John Callahan-416, Edna Wilston-385, Elmer Mauer-375, Ward Irwin-369, Toad Bowling-366, Bill Thompson-364, Chris Ter-Haar-350, Irene Callahan-305, Leona McGahie-214.

Charles and Marion Frederick are enjoying their new screen room. They say "no trouble with the mosquitos."

Hal and Myrtle Abrams left for home in Wilmington, N.C. on February 26. Sorry to see them go.

* * *

Edward and Eleanor Balowski of Michigan are visiting his brother Steve and Lucille for a week.

Martha and Cliff Pattenden of Hamburg, N.Y. have returned north after spending three weeks with his sister, Muriel and Ray Repka.

Captain Hal Abrams has tentative space at Sail Fish Marina for his charter boat next year.

* * *

By Mabel Cook

Mr. & Mrs. Glenn Terry were sorry to see their friends, Doc and Helen Sherwood from Midland, Michigan leave, after spending two enjoyable weeks with them.

Last week Dr. Norris and Marion Asline spent a couple of days with friends in Bradenton. While there they attended a reunion for members of Elks Club 88 from Bay City, Mich. They reported a hilarious time with 70 members present.

* * *

Rose Curtis's sister-in-law left Wednesday. She had planned to stay longer but was called home to assist with her grandchildren.

* * *

Happy to have Gene and Irene Jenison spending a week with us. They are close friends of Warren and Peg Clausson.

Mel and Scotty Hiner from St. Paul, Minn. have just arrived in the park for a couple of months.

Lou and Marv Russell visited their daughter in Tampa for a few days last week. His mother is also visiting. Our sympathy to Marv in the recent death of his sister.

* * *

Roy and Helen Knapp, from Essexville, Mich., arrived Sunday for a one night stay with Dr. Norris and Marion Asline.

About 10 couples on Stingray Drive had a cookout Sunday night as a farewell party for Warren and Peg Claussen. Of course they are only moving across the street for another month but it served as a good excuse to have a party.

* * *

George and Evelyn Sterling are back home, soaking their feet and massaging their sore muscles after spending Thursday through Sunday square dancing at the Florida Sunshine Festival in Lakeland.

VENTURE HARBOUR NEWS

By Jessie Shaver

Barbara and Stanley Clark visited their friends, the Clancis, at Hillsboro on Monday and stayed over so they could play bridge most of the night as they did when Phillip and Florence visited them. They have a condo at LeBaron which Barbara says is much like our neighbor, Oceana.

Sam Tucker's friends and house guests, Len and Marion Chace, have gone to the west coast for a week but will return to spend more time with Sam. He says he will be glad because it will be his own cooking or TV dinners while they are gone.

* * *

Paul and Betty Drinkard are on their way to a motor coach tour of Mexico. They are to meet their group in Texas. Betty said she would keep us posted on highlights of the trip.

* * *

Helen Frederickson has her son and daughter-in-law, Phil and Sylvia, as guests. They have been enjoying the pool and ocean even if the weather hasn't been too good.

* * *

Andy and Bobbi Gerard have been busy entertaining the past few weeks. Ruth and Bill Schaper of Tequesta, Helen and Bob Schoenfeld of Long Island, Lyle and Gus Gustavsson and Sally and Bill Parson of Stuart and their favorite visitor, Rev. Don Johnson of Jensen Beach Community Church. In between guests they have been enjoying ocean fishing in their boat, a Christmas present from their son and daughter-in-law.

* * *

Looking forward to Dick and Fran Tener's return, which should be about now. Catherine Higgins had a phone call from Fran who has been having a wonderful time in California. A family reunion was a happy surprise for her.

* * *

Yvonne Wiencke gave me some of the news of the Square Dance Jamboree that she and Bud attended. Also there from the park were the Carpenters, the Sterlings, the Preas and the Ramseys. She said it was held in the new and beautiful Civic Center in Lakeland, Fla. 1600 people attended and they all had a marvelous time.

* * *

Max Dickey returned from his business trip and brought house guests Laura and Kenny Carlson of Valpo with him. Thelma is beaming and Denny is no longer Dennis The Menace.

Extra money in your checking account should be earning interest. But you're too busy to go to the bank.

Transfer money to savings by phone!

Open a Community Federal KEY ACCOUNT and use the free DIAL-A-COUNT service.

Your money should earn interest for every possible day. But you can't make a trip to the bank every time you spot a surplus in your checking account.

With the Dial-A-Count Service, you can transfer money from your bank checking account to your interest-earning Key Account — or from Key Account to checking — with just a phone call. And you can do it 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

Here's the smartest method for using the Dial-A-Count Service. Deposit your pay check in your Community Federal Key Account, where it will earn daily interest. Then, make Dial-A-Count transfers to your bank checking account as needed for bills.

To start transferring money by telephone simply open a Community Federal Key Account — the one account that unlocks the door to many free financial services — and 5¼% yearly interest, compounded daily.

Your $300 minimum Key Account balance will bring you (the household money manager) these very valuable tools: free Prestige Card, nationwide Prestige Emergency Cash, free Transmatic® Savings Service, Cookie Jar® Total Tellers, free Automatic Mortgage Payment Service for Community Federal home loan customers, free Direct Deposit of Social Security Checks, free First National City Travelers Checks, free money orders, and free notary public service.

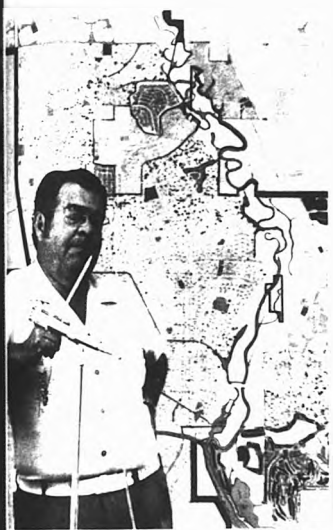
VOL. 2 NO. 9 MARCH 2 1972



ORDINANCE UNVEILED--The 80-page proposed comprehensive city zoning ordinance was unveiled Tuesday during the Council workshop session Planning and Zoning Board Chairman Ed Fessel and Vice Chairman Dr Charles Hoyt were on hand to outline the document and answer questions for those attending the session Dr Hoyt is pictured above

Zoning ordinance is unveiled

PORT ST LUCIE The only item on Tuesday's workshop agenda was the 80 page proposed comprehensive city zoning ordinance 76-1 a document which was one year in the making

Although the entire meeting was devoted to reviewing the new ordinance council members barely got a start on the lengthy piece of legislation A second session for the continuing review will be held, according to Mayor Schuyler Sharp who urged all residents to attend

If there is something in the document which you object to a workshop session is the place to voice your opposition the mayor said Don't wait for the first reading to complain

Planning and Zoning Chairman Ed Fessel and Vice Chairman Dr Charles Hoyt were on hand to present the ordinance outline its contents and answer all questions

Commenting on the document Dr Hoyt told his listeners the ordinance is a beginning not the end He said it sets up the mechanics and provides a good basic building block for the city's future

Emphasizing the need for a master plan Hoyt said the proposed ordinance should establish a good starting point

This document although it is intended to regulate land use is not a Thou shalt not ordinance Hoyt said adding the door has been left open for modification to meeting the future needs of the city

At the same time both Hoyt and Fessel made it perfectly clear that untold hours of hard work and research had gone into the preparation and any modifications at all would not have to be made by members of the City Council

We have prepared the best ordinance we can and from here on out it is your balls Hoyt said

If approved by the City Fathers the new ordinance will regulate the density building heights setbacks minimum sizes for residences in the three zoning classifications and make a carport with enclosed storage rooms or a garage mandatory for all future homes in Port St Lucie

Two items discussed at length during Tuesday's session was the requirement that all house plans be signed by a licensed architect and the second was to spell out the minimum size of the enclosed storage area

The council has promised further study for both

Cox is club speaker

PORT ST LUCIE--Port St Lucie City Administrator Elmer Cox told the Martin County Press Club last week that he doesn't trust the Soviet Union

Cox who spent about 20 years in a variety of positions with the U S military and diplomatic corps in Europe after World War II, said the Russians will cheat and lie and be very recalcitrant during negotiating sessions

He pointed out that the Russians have signed 54 treaties with the United States and kept only three of them

Detente has an aroma of danger They want a relaxation of tensions on their terms Cox added

Cox spent nine years in Berlin after the war including the four months of the Berlin blockade in which the allies mounted an airlift of vital supplies to Berlin residents

Council meeting is postponed

PORT ST LUCIE--Due to the presidential primary being held Tuesday March 9 the next regular meeting of the City Council will be held on March 11

The announcement was made Tuesday during a special meeting conducted prior to the workshop session

Meeting time will be 9 a m

Water loss probe is asked

JENSEN BEACH--An investigation into the loss of water in the savannas is wanted by the Indian River Divine Freeholders Association

In a letter to central and southern Florida Flood Control District FCD the group said it wants the district to make an independent survey so local residents won't have to rely on General Development Corporation GDC which presently has the only data on the savannas

The savannas has been owned by the state as an environmentally unique area which deserves and needs preserving for many reasons Mrs Arlee Van Hook group secretary wrote

We feel no time can be wasted in getting all information necessary to save the wetlands and maybe reverse this trend of rapid destruction she continued

Stating that the association members were no engineers or hydrologists but concerned citizens Mrs Van Hook listed areas of water loss which should be investigated

These include ditches and canals and borings made in the hard pan surface of the savannas which the letter states allows the water to drain off

If anything can be done to stop this it should be done of the whole savannas will not survive Northeast Florida Regional Planning Council Director Phillip Laurie said

During the winter months the savannas has become dry in many areas The freeholders are concerned that if water was retained to maintain borings and ditches and canals that natural growth that is of value

The rare wetlands exist from Jensen Beach Causeway Road north to Midway Road in St Lucie County and west of Indian River Drive to U S 1 The Freeholders Association includes the savannas

Meanwhile there will be a meeting of the association and other Indian River Divine residents Thursday March 9 at 7 30 p m at the Walnut Clubhouse

Purchase of the savannas by the state will be discussed at the meeting

The savannas has been earmarked by the state as a high priority purchase for an environmentally endangered lands program More than $9 million of a $36 million bond issue has been set aside by the state for purchase of the savannas

Norman McMillan, purchasing agent for the state Bureau of Land Acquisition Division of Recreation and Parks will be at the meeting along with State Rep Chuck Shergard and Dr Walter Stokes chairman of the Save the Savannas Committee

4,000 purged from vote rolls

PORT ST LUCIE Although there is much concern generated in a presidential primary there will be a number of would be voters in St Lucie County who will be unable to cast their ballots come March 9

According to a spokesman from the St Lucie County Supervisor of Elections office the county's voter registration has decreased by nearly 4 000 in the annual purge

Ms Isabel Thompson deputy supervisor of elections Tuesday that 4 000 names were mailed notices to those persons on the rolls who failed to vote during the previous two year period Of that number 1 000 were signed and returned leaving nearly 4 000 were kept Records had a thirty day

Homeowners discuss utility rate hikes

PORT ST LUCIE The proposed rate increase application by General Development Utilities Inc was the main topic for discussion at a recent meeting sponsored by the Port St Lucie Riverside Park Homeowners Association

Representatives of the Port St Lucie and the Country Club Estates associations were in attendance

Ralph Hilton president of the host group chaired the meeting as those present attempted to determine a course of action

The general meeting on the rate case is scheduled for May 26 at an undisclosed location

A committee of Brunton each of the associations agreed to ask the Public Service Commission to send a representative to meet with them at least 30 days before the public hearing for guidance in preparing the proposal submitted by General Development Utilities

The citizens representing the views of the consumers will be presented at the general hearing

The Port St Lucie Civic League also entered a parallel interest and was invited to attend the next session is scheduled for Monday, March 6, at the Community Center

Ms Thompson did say that many of the notices were not delivered and attributed this to persons moving without leaving their forwarding addresses

I am afraid there will be a number of unhappy people turned away from the polls during the March 9 primary she said

Those purged from the registration list must be re-instated on or before July 24 to be eligible to vote in the September primary

Ms Thompson noted that approximately 200 absentee ballots have been issued thus far Absentee ballots may be picked up at the office of the Supervisor of Elections through 5 p m March 8 the day before the election The absentee ballots must be returned to the elections office not later than 7 p m on election day

Voters who are not registered as Democrats or Republicans may not vote for the presidential nomination candidates However they may vote in a referendum on an amendment relating to water management

Voters are reminded they can only vote in the party in which they are registered

Local Republicans will also select their State Committeeman Fred Johnston and O O Schreckengost are campaigning for the position

On the Democratic Ballot in Precinct 20 Port St Lucie Marina voters will choose two of three local committeemen Those running are S M Grossman G M Power and J W Pugh

Committeewomen running also in Precinct 20 include Judith W Franklin E P Grossman and Kathy K Wockley Voters will select two

There are 5 278 registered voters in the four south county precincts 2 657 Republicans 2264 Democrats and 377 Independents

Port St Lucie Marina Precinct 20 is the largest in the south county with 2 236 voters followed by Spanish Lakes Precinct 21 with 1 167 voters

Precinct 23 CESA has 1 110 registered voters and the Port St Lucie City Hall Precinct 22 trails with 265 voters

TOUR--A group of seven Port St. Lucie Cub Scouts toured The Mirror office last Friday afternoon, seeing first hand the operation of a newspaper Following their Mirror tour the youngsters departed for the local ice cream parlor Picture above, kneeling left to right, are Mike Shelton, Randy Straub, Bobby Browning Joseph Crusci, Lee Davis and Mike Roth Standing, Charles Bazan, flanked by the pack's den mother Mrs. Crusci, left, and Mrs Roth

It was a happy Michigan Night at O.B. Saturday, Feb. 28.

MC Arnold Sherman opened the program with a blessing, followed by a Michigan talk by Ethel Jones. A Michigan exhibit painted by Irene Coates, a poem written and presented by Florence Nunn, piano and banjo music by Ruby Wren and Harry Farmer.

A sing along featuring old time songs was led by a quartet: Arnold Sherman, Jill White, Malcolm Wilday and Bob LeBarre. They also sang "Happy Birthday U.S.A." and "Michigan, My Michigan."

A kitchen band featured Ila May Nunn and her kitchen helpers followed by a skit by Clyde Sutliff and Company.

Refreshments were enjoyed and the evening wound up with dancing.

Savannas purchase progress is cited

...with property owners.

"McMillan will be back to discuss signing preliminary contracts with property owners," Dr. Walter Stokes said.

Dr. Stokes, a leader in saving the Savannas campaign, McMillan, State Rep. Chuck Nergard and other area leaders met with the property owners.

"Everything is going well, and we are pushing hard for acquiring the Savannas," Dr. Stokes said. "We had good response from the land owners at the meeting last week."

McMillan reported that Wayne Sines, of Fort Pierce who owns a large tract of the savannas, has said he is willing to negotiate on the basis of the state's appraisal and that owners of Lucie Lakes Estates are also willing to negotiate land sales.

McMillan has also consulted with Florida Power and Light Co. (FPL), which owns a 400-foot wide strip across the Savannas for transmission lines from the Hutchinson Island nuclear plant.

He said FPL has agreed to cooperate.

McMillan said the first step is to get agreements to donate land or sell on the basis of state's appraisal.

The state ordered appraisal of the 10,866 acres averages out to $506 an acre, but the appraisals for each piece of property varies, he noted.

Property owners asked if their agreements to donate or sell would be binding if the project fell through, and McMillan said absolutely not.

The acquisition of the ecologically important savannas, a strip of wetlands and grasslands stretching north and south from Midway Road and Jensen Beach Cutoff Road in the two counties, retains a top priority in the state land program.

A total of $8 million has been earmarked for the acquisition.

Record crowd enjoys art show, pancakes

JENSEN BEACH—A crowd of record-smashing proportions attended the Tenth Annual Outdoor Art Festival and pancake breakfast at Langford Park this past weekend.

"We had a fabulous show," Ernie Baker said.

Baker, chairman of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce-sponsored event, estimated between 4,000 and 5,000 persons came to the show Saturday and Sunday.

"It was the biggest crowd we ever had," Baker said.

"We had a five-minute shower Sunday afternoon, but then the sun came out and we had a wonderful afternoon."

The record crowd scanned some 1,200 paintings. "We had a wonderful show, and all the artists appeared to be pleased with the show."

The pancake breakfast was the most popular ever conducted by the Lions Club, officials reported.

Al Walker and Jimmy Dean, co-chairmen, reported a record number of 1,800 ticket holders attended the breakfast.

This was an all time high in attendance at the annual breakfasts, they reported.

Harvey Schlemmer, club president, said that because of the unexpectedly large morning turnout, the sausage sizzlers ran short and co-chairmen Walker and Dean had to "hot foot it to several food stores to replenish their stock."

Schlemmer said that those who ate pancakes and waited for the delayed portions of sausage accepted his explanation that the shortage was caused by the unexpectedly large early morning rush.

Most of the people took the delay good naturedly and many said that...

'Steady' voting is reported

JENSEN BEACH—Voters going to the polls in Tuesday's presidential preference primary were described as a "steady flow" by election officials.

There has been a steady flow of voters all day," a Precinct 1 spokesman at Langford Park in Jensen Beach said. We haven't had any long lines, but people in the voting booth since the polls opened."

"I'm surprised at the turnout," John Swift, inspector at Precinct 15 Rio Civic Club said.

"Some primaries in the past have been pretty slow," Swift continued, "but we've had a steady flow of voters since we opened."

"We've had a pretty good turnout," County Supervisor of Elections Sandra Randolph said after a check of some precincts.

"We haven't had any problems," Mrs. Randolph said. "We had some very minor machine problems, but nothing that stopped voting."

During the election campaign, only two candidates visited Martin County—former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, and Alabama Gov. George Wallace.

Other candidates sent representatives into the county to campaign.

Wallace attended the opening day of Martin County Fair, Monday, March 8, and Carter came a day earlier.

More than 250 persons jammed Stuart Youth Center Sunday afternoon to see Carter.

Security for both candidates was tight, with sheriff deputies and...

"The underwater world is changing very rapidly," Dean Tealey said.

Members of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, Martin County officials, FIT faculty and students toured the building following the ceremony.

Marvin F. Vonderburg, vice president and trust officer of the foundation attended the ceremony along with members of FIT Melbourne campus.

The $75,000 building has class rooms, laboratory facilities and, Dean Tealey said, "The building is an asset to the school and to the overall program."

The dean said his goal was to make FIT "THE Massachusetts Institute of Technology MIT of the south."

Future plans for the complex include a maintenance building and docks.

Unit 1 uses a pressurized water reactor and when operating at full power will have an electrical output of some 810 megawatts.

Before the license was issued, the facility was inspected by the Regulatory Commission.

Loading of the fuel is expected to take four to five weeks according to FPL officials.

After final check of mechanical devices, the nuclear unit will be added to the FPL system in early June.

No I-95 change asked

JENSEN BEACH—The Martin County Taxpayers Association has asked the Department of Transportation (DOT) not to make any route changes of Interstate 95 through Martin County.

In a letter to District Engineer Ben Simpson, the association noted that the I-95 route west of Florida's Turnpike is the best and "we see no sound reason to relocate the route at this time."

After a meeting last month, Federal Highway Administrator Norbert Tiemann said the state should submit a proposal for locating the interstate east of the turnpike instead of west of it through Palm Beach, Martin and St. Lucie counties.

The letter to Simpson also states: "Interstate highways were never intended to become city streets and to move I-95 to the east of the turnpike route would do just that, in the main, and in a few years in all portions of the route."

"The ecological damage that would accrue should the easterly route be used has been well documented and noted in the re-study."

Design work had started for the route west of the turnpike, state officials have said.

Commissioners take redistrict shelter

JENSEN BEACH—Martin County Commission Tuesday took shelter behind a Florida statute and took no action on a redistricting request.

A resolution by the Republican Executive Committee of Martin County calling for the commission to "immediately reapportion itself into districts of essentially equal population" was read to the commission.

County Attorney Steve Calvert advised the commissioners that state statute requires redistricting on odd number of years and that reapportion couldn't be held in 1976.

Stu Hershey, an attorney who made the reapportion request, disagreed with Calvert, pointing out that the constitution requires such action.

The board has a duty to reapportion itself according to the constitution, Hershey said.

Also in the resolution, it is noted that Article VIII, Sec. 1. of the Florida Constitution provides that commission districts shall be "as nearly equal in population as practicable."

Commissioner Ross Philbrick, Republican of the Jensen Beach area, noting that the intent of the legislature was for redistricting in odd number of years, said "I could not support the request."

Hershey noted the unequal commission district population. He said the county's estimated population as of Dec. 31, 1975, shows Commissioner Tom Higgins representing the most populous district.

A breakdown of population figures shows:

District 1, represented by Philbrick, has 12,872. John Kiernan's District 1 has 9,754 persons. Maggy Hurchalla's District 4 has 8,812, and Timer Powers' District 5 has 4,221.

Higgins reminded that he brought up the matter of redistricting shortly after he took office, but other commissioners felt it should be postponed until after the 1980 census.

Powers told Hershey that he felt future boards would recognize the changing county and would change commission districts.

Hershey said that the commission should budget money for the purpose of reapportioning commission districts.

Kiernan quipped that he should come back in July.

That's when the commission starts its budget hearings.

Outside the commission room, Hershey denied that the redistricting request was a political move.

He said he had no plans to take the issue to court, but added, "There are some people interested in taking the issue to court."

The commission never has apportioned itself correctly, Hershey contends.

And the Republican Executive Committee resolution, adopted Feb. 26, 1976, further states:

The County Commission has failed to reapportion itself into nearly equal districts following the last decennial census, and the gross disproportion in the size of the largest and smallest district has grown even more disproportionate in the years following the last census.

CHECK PASSING—Residents of Holiday and Venture Out on Hutchinson Island donated $1,962.50 to Jensen Area Ambulance Samaritans, Inc. Representatives of the two groups gathered last week for the check passing ceremony. Rose Kay, vice president of the Samaritans, receives the check from Lee Stall, chairman of the drive. ENGAGED—Ms. Jeane P. Hall of Jensen Beach and John R. Hall of Toledo, Ohio, announce the engagement of their daughter Susan Marie to Douglas James Sammons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Sammons of Wattsburg, Pennsylvania. A June wedding is planned. The bride-elect is a graduate of Cardinal Stritch High, Oregon, Ohio, and attends Indian River College. She serves as an EMT for the Jensen Samaritans. Sammons graduated from Wattsburg High and is owner-manager of Sammons Construction Company in Stuart.

Meanest thief steals two Chamber flags

JENSEN BEACH—The "meanest thief" award this week goes to the person or persons who stole the American and Bicentennial flags from the flagpost of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce on Monday night.

The flags have been kept flying day and night, lighted, as a part of the Chamber's bicentennial celebration for the entire year.

Chamber directors met Monday night, and the theft occurred between the close of the meeting at about 10 p.m. and the following morning, according to Helen Richardson, chamber manager.

The value of the two flags was $30, she said.

Letters to the editor

To the editor:

I doubt it very much if the citizens of Martin County will ever really know the full details in regards to the investigation of the two Martin County deputy sheriff's, Lt. Gerald Powers, and Sgt. John Roberts.

As it now stands, the citizens either are confused into all the facts, or they believe as certain people want them to believe, and that is, that the two men have been involved in drug traffic and someone is out to get them, that they in the legal performance of their duties in drug traffic, are being "stepped on".

First of all the investigation should have been conducted by the Florida Department of Criminal Justice who can only investigate with the authority of the Governor. These men are trained in this type of work leaving all politics out of the picture.

Remember now that the Sheriff, Lt. Brown, and Sgt. Roberts are all close friends and that the Sheriff knew of the investigation as he states as far back as November of 1975. This raises a question. Could the Sheriff be involved? If he isn't, why didn't he have knowledge of any activities of his officers especially being on such a friendly basis? One of the officers under investigation doesn't seem too worried about it all because I (and three other witnesses) have seen him in a local restaurant with other suspects in the same case. Imagine, being under investigation with other suspects named in the news media, and then being seen in public with them. This doesn't show good judgement at all.

This is an election year. The Sheriff and the State attorney are of the same party affiliation, and I as a voter wonder if this will influence any input to the Grand Jury. Have all the facts been investigated? Have all the witnesses other than employees of the Sheriff's Department been subpoenaed?

If these two officers are found guilty of any wrong doing, this will of course have a great impact on whether the Sheriff gets elected again because the Sheriff to me doesn't show the deep serious concern that I would have or most other citizens would have in such a serious matter. In almost any Police department in the U.S.A., when a police officer is being investigated, he is temporarily suspended pending the outcome. One of the deputies under investigation as told to my by my daughter in school, is instructing the children on the effects of marijuana, etc.

If these two deputies are found guilty of any wrong doing, the Sheriff could possibly be implicated.

Just the other day the Sheriff said in a local newspaper, "I don't know how any of the stuff (I guess he meant marijuana) could have gotten on the street" further, "it is locked up in the evidence room in the jail, and only the jailers have the key." First, only one person responsible for the evidence should have the key, and no one else. Remember not long ago citizens, there were charges brought against jailers for selling Marijuana right at the jail. I'm not saying that they are or would now, but that they should not have the key to this evidence room filled with Marijuana.

During the same week that this investigation of the two deputies was brought to light, the FBI arrested several persons (1-6-76) for Bolita operations within this county. It seems that this operation was going on for two years netting a maximum of twelve thousand dollars per week.

It appears to me that there are some officials in law enforcement in this county like Sgt. Schultz in Hogans Heroes that is shown on a local TV channel each night. He has a very comical way of saying "I know not ting."

We would like to thank you for letting us come to visit the Port St. Lucie Mirror. Also our thanks go to Alice Hickey, Arlene Woodruff and Jean Morgan for the splendid job they did in showing us what goes into putting the paper together. The cub scouts and den mothers found it very interesting. The boys were also very excited about having their picture in this weeks edition.

Thank you again

Steelers are tops in Optimist Soccer League

JENSEN BEACH–Regular play in the Jensen Beach Optimist Soccer program ended last weekend, with the Steelers winding up on top of the league.

The first game Friday night was between the Dolphins and the Eagles. Eagles John Conklin booted in one goal, Ray Atkinson scored 2, and Manuel Maldonado had one. Final score Eagles 4, Dolphins 0, in a shut out.

The Steelers took the field against the Wings in the second contest. Jeff Van Curen scored for the Steelers in the first half, making the score 1-0 halftime.

The Wings scored early in the second half, but Steeler Chris Coy came back with two tallies, one on a penalty kick, and the final score was 3-1 Steelers.

The first game Saturday afternoon was Steelers vs. Eagles for the championship. Chris Coy booted one in five minutes into the first half, Steve Coy scored with one minute remaining in the half. Half time score was 2-0 Steelers, playing with the wind.

Chris Coy scored the only Steelers goal on a penalty kick 15 minutes into the second half, and Tommy Wacheen scored for the Eagles to prevent a shut out. Final score 3-1, game and championship for the Steelers.

Ssaturday's second game, Wings vs. Dolphins, was an exciting match with a bunch of goals scored.

Jay Brock started the scoring for the Dolphins with 2 goals and Chuck Areni kicked in 1 for the Dolphins.

Dean Tucker with 2 goals and Paul Arnold's goal put the Wings right back in the game. Half time score was 3-3.

But the Dolphins put it all together in the second half with Jay Brock scoring two more goals, 4 for the game, and Chuck Areni putting another one in #2 for the game. Final score 6-3 Dolphins.

Chris Coy was the top scorer in the league with a total of 10 goals. Jay Brock and Ray Atkinson each had 8, John Conklin, 7, and Chuck Areni, 6.

Post season competition is planned for Saturday, March 20. Boca Raton has been invited to come up here to play the Jensen All-Star teams.

The goal posts are down for this week's Softball Tournament and Optimist Spaghetti Dinner on Saturday, March 13.

TOURNEY WINNERS–Ervin Brodehl, left, and Jim Lewis of Holiday Out placed fourth in the state-wide amateur, central east coast district shuffleboard tournament.

HOT POTATO–The soccer ball can be a pleasant sight, such as when it sits in the net after a goal. But in this case, the anxious goalie wants to get rid of it completely to avoid a goal against his team. This scene during Saturday's soccer action at Langford Park.

Jensen Stars break the ice, rout Palm Beach Gardens

JENSEN BEACH–Led by a superb team effort, the Jensen Beach Upper Division All-Stars romped to an easy 46-29 victory over the Palm Beach Gardens Squires in an exhibition game Saturday.

The Squires (1-7 last season) were no chance at all from the start as the Stars demonstrated the fourth and final time trained marksmen. For the All-Stars the secret to success was a simple one – a combination of strength underneath the basket, quickness, shooting prowess and an uncanny sense of knowing where the rest of the players were at all times.

Jeff Hall was the league's leading scorer, registering nine points overall, with four coming in the third quarter. Just behind him were key standouts Gregg Jackson and David Kruger with eight points each. Both played key roles in the victory.

Kruger, particularly, stood before a packed gallery at Dreher with only seconds gone in the game. For openers, it was a surprise. Their only defense, not used on the JB league, is designed to keep the opponents away from the basket (at that particular play). Jim executed it very perfectly, but nobody bothered to guard against a fourth such as Kruger turned out to be.

Jackson, from front game to game, holds the all-time Jensen league record for rebounding in a game. He threw down ten carom on Saturday, pulling down rebounds one right and wrong on fallaways, jumpers.

The most crucial point went right underneath the net. Gregory Delaney, Wally Boerenkamp's action JB Division, ineligible and leaving.

This Saturday the team will travel to Palm Beach Gardens to play in the Palm Beach Gardens Junior Basketball Invitational, including teams from Riviera Beach, North Palm Beach and Palm Beach Gardens.

The Upper Division game will begin at 2:30 p.m. and it will feature our Stars against the Palm Beach Gardens All-Stars. It is important to note that this team will be composed of stars from all the teams in their league, not just one team or the Squires. If the Jensenites win, they would meet the winner of the North Palm Riviera showdown in the finals later on Saturday.

In the Lower Division Saturday, our younger and less experienced All-Stars were outclassed by the Gardens Hawks 35-12. The Hawks were the champions in the Palm Beach Gardens Lower Division this year, mainly due to the play of one Tony Walker, who poured in 20 points and game down with 15 rebounds. Saturday, both Park records. The highest point total this year was achieved by Wilfred Wiley, the league's leading scorer, who averaged 5 points a game. Walker scored 20, which tells you something about Saturday's game.

This week, the Lower Division Stars will play not just the championship team, but the All-Stars of the Gardens league. All that can be said for this game is: Let's hope for an upset.

Brian Lambeth and Billy Marg each had four points for the Jensenites, while Wiley and Jeff Gray each tallied two each. Gray's tucker gave Jensen Beach an early lead, but Walker scored the next six points, and the Gardeners never looked back.

For all of you faithful fans who would like to attend this Saturday's day of fun and thrills, here's how to get to the Palm Beach Gardens High School Gymnasium. Drive along U.S. 1 then turn right at PGA Boulevard. From there go one block past I-95 and turn left onto Military Trail. Then go six or seven blocks and you can't miss it. If you do, well – better luck next shear.

Shufflers win one, lose one

PORT ST. LUCIE–Monday, Mar. 1 was make-up day for the Port St. Lucie Shuffleboard Club and a day for draws, too.

The Indian River team went to Fort Pierce for a 5-5 score. PSL winners were Larry Hett and Bus Gilbert, Mary Marsh with Mary Conley, Herb Feller and Guy Hayden, John Butler and Gene DeKeulaneere, Don Bergamini and Harold Hazel.

The Central East Coast League team hosted Causeway which also ended in a tie score, 2-2. Winning teams were Beaver Rinehart with Bob Dobler, Frank Stevens and Frank Jones.

It was Ocean Breeze Terry Jones, Indian River in play on Wednesday's final score PSL 5, Ocean Breeze 0. George Dufresne and Joe Keating, Mary Conley and Mary Marsh; Don Bergamini and Harold Hazel, Larry Hett and Bus Gilbert, Bob Cuccia and Ralph Cooley, Vernon and Art Trowbridge were PSL's winning teams.

Ernie Spinks joined with Tom Scott to bring home PSL's only win in Central East Coast play at Ocean Breeze.

Blind-folded Lions are challenged

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Fort Pierce Night Seekers Club issued a challenge to the Port St. Lucie Lions Club to a bowling match at Fort Pierce Lanes Sunday, March 21.

Play is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. when the sightless members of the Fort Pierce club begin competition with the PSL blind bowlers.

The members of the Night Seekers group are Rudy Roberts, Jeanne Strickland, James Tait, Frances King, Barbara Waller, Sandra Allison, Frances Hersey, Henry Brady, Patty Williams and Mas [illegible].

Anglers out in force to catch blues in surf

JENSEN BEACH–Beautiful days, balmy breezes, blues in the surf: everything an ardent angler could desire, and the fishermen were out in force taking advantage of the ideal conditions.

Ted Bloom and Company used Bloomy's Specials to take 126 blues from the surf in a couple of outings. Duck White had a mixed bag all caught in the river on Ns lure Jigs or shrimp: 2 snook, 2 trout, 3 weakfish, one mackerel and 2 pompano, one weighing in at 3 pounds.

Joe Tromba hit the surf for 14 blues. John Sawicki used kroks to catch 25 blues and dug up a sand flea and caught him a snapper.

Sawicki went outside on Thursday and caught an 80" sail and a 15 lb dolphin on Bally hoo.

Walt Neff had 4 blues, Ernest Dewhurst 2 blues, Arden Berry, 5 blues, Rose Castleman, 3 blues, and Gib Smith, Art Droheim and Clem Rusch teamed up for 52 blues caught on Red heads and Hopkins.

Violet and Harold Terpening used cut bait for 10 blues, 4 whiting and a flounder. Ruth and Spencer Eddy caught 4 blues and 2 sand perch on cut bait.

Mike Simmons caught 20 blues on kroks; Reed Davis, 14 blues; Reg Bramson, 18 blues, and Warren Herbert had 2 pompano, 3½ and 2 pounders.

Joseph Stahler tried the 8 mile reef and caught a 38" 13-lb dolphin. Evan Renn and Paul Harshberger went outside and used cut bait to catch a 37½-lb. amberjack, 28 snapper, 4 trigger fish and 8 grouper.

Frank Morgan had 3 blues, George Gay, 8 blues; Dec White, 7 blues; Millard Grubb, 3 blues; and Ralph Sander, caught 6 blues in kroks.

A bait tangled a race in the Inlet laid off the 10 cent bridge. Ed Wagner and Pat Patterson had 13 trout in a couple of outings. Ed Mar- 10 blues caught in Ryan Plugs, and Mack Davis caught a 5½-lb pompano on the power plant.

Brett McClure had a 14 lb. snook, caught on bunker. Sandy Adair had 15 trout to four pounds. Charlie Kross, 4 trout totaling 21 pounds, caught on live shrimp.

Charlie Kessler used live bait and shrimp to catch 14 trout, 1 sheepshead and a blue. Steve Sweet had 2 trout, 3 weaks and a pompano fishing off the 10 cent bridge. Will Bradshaw caught 16 sheepshead totaling 25 pounds. Michael Zupko had 11 trout. John Crawford 3 trout. John Bisogno, 5 blues to 5 pounds, caught on cut ribbon.

Terry King and Joe Wade hit the surf on Saturday for a 33 lb jack and 12 blues. Ed Woodard had 7 blues. Bill Collins, 7 blues; Father Alvarez 12 blues, J. Weiland, 9 blues, and Fred Heis, 20 blues.

Vernon Crews caught a 7 lb. large mouth bass in the "pond" taken on a bream. Ed May and R. Wamil had 14 blues. Fred Dushanek 8 trout. Bob Carruthers, 2 trout. Wm. Harrison, 2 trout, and Skip Lenker 10 trout.

Russ Bolton, Stewart Hoagland and Dick Weiser trolled spoons and jibs with shrimp in the North Fork catching 4 snook to 16 pounds, 2 trout, 2 jack, one red and a lady.

Catch-of-the week honors go to 6-year-old Todd Goldmeyer who landed a 20-lb dolphin outside on Monday.

Sylvia Siman gave a report on snack sets to be purchased, also dessert forks.

Other reports at the meeting were given by Walter Atwood who asks for more shuffleboard enthusiasts to turn out. Fern Hill reminded us of a bake sale and silent auction on March 20.

Sylvia Siman announced her resignation as Lake Manor correspondent to the Jensen Beach Mirror effective May 1st.

Friday, March 5th, Lake Manor Prop. Inc. had their annual meeting with Andrew Bullock, president, in charge. Four issues were presented for a vote, with discussion before hand. New officers for the ensuing year are: Richard Bradley, president; Glenn Oakes, vice pres.; Herbert Burmeister, secy.; Dorothy Conway, treas.; Bob Brice and Max Berdine, directors.

+ + +

Bingo that night brought out only nineteen, with Harry Beamer and Max Scriven calling all the lucky numbers.

+ + +

Sat. the 6th Mens Coffee had a fair group with Paul Christen serving and Herb Burmeister helping. The men also enjoyed playing some games.

If you get bogged down by everyday living and don't know what to do, take one hour on Tues., at 10 a.m. and join us for Bible Study. It is worthwhile.

+ + +

Also, there still is time to join our hymn sing group who will sing for the Bicentennial program later this month on March 25th.

+ + +

Andy and Ethel Bullock have had as their guests Ethel's son, Ron Crowell, wife Nancy and three children, from Kalamazoo, Mich. I was fortunate in meeting Ron, Nancy and son Corey. Chris and Lesley were elsewhere. They all enjoyed our perpetual sunshine.

+ + +

A change. The Tucker mobile is now owned by Harold and Pauline Lyster from Skyline Drive. We are happy to welcome them to Lake Manor.

+ + +

We are wishing better health to the following: Mary Scriven, Lee Van Cura, Helen Weaver, Margaret Rosengarth and Carl Roman.

+ + +

Take care of yourselves and help keep peace.

D & M News Notes

BY MILDRED STINNETT

334-4486

Ethel Phillips proudly showed me a newspaper clipping which reads "U.S. Air Force Captain Donald J. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Phillips of Jensen Beach, has arrived for duty at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio. Captain Phillips is a psychiatrist with the USAF medical center. The captain, a 1960 graduate of Owego (N.Y.) Free Academy, received his B.S. degree in 1967 from Union College, Barbourville, Ky., and his M.S. degree in 1971 from Syracuse (N.Y.) University."

Eilene and David McBriar are entertaining Eilene's daughter Pam Cotter, her son-in-law Dan, granddaughter Erin and grandson Brendan, who came from Farmington Hills, Michigan, to spend their vacation.

After a week here, Dan had to hurry back because of damage to their home by the recent severe storm, but he reports that all is well now.

One of the joys of living in D. & M. is our occasional glimpses of wildlife, one of which, a big fat bunny, likes to nibble on the grass at the McBriar home, much to the delight of Erin, who feeds the rabbit carrots. Erin is also enjoying her small private pool on her grandmother's lawn, something she certainly wouldn't be doing if she were home in Michigan.

Ethel Meacham has a big smile on her face, and the cause of it is the arrival of her granddaughter Cheryl Aldridge, and three year old great granddaughter Jenifer from Battle Creek, Michigan, who are staying for two weeks.

+ + +

Martha Ebner did a fine job of calling for bingo last Tuesday evening, but the men won so many of the games we ladies were chagrined.

+ + +

Our art instructor Grace Cleere took us through the first steps toward creating an Alpine scene, which we'll continue to work on next Monday.

+ + +

Mona and Arthur Wendt just bade adios to their friends Edna and Peter James, who had come from Madiera Beach to spend four days with them.

Twenty-eight members of the Hobby Group met in the rec. hall Tues., March 2, before going to Lord Chumley's Pub for our Second Annual Luncheon. Our president, Mona Wendt, had made excellent arrangements for our transportation, seating, etc., and we thoroughly enjoyed the meal and each other's company.

Next Tuesday the meeting will be given over to business. Ethel Phillips and Esther Grindles acting as hostesses.

+ + +

And now this proud grandmother would like to crow a bit, my grandchildren. Shannon Elizabeth and Mark Harris, who live with their parents, Jill and SSG James A. Harris II in Ft. Eustis, Virginia, took the SRA Science Research Association examinations, and both are now in the "above national average" category. Also, Mark is one of four math students with the highest grades in his entire school.

Sunday's Pavilion Church service was well attended by 216. Dee Brink was the organist, Grace Thau the pianist, and Reverend Clark
Thompson officiated. Wm. Studebaker conducted the opening, announcements and offertory, with Bruce McCart doing the closing prayer.

The Holiday Out Choral Group, under the direction of Claire
Bidwell, was wonderful. Walla Jo
Hughes accompanied them.

Robert Sumner, Lester Ullmann, Jack Barton and Ed Storck served as ushers.

Next Sunday -- music by representatives of the Hobe Sound
Bible College. Everyone is welcome.
Time - 8:45 a.m.

The Lot Owners' Association meeting was held Saturday, March
7. Attendance was down from last month as owners mend their various ways home. Much of importance was discussed and the meeting ran beyond its usual limit. The dues for 1976 are payable beginning in March, so all you owners, bring your membership up to date! Checks may be mailed to P.O. Box 1376, Jensen
Beach, FL 33457.

Last week's Bowling for Fun three game totals for women were:

Dorothy Studebaker, 385; Rusty
Baxter 384; Bea Leonard 351;
Myrtle Vincent, 342; Tena Van
Raay, 334; Lynne Baxter 258.

And for the men: Jim Williams
470; Bill Henrichsen 458; Ron
Leonard 414; George Trumbull 403;
Ed Vincent 374; Mike Remick 357;
Geoff Van Raay 287.

+ + +

Bonus results on Friday night:
Marge Stieler and Bill Middleton split the first coverall. Jane Schreimer won the second and Catherine Stump won the winner take-all game. A large attendance had good fun.

+ + +

Monday night bridge scores: Paul
Holler, 5660; Sarah Valaro 5080; Bill
Remington 4990. There were eight tables in play.

+ + +

Earl and Ruth Bowes (of 111) had a surprise visit from Mr. and Mrs.
Monte Moore from Illinois and Mr. and Mrs. B. Williams from Richmond, Va. long time friends.
Monte is Ruth's cousin. They are all on vacation, staying in Palm Beach.

+ + +

Mr. and Mrs. Scherls Green's daughter and son-in-law, Arline and
Leonard Sheffer and their daughters,
Janet and Kellie, arrived recently from Michigan where there is no electric power because of the recent terrible sleet storm, with no repairs in sight. They are enjoying our sunshine and warmth. It is so cold back home.

+ + +

Has everyone noticed the new low lights around the curves and dark spots on our streets? They are really attractive and useful.

+ + +

Welcome to new owners, Joe
Arina (at lot 24) and Richard and Doris Ann Nurse (at lot 18).

George Shute was hospitalized this past week and doctors have not yet come up with the answer to his problem.

+ + +

Jane, George and Zachary Taylor, plus Jane's granddad "Pamp", left for home on Tuesday. This was Pamp's first trip to Florida and he loved it.

Gordon and Annie Parkman left the park, reluctantly, for Disney World. They would have liked to stay longer, but there was just "no room at the inn." Isn't this season something else?

+ + +

Just can't stay away dept. Geert and Bob Long drove up from Lauderdale for the day on Sunday, in spite of having heavy colds and overtime work this weekend.

+ + +

Also up for the day on Sunday were Roger and Joan Byrne. Joan brought us news of her aunt and uncle, Gladine and John Weiss, who just left the park last week. The Weiss's totalled their trailer near Jacksonville, but fortunately, were unhurt. They hit a wind pocket and were barely able to make it to the side and out of the traffic stream, before the trailer went over.

Bob Lobdell is back from the hospital and doing quite well.
Daughter Lydia, from Fort Pierce, looks in on him now and again to make sure everything is all right.
Bob is in his new trailer and on his own for again.

+ + +

Readers are panting to hear more of the continuing cribbage international between Ellena Perez and Betty Hurst on the one hand, and Mary Burns and Betty Taylor on the other. Well, the Burns-Taylor team has been going down to defeat pretty regularly these days, but the warm, dull days to turn some time soon.

+ + +

Gordon and Edna St. Louis are expected back from their travels very soon, now. Friends and neighbors have decorated their trailer very tastefully to welcome them home to the park.

+ + +

Greg Sells was in the park early this week. He had some work in the area, and combined business with the pleasure of staying in the park for a couple of extra days.

+ + +

Dottie and Erling Johnson are expected back this week. Their cat
Patches, will be happy to see them.
Patches has been well cared for by neighbor Evie Smith, but is sort of lonesome for her family.

+ + +

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Whitfield, Jr. are in the park for a short vacation and glad to be away from the ice storms up north.

Luland Margo Millette and friends
Chester and Helen Hajek attended the Hot Stream rally at Kuntu
Florida last week.

+ + +

Other H.O. people on the road were Peg and Clancy Guthbird who spent a few days down on the Keys.

Peggy got homesick for Holiday Out, though, and they came home sooner than they had planned.

+ + +

Headed for home in Rochester
New York are Lorraine and Jack
Feasel. They had some special reasons for leaving here so early, one of them being the happy prospect of being Godparents at the christening of a friend's baby. Their plans for the summer include visiting Nashville, Tenn. again, then to Myrtle Beach and thence to Holiday Out for a brief sojourn.
Hurry back - we miss you!

+ + +

We wish a happy anniversary to Roger and Joan Byrne on March 13.

+ + +

Happy birthday wishes are extended to Agnes Landis and Joe
Vansant, March 10; Jean Taylor,
March 12; Catherine Taylor, March
13; Walter Vallery, March 14; Harry
Smith, March 15; and Betty Lobdell,
March 16.

News of Nettles Island

BY DOROTHY ENGEL

BY DOROTHY ENGEL

There was no reason to write about the weather this week. There was a nice variety. Some days to please everyone, hot days, cool breezes, a little rain, refreshing evenings. There were a few sunbathers turning nice shades by evening, while others found a little shady spot for color at times. The beach walkers were out in large numbers, enjoying the sands, shores for shells or just breathing in the salt air and enjoying the cool breezes beneath their feet. It's funny how everyone disappears once the bodies behind a cloud.

We were able to awaken early during the week, between 6 & 8 a.m., so could have the sunset shooting through the window three or four mornings. I've got herself up one morning to see it, and said it was worth getting up for.

Island Anglers met Monday to see Bob Tifft demonstrate how the fly rod to catch trout. A different method of fishing. Fiendants are used to and are most interesting.

Women's Club met March 3rd enjoyed a special program called "That Was My Bag."

Peg Masters Hobrock was gracious enough to give permission to Eleanor Hauger to present her collection of warmly nostalgic and witty descriptions of a bygone era before the advent of automobiles, electrical appliances and pollution.

For those who grew up in the recent past, weaned on rocket launchings on TV, those reminisces brought forth envy for the "good old days." Others, of an older generation, were delighted by the "shocks" of recognition of things past.

Coffee and cookies were served after the program.

Basic steps of square dancing are being taught by Dan Cross of Warren, Ohio, by tapes. Dan has been caller for the national rallies of the Holiday R.V. Club for five years and is an outstanding teacher. The time for square dancing now is Thursday afternoons from 2 to 5 p.m.

+ + +

With the tremendous turnout we get on Tuesdays and Fridays for bingo, and the new faces coming and going, we don't often announce the winners.

But, when someone wins the big Nettles Island game twice within three weeks, he deserves to be mentioned.

That's just what George Cook did won over $150 twice, and it couldn't happen to a nicer guy. That's it for the next year, George!

The ambulance took Wimpy Groover to Martin Memorial Hospital a week ago Saturday due to heart failure. After rectifying that problem the doctors say he has to have his knee operated on, the one he hurt while fishing. I'm sure he would appreciate a phone call or visit to cheer him up.

+ + +

Don't forget to stop and say hello to Herman Bender on your way by. He's been home from the hospital a week now after another heart attack and is doing well but has to take it very easy. Irma Vandergraaf is again rendering her services in the meal preparation department, so it looks like he's in good hands.

+ + +

Dr. Stewart Hawthorne, a heart specialist from Elyria, Ohio, died in Martin Memorial Hospital on March 1. Doc has spent the past two winters here during which he suffered a series of heart attacks.

His son came down and accompanied Pat back to Ohio for the burial. At the last minute, Pat decided to leave the motor home here so she can return to live here winters among her many good friends.

Jack and May Devleiger, lot 461, arrived at Nettles Island Saturday, towing a brand new 30 foot Holiday Rambler. They left Michigan Wednesday in the aftermath of the ice storm which hit the northern states last week where trees have been downed by the thousands and power failures have existed for days.

Their departure was delayed in January due to Jack suffering from a heart attack just before they were ready to leave. Now May is one of those gals who does most of the towing.

Walter and Charlotte Schmidt took delivery of a beautiful new 26' sailboat this week, having graduated from a little 12 footer. Now they're in the process of having heavy duty davits installed and making plans to go sailing. Charlotte is the first mate and quite a sailor I understand. She even gives orders to the captain.

+ + +

I see the waterskiers are out in the river already, including some pretty little ones. Lot owners Les and Betsy Roe, who ski themselves, now have their little girls Betsy Ann and Josie out there, and Stephanie Hudnall, six years old, attempted it for the first time Sunday afternoon. She maybe wasn't up there very long, but she got up. I'd say that was pretty great.

+ + +

Regi and Brenda Moore from Peterboro, Canada, the guy who can't do enough for this friends, are leaving Wednesday, so the neighbors had a big surprise party for them Monday afternoon. It was held outdoors along the canal and the whole west end of Connecticut Drive was invited. Bill Martin even had the U.S. and Canadian flags flying. Clara Von Trerp, lot 1-1, and Ruth Martin, lot 6-1, served as hostesses.

The Moores are taking an apartment in Clearwater at the "Top of the World" a giant condominium, before going back to Canada.

Our T.O.P.S. club is sponsoring a bake sale this Friday, March 12, at 11 a.m. out by the post office. It's going to be torture baking all those goodies without being able to taste any, but that's what T.O.P.S. is all about: helping one another resist temptation. All baked goods will be on sale for you to help T.O.P.S. build their revenue.

+ + +

The dance Saturday night drew a capacity crowd. All proceeds were donated to the therapeutic pool fund which we are all anxious to see completed. This dance was only planned a few days in advance, with the Nettle Islanders Band providing the music. With doors being open Saturday night, the music was enjoyed all over the island.

One by one, at 5:30 p.m. Sunday, the cars started gathering in the parking lot and everyone paraded upstairs, gourmet dish in hand, to await the arrival of Matt Coyle who was celebrating his 43rd birthday.

Millie Coyle threw the biggest surprise party for Matt he ever had. There were 17 tables and nearly 50 guests. The guest of honor's table went across the front of the hall, complete with blue cloth and a lovely centerpiece, and a large "Happy Birthday Matt" banner above.

Each table had a decorated styrofoam birthday cake in its center, which looked so real, someone tried to cut one.

Piano and organ music was provided for listening and dancing.

Alice and Schuyler Sharpe's daughter Pat and her two sons Chris and Kevin Koehanek of State College, Pa., spent a few days with them last week. The weather wasn't exactly up to Florida standard but a visit to a citrus packing plant in Fort Pierce, a day at the beach and a day at Lake Okeechobee kept them all busy.

Mary Rosenberger of Coconut Avenue is enjoying a visit from her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Gillies who live in West Boylston, Mass. The Gillies are spending some time with Mary and traveling throughout Florida.

Last weekend Bob and I visited friends from Itasca, Illinois, who were spending the month of February at Indian Shores on the west coast of Florida. We stayed right on the Gulf and it was a beautiful sight — especially the sunset. But we were happy to get back to Port St. Lucie — too many people, too much traffic and too many condominiums.

Another northern visitor, Albertina Dion of Johnston, R.I., is visiting with her brother Arthur Tondreau and his wife Yvonne of El Sito Ct. Albertina spends three months in Port St. Lucie and is an active member of the Shuffleboard Club while she is here. She recently was an official scorekeeper at a tournament.

Former residents on Coconut Avenue, Milt and Helen Ruzicka, who now live in Holiday, Florida, spent a few days with Anita and Charlie White on Riomar Drive. The Ruzickas enjoyed visiting around with old friends. Helen even helped out at the Bake Sale at the Spring Festival and greeted her old friends at the CESA event.

Mildred and Wayne Whitaker of Olive Avenue recently entertained an old friend, Mrs. Hermine Koerner of Long Island. Mrs. Koerner enjoyed the beaches and sight seeing and especially the weather. Another visitor the Whitakers enjoyed was Mrs. Carole Clark of Forest Hills, N.Y. Carole and Mildred grew up together in New York and were happy being together in Florida.

Last Thursday the Port St. Lucie River Park Homeowners officers, directors, wives and guests met for dinner at Rays' Inn. Twenty-nine attended the event called the President's Dinner and enjoyed the fellowship and food. Past Presidents and their ladies were introduced.

My ears perk up and I get my little black book out when I hear someone has guests or has been out of town, but I don't see all or hear all, so please remember to give me a call.

From all reports and compliments I receive, everyone likes to read the Port St. Lucie News. This is my first venture into this kind of activity and I can't do it without your help. So please call me. My heartiest thanks to all who do call.

Sometimes a name or place gets misspelled and if it's my error — or sometimes the typesetter's, forgive me Arlene, please forgive me.

Mrs. Sylvia Marttinen from Mass. Michigan, is visiting her sister and brother-in-law, Helvie and Warner Biekkola of Lakehurst Drive. Recently, the Biekkolas entertained Mr. and Mrs. William Savola from Marquette, Michigan, who are spending the winter in Zephrhills, Fla. Other friends from Marquette, Mr. and Mrs. Frank La Belle are spending some time at the Outdoor Resort on Hutchinson Island. All the Michigan visitors were impressed with Port St. Lucie.

Warner Biekkola recently had occasion to return to Marquette on business and was mighty glad to get back home to Port St. Lucie.

Don't forget the Allstates dinner on March 17th at the Marina. This is not an insurance group — just residents of Port St. Lucie from all the states who now live here. Tickets are available from Anita White 878-2927, Beverly Perell 878-1177, Pat Hassell 878-1461, Kate Miller 878-3722, Claire Levy 878-3870, Lucy DeMuelles 878-4297, and Dorothy Brunton 878-0904.

After the dinner which consists of hamburgers, baked potatoes, tossed salad, dessert and coffee, there will be a film entitled "Airports Mean Business" and then, because it is St. Patrick's Day, an added attraction will be the film, "Luck of the Irish." All this for only $1.75.

Jack and Reva Tyrer of Floresta Drive are looking forward to St. Patrick's Day as their daughter Sharon is flying down from Saginaw, Michigan, to be married on that day at the "Forget-Me-Not" Chapel on Orange Avenue. The bridegroom to be is Thomas Wirth of Defiance, Ohio. The newlyweds will honeymoon thruout the south and then make their home in Defiance where they are both employed by General Motors. In line with the day, both the bride and Reva will wear green dresses. Our congrats to the future newlyweds.

The Spring Festival held at CESA last Friday and Saturday was quite successful. Many thanks are due to the cooperation and assistance of all who helped. An estimated $2500 was raised for the community center. It is a fine reflection on the people of Port St. Lucie who came out and helped put the festival over the top.

People count reaches 4,000

PORT ST. LUCIE—The official population count for the City of Port St. Lucie is now 4,000 strong, according to a report received last week from the Bureau of Census, Department of Commerce.

The figure is in sharp contrast to the 2680 figure upon which revenue sharing for the city has been predicated.

City Administrator Elmer Cox noted that while population counts are only one of several factors involved in computing Revenue Sharing, the latest official enumeration should have a salutary effect upon the City's status as a recipient of the funds. Other factors involved include per capita income and the extend of ad valorem and other taxes generated by a community.

Although Cox said there is no way of knowing what the City will actually get, he is hopeful of an approximate 25 percent increase in the revenue sharing funds.

Last year the City received $43,000 based on the 2680 count.

The official figure indicates there are 2001 males and 2019 females living in the City.

In addition, the Census Bureau has calculated the median age of the 4,000 residents is 38.0. This was based on the counting of residents ranging in age from one to 85 or more.

The enumeration resulted in a count of 1475 housing units within the City.

"In the City's efforts to obtain an increase in revenue sharing, it was assisted by the St. Lucie County Legislative Delegation whose members deserve a vote of thanks," said Mayor Schuyler Sharpe.

The 4,000 official count reflects the number of residents living in Port St. Lucie as of November 6, 1975.

The official report will be forwarded to the University of Florida's Demographic Team.

The updated count cost the City $2,500.

Savannas purchase progress is cited

PORT ST. LUCIE—A state purchase agent will be back in the area within three weeks to meet with property owners to discuss negotiations and purchase of land, it was revealed last week by Martin and St. Lucie County officials.

"McMillan will be back to discuss signing preliminary contracts with property owners," Dr. Walter Stokes said.

Dr. Stokes, a leader in "saving the savannas campaign," McMillan State Rep. Chuck Nergard and other area leaders met with the property owners.

"Everything is going well, and we are pushing hard for acquiring the savannas," Dr. Stokes said. "We had good response from the land owners at the meeting last week."

McMillan reported that Wayne Sines, of Fort Pierce, who owns a large tract of the savannas, has said he is willing to negotiate on the basis of the state's appraisal and that owners of Lucie Lakes Estates are also willing to negotiate land sales.

McMillan has also consulted with Florida Power and Light Co. (FPL), which owns a 656-foot wide strip across the savannas for transmission lines from the Hutchinson Island nuclear plant.

He said FPL has agreed to cooperate.

McMillan said the first step is to get agreements to donate land or sell on the basis of state's appraisal.

The state ordered appraisal of the 10,000 acres averages out to $500 an acre, but the appraisals for each piece of property varies, he noted.

Property owners asked if their agreements to donate or sell would be binding if the project fell through.

McMillan said that is not the case and McMillan said absolutely not.

The acquisition of the ecologically important savannas, a strip of wetlands and grasslands stretching north and south from Midway Road and Jensen Beach Cutoff Road in the two counties, retains a top priority in the state land program.

A total of $5 million has been earmarked for the acquisition.

Last minute emergency demos boycott event

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE—While he said he'd "prefer to win and fail than to never stand at all," Larry Johnston was more than reluctant to name the newest Democratic Ball at the Sandpiper Bay Resort a bomb.

Johnston, one of the planners of the event was highly critical, and could had been instrumental in the formation of the St. Lucie County Democratic club and coordinator of the last minute sponsored affair.

Johnston told The Mirror Monday evening he felt justified in being the one to catch the chickens from anyone who may have been disgruntled over the evening.

From the very beginning, I held myself totally responsible for the dignitary arrangements, leaving the other coordinations of the function up to others on the committee," he said.

According to Johnston, he had verbal acceptances from the seven Democratic candidates.

"A last minute emergency, which prevented all but one of the scheduled presidential candidates from making an appearance at the $25 a plate fund raising event, certainly does not make the entire effort a failure," he said.

Johnston went on to explain the evening was planned in a two part agenda and, through no fault of the local committee, the second part had to be scratched.

Johnston said, it was 6:45 p.m. when he received word that former Georgia Governor Jimmy Carter would not appear.

Ten minutes later I learned that Pennsylvania Governor Milton Shapp would be here, but only briefly, during the cocktail hour.

The meeting was well under way when it was learned Washington Sen. Henry Scoop Jackson and R. Vance Hartke would be diverted from the Sandpiper event.

But regardless of the lack of candidates, Johnston said much had been accomplished and he or no was feels the evening was a loss.

We still united two counties politically. Martin and St. Lucie and we still united 85 people into an event that has never been accomplished in this area before.

We still had fun, good food, an enjoyable evening and fantastic entertainment, Johnston said.

Although he refused to elaborate on the "last minute emergency," Johnston did go on to say a television station in Miami had offered the candidates free air time.

According to Johnston, the Secret service had a great deal to do with why the candidates did not appear, but again he refused to elaborate on the subject.

Asked if he would be willing to take part in setting up a political event of such magnitude in the future, Johnston answered affirmatively.

I am a never say die person. If I am still around here in another four years, yes, I would be willing to try it again.

State Democratic Department Party Chairman Ann Cramer was there. Palm Beach County Commissioner Robert Culpepper was there. And, so was Florida Senate President Dempsey Barron, presenting an award to an aide of Governor Reubin Askew, who said Governor Askew couldn't attend because he was working on the budget.

PORT ST. LUCIE—Mrs. Carol Kepp received a blue ribbon on her entry in the Spring Festival and Bazaar. Mrs. Kepp, a newcomer to the area, won special awards in her prize winning painting. Second and third place winners went to Mrs. Olga Atkins and Mrs. Betty Miller, respectively.

Hardie tees off on fish and game

PORT ST. LUCIE—Jim Hardie fishing editor of the Miami Herald told members of the Port St. Lucie Anglers Club Tuesday night that Florida has some of the finest fishing in the world, but he added that defensive measures will have to be taken to preserve fishing for the sportsmen.

Hardie continued his challenge of the Fish and Game Commission's tentative project to open Lake Okeechobee to commercial fishermen and seining.

He challenged the commissioners and anyone in the meeting to tell him of any lake where fish grew larger because of a seining program.

The big problem, Hardie contended is the inflow of pollution from two sources one is the Kissimmee river, where channelizing the river destroyed the natural filtering environment allowing huge quantities of agricultural and urban wastes to rush downstream and into the lake. The other is the backpumping of water by the sugar cane interests near the west areas of the lake, water which is also loaded with pollutants. "Nowhere on the commission's project," said Hardie, is there any program to reduce the inflow of these pollutants. And the idea that increased harvesting of fish by seining will materially reduce the pollution content of the water because of the amount of nitrates and phosphates those fish have absorbed simply doesn't stand examination."

Hardie pleaded for the formation of a state-wide association of fishermen to protect their interests at the state level. A current matter is the agitation for a salt water fishing license. Those at the meeting agreed with Hardie that if proceeds from such a license were used for fish preservation, control and measures to protect fishing, the matter would be acceptable but that diversion of the license funds to other state expenditures would be unacceptable.

Hardie said he was sorry he could not be present a month ago when representatives of the fish and game commission spoke but he said he was sure he knew what they said, and that was a ban he would say in reply.

He expressed scant veneration for the scientist and researcher who, like any good consultant, can come up with about any answer to a problem depending on who pulls the strings and pays for the study.

The city administration will be asked to pursue efforts to have the North Fork of the St. Lucie River declared navigable waters subject to regulation of boating and other uses as a result of action taken by the Anglers at the Tuesday meeting.

A letter to the Council urges the city to move in the direction of regulation in the interest of uniform and enforceable rules covering all river use.

The club's conservation committee announced the effluent installation meeting of the County Conservation Alliance has been set for 8 p.m. March 23 at the Trade Winds Coffee Shop and urged members to attend.

Morgan Jones, special events chairman, reported the spring cookout will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, April 25, at the Northport Marina.

Spring Festival nets about $2,500 for community center fund

PORT ST. LUCIE—Although final figures are not yet in, it would appear that the Spring Festival and Bazaar netted in excess of $2,500 for the Community Center's operating fund.

Ribbons were awarded on Friday morning to the oil and watercolor categories of the art show. First place winner in oils was Mrs. Carol Kepp. Mrs. Olga Atkins took second place and third place went to Mrs. Betty Miller.

Mrs. Kay Stabler received first and second place awards in the watercolor division, while Mrs. Helen Scott placed third.

Judges for the event were Mrs. Hamel (Theresa) Knowles. Mrs. Margaret Zierer Smith and Herbert Neuberger.

Although no ribbons were awarded in the photography division, Tamara Lynn Walker and Peter J. Torelli were commended for their versatility in that category.

An unusual array of crafts included Russell Privatteer's sterling rings, Ray Barton's leaded glass and Terry Vincent's metal sculpture.

Four PSL artists, Donna Pesavento, Wanda Lundin, Mary Swan and Grace Cleto donated oil paintings to be awarded during the two day festival.

Prize winnings in various games, contests and drawings included Mrs. Allan B. Can Nostrand, Mrs. Walter Krumel, H. Peck, Velma Meditor, Clare Provott, Roma Masanti, Ila Mae Madorie, Nellie Schmidt and F. Schatz.

Also, Dr. Claude Grizzell, Mrs. Thomas Hart, M. Steinhorst, Mrs. George Jacson, P. Cornetta, E. Sigrist, Mrs. George Hanna, Bill Crane, Mrs. Walter Tracy, Mrs. Paul Zinter and Mrs. Ralph Huffman.

General Chairman Mrs. Donald J. Porter and Coordinator Mrs. J.J. Schreiber described the festival as a great success in every way.

Seeley appointed assistant vice president

PORT ST. LUCIE—Robert L. Seeley has been appointed assistant vice president of community affairs with responsibility to coordinate community activities in Port St. Lucie for First National for General Development. The appointment is effective March 1, was announced by Ernest F. Hornsby, III, senior vice president-corporate operations. Mr. Seeley will replace Port Malabar activities Mr. Susan Arruda, recently named director of community affairs.

Mr. Seeley, who is approaching his fifth anniversary with the company, will assume the added responsibilities, in addition to his position as assistant vice president and general manager at Port St. Lucie and liaison to the City of Port St. Lucie and Martin County.

A graduate of the University of Florida with LL.B. and J.D. degrees, Seeley joined the company in 1961 as a corporate counsel after privately practicing law. He was later appointed assistant corporate secretary and in 1972 he was made director of governmental relations.

He served two periods totalling nine years, in the Army Air Corps USAF as a pilot and aircraft commander rising to the rank of lieutenant colonel. A St. Lucie resident, Seeley is a member of the American Society of Corporate Secretaries, Phi Alpha Delta Law ABA section on business law and banking, American Bar Association, Florida, Dade County and St. Lucie County Bar Associations, Elks, and he is a licensed real estate salesman. He is also a director of the Port St. Lucie Bank and chairman of that bank's Board. Executive Committee, as well as trustee and director of the Cultural Educational Social Association (CESA) of Port St. Lucie.

Gov. Askew declares March 'Florida Lions Month'

PORT ST. LUCIE—Governor Reuben Askew has declared March Florida Lions Month, in recognition of the community oriented organization.

In observance of the honor, Station WTVX Channel 34, has invited Willard Bill Stringfellow, president of the Port St. Lucie Lions Club, to appear on the Jim Metz Show at 4:30 p.m. Monday, March 15.

Stringfellow will outline the aims, services and projects of the local clubs as well as state objectives of the active groups.

Gang plans Mardi Gras

PORT ST. LUCIE—This week's session of the Friday Nite Gang will be one of its periodic Mardi Gras affairs.

Starting time is 7:30 p.m. at the North Port Marina. Appropriately, special prizes will be awarded throughout the evening's regular play.

Last Friday, the Snooper reported that visitors, including Mr. & Mrs. Cancellieri of The Bronx, New York, visiting Mrs. M. Graziapatte; Mrs. Sylvia Martinson of Mass. Michigan, visiting the Brookdale and Mr. and Mrs. Alex MacEachern of Nova Scotia, visiting the Earl Campbells.

One birthday was reported. George DeGuerre 39, who received the usual enthusiastic greeting from the gang.

Frances Broom won the main prize of the evening.

Allstates Club meets St. Pat

PORT ST. LUCIE—The Allstates Club of Port St. Lucie meets at 6 p.m. Wednesday, March 17, St. Patrick's Day, at the Northport Marina.

In observance of the special day, Charles White will show the musical film "The Luck of the Irish" along with the regularly scheduled movie.

Airports Mean Business.

The cook out menu includes hamburgers, 2 cents baked potato, sand apple pie and coffee.

Tickets may be purchased from Anna White, Kate Miller, Dorothy Bruton, Claire Levy, Beverly Farrell, Pat Hasell and Lucy Demories.

Book review slated

PORT ST. LUCIE—In keeping with the Port St. Lucie Community Center's "something for everybody" programs, a book review is scheduled at the center for Saturday, March 20 at 1 p.m.

Mrs. Florian Minskey, a winter resident of Spanish Lakes is the guest reviewer and is keeping the title of the book a deep dark secret.

The public is invited. Refreshments will be served by the Rosarettes of Port St. Lucie.

All book worms are urged to make this date a must on their calendars, March 20.

Anglers will see film

PORT ST. LUCIE—A 25 minute color film will be featured at the Tuesday, March 16 session of the Port St. Lucie Anglers Club. Meeting time is 7:30 p.m. at the Marina.

Entitled "Outer Banks Fisherman," the movie will show noted east coast surf water expert Whitey Krueger, assisted with fresh water bass master Roland Martin, chasing trophy stripers from surf and boat near Cape Hatteras, demonstrating techniques for catching many different kinds of salt water fish.

Voting is steady in south county

PORT ST. LUCIE—Election officials manning the South County precinct polls were unanimous in reporting a steady flow of voters during the Tuesday presidential preference primary.

There have been no splurges nor lulls, however we have had a 50 percent turnout by 3 p.m., said election clerk Ms. Joanne Walters who went on to explain the voters in her precinct had only to vote on the water management amendment and one presidential candidate.

She also added that there were several persons waiting when the polls opened at 7 a.m. because they were anxious to vote before going to work.

The elections clerk at the Port St. Lucie Community Center (CESA) Ms. Kay Harris gave much the same report, good turnout and steady flow of voters.

The earliest vote in the area was done in the Port St. Lucie City Hall where fifty percent of the country club residents had voted prior to 11:30 a.m.

Official returns of Tuesday's voting will appear in next week's Mirror.

Prizes galore at Bi-C Dance

PORT ST. LUCIE—A spokesman for the Port St. Lucie Bicentennial Committee said Monday that more door prizes have been secured to be given away at the Bicentennial Cocktail Dance on Saturday, March 13.

Party time is from 5 to 7 p.m. in the Great Hall at Sandpiper Bay.

There will be so many prizes to give away, there may not be time for dancing, said Mrs. Fradd.

The promised "tidbits" for munching will be hors d'oeuvres by gourmet cooks of Port St. Lucie and Spanish Lakes.

Admission tickets at $2 apiece include door prize drawings, food, and music for dancing at the cash bar affair.

Call Jonn E. Fradd, 334-4843, or Don White, 878-0578, for tickets.

Hadassah plans Jewish gourmet dinner

PORT ST. LUCIE—Hadassah will celebrate the Israel Anniversary with a Jewish Gourmet Dinner at 6 p.m. Sunday, March 28, at the Port St. Lucie Community Center (CESA).

The public is invited and Hadassah members from Vero Beach to Hobe Sound are urged to attend. For information and reservations, call Rose Davidson at 663-5631, Estelle Kanarek, 287-5462, or Ceil Levinson, 878-1779.

Mrs. Ruth Freer is chairman for the affair.

Letters to the editor

Dear editor:

I doubt if very much if the citizens of Martin County will ever really know the full details in regards to the investigation of the two Martin County deputy sheriff's, Lt. Gerald Brown and Sgt. John Roberts.

As it now stands, the citizens of this area confused into all the facts. They believe as certain people want them to believe, and that is, that these men have been involved in drug traffic and someone is out to get them, that they, in the legal performance of their duties in drug traffic, are being "stepped on."

First of all the investigation should have been conducted by the Florida Department of Criminal Justice who can only investigate with the authority of the Governor. These men are trained in this type of work leaving all politics out of the picture.

Remember now that the Sheriff, Lt. Brown, and Sgt. Roberts are all close friends and that the Sheriff knew of the investigation as he states as far back as November of 1975. This raises a question. Could the Sheriff be involved? If he isn't, why didn't he have knowledge of any activities of his officers especially being on such a friendly basis? One of the officers under investigation doesn't seem too worried about it all because I and three other witnesses have seen him in a local restaurant with other suspects in the same case. Imagine being under investigation with other suspects named in the news media, and then being seen in public with them. This doesn't show good judgement at all.

This is an election year. The Sheriff and the State attorney are of the same party affiliation, and I as a voter wonder if this will influence any input to the Grand Jury. Have all the facts been investigated? Have all the witnesses other than employees of the Sheriff's Department been subpoenaed?

If these two officers are found guilty of any wrong doing, this will of course have a great impact on whether the Sheriff gets elected again because, the Sheriff to me doesn't show the deep serious concern that I would have or most other citizens would have in such a serious matter. In almost any Police department in the U.S.A. when a police officer is being investigated, he is temporarily suspended pending the outcome. One of the deputies under investigation as told to my by my daughter in school, is instructing the children on the effects of marijuana, etc.

If these two deputies are found guilty of any wrong doing, the Sheriff could possibly be implicated.

Just the other day the Sheriff said in a local newspaper, "I don't know how any of the stuff (I guess he meant marijuana) could have gotten on the street", further "It is locked up in the evidence room in the jail, and only the jailers have the key." First only one person responsible for the evidence should have the key and no one else. Remember not long ago citizens there were charges brought against jailers for selling Marijuana right at the jail. I'm not saying that they are or would now, but that they should not have the key to this evidence room filled with Marijuana.

During the same week that this investigation of the two deputies was brought to light, the FBI arrested several persons (1-6-76) for Bolita operations within this county. It seems that this operation was going on for two years netting a maximum of twelve thousand dollars per week.

It appears to me that there are some officials in law enforcement in this county like Sgt. Schultz in Hogans Heroes that is shown on a local TV channel each night. He has a very comical way of saying, "I know nothing."

To the editor:

We would like to thank you for letting us come to visit the Port St. Lucie Mirror. Also our thanks go to Alice Hickey, Arlene Woodruff and Jean Morgan for the splendid job they did in showing us what goes into putting the paper together. The cub scouts and den mothers found it very interesting. The boys were also very excited about having their picture in this weeks edition.

Thank you again.

Sincerely yours,

Tourists ring cash register

JENSEN BEACH--Tourism in [illegible] Beach and Florida is expected to continue its onward and upward charge during the Bicentennial year, Chamber of Commerce officials said.

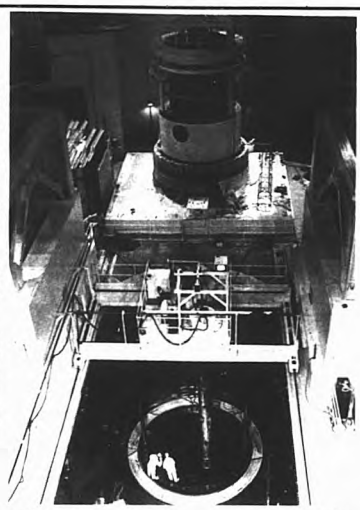
"We have had a 10 per cent increase over last year," Mrs. Helen Richardson, Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce executive director, said.

"We have had more people coming into the office this year seeking information, places to go, maps of area and fishing guides," she said.

She said that almost each day the chamber office has had more inquiries than last year, more than on such days and many, many more on telephone calls.

The Florida Chamber of Commerce reported that tourists are expected to have more money to spend as a result of an increase in per capita real income, and revenue to the state's economy from tourism is projected to hover around $10 billion dollars.

It is also reported by the state chamber that total personal income in the state is expected to grow 12 per cent to $81,772.4 million.



LOADING NUCLEAR FUEL--Technicians carefully supervise the loading of nuclear fuel into Florida Power and Light's new St. Lucie nuclear reactor on Hutchinson Island. The fuel loading will be followed by a period of final testing prior to initial reactor operation.

Flag burning March 22

JENSEN BEACH--American Legion Post 126, Jensen Beach, will conduct a flag burning ceremony on Monday, March 22, at 7 p.m. at the clubhouse on South Savanna Road.

Patriotic theme

160 boats receive 'Blessing of Fleet'

JENSEN BEACH--The man dressed as "Uncle Sam" balanced precariously in the bow of the small boat, glancing down at the nation's birthday cake that crowned the bow, as his entry in the "Blessing of the Fleet" passed the Chanticleer for judging.

His was just one of the many decorated boats in a patriotic theme that passed in review between Ralph Evinrude's 118-foot yacht and the Coast Guard boat that formed the reviewing line.

Over 160 boats participated in what has become a growing event on the Jensen Beach calendar.

Frances Langford Evinrude, Bicentennial chairman Bill Connolly and Sheriff Jim Holt judged the entries that included brightly festooned sailboats, Uncle Sam, a Statue of Liberty in flowing white robes, and a decorated boat with one lady trying to control a red-white and blue kite flying from a light-weight fishing rod.

As a local radio station intoned pre-recorded blessings, the three religious leaders, Rabbi Hen Hecht, Temple Beth El, Ft. Pierce, Father Frank Alvarez, All Saints Episcopal Church, and Dr. Carl Polhein, First Presbyterian Church, Stuart, blessed the fleet as it moved past in an hour-long parade.

The Saints and Sinners Yacht Club at Port St. Lucie won the award for highest percentage of boats in the parade.

Eleven yacht clubs and boating organizations participated along with many private boats.

Bob Ellsworth in his Egg Harbor won the best decorated boat trophy, John Hackney won best decorated sailboat in a Hobie Cat, and John Storza won most original theme in his cruiser.

Trophies were presented at a banquet Saturday night at Sandpiper Bay.

JUDGING--Bicentennial chairman Bill Connolly, Sheriff James Holt, and Frances Langford Evinrude were judges in the Saturday Blessing of the Fleet ceremonies on the St. Lucie River.

THE HOST--Ralph Evinrude, chairman of the Board of Outboard Marine Corp., was host to the blessing of the fleet as the 118 foot Evinrude yacht Chanticleer was used as the reviewing boat. At left is Ed Benedict, one of the organizers of the event.

Five false alarms reported

JENSEN BEACH--Jensen Beach Fire Chief Randolph Spinney said Monday that his department has received five false alarms in the past few days, apparently from a youngster.

"We have had calls from someone reporting house fires on Wright Road in Rio," Chief Spinney said.

"It sounds like a kid about seven to nine years old," he said.

"The calls have come in between 8 and 10 p.m., and I could hear someone in the background telling the kid what to say," the chief said.

Chief Spinney said that reporting fires that do not exist, false alarms, is a criminal offense.

Hospital Ball theme is 'Racing with the Moon'

STUART--The 1976 Martin Memorial Hospital Ball will be a tribute to the memory of Vaughn Monroe, according to Dale Hudson, co-chairman of the ball.

The announcement was made as noted festal auteur Patricia Lurgin Kiernan announced that the theme of the fund-raising event will be "Racing with the Moon," the theme song of the famed band leader singer composer.

Mrs. Kiernan's designs and decorations have graced all hospital balls in the history of the drive, and have been a highlight of the event.

It was also announced that Vaughn Monroe's band, led by Lou Prosman, would play for the event.

VAUGHN MONROE

Monroe and his wife Marian were two of the pioneers of the ball, and helped to make it the leading social event of the year in Martin County. Mrs. Monroe lives on Sewall's Point in the home the two built years ago as their permanent residence.

Monroe's achievements include selling over 70 million records, the most famous of which were "There I've Said It Again," "Ballerina," "Ghost Riders in the Sky," and his theme, "Racing with the Moon."

Contributors of $150 or more will receive tickets to the ball. Contributions can be sent to Hospital Ball Fund, P.O. Box 627, Stuart, Florida 33494.

No growth policy doesn't work -Wacha

JENSEN BEACH--Saying the [illegible] possible plan for [illegible] Commissioner in District 1, Jim Wacha made a nonpolitical [illegible] Monday calling for [illegible] to instigate a change from growth to planned growth, and [illegible] the objectives of a recent county commissioner's trip to Tallahassee.

Wacha told the Jensen Beach Rotary Club that the county has been ripe for the past three years for hired help and regulation," [illegible] that [illegible] the county commission.

He read from the county commissioner's handbook that the county commissioners were the administrative officers and fiscal managers of the county, and said that county had "gotten away from government by elected officials."

He added that the county commissioners "cannot delegate powers that should stem from board action."

Wacha outlined the many offices that would be up for election this year in November, and asked the audience to "rededicate in getting involved in government in this bicentennial year. It is important to get involved in all races, especially the county commission race, for this is our local governing body."

Pointing to the "no growth" philosophy of county government in the past three years, Wacha said [illegible] vehicles registered in the county and in June of 1975 there were an [illegible] vehicles registered.

That means an increase of 33.6 percent in auto registrations, Wacha said. He also reported an increase of 64 percent in registered voters over the three years.

"We may have a no-growth policy but it doesn't work."

Wacha called for a "planned growth policy."

He touched on the eastern route of I-95 through Martin County, saying that so-called savings on a western route would be lost in the higher cost of access roads to the western location of the interstate highway.

Saying that the county needs a credit squad to explain why the route of I-95 actually touch either Jonathon Dickinson State Park, Wacha said that he felt that the eastern route was selected so that it would be unacceptable.

Wacha said that the recent trip of County Commissioner Maggie Hurchalla to Tallahassee on the purchase of the Jensen Savannas delayed the project two weeks because the commissioner asked that a strip of land along the Loxahatchee River be included in state purchase of endangered lands.

The action delayed the selection due to the competition to the project, Wacha said.

Jury opens deputies probe

JENSEN BEACH--A Martin County Grand Jury Monday began its investigation of alleged wrong doing by two sheriff deputies, Gerald Brown and John Roberts.

The jury was convened to begin its probe of narcotics work by the two deputies.

The investigation was initiated last October by State Attorney Robert Stone.

During the past months, the state attorney and his assistants have subpoened a wide variety of financial records and investigation records related to Brown, Roberts, persons who have worked with them as undercover assistants, and persons they have questioned in drug traffic investigations.

Among documents subpoenaed are records of conversations between the deputies and attorney Alton Beasley of Stuart and Fort Pierce.

Beasley was convicted in Fort Pierce last year of a misdemeanor--delivery of drugs.

The jury was to hear testimony from eight witnesses, including Sheriff James Holt, during its probe.

The sheriff was ordered to turn over tapes and transcripts to the state for review and any travel vouchers submitted by the men for airline and other expenses.

Planning district hearing is Thursday

JENSEN BEACH--Area officials will ask the state to consider the creation of a new regional planning district at a public hearing at 2 p.m. Thursday, March 18, at West Palm Beach.

Representatives of Martin, St. Lucie, Okeechobee, Indian River and Palm Beach Counties are expected to attend the session at the Palm Beach County courthouse.

Almost a year ago, these counties adopted resolutions asking for a new planning district and presented their request to Lt. Gov. Jim Williams in Tallahassee.

But moving an application through official doors takes time and area officials were told that a decision on a new district would take several months.

Martin, St. Lucie and Palm Beach Counties are presently in the South Florida Regional District 10, and the other counties--Indian River and Okeechobee are in different districts. Also presently in District 10 are the big counties of Dade and Broward.

Martin and St. Lucie Counties have never named members to the district, and have steadfastly refused to pay dues since the state formed the regional districts four years ago.

Palm Beach County Commission members resigned from the district, protesting the high densities being supported by Dade and Broward County representatives.

St. Lucie County Commission Chairman Ed Enns said he will attend the Thursday session along with Commissioner George Price and County Administrator Weldon Lewis.

St. Lucie County Commissioners pointed out to Lt. Gov. Williams that they saved about $5,000 last year by not paying dues to the South Florida [illegible].

County Administrator Jack Noble, Planning Director Kris Schenk and County Commission Chairman John Kiernan from Martin County will also be attending the meeting.

Appeals for a new district will come during the public hearing conducted by State Planning Director R.G. Whittle, Jr.

Last week the Regional Planning Council adopted a resolution requesting that "the Florida Secretary of Administration maintain the current geographic boundaries of District 10 currently within the planning jurisdiction of the South Florida Regional Planning Council." The resolution also pointed out:

"This resolution was adopted primarily because the local governments of Region 10, and particularly the single organization area of Dade, Broward and Palm Beach Counties share common economic and physical development relationships."

In the resolution adopted last year by area counties, it was noted:

"These counties are desirous of withdrawing from their respective districts because of lack of compatability with the underlying philosophies concerning growth, density and developments."

From 1970 to 1975, according to the population figures, Martin County increased in population by 70 per cent, and was the fastest growing county in the region, while Dade County was the second lowest at 13 per cent.

Palm Beach and St. Lucie Counties had the third and fourth fastest growth rate in the region from 1970 to 1975.

Causeway water treatment costly

JENSEN BEACH–It will cost approximately $3,800 to comply with the Department of Environmental Regulation (DER) order to put chlorination equipment on the Jensen Beach Causeway water system, according to the Martin County Engineer's Department.

And after the capital equipment installation, it will cost approximately $125 per month to supply chlorine, electric power, legally approved operating supervision and reporting service, assistant engineer C.R. Skinker reported.

"We are going to study the situation further and make a report to the County Commission," County Engineer Ken Ferrari said Tuesday.

"We may put signs at the causeway warning the public not to drink the water," Ferrari said.

Last month DER notified the commission that the county is in violation of Florida statute 403.161, and has 30 days to respond to the DER's letter of notice requiring certain data.

The violation is the failure to chlorinate the water and leave a minimum of 0.5 ppm free chlorine residual in all parts of the system.

County Administrator Jack Noble said that DER has given the county an extension of the deadline.

DER's notice was given Feb. 13, 1976 and the commission had 30 days to respond. Noble did not say how long the extension was.

In the past when the causeway water was cut off because of pump failure or other reasons, the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce and The Mirror office received complaints from area residents who fill their water jugs with the sweet, aerated water.

Skinker noted that to meet DER's requirements it will be necessary to install a chlorinator, injection pump, automatic switchover scale for two chlorine cylinders, piping, electrical controls and wiring, metal shed and chain link fencing.

The physical condition of most of the existing piping is reported to be worn and corroded to such an extent that the piping may fail rapidly when exposed to chlorinated water, Skinker wrote in his report.

The water system on the causeway consists of a two inch well located at the southeast corner of Indian River Drive and the causeway across from Poor Bob's Restaurant.

From the well, approximately 2,800 feet of two inch underground pipe runs eastward along the south side of the causeway to the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) laboratory building.

There are eight branches for public faucets.

OFFICERS ELECTED–Unity Chapter 37, of the Order of the Eastern Star, officers are shown at their installation. Front row, from left, are Gertrude Bribben, assoc. matron; Ethel McDowell, worthy matron; Guy Priestly, worthy patron; Vera Clark, Leta Keith, Inez Shaffer, Rosa Dahlberg and Marion Knopp. Second row, from left, are Chalice Priestley, Coy Isaacs, Theodore Clark, assoc. patron; Dorothy Geeben, Joenell Friend, Leveta Wright, Ethel Dempster. Back row, from left, are Louise Isaacs, Bertha Bengel, installing marshal; Hazel Kolze, Sally Rhodes, Meinzie Swigart and Anna Marie Stinson.

BOARD MEETS–The board of directors of Outboard Marine Corporation met last week at the Evinrude estate, discussing the international marketing concept of the outboard motor conglomerate. Included in the group are Ralph Evinrude, chairman of the board; Bill Scott, vice chairman of the board; Charlie Strang, president; S.L. Richardson; F.T. Irgens; Max Fruhauf; Robert Wallace; Jim Briggs; Urban Kiekley; J.L. Runiak; Tom Beeker and Roland Merrell. Not present was Ed Fitzgerald, who was in St. Petersburg representing Milwaukee Brewers in the baseball negotiations.

Big turnout in primary

JENSEN BEACH–Martin County voters went to the polls in greater numbers in last week's presidential preference primary than had been predicted by officials.

Martin County Supervisor of Elections, Mrs. Sandra Randolph, had predicted a 40 per cent turnout, but about 52 per cent of the eligible voters cast ballots.

"There was a bigger vote state-wide than had been predicted," Mrs. Randolph said.

"The Florida primary got a lot of nation-wide publicity," she said.

Republicans went to the polls in greater numbers than their Democratic counterparts–54 per cent turnout for Republicans to 48 per cent Democrat voters.

There are 24,264 registered voters in the county and 12,726 voted in the primary.

President Ford carried the county, as he did state-wide polling 3,677 to Ronald Regan's 3,071.

Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter carried the county, as he did state-wide, polling 2,622 with Alabama Gov. second with 1,603 votes.

Sen. Henry Jackson was a distant third with 279 votes.

The other votes were scattered among the nine other Democrats on the ballot, with Rep. Morris Udall getting 140 votes, and voters pulled the "no preference" lever in the voting booth to the tune of 116 times.

The proposed constitutional amendment carried, 6,122 for, and 4,196 against.

Ross Philbrick won the Republican state committeeman race, beating William Anderson, Jr., 2,628 to 2,441, and Barbara Lindsey beat Arline Signore, 3,341 to 1,928 in the state Republican committeewoman race.

Carter carried the Jensen Beach Precinct 1 voting with 196. Wallace was second getting 163, and Jackson placed third with a 136 tally.

Carter got 72 tallies at Precinct 15, Rio Civic Club voting center, to Wallace's 28, and Jackson polled 25.

At Ocean Breeze P.C. K Precinct 14, Wallace polled 21, Jackson 20 and Carter placed third in that precinct with 16.

At Precinct 30, Sewall's Point, Carter got 65 votes to Wallace's 38 and Jackson's 17.

PAINTING PLUGS–It was the Martin County High School Interact Club that was responsible for the colorful patriotic painting of all the fireplugs on main streets throughout Stuart recently. Jim McMannemon, president of the club, and Donna Marcar show off one of the works of twenty members of the club.

Missionary to address

JENSEN BEACH–Pepper Harris, a missionary teacher, will speak about her work among the Seminole Indians at next week's meeting of the Church Aid Circle of the Jensen Beach Community Church.

Meeting time is 1 p.m. Wednesday, March 24, in the Fellowship Hall.

Dessert and coffee will be served by Jane Phillips, chairman. Jo Eisenbarth, Gladys Garner, Edith Dodge, Nancy Roulier, Averil Tillman, Terese Wittnebert, Nettie Christie, Hazel Wilson, Esther LeMessurier, Florence Shaffer, Dorie Nuber and Thurza LeSieur.

Citizens Federal comes to Hutchinson Island

PORT ST. LUCIE–The first financial institution on Hutchinson Island will be opening soon, according to the announcement made by Fred Coke, president of Citizen Federal Savings & Loan Association.

The new branch office of the Savings & Loan will be located in the Colonnades Shopping Plaza in Fort Pierce's South Beach area, Coke said the actual opening date of the new office has not yet been set but it is hoped the office will open sometime in April.

We plan to have a grand opening celebration lasting a week, said Coke, with premiums and gifts for new accounts.

The South Beach area has a population of approximately 7000 and there has been rapid growth in the area with the construction of several large condominium communities.

For years people living on the island have expressed a desire for a financial office in their neighborhood, Coke said, and we are pleased that we will be able to offer these services to the community.

The Colonnades Plaza office will be managed by Kathryn B. Colburn. Mrs. Colburn was previously Mortgage Counselor at the main office of Citizens Federal. The new branch will make the third office of Citizens Federal in St. Lucie County. The main office is located on U.S. 1 in Fort Pierce and an existing branch office is located in Port St. Lucie.

IN APPRECIATION

We wish to express our heartfelt appreciation for all the beautiful messages of sympathy, love and guidance that were given to our family by our wonderful friends, neighbors and clergy, due to the loss of our loved one, William A. Stephenson, known to all as "Bill."

Chairman for drive named

STUART—Former Ambassador Ambassador Charles W. Adair Jr. of Stuart, has accepted the general chairmanship of St. Michael's School Advancement Fund. Adair's acceptance was announced by Dale M. Hudson, chairman of the Board of Trustees of Saint Michael's.

St. Michael's School, formerly the Pine School, was purchased in January, 1975, by a group of interested parents who reorganized it as a non profit corporation.

The purchase was accomplished by generous contributions of $175,000 and loans of $265,000. Enrollment is conservatively expected to increase from 75 to 175 by 1979. Fully accredited, St. Michael's is a member of the Episcopal School Association of Southeast Florida.

As general Chairman of the Advancement Fund, Adair will enlist capable leadership in the community to raise $375,000 over the next five years. The financial support is needed in order for St. Michael's to meet both its present and future obligations and commitments on a sound cashflow basis.

Winter tournament

STUART—Many overall entries in the Sailfish Club Winter Tournament were...

John J. Hyatt, Newton, Mass., a guest, is now casting caught the Sea Queen with Capt. Al Strotkin.

Michael Zipko of Stuart had a 12-lb. 6-oz. sea trout...

Grumman Aerospace in Stuart employs over nine hundred personnel and is one of the major employers in the area. Jim Zusi, Vice President and Director of Stuart operations, said that "our local hospital is an outstanding organization and they provide excellent service to the people of Martin County. We feel that this type of donation is very proper for such an organization." Many individual employees at Grumman Aerospace also donate to Martin Memorial Hospital. Zusi remarked, "We want every business and individual to become interested and active in the hospital and we hope we have been an incentive to others."

Rep. Skip Bafalis

Other nations are past due

WASHINGTON—Remember the moustachioed villian in the old melodramas (the one who kept trying to evict the heroine by foreclosing on her mortgage)?

If the united States were to emulate that villian, it could perhaps foreclose on 80 per cent of the nations around the globe.

Believe it or not, 80 per cent of the nations around the world not only owe the United States money, but are 90 days or more in arrears in their payments.

At last count, there were some 153 nations in the world. And 124 were at least 90 days delinquent in repaying their debts to this country. As a matter of fact, as of last June 30 more than $633 million was overdue.

Now, $633 million may not seem like a lot of money from a federal budget quickly approaching the $400 billion mark. But it is a lot of money to be overdue.

It would be one thing if this were a one time affair. But it isn't.

Some of the nations are constantly in arrears. And the number and the amounts past due keep growing.

Just a year previously, on June 30, 1974, the past due debt totaled $562 million. Within six months it jumped to $606 million, and then to $633 million. That's a 12.5 per cent increase in just 12 months.

And that's a level of past due debts we taxpayers shouldn't be asked to bear.

We shouldn't have to put up with it because no one seems overly eager to get these delinquent countries to pay up.

Just the opposite. We keep on dishing our foreign aid as if the money came from an inexhaustable dollar tree and not the already overburdened taxpayer.

It is particularly upsetting when you look at which countries are behind in their payments. Saudi Arabia, a nation sitting on a sea of oil and one more than willing to jack up the price, was $2,116,522 behind on its payments when fiscal 1975 ended.

And that represented an increase of nearly $2 billion in Saudi Arabia's past due indebtedness.

Saudi Arabia isn't the only oil-rich nation in arrears. Iran, the world's fourth largest oil producer and second largest importer, was $45 million in arrears on June 30, 1975. And all of it had been owed for more than 90 days.

However, it isn't just the oil-rich nations which owe us but don't want to pay us. Turkey, a nation which would rather grow opium poppies than a civilized crop, was $91 million in arrears just a few months ago.

Even the United Nations is behind in its account. As of June 30, the UN was $7 million behind in paying us back.

In the 1974 Foreign Assistance Act, the Congress specifically called for prompt negotiations with each country behind in its payments in secure payment of the debt or in arrange transfer of goods and services in lieu of payment.

Since then, 73 of the countries behind in their payments have dropped further in arrears.

For that reason, I was pleased to support an amendment offered to the new Foreign Assistance Appropriations bill last week to prohibit arms aid to countries over a year behind in their payments. And I'm delighted to report, that amendment was approved and is now a part of the bill sent to the Senate for concurrence.

In fact, it was perhaps the best part of the bill finally adopted over my no vote.

Optimist men outlast telephone men

BY DONNIE WILKIE

JENSEN BEACH–The Jensen Beach Optimist Club, led by a terrific offense and great teamwork, defeated the Southern Bell Telephone Workers of Martin County, 100-84.

The Optimist Club fast break was tremendous, scoring almost every time it was tried. The only way the Telephone Company could even hear what was going on was to yell long distance.

Pat Gillen had 28 points for the winners, while Ron Witt matched that for the Callers. Tom Wackeen and Marty Hawthorne each had 22 points for the Optimists, while Bob Newman and Ed Clark each popped 20 for the Telephone Company.

The Optimist Club led early, taking it at 6-4, and didn't lose it until it was 82-80. From then on, the Telephone Company led, until a spurt of some eight consecutive baskets by the Optimists changed the game around from 54-52 Southern Bell to 68-54 Optimists.

The game was a friendly challenge match which came about because of a challenge from Telephoneman Pete Hovantz.

Beach study funds backed

JENSEN BEACH–A Martin County beach erosion study appropriation has won the backing of key congressional officials, two county commissioners reported.

Commissioners Tomer Powers and Tom Higgins met last week with congressional appropriation officials and won their backing of a $25,000 item in the 1977 federal budget to get the study started.

"A $25,000 appropriation for the initial phase of the beach erosion study will have a better chance of approval because of the public access beaches resulting from Save Our Beaches' program," Powers said.

Realizing the county beach project had not been recommended in the President's budget, nor any funds appropriated for the 1976 fiscal year, we presented a documented presentation emphasizing the tremendous success of the Save Our Beach campaign," Powers said.

We also presented pictures of the critical erosion problems that are increasing annually," he continued.

Powers and Higgins said they discussed the beach nourishment with Florida Senators Lawton Chiles and Richard Stone, and Representatives L.A. Bafalis and Paul Rogers, and with Assistant Interior Secretary Nathanial Reed during their visit to Washington.

The erosion study request was timely because it could be viewed as a companion project of the Corps of Engineers' project in the St. Lucie Inlet, Higgins said.

The Corps has received about $200,000 in federal funds to begin pre-construction work to deepen the inlet, build a jetty on the south side of the inlet and pump sand from the inlet to a state park beach on the south.

Fair art winners named

STUART–Virginia Spencer, chairman of the Art Exhibit at the Martin County Fair, announced the following winners.

Best of the Show was awarded to Ruth Andrews for a portrait of her granddaughter Samantha.

Mrs. Andrews also won the blue ribbon in the category Figure or Portrait. Other winners in that category were: red ribbon, Doris Thurston; white ribbon, Tom Gorny; green ribbon, Al Termini.

Abstract winners were Iola Connolly, Jerry Blass, Tom Gorny, Dorothy Stafford. Water Color: Still Life ribbons went to Barbara W. Green, Bea Scott, M. Auleta, Alice Connolly.

Oil Stil Life winners were Josephine Wonders, Marguerite Duston, Betty Elsaesser, Arlie Lippincott.

In Oil Landscape: R.S. Sparin, Ruth Bowman, Mary Graves and Sue Parrish were awarded ribbons.

Pastel winners were Ruth Andrews, Terry Stone, Jan Kozel and D. Colonna.

Collage awards went to Rita Rose Krull, Trude Burns and Dorothy Elliott.

In the Sculpture division winners were Myna Bell Coalent, Ella Curtis, Veronica Fisher and Fred Rentner.

Photography winners were Darcy Conant, L. Nieland, Art Johnson and Roger Conant.

A special Bicentennial Painting Award was given to R. Hewson for her oil painting of a map of the United States showing regional areas of the country in miniature paintings such as Golden Gate bridge and redwoods of California, Great Salt Lake in Utah, Bucking-ham Fountain in Chicago, and Disney World in Florida.

The award winning paintings will be hung in the Stuart National Bank and may be seen there from Monday, March 22 through April

Al Kroll caught 5 blues. Walter Neff, 9 blues. Reg Bramson, 4 blues. Ed May, 14 blues. Lea Hinka, 13 blues. Bob and Sukey Beasley, 23 blues, as bluefish continued to dominate the fishing news.

Bridge fisherman Steve Steele caught 7 trout on shrimp. Charles Krow had 4 trout. Ed Wagner, 5 trout and two reds and he and Nick Gresh teamed up for 8 trout.

Charlie Kessler, fishing in the river, had one snook, a weakfish, 3 trout, 2 blues and 2 snook released; all taken on live shrimp.

Ed Woodorsky, hit the river and surf for 12 blues, 4 jack and 2 trout. H.B. Chapman used plugs to land 16 trout, 2 snook and a channel bass. Chapman and Phipps had 22 trout and 2 mackerel on bouts.

Fred Hein fished the surf for 15 blues and 3. Jack Grevalle, 9 pounds, caught on cut bait.

MAIN ATTRACTION–Contestants of an exhibition match and the main attraction of the second annual Sandpiper Bay Invitational Tennis Tournament was Dean Martin, Jr. left, who won 8-6 with his partner Dennis Rinaldi, of Sewalls Point. The pair defeated City of Stuart Pro Bob Grossman and Sandpiper Bay Pro Martin Orlando.

Safe boating class April 1

JENSEN BEACH–Flotilla 59 United States Coast Guard Auxiliary is scheduling a spring boating safety course to start on Thursday, April 1.

The USCG Auxiliary boating course is designed to make this possible, covering rules of the road, charts and compasses, weather, radiotelephone, aids to navigation, all offered to assure safe and enjoyable boating.

The course will start at Auxiliary Headquarters in Civic Center Park, north end of Flagler Avenue, Stuart, at 8 p.m. April 1. It is free except for a registration fee of $5, covering textbook materials. Call 286-0062 or 334-3246 for further information.

Sailfish citations

STUART–The Stuart Sailfish Club issued citations for the following fishermen:

Flora Spurberg, Anna Marie Florida, a 20-lb. dolphin; Dr. Dale Milligan, Oklahoma City, Okla., a 30-lb. sailfish, fishing aboard the vessel Margaret with Capt. Earl Williams.

John Russo, Stuart, a 24-lb. 8-oz. snook; Sis Fork, St. Lucie River.

Mrs. William Lanphar, Riviera Beach, Fla., a 6-ft. 2-in. sailfish released; John E. Scott, McLean, Virginia, a 20-lb. dolphin, fishing aboard the Sea Bird with Capt. Ras Parker.

Charles W. Langhor, Ft. Myers Beach, Fla., a 34-lb. 8-oz. African pompano, fishing from the Sundance with Capt. Chason.

Stuart visits Antioch Hill, an 8-ft. 2-in. sailfish, fishing from Dauntless II with Capt. Ed Hallicy, Jr.

Katherine Williams, Forked River, N.J., a 6-ft. 8-in. sailfish; Larry Lasante, Forked River, N.J., a 9-ft. 10-in. sailfish; Kathleen Iannantuoni, Toms River, N.J., a 6-ft. 6-in. sailfish, fishing aboard the Rich I, with Capt. R.V. Lyon.

Robert J. Larter, Auburndale, Fla., a sailfish released; T. Edgerton Screws, Vero Beach, a sailfish released; Sandra B. Screws, Vero Beach, a 7-ft. 4-in. sailfish, fishing aboard the Gannet II with Capt. Ed Engebretsen.

Open Air Art Show is set for March 28

JENSEN BEACH–An Open Air Art Show, sponsored by the Jensen Beach Art League, has been set for Sunday, March 28, in the east parking lot of the First Federal of Martin County, Jensen Beach.

The public is invited to attend from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Exhibitors must be members of the Art League.

Club officers are elected

STUART–The March 6 meeting of the Garden Club of Stuart got down to business first with the election of officers for next year and a vote on amendments to the charter of the Club. Mrs. Paula Veibel was re-elected President for next year and it was agreed that all officers should hold offices for two years.

Mrs. Dean Cross, horticulture chairman, gave a talk entitled "For the Birds." Food and drink are the necessities to be provided, she explained. Insects, garden vegetables, fruit trees and berries provide the food and pools, baths, dripping faucets and fountains provide the water.

After the work and preparation for the recent Flower Show, members were in the mood to relax and an original skit by Mrs. David Chase provided the levity. The Meeting Will Now Come to Order was presented as a clever satire on women's clubs everywhere. This particular fictitious club was called W.A.I.T.E., standing for Women's Awareness of Everything. Members of the Club were the actresses including Mrs. Paula Neibl, who played the lead.

Welcoming businesses were Mrs. Paul Lute and Mrs. Mary Hock. The Tea Hostesses were Mrs. Ira Caldwell, Mrs. Frank Cadaret, Mrs. Frederick Hampton, Mrs. Curtis Lester, Mrs. T.B. Chambers and Mrs. Walter Clark. They decorated and served with the theme of St. Patrick's Day. Mrs. William L. Woods was welcomed as a new member.

Rio News

BY HAZEL MORRIS

The residents of Rio wish to extend their deepest sympathy to Mrs. Al Wilson. We were sorry to hear Mr. Wilson passed away suddenly on Thursday.

Al Wilson, a long time resident of Rio, was a charter member of the Rio Civic Club and Chaplain for the club. He was one of the original group who started the club and an active member for many years.

The Rio Civic Club held its monthly meeting March 11th. It was a special evening celebrating the 26th anniversary of the club and a Bicentennial Party. The hall was nicely decorated with red, white and blue streamers with a strip of red, white and blue and small American flags on each table.

After a delicious dinner was served and enjoyed by all, several patriotic songs were sung by Edna Horne from Pinelake Village. She was accompanied on the piano by Arlene Woodruff of Jensen Beach.

Al Walker, a charter member of the club, gave an interesting talk on how the club was started. He also had photographs of Rio back in 1950 which were shown to the members.

A short meeting was held to take care of the business matters of the club and a social hour followed.

Guests attending the meeting were Kevin Kennedy from Chapel Hill, N. Carolina; Elsie Bendell of Brooklawn, N.J.; and Ida Graefe from London, England. The committee for the affair included Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Van Netta, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Deiner.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zajic who celebrated their 27th wedding anniversary on March 12th.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Alton D. White, who are spending the season at Winter Haven, recently visited Joseph Galocey. Joe is Mrs. White's Dad.

Ida Graefe has returned to England after spending six weeks with her sister Dorothy Mercer of Palm Circle.

It was her first visit to this country and she says she enjoyed it very much. She found many things different and interesting here, and hopes to return some day.

Mrs. Thomas W. Bendell of Brooklawn, N.J. is visiting at the home of Mrs. Ella Bernhardt.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Haines and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Powell took off last week for a week's stay at their summer home in the mountains near Ellijay, Georgia.

Al and Erma Rehsen have had as their guests, Erma's brother and his wife, Al and Gladys Hangrey and their Welch terrier are from Lansdale, Pa.

Friends of Bob and Cap Brice are now in the Rinaldo mobile. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Tyson and son Bruce from Greenville, Pa., have been enjoying the beach.

The Brices are also enjoying the company of Cap's sister Evelyn and her husband in their mobile. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Walton are from Salem, Ohio.

Harry and Dot Beamer recently had several days visit from Harry's brother and his wife, Ed and Helen Beamer are from Cherryhill, New Jersey.

Charlie and Sylvia Siman were glad to have their grandson Arthur M. Collins from Chicago, along with a schoolmate David Gunning from Kankakee, pay them several days visit. The boys are on spring vacation from St. Joseph's College at Rensaeler, Indiana.

* * *

Monday the 8th shuffleboard three game winner was Marie Williams.

* * *

Same evening at bridge, Dot Heattler, first, Lee King, second, John Bollenbacher, third.

Thursday the 11th bridge winners, Madeleine Ballanz, first, and Jen Bollenbacher, second.

Friday night, the 12th, bingo was called to 19 by Andy Bullock and John Bollenbacher.

* * *

The hymn sing group turned out in a large number Sunday evening for practice for the B.I.C. It should be great!

* * *

Join us Tuesdays at 10 a.m. for Bible study led by Cap Brice; it may be just what you need.

* * *

Take care of yourselves and help keep peace.

News of Riverside Village

BY HUGH BROGAN

Last week's bingo jackpot winners were Theresa Rothy on Friday night, Gert Hume at Tuesday's session.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Lindy Nash of Frewsburg, N.Y., and Warren Jones of Youngsville, Pa., called Frank and Jeanette Lucia of First Street last week. The Nashes are business partners of the Lucia's daughter and son-in-law, Rosann and Bill Paul.

* * *

The Hoffmans of 5th Street had recent visitors from Pontiac. Frank and Ellen Hoffman and children Steve and Greg. Frank is Biff's brother.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barlow have returned to their home in Hiram, Ohio, after spending a few days in Riverside with Mr. and Mrs. Carl McClintock, 2nd Street.

* * *

J. Milton Cox of First Street spent seven days in Martin Memorial Hospital with pneumonia.

Ken and Irene Bigham's son and family from North Tonawanda, N.Y. are spending a few days here.

* * *

Bill and Louise Tugend were surprised by a visit from Lou's sister and her husband, Eleanor and Bill Hay, who came here from Deland. They have been seeing the sights in the area as well as looking up other old friends from Long Island.

* * *

Recent visitors of the Karl Eugenids were Mr. and Mrs. Disbrow of Mt. Vernon, N.Y.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. William Hall spent four days in Lake Buena Vista and Disney World with their grandchildren, daughter and her husband.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ruona and Petra Berg enjoyed the warm climate of Florida for five days at the home of Bert and Edith Ruona. Ocean fishing and a trip to Hialeah were the highlights of their visit.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Al Wayne spent two weeks visiting with Orville and Mary Gerdes. They are from Palentine, Illinois.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford spent a week on the Keys and west coast visiting friends.

Academy classes limited

Howey-in-the-Hills—Howey Academy is now accepting early applications for the 1976-77 school year which begins September 12.

Early application will insure a desk at Howey for qualified boarding and day students in grades 9-12. These desks will become limited later in the year as Howey's present student body re-enrolls and new students from the upcoming summer session make application for the Fall Term.

About 65 percent of Howey students come from Florida, the remainder represent a broad cross section of the U.S., Canada, South and Central America, and the Mediterranean countries.

News of Nettles Island

BY DOROTHY ENGEL

Sure signs of spring are appearing with the warmest weather we've been having.

Have you noticed the beautiful shrubbery bushes in bloom and everything else blossoming out?

Even the darn mosquitos are making an early appearance!

The bikes have been hitting in the past few days. Young Debbie Maxwell did well Sunday morning. He said they were hitting as fast as you threw in your line!

* * *

Nine months ago, Harriet Marquardt who had taken over news reporting for Mrs. Tifft asked me if I'd fill in while she and Marlin did a bit of traveling which I agreed to do. Harriet & Mrs. both returned but left the job in my hands so I've been writing the column every since. Finding it to be a new and rather enjoyable experience.

However it becomes a little difficult to report on any news unless I hear about it. That's where you all come into the picture.

It's fun to see your name in print, or a surprise your visitors with their name in the paper so stop by and tell me what you've been up to, who's been visiting or how many fish you caught the other day. Any little human interest story is what it's all about.

Next time you're up at the rec hall, drop off your news item at the rental office & share it with the rest of us here on the resort as well as the many readers who receive The Home back home.

Beginning the week of activities, the Island Anglers met on Monday to meet and listen to Willie Porter of Okeechobee, a fisherman not as he knew how & ability to spot but this hour was fishing for specks & was so well received Willie will be back again to demonstrate how to catch specks.

The Tri P.S. club held their bake sale Fri. morning making a nice addition to their treasury. Considering the 13 or 14 members who were able to take part, there was quite a large amount and variety of baked goodies. We hope all you recipients enjoyed the fruits of our labor. It sure looked good!

The recreation hall was the scene for the "Wearing of the Green" dance party in honor of St. Patricks day on Sat. night.

The drinks and snacks were supplied by the guests but the music & fun were made possible through the recreation dept. and the Women's Club. The 16 piece orchestra had the crowd swinging & swaying and the lot owners set the Irish mood with gala entertainment.

Irene Leerman coordinated the evenings entertainment, singing a few Irish songs herself.

Pat Conway & his wife were crowned King & Queen of Ireland for the night.

Would you believe, Curt Gimbel was made a leprechaun for the evening. He must have had a great time portraying one of those little fellows. One of those times you can act as silly as you want and get away with it.

Bob Bryden was on hand to sing a few Irish jigs & the entertainment just wouldn't be complete without Marie Wylie to fill the hall with her lovely voice & the most appropriate song for the occasion. "Danny Boy."

Topping off the evening's fun was Keith Longman who entertained with banjo & song, doing three or four numbers in his humorous style.

A fashion show took place Sat. at the Stuart Middle School, sponsored by the Martin County Adult education board from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. All the arts & crafts and the sewing instructor displayed their students' work. Our own Sew & Go class of Nettles Island was in the fashion show from 1-3 p.m. Vi Simpson did her comical act where she wears a funny looking outfit, purposely sewn with all the errors she could make visible, and with her humorous monologue added an entertaining, light touch to the show.

Captain Dave & Marion Dash, who once operated excursion boats out of Booth Bay, Maine, are leasing Wed. on what Marion calls a "Shanty Boat" trip from Lake Okeechobee to Ft. Myers. Eight couples will be going.

Marion will be going back to Booth Bay April 15th where she operates a gift shop on the Boardwalk.

A few weeks ago Mary Ann Driver filled us in on the itinerary for her trip to Africa. She has returned from what turned out to be a memorable and rewarding sea-faring.

Mary Ann is also very involved in shelling and was out on a shoot already Sunday afternoon.

Irma & Leonard Vandergraaf, Bill & Ruth Martino and Bob & Edith Johnson enjoyed an out of the ordinary evening Saturday. After a delicious dinner they attended the "Musicana" in Vero Beach. The show was done by musicmakers from various colleges, students working toward their degrees in music.

They take a semester and come down here from all over the country to perform in as many as 14 different shows such as "Brigadoon."

Ron and Donna Sipperley are back on the island to spend their annual spring month's vacation. Ethel Sipperley, Ron's mom, is here with them for the first time and getting right into the swing of things. Ethel is from Jasper, Mich. and is really enjoying the warm air and sunshine.

Ron Sipperley always volunteers his time to help out at bingo while he is here and will be one of our callers during their stay.

They arrived last Friday with Ron sporting a new hair do, complete with curls. Now the wind can blow without ruining the hair style. Not a bad idea.

I heard from Wimps Groover at Martin Memorial Hospital and it looks like he'll be spending another week there. He had his knee operated on and won't be able to walk on that leg for quite some time. Stop in or give him a call. A little cheering up does wonders.

Harold and Magdalene Weaver of Wyandotte, Mich. left Sun. after spending a week visiting with his sister Peg Gorhan 147-2 and Lillian Seabright of Jensen Beach. They hope to return again.

Peg's sister Mildred Kovacs and husband John are in their motor home on lot 144-2 for a few weeks and then will leave on an extended tour of Florida, Mexico and points west. Their home is up on Lake Superior in Michigan.

Peg's brother Donald Weaver of Melvindale, Mich., is visiting her for a couple of weeks.

Last week they all took a trip to Disney World, Space Center and Cypress Gardens and also visited a cousin in an Orlando hospital.

Joe and Adeline McDermott of Pittsburgh, Pa. left for home Monday. They have been here since first of December on lot 131-2, their first trip here and their first experience in camping. Joe enjoyed the fishing and Addie enjoyed the art classes and finished several beautiful oil paintings while here. They hope to return next winter.

* * *

Winn McKelvey, lot 154-2, is feeling much better after several weeks of being trailer bound. She is starting to get out and around again and it sure seems good to see her smiling face.

* * *

Del and Gene Richter arrived home to their farm in Halstead, Fla. safe and sound to a snow storm which they said they enjoyed for a change. They wish to be remembered to all their friends here.

* * *

Prentiss and Marnie Sanger, 140-2, received delivery of their new park model trailer this week and are getting it settled in.

Thursday afternoon, March 11, a traffic jam occurred on Areca Drive in the South Forty.

Eighty friends from the area dropped in to congratulate Clyde on the occasion of his 80th birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Barnes of Horton, Michigan, were house guests of the Redingers and on the day before the party, Floyd took his brother-in-law, Clyde, deep-sea fishing, while Lula and sister Helen prepared the pleasant surprise.

Four big cakes made by Lula were beautifully decorated by Jeannie Tomaszewski, and disappeared rapidly while Mr. Coffee operated at full capacity.

At the climax of the celebration, a phone call from Northampton, Mass. brought the good news that son Tom was concurrently being honored by an equal number of his friends at a dinner there, the occasion being his selection for promotion to a new administrative position in the U.S. Veteran's Hospital at Oteen, Ashville, North Carolina. He will move there at once.

So, everybody was happy and peace reigns again in the South Forty.

Rita and Matt Haley of Holbrook, Mass., spent a week at H.B.P. visiting George and Jeannette Lavange of Key Lime Drive. Rita Haley is George's sister.

It was their first trip to Florida and they were amazed to see the beautiful flowers and trees in and around the park. They spent a great deal of time walking around the park taking pictures.

They also visited Cape Canaveral, Cypress Gardens, the Elliott Museum, the Environmental Center and other places of interest.

Josephine Doring is happy to have her sister and husband here. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Taylor of Valley Stream, N.Y., arrived Tuesday, March 9, to spend a week or two.

Edee Yeago of Melaleuca is enjoying her sister, Hazel, and husband, William Halterman of Mt. Sidney, Va., and her brother, Guy and wife, Marie Stuple of Wevers Cave, Va.

What fate awaits millage rollback?

PORT ST LUCIE—Despite the opposition from governing bodies, in [illegible] Lucie, Martin and Indian River County voters turned out by a [illegible] to one majority in support of the millage rollback bill.

The bill, which restricted governing bodies officials from increasing property taxes over ten per cent in any one year will expire on June 30.

Many representatives are willing to introduce the bill for its expiration. However, they are hesitant to do so without an expression from the people.

Reportedly, the three senators from the area, Harry Johnston, Phil Lewis and Don Childers are in favor of letting the rollback die.

"Unless Representatives Chuck Nergard and Chester Clem receive the support of the people of this area to get at least two of the senators to go along with them, the act will not be re-introduced," community leader Don White told The Mirror recently.

"No one wants to introduce legislation they feel is doomed to failure," White said, adding that to date there has been little or no public expression on the matter to encourage the continuation of the rollback statute.

Thus far, it has all been the tax making bodies that have enjoyed the publicity in voicing their opposition to it," he said, citing public apathy as a major problem.

The millage limitations act provided that when property was re-assessed, millage must be rolled back or reduced accordingly, while at the same time it did provide the millage did not have to be rolled back below a level which would qualify an agency for state and federal revenue sharing funds.

This bill can and will be re-introduced during the next session of the legislature providing, of course the people want it presented.

Prior to the passage of the rollback bill which was introduced by Representatives Nergard and Clem, local governing bodies could push property taxes right on up to the ten mill limit without any restrictions whatsoever.

Fearing that the silent majority will sit back and watch the bill expire on June 30, White urges the public to make their desires known by writing their senators and representatives.

Rep. Charles "Chuck" Nergard, 111 Atlantic Avenue, Fort Pierce 33450.

Rep. Jack M. Poorbaugh, 10 Rivers Edge Road, Jupiter 33458.

Rep. Chester Clem, P.O. Box 3579 Beach Station, Vero Beach 32960.

Sen. Harry A. Johnston II, P.O. Box 48, West Palm Beach 33402.

GDU's rate hike talked

PORT ST LUCIE—General [illegible] GDU proposed [illegible] water and sewer rates was [illegible] discussion when a [illegible] group from the city's [illegible] associations and the League met Monday evening.

The group, chaired by Bob [illegible] the PSL/JP Homeowners [illegible] attempting to [illegible] their ideas and to [illegible] whether or not the GDU [illegible] justified.

[illegible] of the evidence [illegible] increase may be [illegible] however, we are [illegible] the extent of that [illegible] the rate submitted to [illegible] Service Commission on [illegible] the GDU application was [illegible]. Don White said following [illegible] meeting. White is in [illegible] community affairs and a [illegible] the PSL/JP Homeowners [illegible].

The big question seems to center [illegible] $3 million GDU has [illegible] for the expansion of the [illegible] is fair to people who are [illegible] benefiting from the [illegible] be forced to pay for the [illegible] services which will be [illegible] to future residents."

He made it perfectly clear to [illegible] that the intentions of the [illegible] group are not to [illegible] utilities firm of doing [illegible] in order to arrive [illegible] charge the Public [illegible] commission to make a [illegible] examination of the GDU [illegible] going to the public [illegible] scheduled for May 26, 1976.

The group was informed that [illegible] to many times requests [illegible] letters of the PSL staff to [illegible] with thirty days prior to [illegible] scheduled public hearing has been [illegible] the meeting had been [illegible] for the purpose of [illegible] the proposed testimony [illegible] questions relative to any [illegible] the PSL may have turned [illegible] their investigation.

NEW PRO: Frank Froehling III has been named tennis pro at Sandpiper Bay tennis club. Froehling is a highly ranked national figure in tennis, and five times was named among the top ten players in the United States. He assumes his post next Monday.

Frank Froehling III named tennis pro at Sandpiper Bay

PORT ST LUCIE—The Sandpiper Bay tennis club took a giant step forward this week with the naming of internationally known Frank Froehling III as tennis pro. He assumes his post next Monday.

Froehling comes to tennis following a stint in the business and public relations field after having been one of the top ten players in the United States for five years, a member of the Davis Cup team in 1963, 1965 and 1971 and as a south Florida junior champion from 1950 to 1973 was the number one Florida player in all age divisions.

The new tennis pro is experienced in tennis club management, having been the tennis director at Inverarary and at the Tennis Club of Ft. Lauderdale at Timbers Tennis Ranch in Steamboat Springs, Colo., and head tennis pro at the Country Club of Colorado.

Froehling was named to the post by Louis Fischer, president of General Development Corporation who pointed to the ability of Froehling to set up and operate tennis camps and clinics as one of the reasons for bringing him to Sandpiper Bay.

At present, there is no organized tennis activities or leagues for men, women or young people at the tennis club.

Froehling replaces Martin Obando in running the tennis complex.

Steve Jeffrey is named to Dean's List

PORT ST. LUCIE—Steve Scott Jeffrey of Port St. Lucie has been named to the Dean's List at Randolph Macon College in Ashland, Virginia, during the first semester.

Students must earn a 3.0 or a possible 4.0 to be included on the Dean's List.

Planning district hearing is Thursday

JENSEN BEACH—Area officials will ask the state to consider the creation of a new regional planning district at a public hearing at 2 p.m. Thursday, March 18, at West Palm Beach.

Representatives of Martin, St. Lucie, Okeechobee, Indian River and Palm Beach Counties are expected to attend the session at the Palm Beach County courthouse.

Almost a year ago, these counties adopted resolutions asking for a new planning district, and presented their request to Lt. Gov. Jim Williams in Tallahassee.

But moving an application through official channels takes time and area officials were told that a decision on a new district would take several months.

Martin, St. Lucie and Palm Beach Counties are presently in the South Florida Regional District 10, and the other counties, Indian River and Okeechobee, are in different districts. Also presently in District 10 are the big counties of Dade and Broward.

Martin and St. Lucie Counties have never named members to the district, and have steadfastly refused to join them since the state formed the regional districts four years ago.

Palm Beach County Commission members resigned from the district, protesting the high densities being supported by Dade and Broward County representatives.

St. Lucie County Commission Chairman Ed Enns said he will attend the Thursday session along with Commissioner George Price and County Administrator Weldon Lewis.

Mr. Lucie County Commissioners pointed out to Lt. Gov. Williams that they saved about $5,000 last year by not paying dues to the South Florida District.

County Administrator Jack Noble, Planning Director Kris Schenk and County Commission Chairman John Keenan from Martin County will also be attending the meeting.

Appeals for a new district will come during the public hearing conducted by State Planning Director R.G. Whittle Jr.

Last week the Regional Planning Council adopted a resolution requesting that the Florida Secretary of Administration maintain the current geographic boundaries of District 10 currently within the planning jurisdiction of the South Florida Regional Planning Council. The resolution also pointed out:

This resolution was adopted primarily because the local governments of Region 10 and particularly the single organization area of Dade, Broward and Palm Beach Counties share common economic and physical development relationships.

In the resolution adopted last year by area counties, it was noted:

These counties are desirous of withdrawing from their respective districts because of lack of compatability with the underlying philosophies concerning growth, density and development.

From 1970 to 1975, according to the population figures, Martin County increased in population by 70 per cent and was the fastest growing county in the region, while Dade County was the second lowest at 13 per cent.

Palm Beach and St. Lucie Counties had the third and fourth fastest growth rate in the region from 1970 to 1975.

MAIN EVENT: Posing for Mirror photographer with their newly acquired first and second place trophies are the winning shufflers in the Novice Tournament. Picture above shows, left to right, Joseph Strcha and Oscar Hoagland, second place winners, and Barney Chase and Bill Spencer, who placed first in the two-day event. General Development Corporation sponsored the second annual tournament.

THIRD AND FOURTH PLACE: Ernest Spiotto and Tom Scott came in third place in the GDC sponsored Novice Shuffleboard Tournament held on the Port St. Lucie Courts this past week. Fourth place winners, pictured on the right above, were Jeanne and Raymond Miles. Forty eight teams entered the second annual GDC sponsored tourney. Tournament director was Judd Reading, who presented the trophies.

Medical center groundbreaking set

PORT ST. LUCIE—The official groundbreaking ceremonies for the long awaited Port St. Lucie Medical Center have been scheduled for 11 a.m. March 23, according to an announcement made Tuesday by Fred Wiggins.

The proposed $850,000 medical center will be constructed on the west side of U.S. 1 approximately one mile south of the Prima Vista Boulevard-U.S. 1 intersection by the A.G.S. Corporation of Stuart.

The facility will house twenty doctors offices an apothecary lab and dental offices.

Construction of the professional building will be the first major step toward providing medical facilities between Stuart and Fort Pierce.

Opti-Mrs. films

PORT ST. LUCIE—The PSL Opti-Mrs invite all residents of Port St. Lucie and surrounding areas to see films on the protection of life, home property and business.

The films will be presented by the St. Lucie County Sheriff's Department at the Port St. Lucie Elementary School on Tuesday, March 23, at 7 p.m.

Voter turnout 'good'

PORT ST. LUCIE—Approximately 42 per cent of the St. Lucie County voters turned out for last week's presidential primary.

According to Supervisor of Elections James Brooks, 13,162 of the county's 25,812 registered voters turned out to cast their ballots. There were 214 absentee ballots.

President Ford carried the county, as he did state wide, with California Governor Ronald Reagan running second for the Republican race in St. Lucie County.

President Ford carried all but one of the four south county precincts.

On the Democratic ticket, the four south county precincts gave former Georgia Governor Jimmy Carter a substantial lead over Washington Sen. Henry "Scoop" Jackson, however, in the county wide poll Alabama Governor George Wallace placed second.

The remaining votes were scattered among the eight other Democrats on the ballot and 222 ballots were cast on the no preference column.

Other items appearing on the St. Lucie County ballot included the statewide proposed constitutional amendment authorizing and limiting local taxes for water management purposes.

The amendment was approved by 7,955 voters with 2723 no votes cast.

Two Republicans appeared on the party ballot countywide vying for the post of State Committeeman. Fred Johnston was the victor pushing out O.D. Shreckengost by a 210 vote margin.

In Precinct 20, Port St. Lucie Marina voters selected two committeemen and two committeewomen.

Judith W. Franklin with 172 votes, and Elizabeth P. Grossman with 149, edged out Kathy Wockley who received 133 ballots.

In the committman race John W. Pugh and George Power with 211 and 187 votes respectively edged out S.M. Grossman with 131 ballots.

Precinct 23, CESA was the only south county precinct in which Reagan led President Ford. Reagan received a 37 vote lead, 177 to 140.

On the Democratic side of the ticket in the same Precinct, Carter received 136 votes, Wallace 47, and Jackson 28.

In Precinct 20, Port St. Lucie Marina, Carter received 173, Wallace 118, and Jackson 136. Ford picked up 272 while Reagan received 143.

Precinct 21, Spanish Lakes, Carter 123, Wallace 51 and Jackson 102. Ford 225 and Reagan 185 on the Republican side.

Voters at the Port St. Lucie City Hall, Precinct 22, gave Carter the lead with 61 on the Democratic ticket. Wallace 20 and Jackson 17. The Republicans cast 178 votes for President Ford and 119 for Reagan.

District decision is expected soon

JENSEN BEACH–A decision on a new regional planning district is expected in April, area officials were told last week by a state Department of Administration official.

Officials of Martin, St. Lucie, Indian River and Palm Beach counties attended a meeting last Thursday of the South Florida Regional Planning Council.

Administration hearing examiner Randy Whittle said he expects Lt. Gov. Jim Williams to make a decision on a new district after he reads the transcript of the public hearing.

Several months ago the four northern counties of the council adopted resolutions asking Lt. Gov. Williams for a new planning district.

At the public hearing, held at West Palm Beach, officials of the planning council argued against the secession of its northernmost members.

Martin County Commission Chairman John Kiernan said, "It is very difficult for our county to relate to the growth headaches and high density developments of Dade and Broward Counties."

"Northern and southern members of the present district represent two different worlds," Kiernan added.

Palm Beach County Commissioner Robert Culpepper said, "The northern counties want to avoid the nightmare of overnight development experienced by their southern neighbors."

Indian River County Commissioner Willard Siebert, Jr. and St. Lucie County Administrator Weldon Lewis generally echoed their allies' arguments for the new district, claiming the four counties are closely related through population and planning character.

Martin and St. Lucie Counties have never named members to the district, and have steadfastly refused to pay dues since the state formed the regional districts four years ago.

Palm Beach County Commission members resigned from the district, protesting the high densities being supported by Dade and Broward County representatives.

'Grass roots' hearings in Jensen Beach area

JENSEN BEACH–The Martin County Planning Department's grass roots campaign for guidance in drawing up plans for the county's future development is coming to Jensen Beach March 30 at 7:30 p.m.

Planning director Kris Schenk, planner Tom Mumford and members of the Planning Commission will be at First Federal Saving and Loan Association building.

We want to get input from residents at the meeting, Mumford said.

Neighborhood meetings have been held over the past few weeks by Schenk and his staff.

The first session in the north county section was held Tuesday, March 23, at the Presbyterian Church in North River Shores.

Wednesday, today, March 24, at 7:30 p.m., Schenk and his crew will be at the Rio Civic Club.

At our first meetings we get the input from the residents–we want to know their problems and what their wishes are, Mumford said.

Mumford said the notes from the meetings will be reviewed by the staff and at a second meeting the staff will make suggestions to the residents.

We will have at least two meetings in Jensen Beach, Mumford said.

Mumford pointed out that three meetings were held in Palm City and most of the meetings have been well attended.

The reaction has been favorable, Mumford added, and at Port Salerno we had about 200 people at one session.

Mumford said it takes six to eight weeks for each area. After the neighborhood meetings the Planning Commission has a hearing, and then the County Commission considers the plan.

After area development plans are adopted for each of the areas, the planning staff will wrap them all together in a comprehensive plan.

Seven planning areas are scheduled for public hearings and Rocky Point-Port Salerno areas and Palm City hearings have been held.

After the Jensen Bch-North River shores meetings, the planning staff will go to Hobe Sound, South Stuart and Tropical Farms, Indiantown and western Martin County, and then to the South County area.

Gag rule removed

Gluckler is new town mayor

SEWALL'S POINT–Former Martin County Commissioner Ed Gluckler was elected mayor of Sewall's Point last week at the organizational session for the new commission.

It is [illegible] new mayor's [illegible] removed a gag rule from [illegible] employees that former Mayor Ed Swyden had imposed. Under [illegible] the gag rule [illegible] was not a straight out violation of the first amendment, it was a violation of the spirit of the Constitution and possibly was a violation of the government in the sunshine act.

It said residents and the press should be able to discuss town matters with employees and he said any future incidents re[illegible]

Other officials elected were Russell, who received the most votes in the primary and general elections, was elected vice mayor and will also serve as finance director.

Retired Rear Admiral Earl Crawford, Gluckler and Russell were sworn in as new commissioners by Town Attorney John Brennan.

Other commissioners are Dr. Ralph Williams and John Rosatier.

Gluckler named Tom Thurlow as the new town attorney, pending resolution.

Police officers were placed on a [illegible] probation while their performance is evaluated by the new commissioners.

Job descriptions will be written for each person according to the duties.

Commissioner Crawford as chairman of law enforcement will take care of roads, boat permits and Russell was named as finance chairman.

Commissioner Williams will be in charge of potable and waste water systems.

Town employees include Margaret Miller, clerk; Dominick Amorio, police chief; Frank Matus, stewards; police patrolman; Charles Duryea, building inspector.

Gluckler served as a county commissioner for two years before he was defeated in a 1974 re-election attempt.

Swyden, who imposed the gag rule in early February, ran last in a six-candidate race. He was the only incumbent seeking re-election.

Airport operation up in air

JENSEN BEACH–Operations of Grumman Aerospace Corp. at Witham Field, Martin County airport, was discussed at length by Martin County Commission, company officials and residents near the airport.

There was a discussion of money, noise, safety and growth.

Company officials talked about future plans for its Martin County facility and residents near the airport accused commissioners of thinking about money more than the safety of the residents.

But after all the talk, Grumman officials said they want to stay in Martin County and commissioners said they wanted the company to stay.

For immediate expansion, Grumman hopes to build a maintenance building, cafeteria and paved parking area.

A survey is to be conducted on the noise created by the airport operations and Port Sewall residents asked for a FAA study of general aviation facilities and traffic at the airfield.

It was noted by company officials that 900 persons are employed at its facility with an annual payroll of $10 million and there has been some $4 million improvements at the airport facility.

Commission Chairman John Kiernan said that the company pays no real estate taxes and also pointed out how much revenue is paid by similar facilities in other parts of the country.

Grumman holds a long-term lease on the county-owned airport property and the lease runs until 1993. The county must approve any new construction.

There are about 900 acres at the airport and FAA regulations require about 500 acres for runways leaving about 400 acres for other use.

A public golf course near the airport is to be expanded onto two tracts of land in the eastern side of the airport, totaling 180 acres.

Grumman officials said they agree with the golf course plan.

Commissioners assured the people at the meeting that the commission has no plans to expand the airport.

We are not going to expand the runways, Turner Powers said.

And Commissioner Maggy Hurchalla added, We are not going to expand the airport, and we are not going to close it. We are talking noise, money and fixed base operations.

PGA out of county

JENSEN BEACH–Plans to develop a new national headquarters for the Professional Golfers Association (PGA) in southern Martin County ignited on a sand trap and developer Floyd Voight took a wedge and pitched the plans south to Palm Beach County.

Voight made his announcement in a letter last Friday to Commissioner Tom Higgins.

The purpose of this letter is to inform you of the impending change in the location of the new home of the PGA national headquarters before it is announced in the newspapers, Voight said.

It became apparent to us that there was strong, well-financed and well-organized opposition to our proposed development by wealthy residents in the region of the county near the proposed site, Voight continued.

Last spring Voight announced tentative plans to develop the facility on 1,100 acres known as the Sea Level Ranch on the west border of Jonathan Dickinson State Park in southern Martin County.

In addition to the PGA headquarters and golf courses, he planned to develop hundreds of residences for golfers who would want to use the courses.

Opposition came from the Town of Jupiter Island. Residents there expressed concern about the depletion of regional water supply as a result of drainage and increased water demands in the proposed new community.

The project will be developed near the northwest intersection of Florida's Turnpike and Okeechobee Boulevard on the west side of West Palm Beach, according to Voight.

Duke plants timetable

[illegible] Florida Power [illegible] officials last [illegible] tentative timetable [illegible] nuclear plants. St. [illegible] and St. Lucie. Two on [illegible] Island.

[illegible] force of about 350 persons [illegible] the plant site to complete [illegible] Lucie One, but on Ma[illegible] when construction on St. Lucie Two is scheduled to begin the work force will expand.

In a briefing of PSC officials and reporters, FPL president Marshall McDonald estimated that out of the $560 million spent on the construction of the first of two twin units, about $100 million could be attributed to safety and environmental costs.

Robert Uhrig, FPL vice president, said that more than $60 million was spent to comply with regulations imposed by the Federal Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC).

Many said there has been a tendency in the government to give overboard on environmental protection regulations and that he hoped for a more moderate approach would be taken in the future.

The country has a supply of nuclear energy and we're not using it, Uhrig said.

Flag supply is limited

JENSEN BEACH–Flags will be in demand in the Jensen Beach area to celebrate the nation's 200th birthday.

Virgil Wilson, who sells flag kits for the American Legion, said he has a limited number of the kits which includes an American Flag and a Betsy Ross Flag–13 stars in a circle.

It takes about four months to get the flags after they are ordered, Wilson said.

He said the flags are three by five feet, and prices vary on the kits.

I have a limited supply at my barber shop, he said.

FLAG SET–Virgil Wilson holds an American Flag which is included in a flag set. A Betsy Ross Flag, 13 stars in a circle, that are on sale at his barber shop on Commercial Street.

Holt fires two deputies

JENSEN BEACH–Martin County Sheriff James Holt has fired two deputies who are under investigation for illegal drug activity.

Holt announced that he has terminated deputies Gerald Brown and John Roberts effective immediately.

My action is based upon information provided to me by the office of State Attorney Robert Stone which indicates the probability of conduct unbecoming of law enforcement officers on the part of Brown and Roberts, the sheriff stated in a brief press release.

He noted that Brown and Roberts are under investigation by the Martin County Grand Jury and said he would make no additional comments on the issue pending completion of the Grand Jury investigation.

The two deputies have been in Holt's department since Holt took office in 1972. They had conducted a wide range investigation of drug smuggling in southeast Florida. When Stone started a probe of their operations in response to allegations of wrongdoing Holt stood behind the two deputies.

Holt said last Friday that he was given specific information convincing enough to make him fire the two deputies.

Florida physicians propose legislative solutions to ease malpractice crisis

JACKSONVILLE-A seven point legislative programs to ease the malpractice insurance crisis in Florida has been proposed by the Florida Medical Association for consideration by the 1976 session of the Florida Legislature.

The Association declared the program package the legislative worth-programs if enacted into law, would be of definite advantage in curbing spiraling costs caused by the frequency of claims and the ever-growing amounts for damages awarded and defense of unwarranted claims.

Fundamental reform in the Florida legal system for judging alleged malpractice claims is the key target of the FMA program which is formally introduced to the Florida Legislature during the session opening week.

The FMA indicated it believes that in seeking awards with almost guaranteed and settlements have been under strain on the personal injury awards or torts reparation system. The present situation also makes it difficult for the small claims plaintiff who is seeking actual damages.

The FMA suggestion calls for limitation of general damages. One of the biggest reasons cited for the malpractice rate increases has been the increase in jury high awards. In 1974 over 60% of the claim dollars paid out in Florida were in excess of $100,000. The FMA proposal suggests a flat maximum or a sliding scale based on the nature and the extent of the injury.

The FMA proposals which were based on extensive study by Florida physicians also called for a structured settlement program under which periodic payments would be made rather than a lump sum payment for any future damages such as loss of long term income by an injured person. This would assure continuous support for the injured person during his entire disability period. Those injured would receive immediate compensation for actual and intangible damages incurred but future damages would be paid over a period on an as needed basis.

A need for a formal, legal review of medical professional liability was cited by the FMA. Such review is essential to protect both the public and the professional individual.

Further provisions of the reform package include prohibiting double recovery in collateral sources and a continuation of the special panel review which is dependent on the outcome of the current court decision. A panel constitutional. Such special panels would make recommendations as to medical negligence which provide a realistic basis for damage awards and discourage frivolous claims. The FMA called for panels workable, meaningful and in the best interests of both the public and the medical profession.

Recovery of defense costs in unsuccessful suits is also part of the FMA plan. This procedure would help protect physicians against harassment suits and would be in principle of plaintiff's unfounded and outrageous claims.

Additional provisions cover limitations on attorneys contingency fees, a general Statute of Limitations, limitation of medical expert witness, basic prohibition on the use of the so called "ipsa loquitur" doctrine in determining negligence actions.

Another provision provides that the injured party is presumed to allow sufficient time that it would not have occurred unless there was negligent action on someone's part.

Under the FMA proposal use of a contingent would be prohibited.

Florida doctors urged that the principles of the Good Samaritan law be extended to cover care in cases of the original patient-physician relationship is initiated in an emergency situation in or out of a hospital. Under this procedure physicians who respond with emergency care would be exempted from the threat of suit or prosecution.

In its formal statement the FMA said physicians believe every patient who is injured as a result of negligence should be compensated immediately for rehabilitation and damages incurred. There is a definite need for professional liability insurance. However, this insurance should not be utilized where no negligence exists. Overall the problem of professional liability is a social problem and cannot be resolved in one fell swoop. The spiraling cost of malpractice insurance is passed on to the patient and must be curtailed before it becomes catastrophic.

The FMA said it believes its legislative program will be of great advantage in halting the spiraling costs caused by the professional liability crisis and in continuing high quality health care in Florida.

Kiwanis, Knights win baseball openers

JENSEN BEACH--Monday night did not start just another baseball season at Langford Park. It was the first night of an exciting campaign which will eventually crown four, possibly five, league champions. It was the beginning of a banner year for junior baseball, and the Jensen Beach Optimist Club in particular.

Two exciting games made up Monday night's schedule, including a Bronco League collision in which the league favorite barely survived a scare from Rio Civic, a darkhorse team.

The Knights of Columbus, picked by many of the Bronco League coaches as the favorite to winn the championship, scored five runs in the fifth inning to begin a comeback which saw them tally all but one of their nine runs in the final three innings.

Home runs by Bruce Delancy and Billy Rinaldi put Rio Civic on top early by a 6-0 count. Both teams scored once in the third inning to make it 7-1. But the Knights had not given up yet.

Scott Schroeder's three-run home run in the fifth capped the Knights comeback, and two more runs in the sixth gave them an 8-7 lead. Bobby Massing's double in the seventh clinched it as Todd Jackson crossed the plate with the ninth Knights of Columbus run.

In the Pony League opener, Mosley Construction fought desperately but could not shut down Kiwanis, as the Kiwanians won 5-3.

Five runs in the third inning turned the trick for Kiwanis, while Scott Casey pitched five good innings. David Bocchino came into the game in the sixth and final inning, and earned the save.

Mosley had the winning run at the plate in the final inning, but key strikeouts by Bocchino helped the Kiwanians get out of the nasty jam. Kiwanis now leads in the Pony League race, a half game ahead of the Lions and the Elks, and a full game ahead of Mosley.

(Next week, The Mirror looks at the Bronco, Mustang, and Pony League races.)

HEATED COMPETITION--It was hot and heavy all during Saturday's soccer tournament at Langford Park. In these photographs, Steve Coy kicks off to start the game. Greens win in soccer

JENSEN BEACH--The Greens defeated the Reds in the final of Jensen Beach's mini-tournament soccer championships Saturday.

Todd Miller scored the Green's only goal in the game with time running out in the first half to give his team the 1-0 triumph.

Earlier, in the semi-finals, Mark Sands, Rick Justice, and Doug Hughes all scored one goal as the Reds downed the Blacks 3-0. Also, Todd Miller and Richey Lord each scored two goals in leading the Greens over the Gold, 5-3.

Ambulance building bids are mailed

JENSEN BEACH--Bids for construction of a Jensen Area Samaritans, Inc. Ambulance Building were sent out Monday, March 22, by the Martin County Purchasing Department.

Bids for the new building on South Savanna Road are to be returned April 14.

Plans call for a squad room, utility room, kitchen and garage to house the ambulances.

Jensen Beach Realtor Ransom Tilton offered the property to the county with no strings attached. The location of the Samaritan central offices is adjacent to Pinelake Village.

George Krauss, immediate past president of the Samaritans, said Tuesday: "We still need volunteers.

"Samaritans have repeatedly pointed out that it is difficult to get volunteers to serve without a place for them to stay while on duty."

Our Caribbean neighbors

St. Croix; charm and setting in mountain and in coral sea

Editor Dick Campbell and his wife, Salli, a travel agent, recently took a ten-day vacation trip to the Caribbean. This is the first in a series of articles about "Our Caribbean neighbors."

BY DICK CAMPBELL

FREDERIKSTAD, V.I.—Up the one-lane broken rock road, sometimes at 45 degree angles around blind curves, you wonder if there is really anything more than rainforest and massive mahogany trees.

Suddenly there is a clearing, a large prefabricated shelter covering saws, lathes and other wood-cutting equipment in a complete mahogany factory.

The bearded owner scratches a sleeping dog, telling him to wake and get out of the sun. Then he smiles quietly and shows us his artistry, massive coffee tables, at equally massive prices, all works of art.

With mask and flippers in place twenty snorkeling swimmers bunched together to follow a guide around the well-marked path of Buck Island National Monument, an underwater park.

The beauty of the coral formations was breathtaking.

The National Park Service however, should take a lesson from the drive to eliminate billboards from scenic routes. The underwater billboards describing this and that GOVERNMENT HOUSE—The seat of government in St. Croix is this building in Christiansted, pictured through one of the many arches of the local business buildings.

FORT—Protecting the entrance to the harbor at Christiansted is this national monument and old fort that is open for tours and well restored.

Park consultant is sought

JENSEN BEACH—State Department of Natural Resources (DNR) officials are advertising for consultants to help plan and design the St. Lucie Inlet State Park expected to open on the northern tip of Jupiter Island in 1978.

Marrian County Administrator Jack Nolin said his department has been notified that DNR is seeking to hire a consultant to plan the park and evaluate the various methods of providing public access.

Businessmen relocate

JENSEN BEACH—Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International is meeting this week in a new location. The 7 p.m. dinner session will be held at the Holiday Inn on Hutchinson Island.

Guest speaker will be Gene Cobb. He is a teacher at Stuart Middle School and lives in Sebastian, Florida, and will tell about his work at the Okeechobee School for Boys.

The program starts at 8 p.m. The deadline for dinner reservations is Wednesday, today, March 24. Reservations may be made by calling 283-4533.

Fasten your seat belts - got a lot to report!

Pinelake Village Second Annual Fashion Show got off to a rip-roaring start as a complete sell-out. If you missed it, remember to reserve early next year.

Our models were Ruth Henecke, Irene O'Donnell, Astrid Olsen, Joyce Tilton and Esther Yost. Then came the male side of the picture. Dick Olsen and Al Seccia. Commentary by Jackie Hartman, and of course, the complete coordination of the works by Sharyon Tilton, our Social Director.

There was Norma Quillen with her crew of pearl divers in the kitchen, working up a delightful luncheon, and last but not least, our bunch of males acting as waiters and running themselves ragged. With an obvious space consideration here, please forgive me if I only use last names and if I miss anyone, it is purely unintentional. Staas, Garlicki, MacPherson, Bates, O'Donnell, Trantham, Ramsey and Aho as waiters, and in the galley, Quillen, Bruyn, DeVries, Gorman, Roseboom and Hartz.

Fashions by The Stuart Department Store, loads of contributed door prizes from various area businesses, and everyone was beautiful, including the male models whose wives now have on a short leash in the back yard particularly after their parade in those tux outfits. Whoo-ey!

Did some circulating after the show, picking up tidbits of social news, and it's surprising what you can come up with.

Pete and Mildred Trantham had Mildred's mother, Grace Clark at their table. Grace celebrated her 87th birthday here and guess how? Playing shuffleboard and taking on any teenager in sight. For those of you from Missouri, Grace comes from Thayer. When I asked her how she had come down, she told me with Mr. and Mrs. George Brown. Mrs. is Mildred's sister, and they come from Hollister, Mo. Lovely group all around.

Then I met Margit and Chris Anderson, staying with the Olsens. Margit and Astrid are sisters. Chris was associated with the Wivel Club on W. 54th St. in Manhattan for many years. Same old story, everyone raves about our layout here and look forward to retirement in these parts.

Had any visitors lately?

Just as we are about to wrap up the column, Esther Yost comes around to give me her list which reads like a muster roll at a Chinese fire drill! On Feb. 12 Mr. & Mrs. Rissell, friends from Coatesville, Pa. dropped in on their way to Ft. Lauderdale, followed on Feb. 13th by Mr. & Mrs. Piersol from Guthersville, Pa. They stopped and had lunch and then headed for Fort Lauderdale. What's the big attraction in Ft. Lauderdale?

Same day, another friend, Mrs. Grace Hamill out of Coatesville, Pa. on her way to visit Mr. & Mrs. Earl Crisman at Windmill Village. Getting confused? So am I. At one time there were seven friends congregated at the Yosts, sitting on the porch and swapping lies about old times. On Feb. 16th Esther's brother, Alvin Simmons shows up from Christiana, Pa. with two friends. Here we go again! on their way to Ft. Lauderdale.

They dropped off Esther's sister, Elma Shultz of Parkersburg, Pa. Right now, I'm trying to figure out who is tending store in Penna. On March 3rd George and Esther's son George A. Yost arrived from Sadsburyville, Pa. with his wife and her sister and husband, Mr. & Mrs. Robert Conover of Coatesville, Pa.

Looks like everyone was present and accounted for except Gov. Shapp!

Let's see. Anything else? The sick list is improving.

John Sydoriak saved by the bell. No major surgery at this time. Just remember, clean living and good diet, John, and not to much kielbasa.

The Bruyns both got blasted by the bug, ditto the Crossetts. Line up everybody, roll up a sleeve and get ready for a shot!

That should wrap it up. If it doesn't, tough. I'm tired.

May the bluebird of happiness light on your shoulder and peck at your ear.

It was Humphrey Bogart in the Petrified Forest:

- - -

Goodnight John Boy and Good night Leroy, wherever you are. See you next week.

Ocean Breeze

BY LETA KEITH 334-4366

Ambulance fund donations during the week were from Irene Coates in memory of Earl Todd, from friends and neighbors in O.B. Park in memory of Earl Todd, from the Leather Class and from Alfred West.

* * *

Those departing for the cold, cold north were William and Helen Green, Frank and Louise Clancy, Carl Kashner, Niles and Elsie Hall, Walter and Viola Small.

The displays at our Art and Craft show were varied and lovely.

The Ceramic Class had a very fine exhibit. The Art Class had some portraiture and displayed their outstanding efforts. There were leather goods, knitting, sewing and beautiful macrame items, and a good collection.

The Leather Class collected $93 at the show, which was donated to the rescue ambulance fund. Mary Strohm, the class teacher, and Alfred West, class collector, donated some items for which he received $2, which also was given to the ambulance fund.

Mayor Irene Hoke is in Martin Memorial Hospital for tests and rest.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. George Hindman of Grand Street had old friends from South Bend, Ind., visiting them last week. He said, "This is the prettiest park in the most area of all the areas we have traveled around over Florida."

Makes you glad you're here!

The Ocean Breeze shuffle courts, operated with a Bicentennial theme, were open on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 16 and 17, when the annual "Battle of the Sexes" took place.

For the past two years the men proved to be superior, but bent on revenge this year, the women emerged victorious this time with the final score of 6-5.

Opal Stevens, president of the Shuffleboard Club, welcomed the players before turning the make over to Bill Jones, tournament director, who assigned the courts.

Under the alert, watchful eyes of the chief referee, Lenore Viland, and her able assistants, Gen Kozlow and Jim Tourville, the men were caught in many infractions of the rules while the women had only a few penalties.

At the close of the games, many were invited to seven hilarious interviews conducted by Ted Wittmer and his assistants, Gen Kozlow and Harriet Barney Chase with a script dictated by Wittmer, proclaiming him the most enthusiastic shuffler of 1976. Bea Tourville then occupied the event by thanking all those who had helped to make 1976 Battle of the Sexes so successful.

Sam and Bernice Covell, 10th Street, were pleased to have their friends Richard and Ann Wallikos of Parsippanny, N.J., as guests. The Wallikos have only missed one year coming here since 1965.

Other visitors of the Covells were Bernice's sister, Mrs. Aletha Mahon of Fort Pierce, and Jean St. Pierre.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McLain of 10th Street had as guests last week Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lownsberry of Nevada, Iowa.

* * *

Arnold and Margaret Sherman of ArborVitae were pleased to have their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sherman of Rochester, Minnesota, here with them last week.

* * *

On Tuesday, March 16, a group of Michiganders (Wolverines) met in our new picnic park, recently named The Queena Park.

There was a lively crowd and plenty of food. The weather was excellent.

After the blessing, lines formed on both sides of the food table and the feast was on.

Following dinner, a tape of the Michigan Night entertainment was played, and there was horseshoe pitching and jart playing.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sherman and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rewold of Rochester, Minnesota.

On Thursday, March 18, 20 Masons from O.B. attended a sojourners meeting at Acacia Lodge in Stuart. Several of the Ocean Breeze members have been members for over 50 years. Lawrence Brammer of 5th Street has been a member 59 years.

George and Wilma Diedrick had as guests Sunday to enjoy the Art and Hobby Show, Alvin and Leona Diedrick of Plantation, Fla. Leona is not only Wilma's sister-in-law, she is also her sister.

* * *

Joe and Jane Stahler, 17 Vista Drive, entertained Sundays evening, giving a surprise birthday party for Mrs. Elwood Osier. Guests included Mrs. Angie Schaeffer of N.J. and Arnie and Edie Laich. They had cocktails and dinner, including birthday cake, highlighted by Mr. Osier playing "Happy Birthday" on the organ.

* * *

Rose Swan's son, Professor Richard Swan of the University of Chicago, his wife and daughter spent a month here with Rose. Prior to their visit, he had been lecturing at other universities.

* * *

Don and Margaret Donnel of 10th Street were called to Ohio to attend the funeral of a brother-in-law. While there, they visited Margaret's mother in a nursing home.

* * *

Tom and Dorothy Elliott of Cypress Drive are entertaining a long time friend, Mr. Maybee from Canada, who is spending the month of March in his travel trailer parked on our Indian River black top area.

* * *

Here with Ruth Todd were her two brothers and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brady of New Port Richey, who spent Saturday, March 13 with her, and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Brady of Flint, Michigan, who were here for 10 days, departing March 22nd.

A sister, Reba Brady, will spend the next six weeks here.

District decision is expected soon

JENSEN BEACH–A decision on a new regional planning district is expected in April, area officials were told last week by a state Department of Administration official.

Officials of Martin, St. Lucie, Indian River and Palm Beach Counties attended a meeting last Thursday of the South Florida Regional Planning Council.

Administration hearing examiner Randy Whittle said he expects Lt. Gov. Jim Williams to make a decision on a new district after he reads the transcript of the public hearing.

Several months ago the four northern counties of the council adopted resolutions asking Lt. Gov. Williams for a new planning district.

At the public hearing, held at West Palm Beach, officials of the planning council argued against the secession of its northernmost members.

Martin County Commission Chairman John Kiernan said, "It is very difficult for our county to relate to the growth headaches and high density developments of Dade and Broward Counties."

"Northern and southern members of the present district represent two different world," Kiernan added.

Palm Beach County Commissioner Robert Culpepper said, "The northern counties want to avoid the nightmare of overnight development experienced by their southern neighbors."

Indian River County Commissioner Willard Siebert, Jr., and St. Lucie County Administrator Weldon Lewis generally echoed their allies' arguments for the new district, claiming the four counties are closely related through population and planning character.

Martin and St. Lucie Counties have never named members to the district, and have steadfastly refused to pay dues since the state formed the regional districts four years ago.

Palm Beach County Commission members resigned from the district, protesting the high densities being supported by Dade and Broward County representatives.

Special meeting March 30

Charter goes to council

PORT ST. LUCIE–The proposed new 67-page city charter will be officially transferred from the hands of the Charter Revision Committee to the City Council Wednesday morning (today), according to Solomon Raffe, chairman of the revision group.

A special meeting has been scheduled for discussing the proposed document. The City Council will meet with members of the Charter Revision Committee next Tuesday, March 30, at the City Hall. Meeting time is 2 p.m.

The meeting was called by Councilman Bill McChesney who said he has heard there were existing problems between the two groups.

"I find this hard to understand since we have never met with the group," McChesney said, adding he thought the Revision Committee had done an outstanding job for the past fourteen months.

The councilman pointed out that he thought such a meeting would serve two distinct purposes. "It will give us the opportunity to thank the committee for a job well done, and if there are any comments to be made, such a meeting would provide the opportunity. The air will be cleared."

Charter Revision members were more than somewhat critical of the legal counsel after last week's meeting when Assistant City Attorney Fred Horowitz dropped a bombshell in their laps by telling the group the City Council would have final say on the proposed charter.

He said the Council has the authority to accept, reject or modify the document prior to voter referendum.

Charter members who have volunteered untold hours were disgruntled to learn the document they have spent one year in compiling could be tossed out the window should the Council so desire.

Complaining that when the revision committee was established they were led to believe by then Mayor Larry Kimmel that the final word in the charter draft was theirs and theirs alone, Horowitz said the state statute had been repealed since the committee was formed.

Although questioned several times throughout the meeting, Horowitz was unable to provide members with any specific information relative to such a repeal.

However, committee member Elmer Johnson, who did considerable research during the past week, was unable to find any change in the statute.

Vice Chairman Milton Riedel said the committee had been deluding themselves in thinking they had an attorney all these months.

Horowitz, who is the nephew of City Attorney Spencer Gilbert, was not present at Monday's meeting.

Mike Reeb, one of the eleven members who comprised the revision committee, told his listeners he was opposed to the City Council making any changes in the document.

"We have conducted several surveys and held two public meetings to find out what the people want in the charter. It is the people's charter, not the Council's," Reeb said. "I am for turning it over to the Council and urging the public hearings be conducted and the document be put on the ballot as soon as possible."

The revision committee has made every effort to incorporate the items the people have asked for in the comprehensive document.

As Reeb put it, "Now is the time to put the monkey on the Council's back. If they want to amend, change or reject the document, then let them explain to the people why."

According to another statement made by Horowitz, the City's voters will face two charters on the ballot come election day, one written totally by the Charter Revision Committee and the second written totally by the Charter Revision Committee but revised by the City Council.

nglers oppose seining Lake

ORT ST. LUCIE–Anglers' Club bers voted unanimously last k to oppose the state Fish and e Commission's proposed plan to seine the waters of Lake Okeechobee to remove rough fish and hopefully reduce water pollution.

The club instructed member Carl Herzog to carry that message to the meeting of the County Conservation Alliance March 23 at Tradewinds Cafeteria. At that time Herzog was sworn in as the new president of the Alliance.

Club Treasurer Bob Gordon reported that the club would be turning over a check for $90.50 to the Community Center as net proceeds from the raffle and 50-50 game conducted at the Center's Bazaar.

The club is looking ahead to the appearance at its April 6 meeting of Capt. Bob Pelosi, who will talk on fishing for snook and mangrove snapper in the St. Lucie River. Pelosi, out of Jensen Beach, is one of the top fishing skippers in the area.

Sasha May, a 13-year-old eighth grade student at Lincoln Park won the county competition and will travel to West Palm Beach on April 28 to enter the regional spelling bee.

Curfew set for Sportsman Park

PORT ST. LUCIE–In an effort to cut down on vandalism, the City Council Tuesday adopted an ordinance establishing a 9 p.m. curfew at Sportsman Park.

The curfew does not apply to scheduled activities being conducted at the park.

A second ordinance was also passed which prohibits the use of any alcoholic beverages at Sportsman Park.

Those violating either ordinance will be subject to a $500 fine, 90 days in jail, or both.

City adopts new zoning ordinance

PORT ST. LUCIE–Although some modification is expected, the City Council Tuesday adopted the proposed new comprehensive zoning ordinance, 76-1, on the first reading.

The lengthy, 80-page ordinance, prepared by the city's planning and zoning board, was described by Councilman Larry Kimmel as being "a very fine piece of work."

While pointing out the document may not be perfect and some changes might be necessary, Kimmel suggested the adoption and recommended any proposed changes be referred to the P&Z Board for further study.

Councilman Bill McChesney, during a workshop session last week, recommended several changes or modifications to the new ordinance which in every instance would further restrict future building requirements in this south county community.

The major change as proposed by McChesney would increase the minimum house size from 900 square feet to 1,200 square feet in the R-2 areas of the city. At the present time over 90 percent of the city is zoned R-2.

When both Mayor Schuyler Sharpe and GDC officials opposed the change, McChesney stood firm, hopeful the Council would go along with the suggestion at least until such time as the city adopts a master land use plan and the city's zoning is modified to permit varied zoning and buffer zones.

Mayor Sharpe agrees that zoning modifications are needed, however he is concerned about "locking people out of our city" by increasing the minimum house size to 1,200 square feet.

Another of McChesney's recommendations, if adopted, would spell out the size and location of storage areas, 4'x10'x6' high. The ordinance states that carports and storage areas be required on all future homes.

With reference to the zoning modifications throughout the city, the Council was unanimous in their suggestion that the P&Z Board come up with an overall planning map for the city in order that buffer zones might be established to protect the people as soon as possible.

The second reading and public hearing of the comprehensive ordinance will be scheduled following the review of the Council's recommendations by members of the Planning and Zoning Board.

Kiwanis, Knights win baseball openers

Mirror sports

JENSEN BEACH Monday night did not start just another baseball season at Langford Park. It was the first night of an exciting campaign which will eventually crown four possible Pony league champions. It was the beginning of a banner year for junior baseball and the Jensen Beach Optimist Club in particular.

Two exciting games made up Monday night's schedule including a Bronco League collision in which the league favorite barely survived a scare from Roy Cox, a darkhorse team.

The Knights of Columbus, picked by many of the Bronco League coaches as the favorite to wear the championship, scored four runs in the fifth inning to begin a comeback which saw them tally all but one of their nine runs in the final three innings.

Butte runs by Bruce Delaney and Billy Rinaldi put Bill Cisle on top early, 3-2, as last count. Both teams scored once in the third inning to make it 4-3. But the Knights had not given up yet.

Scott Schroeder's three run home run in the fifth capped the Knights comeback and two more runs in the sixth gave them an 8-7 lead. Bobby Massey's double in the seventh clinched it as Todd Jackson crossed the plate with the ninth Knights of Columbus run.

In the Pony League opener Mosley Construction fought desperately but could not shut down Kiwanis as the Kiwanians won 5-3.

Five runs in the third inning turned the trick for Kiwanis while Scott Casey pitched five good innings. David Boccchino came into the game in the sixth and final inning and earned the save.

Mosley had the winning run at the plate in the final inning but key strikeouts by Boccchino helped the Kiwanians get out of the nasty jam. Kiwanis now leads in the Pony League race a half game ahead of the Lions and the Elks and a full game ahead of Mosley.

Earlier in the semi-finals Mark Sands, Rick Justice and Doug Hughes all scored one goal as the Reds downed the Blacks 3-0. Alan Todd Miller and Richie Lord each scored two goals in leading the Greens over the Gold, 3-1.

Ambulance building bids are mailed

JENSEN BEACH Bids for construction of a Jensen Area Samaritans Inc. Ambulance Building were sent out Monday, March 22 by the Martin County Purchasing Department.

Bids for the new building on South Savanna Road are to be returned April 13.

Plans call for a squad room, utility room, kitchen and garage to house the ambulances.

Jensen Beach Realtor Ramsay Tilton offered the property to the county with no strings attached. The location of the Samaritan central office is adjacent to Pinelake Village.

PLANNING AREA—Martin County Planning Director Kris Schenk points to a north county area planning map which he used in discussing Rio area planning with the residents last week at the Rio Civic Club.

Roads, bike paths

Planning meets held in area

JENSEN BEACH—Future development of the north Martin County area Jensen Beach Rio and North River Shores should include a new road and bike paths residents of area told planners at public meetings.

County Planning Director Kris Schenk said the largely undeveloped area between U.S. 1 and SR 723 South Savanna Road is a good location for a road.

Both Rio and North River Shores noted the need for bike paths connecting their areas with Jensen Beach.

Rio residents suggested continuing the present bike path on South Savanna Road to Martin Boulevard and then across the railroad tracks to SR 707.

Schenk and his staff noted that both Rio and North River Shores are already so highly developed that not a lot of planning remains to be done.

Schenk and his staff are holding public meetings throughout the county in the process of developing a comprehensive plan. The state has ordered the county to develop a comprehensive plan within three years.

The staff met with North River Shores and Rio residents last week and held a public session in Jensen Beach Tuesday, March 30 at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building.

After reviewing the suggestions Schenk and his staff will return to the area to go over their findings with the residents.

The area for a road which Schenk proposed is bounded by U.S. 1 on the west, SR 707 on the south, SR 723 on the east and SR 707A on the north.

Schenk noted that the north county area is going to grow and he noted that future planning should include a community service center mini courthouse.

Rio residents pointed out that they didn't need any more multi-family units, R-3 zone, in their community and they noted the need for additional traffic signals for the safety of its citizens.

Rio and North River Shores residents noted that the Roosevelt Bridge on U.S. 1 north of Stuart was a "traffic bottleneck" and they suggested establishing fixed times for opening of the draw span.

Rio residents also asked that a public boat ramp be installed along the St. Lucie River and suggested signs be erected to route Jensen Beach traffic via SR 723 and away from SR 707 through Rio.

The Rio residents also noted the need for a larger public service area for the Fire Department and Schenk noted that a grade crossing of the railroad track on Martin Boulevard is about out.

The planner said that a overpass at the railroad crossing on Martin Boulevard would cost about $1 million.

Planners return to area

JENSEN BEACH—Martin County Planner Tom Mumford said Monday that the Planning Department staff personnel will make a second visit into the north county area.

We will be in the North River Shores area Monday, April 5 and in Rio Wednesday, April 7, Mumford said.

The Jensen Beach public meeting will be announced later.

The North River Shores will be at 7:30 p.m. at the Presbyterian church and the Rio meeting will be at the Rio Civic Center beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Planning staff members visited the three north county sites within the past few days getting ideas from residents about what they want for their area in the future.

At the second session staff members will make suggestions to residents for future planning.

The neighborhood meetings are held in preparation for the adoption of a county wide master plan.

Vote is expected

Millage rollback bill proposed

JENSEN BEACH—Extension of the millage rollback bill must be [illegible] the legal problems in [illegible] Martin County Legislative Delegation [illegible] said.

The rollback bill originally was approved by both counties in 1974. In Martin, 7,822 voters favored the bill and 1,724 opposed it.

In St. Lucie, 7,628 votes were cast in favor of the provision and 2,681 opposed.

If the bill is not approved by the Legislature it will die June 30.

The bill generally restricts local governments from increasing taxation by more than 10 per cent per year.

The proposed extension if adopted as it now stands will contain amendments to the original legislation.

One amendment would exempt school systems from the bill.

Another would enable a local governing body, if it feels its constituency opposed the bill to remove itself from the bill's provision by holding an election.

Another amendment would enable a taxing district to reduce its taxes if a previous year's level of taxation is not necessary and come back in the previous year's level of taxation if necessary the next year even if this involved a taxation increase of more than 10 per cent.

Nergard said that some people mainly public officials have changed their opinions since 1974.

Some public officials have said that the people didn't know what they were voting on in 1974, Nergard said.

Some senators in the Legislative Delegation are apparently cool to the rollback measure.

He said that the senate may not pass the measure unless at least two of the three senators in the delegation support it.

Senators in the delegation are Phil Lewis, Harry Johnston and Don Childers, all of Palm Beach County.

WARNING SIGN—The warning sign "unapproved water supply not for human consumption" was erected Monday at the Jensen Beach Causeway water spigots by Martin County Road Department employees David McAbee (left) and Jim Vann Jr. The County Commission ordered the sign erected to comply with state regulations on public water supply.

Easter egg hunt is at Park Saturday

JENSEN BEACH—The annual Easter egg hunt sponsored by the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department will be held this Saturday at Langford Park, according to William Yurillo, chairman.

Youngsters ranging in age from one to twelve years old are invited to the park to seek the colorful eggs. The hunt starts at 10 a.m. The young people will be split into groups based upon ages.

Prizes will be given for various parts of the hunt, but Yurillo refused to reveal the categories "because the kids are too smart for us. They'll have to wait and see what they are competing for."

Ninety dozen eggs are being decorated by the Volunteer Firemen's Women's Auxiliary.

No drinking of causeway water

JENSEN BEACH—Spigots on Jensen Beach Causeway are "off limits" for drinking use.

Warning signs "unapproved water supply not for human consumption" were placed on all fifteen water faucets Monday by employees of the Martin County Road Department.

The causeway water is to be used for recreational purposes, including cleaning fish, washing down boats and cleaning fishing gear the county Engineering Department noted.

The Department of Environmental Regulations (DER) notified the county in February that it is in violation of Florida Statutes.

DER noted that the statutes requires public water systems to contain chlorine.

In a letter to DER March 15 by County Engineer Ken Ferraro it was noted that the "continuation of operation of this water system (causeway) without chlorination is predicted upon recognition of the need for water for recreational purposes."

Assistant County Engineer C.R. Skinker reported in a memorandum to the County Commission on March 9 that it would cost approximately $3,800 to install a chlorinator and all necessary equipment to comply with DER's requirements.

Skinker also pointed out that after the capital equipment installation it will cost about $125 per month to supply chlorine, electric power, etc.

Skinker said there won't be padlocks on the causeway spigots but signs will have the same effect.

People have been coming to the causeway from miles around to fill their water jugs with the untreated water.

Water comes from a well on the west end of the causeway.

Family tourney at Jensen Lanes

JENSEN BEACH–The first Bowling Proprietors sponsored family tournament, which opened at all member houses on March 13th, closed Sunday March 28. If Jensen Lanes is any indication of national success, the tourney should be a wopper. Jensen had a total of 23 entries.

The winners of the prep division under 131 were Jeff and Doug Coleman with a winning total of 1218 300-303-308 a 909 scratch plus 309 handicap.

Junior division winners were Kimsey and Larry Runyon with 1228 308-294-350, a 952 scratch plus 296 handicap.

The winners in the Major division were from Garden Lanes in West Palm Beach. James Herritt a 520 scratch on games of 169-164-188 and his Step dad Wayne Fake with a 527 on games of 152-201-174 for a total with handicap of 1082.

A little side light: Len Casey and his son Scott went to Garden Lanes in Lake Park and won the Junior Division with a 1240 total. Scott held of his dad's poor effort with a fine 536 score on games of 168-201-167 plus 201 handicap. This, plus the old mans' 503 gave a winning 1240.

Chase Federal's Ocean East Mall location to open this fall

STUART–Plans to open the Ocean East Mall office of Chase Federal Savings and Loan Association this Fall are being made by the Miami-based financial institution announces Stephen J. Waters, Jr. Executive Vice President-Savings.

The new facility, the three-counts Association's seventeenth regional location, is projected to celebrate a Grand Opening in mid-October of this year. The Ocean East Mall office will contain 2,800 square feet of space and a six-person staff.

Thomas E. Holmes has been named Office Manager.

Holmes, a native of Buffalo, New York, will be responsible for over-all supervision of the six-person office. He has been with Chase Federal for one year.

He received his bachelor's degree in business management at State University of New York, Buffalo. Prior to joining Chase Federal, Holmes was department head of bank card services at Liberty National Bank, Buffalo. He is currently an officer in the U.S. Army Reserve.

Chase Federal is the sixth largest savings and loan in Florida with $750 million in total assets. The 41-year-old association currently services the savings and loan needs of Dade, Broward and Martin County residents. Next year, Chase Federal will open an office in West Palm Beach.

Because it is a full branch facility, the new Chase Federal office will offer all savings and loan services to its customers. These services include: passbook and statement savings accounts, certificates of deposit, receipt of mortgage applications, free travelers checks, series 'E' savings bonds, money orders, free direct deposit of social security payments, free photocopying service and many more.

Chase Federal is the sixth largest thrift institution in Florida and the 41st nationally with $750 million in total assets.

Fire Auxiliary colors eggs Friday

JENSEN BEACH–The Jensen Beach Fire Department Auxiliary meets at the Fire House Friday, April 2, to color 90 dozen eggs to be used in the Firemen's Annual Easter Egg Hunt at Langford Park Saturday, April 3. Meeting time is 9 a.m.

The Auxiliary's monthly business meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Monday, April 5, at the Fire House. Topping off the session will be a birthday cake to celebrate several members' birthdays and an auction of unwanted treasures.

'Freeway series' is on

JENSEN BEACH–The annual 'Freeway Series', pitting the Los Angeles Dodgers and the California Angels is ready to add another exciting chapter.

The first two games of the three-game set is slated for Dodger Stadium on Friday, April 2 at 7:30 p.m. and Saturday, April 3 at 7 p.m.

The series finale on Sunday, April 4, begins at 1 p.m. at Anaheim Stadium.

The three-game series of 1976 marks the 15th year of the rivalry which started in April of 1962 in Palm Springs.

The Dodgers hope to overtake the Angels in the series, trailing 12-10. Eight of the California victories have been one-run decisions.

The Dodgers have won the series the last two years. Last year they took the first two games, winning the opener 9-2, via the power of Bill Buckner and former Dodger Tom Paciorek, along with the pitching of Al Downing and young Rick Rhoden. Rhoden pitched four innings, allowing just one hit and fanning six to capture the "Outstanding Pitcher" award for the series.

The Dodgers blanked the Angels 2-0 in the second game behind the three-hit pitching of Doug Rau, Mike Marshall, and current Angel Jim Brewer.

The Angels captured the finale, 3-1 beating Juan Marichal who was making his first start as a Dodger.

The Dodgers have always dominated the series awards and last year was no different. Rhoden bagged the pitching honors while his battery mate, catcher Steve Yeager was named Most Valuable Player of the series.

Special treat planned for Jensen Art League

JENSEN BEACH–A special treat has been arranged for the next monthly meeting of the Jensen Beach Art League, according to Dorothy Elliott. Meeting time is 10 a.m. Thursday, April 8, in Hoke Memorial Hall, First Federal Savings and Loan.

The "treat" will be an illustrated talk on "The Growth of Art" by Mrs. Dorothy Stafford.

Another League art show will be discussed, and planned if enough exhibitors wish to have one.

Rio News Notes

BY HAZEL MORRIS

A planning and zoning meeting for the community of Rio was held March 24, with a continuation set for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 7, at the Rio Civic Club.

This meeting is open to all residents of Rio, providing an opportunity for all to present their ideas on what is needed to better the community. Everyone is urged to attend.

Congratulations to a fine couple, Mr. and Mrs. August Markus, who recently celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary. Long time residents of Rio, we wish the Markuses many more years of health and happiness together.

The Rio Civic Club card party was held March 23. Hostesses were Inez Barry, Grace Lewis and Mary Grant. Delicious Key Lime pie made by Kathleen Spencer was served.

Lucky winner of the door prize was Mary Grant. Table prizes were won by Inez Barry, Freida Schlimm, Inez Karker, Grace Lewis, Marie Larson, Helen Smith, Marion Davis, Hazel Mason, Herta Lettenmaier, Dorothy Trinka and Dorothy Mercer.

The next party is scheduled for 1 p.m. Tuesday, April 6.

Leonard Helfich, Jr., of Westwood, New Jersey, spent the weekend with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. John Jacobs. Leonard is a chemist with the Lipton Company and is now studying ways and means of detecting contamination of foods with a professor in Punta Gorda.

School registration

JENSEN BEACH–Registration of kindergarten and first grade children for the 1976-77 school year will be April 5-9, Martin County School Superintendent James Navitsky announced.

Navitsky said the hours for registration include:

Monday, April 5, through Wednesday, April 7, 2 to 3 p.m.

Thursday, April 8, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 6 to 9 p.m.

Friday, April 9, 9 a.m. to noon. School offices will be closed at noon on April 9.

Navitsky said that for first grade children to enroll this fall, the child must be six years old on or before Jan. 1, 1977, and to be enrolled in kindergarten, a child must be five years old on or before Jan. 1, 1977.

The superintendent reminded parents that they should bring proof of the child's age (birth certificate), and a immunization certificate, showing the child's immunizations for measles and polio. In addition, state law requires parents to present to school officials a statement from the county health officer or from a licensed practicing physician, certifying the child has no contagious or communicable disease.

Postal changes studied

WASHINGTON—The United States Postal Service, created six years ago to replace the old Post Office Department and put mail delivery on a break-even basis, just may be on the way out.

In fact, the whole idea of a monopolistic government mail service may be on the way out.

That's how far dissatisfaction with the current postal situation has grown. Everything is under examination, intense examination.

Most of the scrutiny is coming from Congress, from men like Congressman John Rousselot of California, who is seeking to eliminate the letter-carrying monopoly the agency has enjoyed since 1792.

That law, just a few years younger than our nation, gives the Postal Service the exclusive right to carry letter-mail. Further, it gives the agency the right to decide just what is a letter.

Second, third and fourth class mail and packages can be carried by anyone. And many private enterprise organizations are doing it – not only more economically, but more efficiently and quicker.

Therefore, say many in Congress, take away the Postal Service's letter-carrying monopoly and watch private enterprise do it better.

However, there are others who contend elimination of this monopoly would hurt rural Americans. While mail can be delivered in metropolitan areas fairly inexpensively, rural delivery can be – and usually is – much more expensive. So, say supporters of the postal monopoly, maintenance of the private express statutes is mandatory if we are to keep uniform postal rates.

Regardless, it is a fitting subject for study. After all, it would seem almost impossible for mail service to get worse, so why not look at whether competition would destroy or help the Postal Service, whether it would help us, the letter writers.

Also under investigation is whether all the fancy new equipment which the Postal Service is buying is really needed. There have been too many reports of machines that don't do the job they were supposed to, and reports of some that actually chew up the letters they are supposed to be sorting.

The Postal Service itself is looking into its problems, although some of the possible solutions it has offered won't be too popular with most Americans.

Now, that idea will never become a reality. As long as the Postal Service must come to the Congress for a subsidy, there is no way the Congress would allow this to happen.

But some of the other suggestions, such as the doing away with door to door delivery and replacing it with curbside delivery, might get through. So might the suggestion that special delivery service be ended.

However, it won't happen without a great deal of study, discussion and debate.

But something has to happen to restore mail service to its earlier efficient level. And it has to happen fast.

The mere fact that Congress is restudying the six year old Postal Service Corporation is testimony to that. Something must go wrong fast for Congress to reconsider its actions within such a short period of time.

But, as one Member of Congress put it during a recent discussion: "I have reached the place where I am ready to vote for anything to get the postal corporation out of business and get somebody in that will actually start delivering the mail."

He spoke for all of us.

Driving course

JENSEN BEACH—The final defensive driving course of the season will be held at the Environmental Center, Indian River Drive, Jensen Beach, starting Wednesday, April 7 at 1:30 p.m.

The four session course will meet April 7, 9, 14 and 20 in the auditorium of the Center at 1:30 p.m.

Letters to the editor

To the editor:

In your editorial of the March 24th issue of the Port St. Lucie Mirror, you expressed your thoughts concerning planning and zoning boards and their conflict with reality. I am sure that your thoughts would also apply to other civic boards and committees. I will be the first to admit that your point of view may have some merit.

However, I submit that there is a possibility of a different clash of ideas and ideals. These boards are zealous in gathering information and in doing their homework. They function without recompense, recognition or thought of political longevity. Their only desire and purpose is to try to accomplish what they feel best for their community. They are not formed nor do they function to sell newspapers, radio time, housing projects nor to seek public acclaim or office. I suggest that compromises have been made in light of what the board feels is best for the present and future of the community and not to appease any pressure group. I think that we all should agree that any compromise for votes or a quick profit is indeed a very hard pill to swallow.

Very truly yours,
-s-Charles W. Hoyt, M.D.
2834 S.E. Italy St.
Port St. Lucie, Fl.

To the editor:

I was quite surprised to see that in Frank Wacha's recent "non-political" speech to kick off his campaign he seemed to be running against me. This is puzzling since I'm not in his district. I'm not running against him and I'm not even up for election this year.

Mr. Wacha made a comment about my trips to Tallahassee in regard to the Savannas which shows either complete ignorance on his part or an utter disregard for the truth.

I suggest that if he does not apologize for what is a provable and plain mis-statement of fact, that it will tell the public what kind of official he would make.

Sincerely,
-s-Maggy Hurchalla

Tribute to Vaughn Monroe

Hospital Ball 'Races to Moon'

BY DICK CAMPBELL

PORT ST. LUCIE—The Martin Memorial Hospital Ball committee shot for the moon with a $75,000 goal and reached that goal Saturday night amid memories of Vaughn Monroe and his theme "Racing With The Moon."

With the Vaughn Monroe band setting a nostalgic mood the celebrants danced amid a moon beam decor created by famed restaurateur Patricia Murphy.

The eleventh annual formal ball found the Sandpiper Bay convention hall decorated with silver moons, twinkling stars, and candlelight flickering near replicas of all the famous Monroe tunes played from the original book by a band led by a pioneer with the Vaughn Monroe band, Lou Feldman. There were even Moonmaids on hand, the guests.

Even the program was in keeping with the mood, with the cover featuring a manuscript copy of the Monroe theme song.

When Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hudson announced that the goal was $800 short of $75,000, famed singer Frances Langford Evinrude, a close friend of Monroe, immediately offered to donate the amount to put the goal over the top.

"We are excited and pleased that we have surpassed the goal," Hudson said.

Ralph Hartman, Jr., president of Martin Memorial Hospital Ball, congratulated Hudson and the many who worked on the ball for their effort, and then called Marian Monroe, widow of the popular bandleader-musician-singer-actor to the stage to present her with a bouquet of roses.

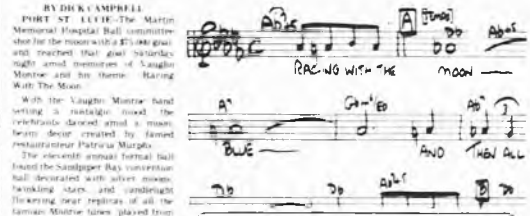
The audience applauded in a standing ovation as Mrs. Monroe walked from the stage.

Roland Merrell, chairman of special gifts of the ball, received a special tribute for his effort.

Following the presentments, a midnight breakfast was served as the band continued to play.

Other chairmen of committees included Mrs. Frederick Stein, Jr., treasurer; Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Wolfe, publicity; Dagny Jones, reservations; and Ken Eberhardt, business contributions.

Lou Feldman announced that his fee as orchestra leader would be donated to the ball fund in memory of Monroe.



SPECIAL HONOR—Marian Monroe, former chairperson of the hospital ball, received a bouquet of roses from hospital board president Ralph Hartman for her work on the ball and in memory of her late husband, Vaughn Monroe. The theme of the ball, "Racing With The Moon," was Monroe's theme song.

PLEASANT—It was a pleasant evening for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur MacArthur of Hobe Sound at the Martin Memorial Hospital Ball Saturday night.

FINANCE—Hospital administrator Guy Cromwell talked finance with Fred Stein, Jr. at the hospital ball. Mrs. Stein was treasurer of the ball.

HAPPY GROUP—Enjoying the Martin Memorial Hospital Ball Saturday were seated, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Purkey and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Van Curen, and standing, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Eberhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Zoratti, Mr. and Mrs. Scotty Pulliam.

THANK YOU—Singled out for special thanks during the Martin Memorial Hospital Ball Saturday at Sandpiper Bay were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hudson, co-chairpersons of the event. Hospital board president Ralph Hartman spoke highly of the effort, which raised $75,000 for the hospital.

CELEBRANTS—Paul Hennings, president of First Federal of Martin County, Bill Connolly, a First Federal vice president and Martin County Bicentennial chairman and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Menninger attended the Martin Memorial Hospital Ball Saturday.

OVER THE TOP—Attending the hospital ball Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Roland Merrell and Mr. and Mrs. Jay Evinrude. Mrs. Evinrude (singer Frances Langford) made an additional pledge of over $700 when ball chairman Dale Hudson announced that the fund drive was that amount short of the $75,000 goal to put the drive over the top.

DANCING a BALL—Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Wagstaff and Dr. and Mrs. Jim Grossnickle were among those at the hospital ball at Sandpiper Bay Saturday night. Mrs. Wagstaff donated one of her paintings as a ball door prize.

DINING—Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Tilton and Dr. and Mrs. Richard Penick enjoyed the Martin Memorial Hospital Ball Saturday night at Sandpiper Bay.

Welding class for adults

JENSEN BEACH–Henry Childers, Director of Adult Education has announced that a ten session, thirty hour course in Basic Welding is underway. This course is being offered jointly with Florida Institute of Technology, Jensen Beach Campus, and will cover the welding of common metals by electric arc and oxyacetylene processes. Course emphasis will be placed on manipulative welding skills and practical welding application and will cover operation of gauges, tanks, torches and various kinds of welding equipment with emphasis on modern safety practices. Students will gain an understanding of welding and the skills needed to perform basic arc welding and oxyacetylene processes through supervised student practices. No prior welding experience is necessary.

A fee of $45 will be charged for the course which includes all materials except personal safety glasses and gloves. Adult students, 18 years of age or older, may enroll in the course which meets on Tuesday evenings from 7 to 10 p.m. in the Industrial Arts Building on the FIT Campus. The course ends June 1st.

The class will be limited to 12 students and registrations will be accepted on a first come, first served basis at the Admissions Office, FIT, during business hours.

Rainbow Valley, a paradise, but never flush for number 1

BY DICK CAMPBELL

Editor Dick Campbell and his wife, Jill, a travel agent, recently took a ten day vacation trip to the Caribbean. This is the second in a series of articles about "Our Caribbean neighbors."]

FREDERIKSTED, V.I.--The house clung tenaciously to the side of St. George Mountain, lovely looking, with a fantastic view down to the sea.

Further up, at the peak of the mountain another home jutted out from the rock face of the mountain, supported by pilings that held firm to the cliff.

The homes were just another of the many and varied faces of Rainbow Valley, near Frederiksted, St. Croix. Standing on the wooden decking that surrounded the circular swimming pool, the vista was more like a small Missouri Valley than of an island paradise.

Several miles down the valley lay Frederiksted, a small, non-touristy town with all the charm of its Dutch-English history.

The little farms, with their wandering goat herds and occasional bands of wild horses and deer, add a bit of relaxing atmosphere to the wonderland.

As we drove up the winding road, sometimes at 45 degree angles, the valley lived up to its name, and a passing rainblown squall created a beautiful rainbow that ended on top of a farmhouse near the head of the valley.

Gordon Campbell, a retired Coast Guard commander, had picked us up at the airport, and introduced me to driving on the left side of the road, Danskian drivers, and how to curl up in the back seat of a Karmann Ghia with three suitcases.

Once at the house, we lolled about, watching a sunset down the valley and out to the Caribbean, a misty experience with wildly refracted rays of light making the town a glittering jewel beyond the mahogany, knipes, tamerinds, ginger thomas and monkey pod trees.

Water is treasured in St. Croix, and drinking and bathing waters come from rain on the roof, down the rain gutters and downspouts into a cistern that is the only water supply for each of the homes in the valley.

"Don't flush for number one," Gordon instructed.

The average 45 inch per year rainfall produces about 33,750 gallons of water a year for the cistern, but last year the Campbells had to buy 5,000 gallons at a penny a gallon due to a drought.

We spent the evening dining at "The Persian Virgin," and talking with the owners, Jack Barr and Jim Sherman, who double as real estate developers. The gourmet restaurant was just one of many in Frederiksted, with a garden setting among giant mahogany trees and starlight above the candles.

A calypso guitarist entertained at each table, singing the happy and sad songs of the islands.

All businesses, it seemed, had large, heavy wooden doors that were barred and locked at night.

The morning brought roosters crowing, cows mooing, and goats complaining of the sunlight as they began their wanderings to forage for food.

There were no windows in the Campbell home, just screens over the wooden jalousies, and the constant cool breeze coming over the mountain top made the evening comfortable, with no need of air-conditioning.

The home had large ceiling fans that moved slowly to stir the air during the two-hour "dead spell" in the afternoon.

Our luncheon at Le Grange Beach Club was again outside at small umbrella'd tables along the beach, with a vista of sailing and fishing boats moving back and forth near the long dock that welcomed occasional cruise ships and freighters bringing tourists and supplies to St. Croix.

For the beginning of an island vacation, we learned much of the beauty of one part of the Virgin Islands, the easternmost part of the United States, a somewhat different world in tropical splendor.

VALLEY HOME--The mountain residence of Gordon and Lannie Campbell clings to the side of St. George Mountain in St. Croix, where the editor visited on an island vacation.

Birthday Greetings

...other factor was the hitting of ...star Bob 'Mighty' Casey. In ...game he swated a triple ...highlighted Kiwanis' five run ...inning. In the Elks contest, ...unbeaten Aycock's Gang and took apart Ray Cooke in their two games for the week.

In the league opener last Tuesday night, Ray Cooke found that it had serious pitching problems, as they practically gave the game away by walking Rick Carroll batters.

Ray Cooke started off well, earning two runs in the bottom half of the first inning, but by the fourth inning, Rick Carroll began to overcome their deficit. Trailing 3-1, the Insurancemen pushed four runs across home plate, giving them a two-run lead. Then, in the fifth inning, they scored six more. All of their six runs in the inning were walked in by Ray Cooke pitchers. One more run in the sixth was only the icing on the cake as Ray Cooke bowed in defeat, 12-5.

There was only one extra base hit the entire evening, a double whacked by Rick Carroll's Richard Sawyers. The winning pitcher was Bill Haynes, who eventually won two games for Rick Caroll and took over the Mustang League pitching lead. Eddie Justice of Ray Cooke bit the dust in defeat.

On Saturday, the Insurancemen had to face tough Aycock's Gang, but they met them head on and by the end of the contest, it was clear that Rick Carroll was just too much.

As was the case in the opener, Rick Carroll gave up two runs in the very first inning, but this time they struck back quicker than before, getting five runs in their half of the first.

By the end of the fourth, they had built a 10-2 lead, and three more in the fifth, countered by only a single marker in the same frame, made the final a convincing 13-3. In this contest, there were no extra base hits at all, which clearly illustrates Rick Carroll's team effort. Haynes took the win, while Larry Baker of Aycock's got nailed with the setback.

In other action around the five-team circuit, Aycock's surprised Man from K I R K 19-18, in a wild one. K I R K led at one point by as much as 16-3, but Aycock's never gave up and came back to win it. Chuck Dixon cracked a double and a triple for K I R K, while Steven Potts and Wilfred had a triple and a double respectively. Wiley was the victorious pitcher while Dixon took the loss.

Tri-County Gas made their only appearance of the week a sensational one, by scoring eight runs in the final inning to outlast Ray Cooke 19-18. This was the game in which MIRROR PLAYER OF THE WEEK Richey Lord smashed two doubles and a home run with the home run coming at the start of the eight run rally.

Brad Schlerf was the hero of the game for Tri-County, as he belted a double to score the last two runs. But there was more to it than that. There is a special rule in Mustang League that permits 10 players to play in the field at one time, with four outfielders instead of three. There is another rule which allows only ten batters to bat in one inning, meaning that if a team has only two outs and is batting its tenth man in the inning, that man will be the last to bat no matter what he does.

This was the case with Schlerf who needed to do something that would enable his team to tie the game. They were trailing 18-17.

The rest is history. Schlerf doubled in two runs, and since it was the bottom of the last inning his team won.

Lord was the winning pitcher while counterpart Matt Gallo got stuck with the tough loss. Besides the extra base hits of Lord and Schlerf, Steve Ouzts had a double and a triple for Tri-County while Eddie Justice drilled a four bagger for the losers.

Finally, Man from K I R K demolished luckless Ray Cooke 24-9. It was never close as K I R K took a commanding 17-7 lead and added seven more in the final inning, while Ray Cooke scored a single time in each of the final two frames.

Kent Hughes was the winner for K I R K, while Brian Evans took the defeat. There were a number of extra base hits, with Mike Grzelka collecting a triple and a double for K I R K. Home runs were hit by Jim Woods and Eddie Justice of Ray Cooke while Jeff Hobson of K I R K did the same. His teammate, Chuck Dixon, smashed his third extra base hit of the year, a triple.

Fishing records in tourney

JENSEN BEACH—It was a record week for record fish on the Metropolitan Sound Florida Fishing Tournament as new all-time marks were set in five different tackle divisions.

Biggest of the pack was the 40-pound jewfish caught by Jeff Hurt of Memphis, who fished Key West waters with Capt. Bill Workers on the Sands. Bill Also in the Unlimited Division, Lawrence Huffman of Stuart registered a 46-pound African Pompano taken on the Hobo, Capt. Jack Whitesar.

Youngest record setter was Casandra Brosee of Port St. Lucie, whose 40-pound, 4-ounce African Pompano off Stuart not only was a new mark for the Junior Division, but also for adults in the 20-pound Line Class. Another 20-pound record was set by Richard Unger of Key West with a 362-pound, 4-ounce shark.

In the 12-pound line category, a rare 43-pound broadbill swordfish was captured on the Miami Beach party boat Reward II, by Otto C. Franck of Middleburg, N.Y., and a record 46-pound barracuda was racked up at Islamorada by John Schaffer of Paramus, N.J., while fishing on the Hawk. Capt. Sarge Werner.

Two ultra light tackle specialists made the record book with catches in 6-pound line. David Webb of Miami, who landed a 12-pound, 13-ounce bluefish and Hal Kelsey of Jupiter, who fished at Stuart and weighed in a 10-pound, 12-ounce trout.

In the Plug Division, which requires casting with an artificial lure, Jesse Webb's 15-lb. 12-oz. bluefish set a new mark but will not be listed among the leaders because Webb is a member of the Tournament Committee.

Kenan Bittner of Miami strength-ened his hold on favorite for the repeat winner of the Shakespeare Master Angler Award by posting the top individual effort of any week so far. His 272-pound shark on Plug, broke a 10-year record by more than 100 pounds. He also registered a leading 9-lb. 4-oz. permit on plug, and a leading 6-lb. shark on spinning. All his catches were made in Key West with Capt. Ralph Delph.

Sponsored as a public service by the Miami Herald and the Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Miami, the Met Tournament continues through April 10.

Richey Lord super as baseball opens

JENSEN BEACH—You bat three times in a baseball game. You smack two doubles, then hit a home run to begin an eight run rally in the final inning as your team wins, 19-18. That's the best game anyone could possibly have, but it's impossible. Right?

Wrong!

Last Friday evening at Langford Park, Mustang Leaguer Richey Lord experienced one of the greatest games in his life thusfar. He did indeed whack a pair of doubles and a home run in Tri-County Gas come-from-behind victory over Ray Cooke. In doing so, he earned the first Player of the Week honors for 1974.

Lord came out tops among a field of six standouts for the week of March 22-27. Others included Frank Fitts, Scott Schroeder, Bob Casey, Craig Kinne, and Chuck Dixon.

Fitts had a superb week, featuring a double against the Lions and a triple against Kiwanis, both triggering big outings for his team, the Elks of the Pony League.

Meanwhile, scorecard smashed a home run in the fifth inning of the Bronco League opener, giving the Knights of Columbus the boost they needed to recover from an early 7-1 deficit and down Rio Civic Club 9-7.

Bob 'Mighty' Casey got into the picture with his third inning triple for Kiwanis in the Pony League opener. The blast helped them score all five of their runs in that inning and eventually win the game 6-3.

Kinne got his game in the big six with a double and a triple against the Lions Club on Thursday, helping Mosley to an early 5-1 lead. But his team could not hold on, and lost 8-5.

Dixon, playing for Man from KIRK, in the Mustang League smacked two triples and a double as his team racked up 42 runs in two games.

The Mirror honors one player each week for his or her outstanding play during the course of the week in Junior League action at Langford Park. All players in the Mustang, Bronco, Pony and Colt Leagues are eligible.

Knights lead in Bronco

JENSEN BEACH—The Knights of Columbus continued their assault on the Bronco League lead last week as they annihilated VFW, 14-0.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars never had a chance, falling behind 6-0 after only two innings and giving up eight more runs in the fourth. VFW pitchers Kenny Wenzel and Darryl George walked numerous Knight batters, while the catchers let many balls past them, to set up the eight run inning. Todd Jackson was the winner for the Knights, while Wenzel lost.

In other action, Todd's Restaurant edged VFW, 6-3, in eight innings. John Atkinson singled for VFW in the seventh off a pitch designed as part of an intentional walk, tying the game at three apiece. But Todd's singles by Bill Porter, Brian Lambeth and Tim Steele highlight-ed the rally in the extra inning. Todd Laycock took the mound for Todd's, while Wenzel was tagged for the setback for VFW. Eric Price tripled for VFW, while Melvin Potts doubled for Todd's.

The Jensen Beach Bank split a pair, downing Rio Civic Club 10-5 in the first game. Bank had to score 11 runs in the final inning to escape with the three run decision. Gordon Nichols was the winner for Bank, while Darryl Baker took the loss for Rio. Cooke. Mark Bedford and Mike Cooke had triples for Rio Cooke, while Baker, Bedford, Johnnie Lightsey had a double for the winners.

In the second game, Mark Sandstad a homer and a triple for Bank. Dave Harmon cracked a homer for Rio. For Rio, Bruce Delaney, the leading home run man in the league, smashed a home run, while Bob Russell scored his eighteenth run on a triple. Delaney was the victim. Harmon was the loser.

Finally, Saturday night, Tri-Cooke shocked Todd's 29-7. Todd's kept it close until the final two frames, when they were outscored 14-2. For Ray Cooke, David Burton homered. Mac Casey and Dixon Bldredge tripled, and Burton doubled. For the losers, Todd Jackson homered, Donald Gardner cracked triples, and Bill Porter, Mel Potts and Brian Lambeth doubled. The defeated Schlerf was Harry Baker was Lambeth for the load in defeat.

WELL DONE--Tom Green, center, was presented a pair of golf[illegible] recently by Sandpiper Bay General Manager Jim Bearce as a gift for his ten years working on the golf courses at the resort area. Fessel resigns, critical of 'no action' stand

PORT ST LUCIE--Speaking before the Port St Lucie Homeowners Association recently, Ed Fessel former head of the city's Planning and Zoning Board, was extremely critical of what he termed a "no action" policy on the part of the City Council.

Fessel, who submitted his resignation over a week ago because of personal reasons and utter frustration, told his listeners the majority of the City Council was, without a doubt, more interested in the past than in the future of Port St. Lucie.

In as much as the Council has refused to approve a single ordinance as submitted by the Planning and Zoning Board, Fessel said the productivity of the year-old 11 member advisory board was an absolute nil.

Fessel who likened the P&Z Board to a tennis ball that was bounced back and forth over the net by Council, said one objection from the floor during a Council meeting was sufficient for the city fathers to return the document for further study, table, or totally reject the pending ordinance.

He cited the comprehensive sign ordinance, the model home ordinance and the comprehensive Zoning Ordinance as all being bounced back by the Council.

During last week's regular Council session and at the persistance of Councilman Larry Kimmel, the lengthy zoning ordinance (ZA-1) was approved on the first reading after months of delay.

Fessel told the group he felt his board had repeatedly been used by the Council as a place to which they could channel the problems they the council) didn't wish to face.

Citing apathy as a major problem facing the community, Fessel urged residents to become more involved in civic affairs and certainly attend Council meetings.

Three other members of the P&Z Board have also submitted their resignations. They are vice-chairman Dr. Charles Hoyt, Col. Charles Porteous and Robert Jensen. Although the former chairman has urged the remainder of the members to stay on the board, he could not be sure there wouldn't be other resignations forthcoming.

Vice-chairman Dr. Hoyt was almost totally responsible for drafting the city's proposed 40-page zoning ordinance.

Homeowners support millage rollback

PORT ST LUCIE--While the State Legislature is scheduled to convene April 8, time is running out for residents to make their wishes known relative to the soon-to-expire millage rollback bill.

George Jacobs, vice-president of the PSL RP Homeowner's Association told The Mirror Monday he is hopeful local residents will take the time to write their senators or assist in getting petitions signed in support of the tax limitations bill.

The bill, which restricts local governing bodies from increasing property taxes more than 10 per cent in any one year will expire on June 30 unless the people convince at least two of the three local senators that a re-introduction of the bill is wanted.

Jacobs warns that unless two of the senators consider the millage rollback bill will not appear on the September ballot.

If the proposed legislation is passed in the session of the Legislature, voters in Martin and St Lucie counties will approve or disapprove it at the polls.

The rollback bill originally was approved by both counties in 1974. In Martin 7,822 voters favored the bill and 1,724 opposed it.

In St Lucie 7,628 votes were cast in favor of the provision and 2,681 opposed.

The proposed extension, if adopted as it now stands, will contain amendments to the original legislation.

One amendment would exempt school systems from the bill. Another would enable a local governing body if it feels its constituency opposed the bill, to remove itself from the bill's provisions by holding an election.

Another amendment would enable a taxing district to reduce its taxes if a previous year's level of taxation is not necessary, and come back to the previous year's level of taxation if necessary the next year, even if this involved a taxation increase of more than 10 per cent.

Nergard said that some people, mainly public officials, have changed their opinions since 1974.

Some public officials have said that the people didn't know what they were voting on in 1974, Nergard said.

Some senators in the Legislature

Delegation are apparently cool to the rollback measure.

He said that the senate may not pass the measure unless at least two of the three senators in the delegation support it.

Senators in the delegation are Phil Lewis, Harry Johnston and Dan Childers, all of Palm Beach County.

Council sets up calendar

PORT ST. LUCIE--Stating that changes have been made during the past few months by organizations operating in Port St. Lucie, in an effort to avoid any possibility of conflicting dates, the Presidents Council has suggested a possible means of avoiding such conflicts.

Forms have been made available to clubs and organizations asking for meeting dates, times, places, and requesting the same information on special events.

The information will then be placed in a Community Calendar at the community center (CESA). From the calendar will be furnished meeting dates, projected events and special activities, helping to prevent duplications and also making it possible for everyone in the community to know what is going on.

The office is open every business day from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The phone number is 878-1388.

Presidents Council head Cedric Ross says the cooperation of the clubs and organizations will help make Port St. Lucie the "best little place to live."

Local anglers get tips

PORT ST. LUCIE--Port St. Lucie Anglers club members can sharpen up their fishing skills with the help of two programs planned for April.

Tuesday, April 6 the club will hear Capt. Bob Pelosi at its 7:30 p.m. meeting at the Northport Marina. Pelosi will speak on fishing for snook and mangrove snapper.

The Tuesday, April 20 meeting will feature "Tides". Ed Buffington, one of the more knowledgeable local fishermen with the aid of someone from the Coast Guard, will introduce anglers to the mysteries of the local tides and their influence on fishing.

Winding up the club's events will be the semi-annual "Fish Out at the Marina" Sunday, April 25, from 4 to 6 p.m.

GDU official will discuss rate hike

PORT ST. LUCIE--General Development Utilities President [illegible] Schmidt is scheduled to meet with residents and the City Council on April 8 regarding the GDU petition to the Public Service Commission relative to the proposed hike in sanitary sewer and water rates.

Schmidt will make his first presentation for his firm during a special meeting of the City Council at 2 p.m. at the City Hall on [illegible].

The meeting to George Jacobs, vice-president of the PSL RP Homeowner's Association. Schmidt will address the group at 7:30 p.m. at the meeting at the Port St. Lucie Community Center (CESA).

The public is not only invited but is encouraged to attend one of the two sessions, Jacobs said, adding that a question and answer period would follow Schmidt's presentation at the Homeowners meeting.

The proposed rate increase has been a major concern of a representative group from the city's three homeowner associations and the Civic League recently.

The group has attempted to coordinate their ideas and to determine whether or not the GDU rate proposal is completely justified.

They were recently denied a request to meet with a staff member of the PSC thirty days prior to the scheduled public hearing on May 25, however the PSC has agreed to meet with the local representative group on May 25, one day prior to the scheduled public hearing.

Record breaking' car wash kicks off Friday

PORT ST. LUCIE--Fort Pierce Central High School Band students will stage a marathon carwash at 8 a.m. Friday, April 2 with a two-fold aim.

First they hope to raise funds to help defray expenses of a trip by bus to Atlanta to compete in the State Festival.

Second, they will endeavor to best the Guiness World Book of Records for hours of straight car washing by washing straight through until 12 midnight Tuesday, April 6, a total of [illegible] hours washing in 12 hour shifts.

The marathon car wash will take place at Lou's Service Center, 4th Street and Delaware Avenue, Fort Pierce. Tickets at $1 apiece are available at Lou's or from all band members.

In conjunction with the marathon, the Band Parents Association is sponsoring a spaghetti dinner at the McLarty Cafeteria from 5 to 7 p.m. Saturday, April 3.

The Band Parents and students express the hope that all St. Lucie residents will help make the gigantic undertaking a success.

North Port golf

PORT ST. LUCIE--Winners by flights in Tuesday's North Port Men's Golf League weekly tournament play were:

Flight A. Bert Moore with 54

Flight B. Art Gerhardt 54

George Smith shot 58 to take Flight C honors.

Second: E. Adamson 81, Mary Kuhn 72.

Third: H. Bergelin 81, Mary Wilson 68.

Fourth: Chris Cook 86, Edna Fickinger 67.

Fifth: Flora Kimmel 87, Ruth Snyder 68.

Sixth: Grace Van Sonsbeek 87, Ruth Carroll 72.

Seventh: Essie Peterson 94, Lee Reeb 73.

Fire station to get flag

PORT ST. LUCIE--As a part of their Bicentennial program, members of the Andy Mattin Post 10136 Auxiliary will present a flag to the Prima Vista Boulevard fire station.

The presentation will take place Sunday, April 4 at 2 p.m. Lt. Walter Wile will accept the flag from members of Post 10136, according to Mrs. Irene Gross, chairman of the Auxiliary's Bicentennial program.

Mrs. Mary Donahue presided the flag to the Auxiliary.

Nergard seeks voters' opinions

PORT ST. LUCIE--With the 1976 state Legislature opening in a few days, State Rep. Buck Nergard has again mailed out his questionnaire seeking the opinion of voters in his District, Jensen Beach area and St. Lucie County.

Listed below are some of the important issues that will be considered during the 1976 Legislature. Nergard states at the beginning of the bi-partisan questionnaire:

Nergard requests your opinion on the following issues:

1. Do you support ratification of the proposed equal rights amendment?

2. Do you support prohibiting the sale of cheap hand guns (Saturday night specials)?

3. Do you support a two to three cent per gallon gas tax increase to speed up road construction?

4. Do you support continuation of [illegible] millage bill?

5. Do you support increasing Florida motor rates to provide a lower rate for those travelling a [illegible] less than 250 miles at least per month?

6. Do you support a state budget [illegible] means of anticipated revenue for the fiscal year [illegible]?

7. Do you support state purchase of [illegible]?

8. Do you support state tax monies be spent for promoting clean new industries for Florida?

9. Do you support legalized [illegible]?

10. What do you feel is the most pressing issue to come before the 1976 legislature?

Nergard's mailing address is Rep. Chuck Nergard, Dist. 78, Room 320, House Office Building, Tallahassee, Fla. 32304.

Council to re-organize

PORT ST. LUCIE--A special meeting of the Port St. Lucie City Council has been scheduled for Monday, April 5 at 8 a.m. in the city hall.

This will be a re-organizational meeting at which time council members will elect the mayor, vice-mayor and city treasurer for the ensuing year.

A special meeting has also been called for 8 a.m. April 6 for the purpose of swearing in the newly elected officials. City Clerk Donna Taggart will administer the oath of office.

Also according to the Tuesday agenda, the city administration will open sealed bids for electrical materials and equipment for Spanish Park and the council is expected to take action at that time.

A workshop session will follow the special meeting.

The council is scheduled to consider a resolution authorizing the establishment of Lighting District No. 3, setting annual rates for the consumption of electric power, hear a progress report on evaluating applicants for the new police officer and the recruitment of the auxiliary force, and also hear the progress report on the installation of blinker lights.

Other items to be discussed include a review of city administration efforts to obtain LEAA funds to help finance expanded police protection program, and his recommendation that the P&Z Board be designated as the municipality's official planning agency under House Bill 782.

Mayor Sharpe will report on his inspection of St. James Drive attended by Earl Montgomery, GDC's Mark Baggett and Bill Hicks of the city's staff.

PROGRESS--Progress is evidenced as construction of the proposed Port St Lucie Medical center moves ahead rapidly. Groundbreaking ceremonies for the facility were held just one week ago. Completion date has been set for July 1976. The Medical Center will house twenty doctors' offices, an apothecary, lab and dental offices.

West Point admits Brenda Sue Fulton

JENSEN BEACH–Brenda Sue Fulton of Jensen Beach has been accepted as a student at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. She will be a member of the first class which women have been accepted at the academy.

U.S. Sen. Lawton Chiles last week notified Miss Fulton that she had been accepted.

The 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fulton Jr. of 836 SW Flora Drive, Jensen Beach, is salutatorian of her class graduating from Martin County High School this year. Her mother Clara is principal of the high school.

After learning that she was accepted at West Point, she said I'm really thrilled.

But after receiving congratulations from fellow students she admitted, I'm a little tired.

Miss Fulton has been interested in West Point since the service academies announced they would accept women.

She was one of 19 young women invited to visit West Point last January and the only young woman selected for the visit from the southeastern United States.

Miss Fulton will be a member of the class of 1980 and will report to West Point July 7.

She was recommended to the academy by U.S. Sen. Chiles and U.S. Rep. L.A. Bafalis.

Susie has really worked hard for this and has been on cloud nine since hearing she was accepted, Mrs. Fulton said.

Recently, Miss Fulton started working out with the high school girls' track team to stay in shape for the physical rigors she'll face at West Point.

Her other sports activities include being a member of the school powderpuff football team and girls' varsity basketball team.

When Miss Fulton and other young women visited the academy last January, the academy announced that they were selected for their academic and athletic abilities.

After the academy visit, Miss Fulton said the trip to West Point cleared up a lot of doubts in my mind.

I didn't know what to expect, she said. All the cadets were very nice and everyone was very honest about everything.

An A student in high school she is a semi-finalist in the National Merit Scholarship competition.

She has received many awards while a student including the National Council of Teachers of English Outstanding Achievement, DAR Essay Award, VFW Voice of Democracy, Loyalty award, a scholarship to the National Science Foundation summer program in mathematics at Florida Atlantic University, National Honor Society member.

Miss Fulton is a member of the band, the Acolyte Guild of All Saints Episcopal Church.

BIKE PATH PROBLEM–Residents of the north Martin County area told county engineers at public hearings that railroad crossings and deadend streets in subdivisions limit bicycle riding and suggested a bike path along the railroad right of way. Shown at a railroad crossing is Ralph Hirth, a retired resident of Ocean Breeze Park who has been riding his bicycle in the area for 16 years.

Senators oppose

Millage rollback bill loses senate support

JENSEN BEACH–The millage rollback bill for Martin and St. Lucie counties is apparently dead.

The three state senators from Palm Beach County who represent the two counties are going to let the measure die a natural death June 30.

The three senators have told me that they will not support a millage rollback bill, State Rep. Chuck Nergard said Tuesday.

Rep. Nergard who is in Tallahassee for the 1976 Legislative session telephoned The Mirror Tuesday morning announcing the decision by the senators.

The senators believe that no limit should be placed on local govern

Spinney: no more burning

JENSEN BEACH–There will be no more burning of any kind until we get some rain, Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department Chief Randolph Spinney said Monday.

We have had two small brush fires recently, but nothing serious, the chief said.

ment by the Legislature, Nergard said.

Nergard was hoping to get the bill on the Sept. 9 primary ballot so that the measure could be continued for the two counties.

Contacted in his Tallahassee office, state Sen. Phil Lewis said:

Nergard's statement that the three senators have taken position against the millage rollback bill is true.

Lewis said the senators should not impose or interfere in local government affairs. Local governments are local elected people and the senators think that a local government matter should be decided locally.

A 10 mill cap imposed by the state is really telling local elected people how to run their business, business that should stay in local hands, Lewis said.

Another reason cited by Lewis is that the state cannot anticipate problems that could arise on the local level due to putting a limit on how much money the local government may raise.

Lewis stated the fact that the Martin County school system had money because of the rollback measure.

Former Martin County commissioner and now Mayor of Sewall's Point, said he was opposed to continuation of the bill.

It is a poorly drawn bill and it did more harm than good, Gluckler said. It almost wrecked the school system finances.

Nobody wants a tax increase but the County Commission has done a good job of holding taxes down, Gluckler continued. It is the property assessment increases that has caused the problem.

I opposed the bill as a commissioner and I'm opposed to it as a mayor, Gluckler said.

Commissioner Russ Philbrick was the only county commissioner available Tuesday for comment on the measure.

I think the commission could live with it, Philbrick noted. I think we should look at it on a year-to-year basis but I'm in favor of continuing the measure.

A referendum on the bill would pass, Philbrick said.

The bill was approved by both counties in 1974. In Martin, 7,882 voters favored the bill with 1,724 opposed.

In St. Lucie, 7,628 votes were cast in favor of the provision and 2,681 opposed.

Nergard had proposed some amendments to the bill exempting the school system from the measure was the main amendment.

Another amendment would enable a local governing body, if it feels its constituency opposed the bill, to remove itself from the bill's provision by holding an election.

The bill generally restricts local governments from increasing taxation by more than 10 per cent per year.

Planners returning

Traffic is big problem

JENSEN BEACH–The ... concerns of residents in the north Martin County area seems to be the traffic problem, county planner Tom Mumford said Friday.

Mumford made that observation after the Martin County Planning Department held three public hearings, Jensen Beach, Rio and North River Shores, on their progress of developing a comprehensive plan for the area.

Each area has its own specific problem, Mumford said, but the traffic situation appears to be their main concern.

Planning Director Kris Schenk, Mumford and other members of the department will return to the area for other meetings with the residents.

They will be at Rio Civic Club at ... p.m. today, Wednesday, April ... and at First Federal Savings and Loan Association Building in Jensen Beach Wednesday, April 21.

A second meeting was held in North River Shores Monday, April 5.

Mumford noted that two or three alternatives on an issue will be made by the Planning Department at the second meetings with possible modifications following the public meetings.

We will ask for modifications from the public to the alternate plans we offer, Mumford said.

After reviewing his notes of the three meetings, Mumford pointed out that in Jensen Beach there was concern expressed by residents about the traffic coming off the causeway.

Also it was the excess traffic on AR 707 and in North River Shores the residents expressed concern about exiting and entering U.S. 1 from their area.

All three areas expressed the need for bike paths linking the communities and the three communities noted the need for regulating the opening of Roosevelt Bridge on U.S. 1, Mumford said.

At the Jensen Beach hearing last week, Realtor Ransom Tilton ... noting the causeway problem, said:

It's a big traffic problem.

Tilton proposed construction of a road heading straight west from the causeways and then curving south to meet SR 707A somewhere west of the Winn Dixie Shopping Center.

There were other road proposals for the Jensen Beach area including one by John Heyborn, a road paralleling Savanna Road south from Commercial Street to intersect SR 707 somewhere in Rio.

Ledan Heights residents also noted the need for another road out of the subdivision on South Savanna Road, a road running behind Jensen Beach Elementary School to connect with Skyline Drive, or a railroad ... overpass to connect with Saints Acres Road east to Indian River Drive.

There were discussions on whether or not more mobile homes should be built or single home development and should there be more industry.

It was noted by Schenk that a large impact will be coming to Jensen Beach from the development of Port St. Lucie to the north. The development of Port St. Lucie will be the biggest single influence on the Jensen area.

Chamber agenda

JENSEN BEACH–The Fourth of July schedule is one of the items on the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce agenda slated for discussion at the 7:30 p.m. April 12 meeting.

Other items on the agenda include plaques for members, Eugene Peer's report on the planning and zoning committee and appointment of a treasurer.

Nergard offers phone service

JENSEN BEACH–State Rep. Chuck Nergard said his Fort Pierce office will be closed through the 1976 Legislative session.

My local office telephone will be placed on answering service, and anyone wishing to contact me can either call 461-0295 and leave a message or call collect in Tallahassee 904-488-1798, Nergard said.

Nergard, who represents the Jensen Beach area, and St. Lucie County, also announced that he may be reached by writing to his Tallahassee office:

Room 320 House Office Building Tallahassee, Fl. 32304

Businessmen agree on local planning

JENSEN BEACH–A proper mix of zoning categories to guarantee a future balanced growth of Jensen Beach was favored over the bedroom community concept in a meeting of local businessmen Tuesday morning.

The meeting of the Jensen Beach Breakfast Club attended by Jensen businessmen was devoted to the comprehensive planning of Jensen Beach with discussion centering around what the residents hoped would be the future of the area.

Gene Peer, chairman of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce planning and zoning committee, capsulized the meeting telling the members that they seemed to agree on a broad plan that could leave room for light industry, business and commercial areas and residential development in the north county area that would balance future growth.

Concern for road planning, traffic control and centralized shopping areas were expressed, so that the Chamber would have the feelings of the businessmen in planning appearances before meetings of the county now being held on master planning of the northeast county area.

Another meeting is planned for April 20 by the businessmen at which time the county planner, Chris Schenk, will be invited to appear.

Shopping center, bank expansion is planned

JENSEN BEACH–The expansion of Savannas Shopping Center and the site for a proposed branch of First National Bank and Trust of Martin County were assured Tuesday with the sale of a tract of land 300 by 290 feet on Commercial Street west of the center.

Half of the 80-foot road frontage on Commercial will be used for expansion of the center.

The purchase of the western half was made in anticipation of approval by the Controller of Currency in Washington of an application by First National for a branch in Jensen Beach under a branch bank law that is due to go into effect next January.

Total purchase price was $120,000 from Ruth M. Milazzo.

DAVID KENNY

veloper files damage suit

SEN BEACH–Floyd Voight, ger of the Dolphins Bay minium on Jensen Beach ny, has filed a $2 million ge suit against a resident of the project

The developer claims the resident has deliberately hurt sales of the condominium units.

Dolphins Bay resident O.R. McGuire, Jr., filed suit earlier against Voight seeking more than $300,000 damages because, he said, the developer began selling the units under a time-sharing plan which enables buyers to purchase use of the apartment for as short a time as one week per year.

In addition to filing the suit and a warning to potential buyers of units in courthouse records, Voight charges that McGuire posted a copy of the suit on property at Dolphins Bay "with intent to cause the plaintiffs irreparable harm and damage in the sale of condominium apartments."

McGuire complains in his original suit that the time-sharing plan in effect turns Dolphins Bay into a motel-like facility for transients.

Kenny, Desfonds share player of the week

BY DONNIE WILKIE

JENSEN BEACH–Many people felt at the start of the season that the 1976 campaign would be the most evenly balanced and most exciting one ever seen at Langford Park.

They were so right.

As a matter of fact, it is so well balanced that The Mirror is finding it very difficult to select one player each week to be the Player of the Week. Therefore, we have named two players as Co-Players of the Week, as a result of their outstanding play for the week of March 29-April 3.

This week's players are David Kenny, a Pony Leaguer playing for the Lions Club and Mark Desfonds, a Bronco Leaguer donating his talents to Ray Cooke's.

Kenny had a sensational game last Saturday night, although it was perhaps one particular play that gave him the honors. In the first inning of his game against the Elks, Kenny drove a 1-2 pitch about as far as anyone ever has on Field No. 3, or the Cow Pasture. "It probably would have hit the house, there are four or five houses around the outside of the field; but it hit some wires in the air," remarked Kenny, who in the process became the first player this year to hit it out of the park. "I didn't know it was gone until I got to third. I guess I just hit it and ran."

In the game, Kenny had, besides the homer, two doubles, and also knocked in four runs. His team lost however, 13-7, as a result of the Elks' 10 runs in the last 3 innings.

The other player receiving Mirror honors this week was Mark Desfonds, who had a great week in the Bronco League, for Ray Cooke's Septic Tank Service. In his game Saturday, Desfonds, playing against VFW, doubled, tripled and homered. In his other game last week, he was 2-2. Thus, on the the week, he was 5 for 6, with two singles, a double, a triple, and a home run.

Other standouts for the week were Daryl Baker and Wilfred Wiley. Baker doubled, tripled and homered in his game, while Wiley leads the Mustang League in home runs (2), and also has pitched well, holding a 2-0 record for Aycock's.

Fishing report

JENSEN BEACH–The numbers of fishermen and fish caught registered at the Snook Nook during the past two weeks indicate that fishing's been pretty good.

Joe and Irene Pinder used kroks to take 48 blues from the surf. Adam and Sophie Lojewski had 85 whiting and croaker and a pompano on shrimp.

Fred Hein changed off with plugs and kroks for a total of 92 blues and Joe Tromba caught 72 blues. Fred Muller used plugs and cut bait to catch 43 blues. Don Beal had 11 blues, John Sawicki, 25 blues. Vi and H. Terpenning, 8 blues, and Walter Neff had 33 blues in a couple of outings.

Felix and Irene Battista caught 13 blues on ribbon fish; James Allen, 15 blues; John Sullivan, 13 blues; Lee Stall, 10 blues; Cy Stremple, 22 blues; Ruth and Spencer Eddy, 22 blues.

Steve Cidlowski had two trout, one at six pounds, one at 10 pounds. Bob Carruthers caught 5 trout, and 3 snook on plugs. Tony Sallazzo had a 7½-lb. trout, teamed up with Bob Sallazzo for 2 dolphin and a red snapper, caught on mullet, and outside with Dan Stone on Monday, trolled Ballyhoo for 2 dolphin.

Ernie Cantelmo tried it offshore and landed a 26½-lb. wahoo on a "C" Witch and Ballyhoo. Daniel Hodge caught a 9¾-lb. trout on a Mirrorlure. Russ Bolton and Mr. Hinchliffe took 4 snook, 4 snapper and a jack from the South Fork. Mrs. Reg Branson caught 5 trout, using shrimp, and Jack and Duane Myers had 1 channel bass, 2 trout, 1 sheepshead and a lady fish.

George Rae, Jamey Peeples and Ron Blakeney teamed up Sunday for 3 trout and 4 red fish. Jimmy and Paul Klett, out with their father on The Snook Nook II, caught 96 ribbons on cut bait.

Dick London used a Blue Worm to take a nice 8-lb. bass from the Savannas on Thursday. Bret McClure brought in 2 snook, a 25-pounder and a 15-pounder.

Bob and Patty West caught 35 whiting on clams. Goldie Hughes had 20 whiting and yellowtails, also taken on clams. Leo DiStefano had 7 blues. A. Wise, 20 blues. Arden Berry, 6 blues. Don Finch, 6 blues. Charles Spratlin, 33 blues. Ray Garlock, 39 blues, caught on kroks. John Mirayia had 7 blues. John Reuter and A.G. Plumb each caught a jack. Walter Lindell, 2 blues. Al Kroll, a jack, and Russ Bolton, Bob Thomas and Bob Bocs caught 4 snook, 3 jack and 5 snapper.

Ed LoGrasso caught a trout; Reg Branson, 2 trout; Dale and Hank Green, 1 channel bass, one snook and a trout; Art Barnard, 12 blues; Paul Wolf, 12 blues; Bruce Meier, 7 blues; Frank Morgan, 6 blues; LoGrasso and Venturi, an 18-lb grouper; George Shimp, 9 blues; Sandy Adair, 2 trout.

Clarence Thomas caught one 10-lb. blue; Martin Karcher, 4 trout to 7 pounds; Ed Brady, 4 channel bass and an 8½-lb. trout; Dr. George and Nancy Sypert, out with Russ Bolton, had 6 snook, 2 jack and a snapper.

Captain Ralph and Ruth Burns, outside on the "Ruth B", trolled mullet and caught an 8 5½' sailfish. Fred Dushanek hit the surf for 15 blues and caught 2 trout in the river.

Bridge angler Steve Steele had 13 trout and 2 mackerel on shrimp. Charlie Kessler had 3 trout to 13 pounds, 1 flounder and a sheepshead, and he and Ted Kessler caught 2 trout to 9 pounds, one snook and a snapper.

Charlie Krow had 7 trout; Duck White, 23 trout and a mackerel; Ed Wagner, 19 trout and 7 channel bass; Wagner and Pat Paterson, 25 trout, 1 channel bass and a 12-lb. snook; and Paterson had 2 trout.

Port St. Lucie committees
apparently lack the confidence of the appointing agency and their reports are subject to criticism, amendment and even rejection sometimes before they have been received. Communications between the committees and the appointing agency are frequently carried on through the news media. The net result is a growing tendency among the many able Port St. Lucie citizens to reject appointment and to resign from existing assignments rather than be subjected to negative administrative comments.

Monday, April 5th, is the date set for electing the new city officers for 1976-77. Many loyal citizens of Port St. Lucie would applaud the choice of a mature, experienced council member who could command the respect from council, the committee members and the community and would provide positive, progressive leadership for a city that wants to grow up.

We are tired of "kid stuff" in City Hall.

Sincerely,
/s/ Vaughn Erwin
Secretary
PSL Planning and Zoning Board
302 SE Verada Ave
Port St. Lucie, Fl.

To the Editor

I am writing to you in reference to the horrible atrocities that are being brought against Christian Witnesses of Jehovah in the African country of Malawi.

I am hopeful that you will print this in hope that the public will read it and respond by writing to the government of Malawi urging them to stop these horrible atrocities.

As a human being it is astounding to think that these people who are God fearing, law abiding peaceful people are being beaten, raped and murdered, all with the approval of the government because they will not buy a twenty five cent political card which would violate their Christian consciences which dictate that they remain neutral in the affairs of the world just as Jesus did when he was on earth.

I appeal to you to please bring this to the attention of your readers and help these people to live again in peace, enjoying the promised freedom of religion guaranteed by the Malawi constitution.

Thank you for your time and consideration of this matter.

Sincerely,
John F. Wynne

To the Editor

At the conclusion of my term as Publicity Chairman on behalf of the Jensen Beach Garden Club I wish to express our appreciation for the coverage of our many events of the past year.

Especially I wish to thank Mr. Gates for the pictures and editorials covering our progress with the re-landscaping of the Arch our Bicentennial Project. Through his efforts and ours we feel we have contributed a highly successful year.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Arthur C. Mills Jr.
Publicity Chairman

Lake Manor

BY SUE FAUSMAN 334-6792

We're happy to report that Mary Bisticcis is home from the hospital. Carl Roman also is again at home.

Bill Davenport is still in Martin Memorial, but showing improvement.

It is nice to see Jack and Alice Hill, Glenn Oakes and Howard Fenech out again after a long bout with the flu.

On Thursday night, April 1, our social community meeting was held. The meeting was opened by Bob Hill, chairman. Minutes were read by Marie Bradley and accepted. The slate of the nominating committee, Russ Allgaier and Dick Hall reported they were successful in recruiting George Marsh and Pat Scrivens co-chairmen for the ensuing year. Marie Bradley will stay on as secretary. Several reports were given one by Dick Bradley, president of Lake Manor Inc.

Erma Rehsen has had her friend Virginia Covarrubias from Columbus, Ohio with her for about ten days.

Monday night the 29th bridge winners were Lee King, 1st; Madeleine Ballanz 2nd.

Thursday afternoon, April 1 bridge winners were Dot Beamer 1st; Madeleine Ballanz, 2nd.

Three game winners at shuffleboard on March 22nd was Jim Williams and on March 29th Walter Alwood.

Ringo on March 22nd was called by Bob McCourt and Pat Scrivens to a small group. On April 2nd Harry Brenner and Pat Scriven called to a group of twenty.

Our most sincere sympathy is extended to the family of Marion Burke who passed away on April 3rd in New York state. Matt and Ann Burke live at Tonawand, N.Y.

The new flag looks just great flying in the breeze as I see it from a vantage point in my kitchen. I'm proud to live under the American Flag.

Take care of yourselves and help keep peace.

Jensen students get degrees

JENSEN BEACH—Two Jensen Beach students were among the 1,292 receiving degrees at the University of Florida's winter commencement last month.

Receiving degrees were William Gary Dedaker and Richard Lee Pauly.

Sewing class is scheduled

STUART—Indian River Community College will be offering a full schedule of sewing classes this summer, ranging from classes for beginners to pattern drafting for the advanced. The courses will be offered at the Roseh man Site of IRCC in Stuart and taught by Mrs. Vera Traversa.

The Intermediate Sewing class starting May 18 from 1 to 4 p.m. and May 19 from 7 to 10 p.m. includes altering patterns to individual measurements and construction techniques required by the various types of fabrics and styles of garments as chosen by the students.

AIRPORT–The small island of Antigua has an international airport that is the center of island commerce and much international travel

THE HARBOR–Many sailboats dot the harbor at Antigua a center for Caribbean sailing. Modern homes built on the hills in the background, contrast sharply with the sixteenth century fort at the Admiral's Dockyard.

ADMIRAL'S DOCKYARD–These great pillars once held a roof that covered the warships of Admiral Nelson's Caribbean fleet. The dockyard is being restored as a historical monument

Our Caribbean neighbors

Antigua must be British, with all the charm exact

BY DICK CAMPBELL

Editor Dick Campbell and his wife Sally a travel agent recently took a ten day vacation trip to the Caribbean. This is the third in a series of articles about their Caribbean neighbors.

ANTIGUA, W.I.–It's no wonder that the British Navy of Admiral Nelson controlled the nautical seas of the Caribbean. There is no better vistas than from the high mountains of Antigua (pronounced An-tee-ga).

And no more protected harbor than Nelson's Dockyard, once the central operations point of the British Navy in the West Indies.

But if you are one another surprise commercial of the Holiday Inn we will remember Antigua.

The rolling mountains range from sparse rain land on the east to luxuriant tree filled valleys of rainforests to the west.

Goats and fat cattle munch on the rich grasslands and the islanders speak the crisp and exact English that only the British can.

Now franchises from the Holiday Inn on Antigua have not been reviewed by most travel agents and we didn't know that the gambling casino that made it famous had moved to the center of the island an over ten mile cab drive away.

The Holiday Inn is beautiful, spacious with clean rooms in the Holiday Inn tradition. It is completely staffed.

There were eight people in the movie out when we arrived for Saturday night the band, ten pieces playing excellent music both jazz and calypso outnumbered the guests on the spacious dining room.

It is not an inn that you would pass by and say "Let's stay there tonight." It is on the far east tip, the end of the road, on Antigua, placed on a spit of land, and all resort extras are give paid. Time sail cat and lack of use had frozen the fish and shower fixtures.

Trade winds blow, but the beach on the leeward side is perfect for sunning or bathing protected by the reef. All services continue, though few visitors are there.

It was a shame to see so fine an inn with no guests.

It was the Admiral's Dockyard that charmed us.

Stately sailing vessels, hanging at anchor or tied to docks of the gorgeous, coral green, English Harbor.

Where once Admiral Nelson planned his naval maneuvers, a small, glorified restaurant serves excellent meals in the tradition of the olden days.

The one time has fourteen rooms in the main building, decorated as of old, and Mrs. Charles Hump handles all guests as she would the royal visitors from Britain who have come to the island.

While dining we met a couple from Connecticut, Jane friends of Lenny and Helen Wainstaff of Newall's Point.

Outside the restaurant on a terrace where guests sat and relaxed the evening breezes, a steel band played island music.

The dockyard is now an historical installation, being restored to its one time glorious manner. The inn is built of ballast from yesterday's men-of-war.

We hired a cab for the afternoon $30, and had a tour of the small villages, the mountain peaks and ruins until the rain forced our taxi driver, Patrick, was hesitant to speak of island politics but the signs scrawled on concrete walls told a story.

We want jobs and Workers Unite indicated that the people were tuned and about the sperm parliament rising from the abandonment of sugar cane growing. It was Saturday, but there was more than a day off lounging in the attitudes of the people standing around talking as we passed on the tour.

We have a new labor government, Pat said. We must give them time to see if they can do something. Pat was an enterprising guest, and had his own cab, which he rented with the hour.

Another driver I talked with was more explicit.

The other government was created. The former government may get in and for doing equivalent that he fought with our money. The new government is trying to get back the sugar cane so the people can have jobs, he said.

Thus Antigua faced similar problems as St. Croix and Guadeloupe jobs for the people due to the phasing out of sugar cane growing.

A standard of contrasts, differing from neighboring Virgin Islands is Guadeloupe French and Montserrat, U.K., Antigua offers the most out approach of the British heritage in island beauty and an experience to be treasured in memories.

TOM HOLMES–has been named Office Manager of Chase Federal's Ocean East Mall location which is slated to open in October. He is a native of Buffalo, New York, and a graduate of State University of New York. The Ocean East Mall office of Chase Federal will be the seventeenth regional location in the Association's three county system.

Tough decision for judges

JENSEN BEACH–Perhaps the toughest job for Met Tournament judges following the close of annual competition on April 18 will be picking the winner of the Women's Achievement Trophy.

Sponsored by Cheeca Lodge of Islamorada this trophy honors outstanding overall angling performance by a woman in the Met. Already there are seven top-notch contenders — three of them with world record and Met record catches.

Latest to join the record ranks was Martha Frasch of Easton, Ct. whose 92-pound 13 ounce tarpon is the largest yet taken anywhere on 6 pound line. Besides that, her Met score shows 13 citation-size catches in four different light tackle divisions plus 37 releases.

Mary Bartz of Marathon has a world record 77-pound 8-ounce permit on 6-pound line. An avid flats-angler and winner of the Bonefish Release Trophy in the Met a year ago Mrs. Bartz has posted 27 bonefish releases and 2 permit releases in the current tournament.

In a blitz of cobia Mrs. William DuVal of Richmond, Va. landed two of world record size (for women) a 55 pounder on 6-pound line and a 56 pounder on 12. She released 10 other cobia and posted a hefty 19 pound, 4 ounce blackfin tuna in the 12 pound line class.

Key West resident Suzanne Dalrymple is in strong contention with 13 citation catches for eight species of game fish in six different divisions. Backed by 26 releases of kingfish mackerel, grouper, African pompano and barracuda.

All four winners have chosen Key West and the Lower Keys as their fishing grounds.

Two strong contenders who live in Tavernier and fish in that area of the Upper Keys are Sandie Richmond and Ruth Stoke. Mrs. Richmond has a 64 pound sailfish on a 20-pound line, a 49 pound sail on 12 pound, a 14 pound 8 ounce bonito on 12 pound, and 17 sailfish releases. Mrs. Stoke's five exceptionally large citation catches include two tournament leaders a 52 pound amberjack in the spinning division, and a 27 pound dolphin in the 6-pound class. She also has a 60-pound amberjack on 12 pound line which just missed the Met lead in that category.

The only serious challenger from outside the Keys seems to be Mrs. Midge Daly of Yarmouth, Port Mass., who fished the Palm Beach area and collected 42 sailfish releases (along with a 74 pound white marlin and a 61 pound sailfish both on 16 pound line and entered in the Unlimited Division. She seems a sure bet to take the Sailfish Release Trophy sponsored by the Rod and Reel Club of Miami Beach.

AARP meets April 15

JENSEN BEACH–Martin County Chapter 2223 AARP – American Association of Retired Persons will meet in regular session at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, April 15 in the Stuart Woman's Club Auditorium on East Ocean Boulevard.

This is a new member orientation meeting and an AARP 16mm color sound movie will be shown. Winner of the name contest will be announced.

Members are reminded to return the filled-out survey forms

April workshop cancelled

STUART–The scheduled workshop series on "Teach Your Child to Talk" has been cancelled for the month of April.

The workshop for the month of May, which begins on Wednesday, May 12, will be given as scheduled at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, E. Ocean Blvd. at 7:30 p.m.

There is no charge for these workshops offered by the Martin County speech and hearing clinicians.

Birthday Greetings

JENSEN BEACH–Best wishes and congratulations are extended this week to the following birthday people:

Anne and Nick Fiara, celebrating April 8. Jean Quinn and Signe Morris, April 9. Frank Forsberg and Ruby Tripp, April 10.

Dorothy Hunter's day is April 11. Ralph Scott, April 12. Ruth Bowman and Myra McDaniel, April 13, and Val Manwaring, J.M. Fowler and John Driscoll, April 14.

Have a happy day!

Mike Lowe benefit April 15

JENSEN BEACH–A Skate-A-Thon for the benefit of Mike Lowe will be held Thursday, April 15 from 12 noon to 12 midnight.

The event will take place at Whitey & Marie's Skating Rink on S. Dixie Highway in Stuart.

Lecture April 9

JENSEN BEACH–Richard Wade will give an illustrated lecture on Thermonuclear Fusion and Laser at the Ralph Evinrude Science Building at F.I.T. in Jensen Beach on Friday, April 9 at 7:45 p.m.

The meeting is open to the public and is one of a series of free lectures sponsored by CURE (Citizens United against Radioactive Environment).

Jam Session Sunday

JENSEN BEACH–Thirty musicians, including eight new faces, under the direction of Wendell Halverson, will set the mood for the Spring Jam Session, coming up at the V.F.W. Post on Sunday.

The menu offers prime rib, baked potato and all the trimmings. The public is invited.

Area students on Dean's list

JENSEN BEACH–Three Jensen Beach students were among the more than 3,000 students at Florida State University to be on the dean's list for the winter quarter.

The dean's list students are Ellen Bocchino, David Deer and April Tomasi.

Orchid Society Show Sunday

STUART–"A Spring Affair" is the theme of the Martin County Orchid Society's show to be held Palm Sunday, April 11, at the Little Loutre Studio and Gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Stafford in Snug Harbour.

The event will be open free to the public from 2 to 5 p.m., featuring group arrangements of blooming orchid plants, niche displays on an Easter theme, and orchid paintings.

All blooming plants from members are welcome on Saturday, April 10, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Society members will be on hand to greet visitors and show them around the garden area of the Stafford grounds, which incidentally, is the site of the spring orchid show for the fourth year.

The Little Loutre Studio and Gardens is located at 300 S.E. St. Lucie Boulevard, Snug Harbour.

VENTURE HARBOUR NEWS
By Jessie Shaver

Fran Tener had an interesting letter from Helen Frederickson. She is touring the Middle East and says it is very exciting with unbelievable sights that one should see once but once is enough. The trip to Fez was most exciting as the countryside is so beautiful. Fez was celebrating Mohammed's birthday so there were many parades dances etc. to see. The weather was very cool there.

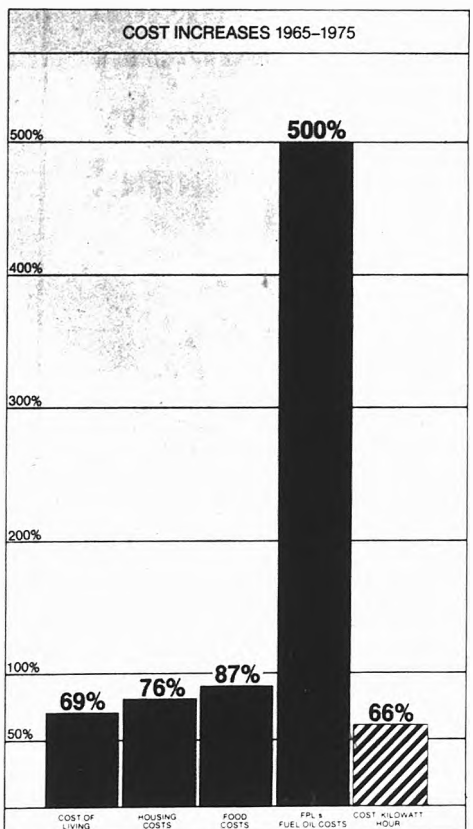
How does the rising cost of electricity compare with other rising costs?



Sources: Bureau of Labor Statistics, and FPL Records.

In the past ten years inflation has caused the price of practically everything to zoom upwards — just take a look at the chart on the left.

Today, we all have to dig 87% deeper into our pockets for food and 76% deeper for housing. The cost of living, in general, has jumped 69%.

Our costs at FPL have jumped, too. The price of wooden poles, the price of copper wire, the price of trucks — in fact, as we said, the price of practically everything, is up.

The biggest increase of all is the astronomical 500% increase in fuel oil costs. A result of the international oil crisis.

These severe cost increases have necessitated two general rate increases (in 1971 and 1975), the only two in FPL's 50 year history.

As much as we regret the need for any increases, we are gratified that the cost of electricity including the fuel adjustment charge has risen less than the cost of living over the past ten years.

FPL, by the way, doesn't keep a cent of the fuel adjustment charge. It all goes towards paying the extra cost of fuel.

One reason we've been able to keep costs from going higher is nuclear generated power. It's the most economical source of energy available to us today. Last year alone, it saved our customers over $161 million in fuel oil costs.

And to hold costs down even more we're building additional nuclear power plants.

As a matter of fact, at FPL we're doing everything we can to help keep costs down.

But you can help, too. Because the average homeowner has doubled the use of electricity in the past ten years. There are many ways you can cut down usage without sacrifice of convenience and comfort. Pick up a free copy of our Watt Watchers Guide at any FPL office for ways to control your electricity costs through wise usage.

Sharpe, Rose, Kernohan to retain city posts

PORT ST. LUCIE–The election of city officials during Monday's re-organizational meeting held no surprises for those attending the special session as Schuyler Sharpe, Frank Rose and Lolita Kernohan retained the city's top posts.

The entire session appeared to be a re-play of the previous year when Rose nominated Sharpe for mayor and Kernohan as city treasurer.

The next move was made by Kernohan who in turn nominated Rose as vice-mayor.

Rumbles of disappointment were heard throughout the crowded city hall as the posts were quickly filled.

The only other nomination was made by Councilman Larry Kimmel who placed the name of Bill McChesney in the ring for the mayor's post.

The nomination of Donna Baggan to retain her position as city clerk received the one and only unanimous vote of the brief session.

The oath of office was administered by the city clerk to the three top officials during a special session conducted Tuesday morning prior to the regular council workshop session. City Administrator Elmer Cox administered the oath to Ms. Baggan.

Millage rollback bill loses senate support

PORT ST. LUCIE–The millage rollback bill for Martin and St. Lucie counties is apparently dead.

The three state senators from Palm Beach County who represent the two counties are going to let the measure die a natural death June 30.

The three senators have told me that they will not support a millage rollback bill... State Rep. Chuck Nergard said Tuesday.

Rep. Nergard who is in Tallahassee for the 1976 Legislative session, telephoned The Mirror Tuesday morning announcing the decision by the senators.

The senators believe that no limit should be placed on local governments for the Legislature, Nergard said.

Nergard was hoping to get the bill on the Sept. 7 primary ballot so that the measure could be construed for the two counties.

Contacted in his Tallahassee office, State Sen. Phil Lewis said, Nergard's statement that the three senators have taken position against the millage rollback bill is true.

Lewis said the other senators, Harry Johnston and Dan Childers, concur with his views.

Lewis said the senators should not impose or interfere on local government affairs. Local governments are local elected people and the senators think that a local government matter should be decided locally.

"A mill cap imposed by the state is really telling local elected people how to run their business, business that should stay on local hands, Lewis said.

Another reason cited by Lewis is that the state cannot anticipate problems that could arise on the local level due to putting a limit on how much money the local government may raise.

Lewis cited the fact that the Martin County school system just wasn't because of the rollback measure.

Former Martin County Commissioner and now Mayor of Sewall's Point, said he was opposed to continuation of the bill.

"It is a poorly-drawn bill and it did more harm than good. Counties

Little League announces 9th annual summer camp

PORT ST. LUCIE–Little League Baseball announced its ninth annual Summer Camp in St. Petersburg, with three sessions offered. The first session begins June 20, the second on July 4, and the final session on July 18.

The camp is open to boys ages 9 through 15 years, who like to play baseball. Every approved method and technique which has been found acceptable for this age group is used by an outstanding staff of instructors and counselors, according to Arnold White, Little League's Southern Regional Director. He adds that test scores show that campers during the past eight years have increased their individual skills by from 15 to as much as 50 percent.

Five baseball diamonds, batting cages and tunnels, pitching guides and other modern approved facilities are being groomed and made ready for boys who want to improve their baseball skills, and at the same time enjoy a happy camping experience. All of the dormitories, a dining and recreation, as well as conference rooms are air conditioned.

Full details are available from local Little League organizations or by contacting Little League Baseball at P.O. Box 1266, St. Petersburg, Fl. 33733.

Parents and boys are invited to visit the facility at 658 58th Street South in St. Petersburg. A complete resume of the daily schedules at the camp will be discussed.

Park lighting bid is approved

PORT ST. LUCIE–The lighting of Spectsman Park ... [illegible] ... Tuesday after the City Council agreed to accept the bid of a Stuart electrical firm to perform the installation.

Although four firms picked up the lighting specifications for the Park project, only the D.J. Harmon Company of Stuart submitted a bid.

According to City Administrator Elmer Cox, Harmon will furnish both labor and materials for a total of $13,100. Harmon estimates the project will take four to six weeks to complete.

Work is expected to start within ...

Bass sheds light on city

...ORT ST. LUCIE–St. Lucie ...ties Tax Appraiser James Bass ...as hired at the council workshop ...ion Tuesday to answer the ...ions and discuss the feasibility ...placing certain city street lighting ...osts on the 1976 tax rolls.

...Although Bass told his listeners he ...ad known no problems with the ...istricts involved, he did ...xpress concern over the possibility ...of the city creating numerous ...lighting districts.

...At the point the city has several ...districts available for the billing of ...ighting. Presently the residents ...of the districts are billed annually by ...the city tax staff.

...If the decision is made to collect ...through the county, with a continued ...(or enhanced) Bass said his ...office would extend the charge on ...the tax bill in this manner every ...year.

...Bass explained that a ...resident would be charged the same ...fee.

...The other option, according to ...Bass, would be to make the districts ...a part of the ad valorem taxes. While ...Bass was reluctant to quote figures, ...he estimated a price of 24½ cents ...per thousand dollar valuation on the ...property.

...According to City Administrator ...Elmer Cox, the services could be ...performed by the county at ...considerable savings to the city.

...Cox is expected to present the ...entire proposal to the Council during ...the next regular session.

...To have the lighting districts ...included on the 1976 tax rolls, the ...necessary data must be furnished to ...the St. Lucie County Tax Appraiser's office within the next six ...weeks.

Holmes was guest speaker at Republican Club

...ORT ST. LUCIE–The general ...eeting of the Port St. Lucie ...Republican Club was held on ...Tuesday, April 6 with featured speaker ...for the evening was James Holmes ...executive vice president of the Ft. ...Pierce St. Lucie County Chamber of ...Commerce.

...Holmes touched on many areas ...including the ability of a community ...to encourage manufacturing development while preserving its beauty and liveability. The functions of the Chamber in legislative and governmental affairs, and the service provided as a clearinghouse for consumer complaints.

...Jack LaFrance, program chairman asked all members to respond to Representative Nergard's questionnaire as published and to be sure he is answered.

Lawn party fetes guests

...ORT ST. LUCIE–Mr. and Mrs. ...Sheehan were hosts at a ...lawn party last week in ...honor of their house guests Mr. and ...Mrs. James Ramsey of Hillsdale, ...New Jersey, and Mary Simon of ...Lafayette, Louisiana.

...Walt and Jo Walker ...played their three-manual theatre ...pipe organ in the Sheehan home to enable ...them to play a concert for more ...than 100 visiting neighbors.

...Walker accompanied by Bill ...Schaffle on the drums, then ...featured music for the dancing ...enjoyment of the guests. Barbershop ...harmony prevailed through the ...evening, led by Paul Sheehan of the ...Mariners.

...Mrs. Sheehan, former president of ...the Welcome Wagon of Port St. ...Lucie, stated that was the first ...open house or block party" ever held in Port St. Lucie adding that she hopes other sections of the community will unite for gatherings of this type, exemplifying the true spirit of friendliness and sociability."

PSL-RP Homeowners to meet Thursday

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Port St. Lucie-River Park Homeowners Association will meet Thursday, April 8, at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Center (CESA).

General Development Utilities President Harold E. Schmidt is scheduled to speak to the local residents regarding the firm's proposed hike in sanitary sewer and water rates.

According to George Jacobi, vice-president of the group, a question and answer period will follow Schmidt's presentation.

The proposed rate increase has been a major concern of a representative group comprised of members from the city's three homeowner associations and the Civic League.

Wilson, O'Beirne lead SLCC women

PORT ST. LUCIE–A partners fun tournament was the play of the day when the St. Lucie Country Club Women's Golf Association met at the Sandpiper Resort last week.

Partners, four clubs, plus putter with alternate shots were the rules of the day and the winners of the event are as follows.

Top honors went to Wilson - O'Beirne with a 61. Nardone - Dunlop 62. McDaniel - Roberts 63½. Hudock - Casentino 65½, and Giuliano - Waldbillig 66.

Let us Worship Together at Easter

JENSEN BEACH–Area churches are going all out to present special services in this Holy Week culminating in joyous celebration on Easter.

All Saints Episcopal Church as Holy Eucharist at 8:30 and 10 a.m. Maundy Thursday, The Maundy Watch from 10:40 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. and Sung Eucharist at 7:30 p.m., followed by the Stripping of the Altar.

Good Friday will be observed at All Saints with a three hour service from 12 noon to 3 p.m., featuring addresses by the Rt. Rev. Wallace E. Conkling D.D. Holy Saturday Confessions will be heard by Bishop Conkling from 4 to 5 p.m. and by the Rector from 7 to 8 p.m.

Easter Day will begin with a 6 a.m. Sunrise Eucharist. At 7:30 a.m. there will be Holy Eucharist; Solemn High Mass and Procession at 9:15 a.m., and Sung Eucharist at 11 a.m. Carolyn Fitzgerald will sing "I Know that My Redeemer Liveth" at the 9:15 and 11 a.m. services.

The Jensen Beach Christian Church is doing the Sunrise Service at Ocean Breeze Park, 7:30 a.m., and will have an Easter Service and Communion with special music in the sanctuary at 10:30 a.m., according to Reverend Milton Fronsoe, pastor.

Trinity United Methodist Church and Prince of Peace Lutheran Church have planned a joing Maundy Thursday Service at the church on Arch Street, and both pastors will participate in an Easter union service at 8:30 a.m. Easter morning.

Reverend Clark Thompson will lead the 6 a.m. Sunrise Service at the Holiday Out Pavillion Church. Hot cross buns will be served at a fellowship period at 10:30 a.m. at the church, followed by the regular worship hour at 11 a.m.

Jensen Beach Community Church offers three identical Easter services at 7:30, 9 and 11 a.m. Special music climaxing with the joyous Hallelua Chorus will be presented by the combined choirs.

Maundy Thursday will be commemorated at Community with a 7:30 p.m. Communion and Tenebrae service. "The Passion According to St. Matthew" by Bach will be performed by the Martin County Community Choir under the direction of Don Carpp at a 1 p.m. Good Friday observance.

First Baptist Church of Jensen Beach plans a regular service at the church at 11 a.m. An Easter Cantata, "Behold Your King" by John W. Peterson, will be presented by the choir at 7 p.m., directed by Roger L. Harrington of the Indian River Baptist Association.

Reverend Hazlett of First Baptist will conduct a 6 a.m. Sunrise Service at Windmill Village on Hutchinson Island.

The Nettles Island Worship Service and First Baptist Church of Stuart present a Sunrise Service at Outdoor Resort Ocean Beach at 6 a.m., with message by L.C. Campbell, music by the Joint Heirs and soloist Bobby Lord.

Redeemer Lutheran Church, East Ocean Blvd., Stuart, has a Maundy Thursday Service of Holy Communion at 7:30 p.m. and the sanctuary will be open all day Good Friday for private meditation, climaxed with a 7:30 p.m. Tenebrae Service.

Easter Festival Services at Redeemer will be at 7 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. in the sanctuary, with a light fellowship breakfast following the early service. Communion will be served in both services.

'Overall plan' for area ready

JENSEN BEACH–The overall plan for the north Martin County area will be discussed at the Wednesday, April 21, meeting at First Federal Savings and Loan building, county planning director Kris Schenk said.

Schenk made the announcement at the conclusion of the Rio public meeting last week.

Our tentative date to discuss the north county area plan is May 3 before the Planning Commission, Schenk said.

The planning director and his staff have held two public hearings in North River Shores and Rio, and the April 21 7:30 p.m. session will be the second in Jensen Beach.

At Rio, Schenk said the north county plan is "still flexible" and some of the staff's recommendations are expected to be modified.

Some recommendations at the Rio session included keeping a business B-2 zone west of the creek and north of SR 707 with the creek acting as a buffer between business and residential zoning.

Schenk also suggested a road west from SR 723 South Savanna Road to U.S. 1 just north of the present intersection of SR 723 and SR 707. He said the road would relieve some traffic on SR 707 through Rio.

Also it was suggested that a bike path be built from the Rio Fire Station to the railroad track and along the track right-of-way over to SR 723.

Schenk noted the need for a fire station west of U.S. 1 and the possibility of making the present station a substation. With the development west of U.S. 1 and the proposed shopping center, Schenk noted the need for a new fire station.

And the Rio residents pointed out the need for widening of SR 707 through Rio and having sidewalks on each side of the road.

"The key to widening SR 707 is getting the right-of-way," Joe Forsberg said.

Schenk said a group of citizens should organize and bring the SR 707 situation to the attention of the Department of Transportation (DOT).

It also was pointed out that "crosswalks" are needed on SR 707, and what future development should be along the road since it presently contains residents and businesses.

After the public sessions in the north county area, Planner Tom Mumford observed: "Each area has its own specific problem, but the traffic situation appears to be their main concern."

RIO PLAN–Martin County Planning Director Kris Schenk, left, and Planner Tom Mumford discussed future plans for the Rio area during a public meeting last week at the Rio Civic Club.

Nuke plant 'fired up'

JENSEN BEACH–Florida Power and Light Co.'s FPL nuclear plant on Hutchinson Island was "fired up" this week.

An FPL spokesman said the island plant, St. Lucie One, will operate at about 5 per cent of capacity for a week or two while tests are made to verify that the plant is operating according to design criteria approved by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC).

Charles Scheer, FPL spokesman, said the plant's turbines would not "start to roll" until mid-May when a generating capacity of 15 per cent is expected to be achieved. At that point he said about 12,000 kilowatts will be available to "grid" that delivers power to the utility's electric customers.

While starting up operations are under way, engineers hope to resolve a minor bug that developed last week in the plant's cooling water system.

Scheer said that during tests of four large pumps used to pull water from the ocean, workers reported the water level in the intake canal was slightly below anticipated levels while the level of the discharge canal was slightly above.

He said that the problems with the canals are being worked out and that there is virtually no chance FPL will have to rely on a backup water system that is fed by the Indian River.

The plant ultimately will generate 805,000 kilowatts of electricity.

Meanwhile a state hearing examiner has recommended that site certification be issued for FPL's St. Lucie Two.

In a written order to the State Department of Environmental Regulations (DER), Chris Bentley recommended that the state certify the power plant St. Lucie Two be constructed adjacent to St. Lucie One, if FPL agrees to a set of conditions that were proposed during recent hearings.

The conditions include a requirement that FPL revise its site security plan every three years which should be implemented as part of the state certification process according to Bentley.

The technical safeguards for the plant are technically sufficient for the welfare and protection of the citizens of Florida, Bentley wrote in his report.

Bentley referred to studies done by the federal regulatory agencies.

Tax relief is asked

JENSEN BEACH–Relief for Martin County taxpayers has been asked by Ted Campo, executive assistant property appraiser.

In a letter to the Department of Revenue Campo wrote:

"If Martin County's assessment level is above that of the surrounding counties then we need to call for immediate and prior office for relief as soon as possible."

In the letter to William R. Cave, director of the department's ad valorem tax, Campo notes that:

"Has our effort to abide by the law and the regulations caused the taxpayers of Martin County to suffer?

"If this is true we think that assessments must be lowered in Martin County which, of course, would be contrary to the statutes of Florida and the directives of the Department of Revenue."

The assistant property appraiser said he believes Martin County has suffered in the past two years because of a massive reappraisal program while other counties have lagged behind by not raising their tax appraisals to full market value.

Because the county's property assessments are so high this county contributes a higher proportion of funds to the statewide equalization effort.

School officials have complained about the situation on numerous occasions.

Campo said that in addition to the loss of revenue suffered by the school system he thinks other government agencies are hurt.

Petition seeks criteria for Benihana Restaurant

SEWALL'S POINT–Residents of ... peninsula community are ... to delay issuance of a ... building permit for a Benihana Restaurant.

The delay is asked in a petition circulated throughout the community following a workshop meeting of the town commission last week at which the plans for the restaurant were reviewed.

In that meeting the commission asked that the developers of the Japanese restaurant move the sewage treatment plant to the south side of the property along East Ocean Blvd. and get approval by the Florida Department of Transportation of a traffic control plan.

The residents met in several areas of the town over the weekend, and a drive was conducted to build a fund for possible future legal fees.

At the workshop meeting of the commission last week Benihana developers said they hoped to have the requested items complete for the council meeting Wednesday night. The petition is to be presented at that meeting.

At the commission workshop Benihana representatives said they can't afford to delay the project announced they had cut back seating from a planned 238 to 200 would install a 10,000 gallon sewage treatment plant, and would save all trees on the construction area.

They offered to bring letters from mayors of towns where two other Benihana Restaurants operate as references in traffic problems.

Jerry O'Brien president of the Indialucie Homeowners expressed the opposition of the contiguous subdivision. Realtor Jerry Dresher, a resident of Indialucie, suggested making River Road one way south to lessen traffic impact on the subdivision, and Realtor Dick Ashley also of Indialucie asked the commission to solve the traffic problem before giving building approval to the project.

Mayor Ed Gluckler told the developers that they should get the DOT to close Lane East Ocean Blvd between the two bridges.

"We can't close it with a two lane road," Gluckler said, asking them to get a full scale traffic study of the problem.

The petition asks that before a building permit is granted adequate municipal controlled water and sewer is available for the development area.

Thorough traffic impact analysis is made to determine adquate flow, parking and collector artery capacities without increase to Indialucie internal flow and accessability.

Complete determination is made of police and fire protection requirements for the development area.

Determination is made of the effects of the proposed activities on the ecology of Sewall's Point, and the health welfare and safety of the citizens of Sewall's Point, and especially the Indialucie Subdivision residents, and

Evaluation of commercial activities is made assuring conformance with the qualets residential nature of Sewall's Point and its long range growth projections.

Puerto Rico is in a dilemma. It has one of the highest population densities in the world, with 920 inhabitants per square mile as of the end of 1975. The relationship between natural resources and population pressure on those resources is considered the "culprit" in island problems, according to Teodoro Moscoso, administrator of Economic Development.

About a million people emigrated from Puerto Rico since 1950, yet the labor force has grown so, that by 1985 labor will number almost two and one-half million. This means that in order to employ 53 percent of that force 600,000 more jobs would have to be created, not counting the immigration of 36,000 workers per year that has been averaged for the past four years.

An impossible task, to say the least, has been put on people that has no family planning to speak of ... to hold down the population explosion ranks third highest in the U.S. in venereal disease and faces a political immaturity that endures such as occurred in the Democratic delegate selection process.

In another but related case, the Puerto Rican representatives in Congress were asking that the island territory be excluded from a bill that would make cock fighting, recognized as barbaric, almost impossible by making it unlawful to transport such fighting animals across a state line.

Cock fighting is called the "national sport" of Puerto Rico.

The many problems of Puerto Rico, however, do not deminish the beauty of the countryside, the green, green mountains, and the beaches of white sand that stretch out and away from those problems.

It is impossible to judge a people by the standards of Jensen Beach, for we, too, have our squalid slums of Miami and Miami Beach, hidden by the overpasses of I-95 and Arthur Godfrey Road, and overshadowed by the glitter of Miami Beach hotels.

At least, San Juan has some of its beaches left. Puerto Rico probably has its Jensen Beaches on the island.

It is also impossible to judge a people by the glum looking men at customs for they must be pretty tired of people who speak only English and not their native Spanish.

It is impossible to judge their politics of the country, for our legislature has had its hot moments, and there is always inter party blood-letting to some degree everywhere.

But, it cannot be denied that Puerto Rico is a tired place, with too many people, too many politics, too much hunger and too much crime.

Its people seem determined to solve some of the problems all related to over population, but it would be like pushing back the tide, impossible.

Snook are biting

JENSEN BEACH-A bunch of snook were caught throughout the week according to the Snook Nook report. Brett McClure, out last Thursday, Friday and Saturday, landed 6 snook ranging from 10 to 24 pounds for a total of 97 pounds.

Paul Guillet from Hardwick, Vermont, vacationing in Venture Out caught a 29 lb.-2 oz snook off the Jensen Bridge on live shrimp. Aethen Witt's snook caught at the Jensen Causeway, weighed in at 31 lb 9 oz. Bob McCourt took a 10-lb snook from the surf on a plug, and L.G. Smith hit the surf for a 12-lb snook caught on a Ryan plug.

Mark Wright used live bait to snag a 22 lb. snook from the Indian River. Ed Wagner had one snook, a 6-pounder as well as 8 trout. Buck White had 5 trout, one pompano and a snook, caught in the Indian River on shrimp.

Blues continued fairly plentiful. Fred Muller caught 44 blues on krw and bait. Joe Fromlak 21 blues on plugs. Walter Neff, 10 blues. Fred Hein, 16 blues. Don Real, 12 blues, and Walter Lindell used a Ryat Popper for 26 blues. T.G. Smith and A. Desherm teamed up for 49 blues.

Russ Bolton and the Paul Viponds Sr. and Jr. used shrimp to take a mixed bag from the South Fork on Wednesday: one trout, one redfish, 3 snapper and 2 jacks.

The Snook Nook report has one entry that says four men from Ocean Breeze Park caught 8 snook averaging 14 lbs. Jack Myers used a T-Zo-Rig for 7 snook, 2 snapper and a trout.

Charlie Arens caught 20 croakers on shrimp. Bob Carruthers 3 trout and a snook. Roy Greenwald and Fred Dunbarek 8 trout. David Hodge and Carl Simmons 7 trout. Charlie Krow, 2 trout. S. Cidlowski, one 6-lb trout and W.W. Thompson had 2 trout, 1 and 8 pounds, and a snook.

Dale Greene had 3 trout to 8 pounds and a snook, caught on a trout lout. H. Byers and Cooney, 6 trout, 1 snapper, 2 lady fish and a croaker taken from the Indian River on shrimp and Bill Holloway had a snook.

Dave Greaves caught a 4½-lb trout off the Jensen Bridge. F. Buitterman, 4 trout to 7½ pounds and Charlie Kessler used shrimp to take two trout to 6 pounds from the river and 12 whiting from the surf.

Jim Bowdish caught 5 nice bass to 2½ pounds in the Savannas using blue worms.

THIS IS NATIONAL PRIVATE PROPERTY WEEK

OWNERSHIP OF REAL PROPERTY IS ONE OF THE MOST CHERISHED OF HUMAN RIGHTS AND IS A PRIVILEGE WHICH MAKES OUR NATION DISTINCTLY DIFFERENT FROM MANY OTHERS THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

If all the land on earth were divided among the people each person would have about 9 acres. However 20 percent of the land figures are cannot be cultivated, 20 percent has no known source of water, and 20 percent is too mountainous for settlement. What is left, 10 percent is barren rock, reducing the pro-rata portion to about 3 acres per person.

olt League opener
hriller, but a loss

SSEN BEACH--It could have predicted in advance.

e was forecasted as a pitcher's duel between Ernest ayne and Mike Schnurr turned to be exactly that, as Jensen e won the battle, but lost the e to Indiantown, 3-2.

Schnurr struck out 15 of the 31 ers he faced, giving up only hits, but still got stuck with the . It was a combination of ayne's pitching and timely ng by the Firebirds which undid game was scoreless until the e of the fourth inning, when Alvin ns led off with a double off the . Then, with the bases loaded, ayne smacked a single, scoring ns and sending Indiantown out ad lead.

the fifth, after Kermit's had up with a run to close the gap, Schnurr struck again. Robert ayne singled, and later scored ayne's third run when George er singled.

ond's made a gallant attempt ring all in the sixth, as Ricky and Mike Schnurr drew to begin the inning. Then, advancing to third and second, ively, they advanced on Steve Pollard's ground ball to third. Thornton tried to make a play on Schnurr, coming from second, but missed, allowing Bright to score. Then, after Mike Dramis struck out, Bobby Bibbee lifted a long fly ball toward the left field fence. Under normal circumstances, it might have been a double, scoring two runs and giving Kermit's the lead. However, as one spectator put it, "If he hit it anywhere south of Detroit it would have been a base hit. But he hit it to Lake Erie, so he cleft fielder Thomas Toddy only had to take one step or so." To translate what he meant was that the left fielder was playing deeper than usual, so he had only to wait for the long fly ball to come to him.

In any event, the Kermit's effort died with that play, and they could not muster any kind of rally in the seventh inning. Final score--Indiantown 3, Kermit's 2.

Kermit's next game is tonight Wednesday) at 8:15 at Port Salerno, with the next home game being at Langford Park this Monday night versus Stuart. All Colt League games begin at 8:15 p.m.

Finally, Coach Marty Hawthorne installed Brad Fallin and Bobby Bibbee as Co-Captains of his Cold League squad, which plays 20 games this year.

He has worked at Stuart National for two and a half years in the installment loan department, and is a veteran of four years service in the U.S. Navy. Paul lives in Stuart with his wife, Zelia, and 6 month old daughter, Heather Marie. A Stuart area resident since 1949, he attended Martin County High School and Indian River Community College. He is a member of the American Institute of Banking and the Sertoma Club of Stuart.

Wiley, McLean cop 'player of the week' honors

JENSEN BEACH--This is only the third week that The Mirror has named a "Player of the Week," but already players and parents alike are trying to get a piece of the action.

Last Saturday, in the second of four games played at Langford Park, the Knights of Columbus users came a 5-2 defeat and defeated Rio Civic, 8-7. The game had been proceeding without note until the bottom of the fifth inning, when unlikely hero Rob McLean belted a three-run home run to put his team ahead, while the Knights of Columbus backers went crazy.

But McLean was not through by any means. In the bottom of the sixth, he blasted a two-run homer to put the icing on the cake for the Knights. After his second of two back to back round trippers, a Kof C fan looked up at the scoreboard, where this reporter was sitting, and shouted: "There's your Player of the Week."

That's recognition.

By normal standards, a performance such as that would have made McLean the only Player of the Week, but unfortunately for him and the Knights of Columbus backers, there was a player on the Mustang League who had done just about the same thing, if not a little more.

Wilfred Wiley has been accepted as the best all-around player on the Mustang League by most coaches and players, but the Player of the Week award was not one of his many possessions, until now.

Wiley smacked his homers, one of them a grand slam, helped Avcock's Gang to a convincing 16-2 win over Rick Carroll, thus making Avcock's Gang the first place team, a half game ahead of Rick Carroll, who lost back in a ten last week.

As a pitcher, Wiley struck out six batters in only two innings, while his team broke open the game with 12 runs in that same period of time. Wilfred personally leads the pitching, 2-0; extra base hits, 6; and home run, 4, departments.

Therefore, based on their performance during the week of April 5-10, Rob McLean and Wilfred Wiley have been named "Players of the Week," after Richey Lord two weeks ago, and David Kenny and Mark Desfonds last week. Each is now eligible for the Mirror PLAYER OF THE YEAR AWARD, to be presented at the end of the year.

Others who enjoyed exceptional weeks were McCasey, Tony Adornu, David Kenny and Richard Sowden.

Casey smacked three doubles for his team, Ray Cooke, against the Knights of Columbus. For Ray Cooke it wasn't enough, as the Knights of Columbus pulverized them, 15-3. Meanwhile, Adorno smashed three triples on the week for his men, the Jensen Beach Bank.

Kenny, a former "Mirror Player of the Week," picked up where he left off last Saturday, smacking a grand slam, inside-the-park home run, giving his team an early 4-1 lead. But league-leading Kiwanis was too much as they won, 8-7.

Sowden had a double in the first inning of that game, and on Monday night singled home the winning runs in Kiwanis' 7-5 triumph over the second-placed Elks Lodge.

The Mirror presents the award each week to one or two players who have excelled during the previous week. Any decision as to the Player of the Week or related awards is final.

McConnell is champ

PORT ST. LUCIE--Mars Jensen and Tom Chapman gave it all they had in the finals of the championship round of the annual gross score club finals of the Sandpiper Men's Golf Association of the Saints course Thursday, April 8, but couldn't catch new champion Don McConnell and his 252.

In the championship flight, McConnell won out ahead of Jensen's 253 and Chapman's 254 in one of the closest finishes in recent years. Jensen succeeds Bill Peach as club champ. Peach had held the title in 1974 and 1975.

Paul Barone's 260 captured first flight honors well ahead of Mars Waldhilligat 251 and Ed Fussell, 252.

The second flight was close with Tony Costantino and his 262 edging out Herb Pulsifer and Miles Harvey at 264.

There was no decision Thursday in the jammed third flight where Frank Gaskill, August Hofmeister and Lloyd Woodall wound up with 275. They will play it off with 18 holes of medal play, no handicaps, next Thursday.

Concurrently Thursday's Tournament Chairman Paul Miller conducted a separate individual low net stroke play event with Jim Healy, Al Russell, Ed Rombach and Jack Radcliffe. The flight winners leading contestants were:

Flight A Healy 64, Chapman and Hector McDougall 67, Mars Jensen and Peach 68, Ed Gaudette 69.

Flight B Hassel, Bob Johnston, George Montooth, and Jack Pink, 66, George Blackmond 67, Bob Jensen 68.

Flight C Rombach, 63, Lloyd Mulford, Luke Evans and Harry Kessler, 66, Pulidor, 67, Bert McDougall, 68.

Flight D Radcliffe Hofmeister and Gaskill 64, Dan DiLoreto, 67, Nelson Hookery and Bob Parks, 68.

Players turning in gross scores under 86 Thursday were: Healy, 73, Mars Jensen, 76, Chapman, McDougall, Peach, 77, McConnell, Joe Chappelle and Vic Salter, 79.

Rombach's low gross 82 was his career low.

Airman completes basic

PORT ST. LUCIE--Airman Russell D. Kells, whose mother is Mrs. Mary H. Kells of 173 Solar Ave., Port St. Lucie, has been selected for technical training in the U.S. Air Force civil engineering field at Sheppard AFB, Texas.

The airman recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex., where he studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

VENTURE HARBOUR NEWS

By Jessie Shaver

Paul and Betty have finally shipped off to their grandchildren, most of the Mexican chairs, hats and Indian dolls which were colorful mementos of their 5 week jaunt through Mexico and the west.

The Drinkards joined with 60 other motor homes for a 3 week piggyback caravan through Mexico, which included a 5 day railroad trip through the Sierra Madre mountains. Each coach was driven up on a railroad flat car and then towed by engines through the fascinating tunnels, trestles and breathtaking mountain scenery. A stop was made at Creel to visit Copper Canyon and the Tarahumara Indians, who are cave dwellers and the most primitive tribe in North America. Ask Betty to show you the hand carved Indian dolls that she kept for herself.

Paul said the most humorous aspect of the trip occurred the first day in convoy, when all 60 coaches took a wrong turn, became hopelessly lost and thoroughly confused in the Mexican town of Monterrey.

Hazel Ramsey and Betty Drinkard did a superb job in planning the Venture Harbour annual Dinner. Everything was perfect, the Ocean Village Inn has such a beautiful view of the ocean, delicious food and excellent service and the fellowship was wonderful. All are looking forward to next year.

We were sorry to hear we are losing Ann Van Willigen and Sara Valaro as permanent residents and we hope they visit often.

'Seven Year Itch' opens at Barn

JENSEN BEACH—George Axelrod's comedy hit "The Seven Year Itch" opened at the Barn Theatre last Friday and will continue for the next two weekends, April 16-17-18 and April 23-24-25.

Directed by Bob Irwin, assisted by stage manager Judy Humphries, and produced by Kay Irwin, the production brings several new faces to the community stage of the Barn Theatre.

Nicky Haas, local radio personality, plays the lead role of Richard Sherman, a thoroughly domestic married husband who attempts to become a latter-day Don Juan while the family is away. Betty Anne Bissonette plays his wife Helen, and Harriet Sigmore, who appeared in Oliver and South Pacific, is their son Ricky. The Girl is Cathie Estrago.

Anne Ewing, Elizabeth Mead, Leslie Poindexter, Charles Reed, Bob Poindexter and Bill Shoss make up the balance of the cast.

Call 287-0676 for information and reservations, which are recommended. Tickets are available at Jensen Beach Travel.

Auxiliary card party

JENSEN BEACH—Barracks 854 Auxiliary held its monthly card party last week, chaired by Eleanor Diffenda.

Prize winners were Sophie Reinhardt, Olga Larson, Mildred Alexander, Violet Scamehorn, Mary Cook and Alva Scott.

Square dancers get 'diplomas'

JENSEN BEACH–The first group of square-dancing beginners at Indian Village received their diplomas from Caller Dale Christian during colorful "commencement" exercises held at the Jensen Beach park's $250,000 clubhouse last Thursday night.

Noni and Harry Crossett served as the gala affair, which was the end of a grand march led by Dale and instructor, McClary.

Presentation of awards and diplomas and special comic dances by the graduating students, which caused gales of laughter from an appreciative audience of Pinelake Village residents.

The ladies clad in vari-colored dresses with right fitting bodices and flaring skirts and crinolines, did their do si dos and allemande lefts along with their partners who were western-styled shirts with short sleeved embroidered yokes and shoelace ties, during a series of exhibition dances.

At the conclusion of the program, coffee and cake were served and the rest of the affair was footed by the hosts.

Noni and Gene Gray assisted Harry Crossett in compiling the list of the grand march.

A special square dance flag was presented to Jo and Al Foveneso for their whole hearted cooperation throughout the entire course. A pair of aprons goes to Ray Bates as the dancer who showed the most improvement in learning his right foot from his left. Chris Crisman was awarded as the dancer who managed to break up the most number of squares and Wally Holt received a yellow rock as the "champion yellow-rocker."

A special tribute was paid to Laura and Jim Midgely as the "angels" during the entire course. Tributes also went to Dot and Bill Watson, Hazel and George Reed, Elthea and Charles Johnson, along with "Slim" Simmermacker, who also filled in as "angels" intermittently.

Homer Faust, Al Foveneso, Holt and Chrisman, performed in a mop dance, while Mary Bates, Crisman, Mady and Larry McDonald, Eva and Homer Faust performed in a balloon-and-shoe-box dance.

After "mortar boards" were distributed to the graduates who also included Helen Curry, Bernice Holt, Roselise and Bill Byrnes and Mary Crisman, the class marched beneath a gaily-festooned arch to receive diplomas, badges and merit pins.

Mildred Gray was mistress of ceremonies, while Norma Quillen, Ireene O'Donnell, Rosie Devries and Sharyon Tilton assisted in serving refreshments to the entire assembly.

Before the program ended Harry Crossett was feted with a "Happy Birthday" song and his wife, Noni, received an enthusiastic ovation for her role as hostess.

Turtle release set

JENSEN BEACH–One hundred turtles will be released at 4 p.m. Wednesday, April 14, at the Stuart Beach. The public is invited to see the event.

GDU officials outline proposed rate hike

PORT ST. LUCIE--Approximately seventy five members of the Port St Lucie River Park Homeowner's Association braved the heavy winds and rain last Thursday evening to hear General Development Utilities president and director of finance explain the firm's reasons for requesting an increase in water and sewer rates.

Utilities president Harold Schmidt and Jerry Mozian made their presentation to the homeowner's only hours after a similar meeting was held at the Port St. Lucie City Hall.

According to the facts and figures presented by Mozian, the finance director, GDU has been losing money consistantly in their local operation since 1972, citing a loss of $96,000 in 1972, $71,000 in 1973 and another $71,000 in 1974.

Major expenses since 1972 have been drastically increased, including such items as labor, electricity and chemicals. Mozian told his anxious listeners and emphasized these were items over which his firm had no control.

He went on to say the financial picture of GDU makes it impossible to borrow needed capital funds because of very high interest rates.

Mozian and Schmidt said the Public Service Commission auditors are now closely examining the financial records of General Development Utilities to determine if the requested rate increases are justified.

The delays in getting approval of rate increases is one of the reasons the Utilities firm is losing money, according to the representatives who added that it can take as long as twenty months to get an increase approved. During this time the firm's expenses continue.

Many complaints were heard from the audience during the question and answer period that followed the presentation.

Residents complained of the quality of water distribution by GDU, the foul taste, discoloration, low pressure and the considerable amount of sediment contained in the water.

The majority of the complaints stemmed from an area located West of U.S. 1 to Sandia in the River Park section.

As a result of the complaints, Schmidt scheduled a return to the area from his Miami office later in the week to investigate the allegations and see that they are resolved where feasible.

Another meeting has been tentatively scheduled between the committee comprised of board members from the three local homeowners associations and the Civic League with Mozian. At that time Mozian has promised to go over the rate application item by item with the group.

A public hearing has been set by the Public Service Commission for May 26 at the Port St. Lucie Community Center. A decision on the proposed rate increase is expected sometime in August.

Under the proposed new rate structure a family using 6,000 gallons of water per month and now paying $6.75 will pay $7.90, or 28 per cent more.

Water customers will pay $9.50 under the new rate structure instead of the present charge of $6.40, which ... 48 per cent increase.

Council approves recommendations

PORT ST. LUCIE--The City Council Tuesday approved the recommendations received from the Planning & Zoning Board's two-member nominating committee, to replace the four members who recently submitted their resignations.

Those nominated to fill four of the five seats vacated are George Montooth, Ed Jenkins, John Hunchurek and Ray Neighbours.

According to City Administrator Elmer Cox, all four nominees have been contacted and are willing to serve on the board.

Three members presently serving on the Board whose one year terms are expiring have expressed a desire to accept appointments for a full two-year term. They are Vernon Forrar, A.J. Jaroszewicz and Henry Sewell. This action received Council approval.

A nomination for the replacement of the fifth board member who has resigned is expected within the next two weeks. Jack Radcliffe, who served on the nominating committee with Vaughn Lewis, was the most recent member to resign.

Former Chairman Ed Fessel has been critical of the City Council for not heeding the advice of the eleven member Planning & Zoning Board. He also said that both he and Vice Chairman Dr. Charles Hoyt had trouble in holding the board together when the Council threw one proposed ordinance after another back to the board for further study. Among those documents cited were the comprehensive sign ordinance, the model home ordinance and the Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance.

Original board members still serving are R.C. Blunt, Vaughn Lewis, Vernon Forrar, C. Fields, Henry Sewell and Dr. A. Jaroszewicz.

The next scheduled meeting of the Planning and Zoning Board is set for April 19 at 2 p.m.

According to Vaughn Lewis, who is acting chairman, the board is expected to re-organize at that time.

Port St. Lucie Lions elect

PORT ST. LUCIE--At a recent meeting of the Port St. Lucie Lions Club the nominating committee presented a slate of officers for 1976-77 which was accepted unanimously, without additions or objections.

Heading the club as president will be Robert Carl. Jack Andrews was elected 1st vice president, Richard Nason, 2nd vice president, Steve Redstone, 3rd vice president.

Jack Culliton will serve as secretary, Frank Zenuan, treas. Leo Nastier, tail twister, and Ed Geeth, lion tamer.

One year directorships went to Ed Huffman and William Pope. Dick Miller and Pat Carvelli were elected as directors for two year terms.

President's council meet Thursday

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Presidents Council of Port St. Lucie will hold its monthly meeting at the CESA Building on Thursday, April 15 at 2 p.m.

Meanwhile a state hearing examiner has recommended that site certification be issued for FPL's St. Lucie Two.

In a written order to the State Department of Environmental Regulations (DER), Chris Bentley recommended that the state certify the power plant, St. Lucie Two, be constructed adjacent to St. Lucie One, if FPL agrees to a set of conditions that were proposed during recent hearings.

The conditions include a requirement that FPL revise its site security plan every three years, which should be implemented as part of the state certification process, according to Bentley.

"The technical safeguards for the plant are technically sufficient for the welfare and protection of the citizens of Florida," Bentley wrote in his report.

Bentley referred to studies done by the federal regulatory agencies ...

THIS IS NATIONAL PRIVATE PROPERTY WEEK

OWNERSHIP OF REAL PROPERTY IS ONE OF THE MOST FUNDAMENTAL OF HUMAN RIGHTS AND IS A PRIVILEGE WHICH MAKES OUR NATION DISTINCTLY DIFFERENT FROM MANY OTHERS THROUGHOUT THE WORLD

If all the land on earth were divided among the people, each person would have about 9 acres. However, 20 percent of the land is frozen soil cannot be cultivated. 20 percent has no known source of water, and 20 percent is too mountainous for settlement. What is left, 10 percent is barren rock, reducing the pro-rata share used to about 1 acres per person.

AKER–Frank Pittman, teacher at the Jensen Beach Environmental ...dies Center, was introduced to the Jensen Kiwanis Club Monday by Bill ...ns program chairman Pittman outlined the new programs of the center ...w Kiwanians.

Overnight camping adds to environment understanding here

JENSEN BEACH–Experimental survival camping trips overnight in the Indian River and on Jupiter Island adds to the understanding of the environment, according to Frank Pittman, teacher at the Jensen Beach Environmental Studies Center.

In a presentation to the Jensen Beach Kiwanis Club Monday at Krances Langford's Outrigger Restaurant, Pittman told of the new experimental programs in the center's efforts to teach students from Martin County schools, exposing them to various criteria of the land's values.

It took three years to get the experience program approved by the federal HEW department so that the full time program can be offered to Martin County students, Pittman said.

Fifth grade students are taken camping, where they spend a night on a spoil island just south of the Jensen Beach Causeway. They first set up camp.

"Into so shallow they are able to walk to other spoil areas to study every type of life you can think of," he said.

Pittman said that it is interesting that many plants and animals not indigenous to the area are found, brought into the estuary by the tidal flow.

The children fill out data sheets on their findings.

At night they study stars through a telescope, and have seen the seven moons of Jupiter, Mars and Saturn.

An eighth grade student is brought along and helps the project and the students.

At the end of the evening, the students sit around a campfire, listening to sounds of water fish jumping, birds singing, and then they go to bed.

As a sidelight, Pittman said that the fifth grade boys fight for five to fifteen minutes and then go immediately to sleep for the entire night.

"The girls giggle all night long," he added.

On another field trip, Pittman takes a high school senior class out to the Jupiter Island beach. The students collect data on a survival mission and then spend two weeks in class evaluating the data collected. They dine on armadillo, snake, conch, have pancakes made from cattails, and eat berries and roots.

Pittman called Viking Park at Jensen Beach Elementary School very valuable to us for study by high school students.

He also mentioned the project in which students tried to plan beach erosion plants along the dune area on Hutchinson Island, Unfortunately, Pittman said, people trampled the plantings into the sand.

Pittman invited residents to visit the center and take part in the many class projects that are held daily.

Tree energy group planning organizational meet Tuesday

JENSEN BEACH–Six dedicated ...ns gathered at the Jensen Beach ...ber of Commerce building ...day night to discuss the future ...ganization of a free energy ...ociation and decided to hold an ...ganizational meeting next Tues... ...y April 27 at 7:30 p.m. at the ...sen Environmental Studies Cen...

...rt Hansen, steering committee ...rman said he hoped that 100 ...ons interested in solar and wind ...gy conservation, and less ...gy expense would turn out for ...meeting.

The association plans to direct ...orts to alternative power ...ces through demonstration and ...ation of the people to wind and solar sources of energy.

The Martin County School Board has approved the use of the land at the Environmental Center as a site for the group to construct both solar and wind power devices.

Jim Chicky, chairman of the wind division, has announced that a windmill will be acquired and reconstructed on the site to be used to pump water and power a small generator to light signs and flood the test area with light. The structure will be fenced and landscaped and will pump water at 20 pounds pressure. It will be thirty feet tall.

"We plan this as experimental, but hope that it will be able to pump water to the environmental center," Chicky said.

A solar collector is also planned to heat water that is used at the center. Stan Borgman is in charge of the project, with Bernard Means assisting.

The collector according to Borgman will be used to educate consumers on how to save "at least 25 percent of monthly utility bills." Approximate cost of $500 to $600 for an average home would be saved in one and one half to three years. Solar panels can be used to heat water or the air condition of both, but air conditioning would require a major investment, it was indicated.

At the center, the collector will be used to heat water for the center's showers, for the fish and turtles that require warm water, and possibly to heat the rooms during cold spells.

The association will be a non-profit organization and will have a budget estimated at $3,500 for the first solar installation and the reconstruction of the windmill.

Hansen urged area residents to attend, saying that the project is modest enough to appeal to everyone interested in alternative

Planning meet is tonight

JENSEN BEACH–County planners will meet with Jensen Beach residents in a public hearing tonight Wednesday on the comprehensive plan for Jensen Beach and the area north of the St. Lucie River.

The meeting will be held in the Harry Hoke Memorial Hall of First Federal's office on Commercial Street at 7:30 p.m., according to county planner Chris Schenk.

Lillian Moore wins Reheiser trophy

JENSEN BEACH–The Easter Art Show at Elliott Museum wound up the season for students of Madeleine Reheiser, sponsored by Indian River Community College's Continuing Education Department.

Winner of Best of Show and the coveted Reheiser "Most Promising Artist" trophy was Lillian Moore of Spanish Lakes.

Students from the Youth Center, Holiday Out, Elliott Museum, Ruschman Site and CESA Art Classes of Port St. Lucie and Spanish Lakes displayed works in the exhibition which was divided into categories "Black and All Others B."

Mrs. Moore's Best of Show painting was an oil entitled "Clear Waters."

Yvette Kruger's "Bright Day" took first place in the A division, Dorothy Butler second and Physis ...Towle third.

...Season for Marion Briggs was the first place winner in the B division. Margaret Miller was awarded second place. Erma Black took third place.

Frances Seaman, Norma Packer, Marion Rogers and John Moore were awarded honorable mentions.

Tom Prestpanic of Martin County Schools was the judge.

MOST PROMISING–Lillian Moore of Spanish Lakes, pictured above, holds the Reheiser Trophy she was awarded at the Easter Art Show at Elliott Museum. Inscribed "To the most promising artist of 19..." the trophy is presented by instructress Madeleine Reheiser at the end of each art class season. Mrs. Moore has been painting for about three years and adds this trophy and the Best of Show also received Sunday to a growing collection of "ribbons and firsts already won."

Restaurant gets okay 'if'

SEWALL'S POINT–Sewall's Point Commissioners last week unanimously passed a resolution granting construction of a restaurant, but some stipulations were added to the motion.

Mayor Ed Gluckler suggested and fellow commissioners agreed that the developers of Benihana of Tokyo Steak House should:

1. Submit a suitable traffic flow plan.

2. Get all the necessary permits.

3. Hook onto a sewer main when one becomes available.

Bruce Hyatt, president of the firm, agreed and said he would return in about two weeks bringing complete plans for the restaurant and an application for a building permit.

The developer agreed to widen East Ocean Boulevard, from the Roosevelt Bridge to South River Road. The restaurant is to be located on the northwest corner of East Ocean Boulevard and South River Road.

Town residents were concerned about the added traffic the restaurant would create and the health, welfare and safety of the community.

Commissioners were presented with a petition containing 74 signatures from residents including Indialantic Subdivision which the restaurant will border.

Petitioners expressed concern about the traffic impact the restaurant will have on the town's and wanted assurance of fire protection.

While the developer said A1A, East Ocean Boulevard would be widened, residents pointed out that the bridge is still two-lanes.

Commissioners Earl Crawford and Robert Russell said they felt the restaurant would enhance the community.

And Gluckler noting that the property has been zoned commercial for several years, said he didn't think the commission could say "no" to the developer.

All owners of savannas wetlands who have not already contacted McMillan are urged to call him for an appointment at 334-0111 after 9 a.m. on Thursday, April 22.

Kiwanis plans family picnic

JENSEN BEACH–Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Eslinrude will be guests of honor at the Jensen Beach Kiwanis Club family picnic this Sunday at the picnic area of the Outrigger Restaurant. The picnic will be held from 5 to 7 p.m., according to Chin Chris Get, chairman.

All Jensen Kiwanians and their families are invited. The picnic will celebrate the successful conclusion of the annual fund-raising chicken fry held recently. Over $1,200 was raised by the club for its youth activities fund in the event.

GIVING THE LOOT–Scott Butterfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Butterfield, walked for money, and raised $185 as he walked twenty miles for the March of Dimes last week. Ron Mitchell, president of Jensen Beach Bank had to hurry to keep up with Scott as he handed him a check for $40 for his effort.

ALL ABOARD–Just a few days remain to purchase your ticket to the first annual Wine and Cheese Cross Rip Cruise to benefit the Heart Association. The festivities will be held on Sunday, May 2 6-8 p.m. on the Cross Rip in Stuart. Toasting here to the party's success are cruise chairman Mrs. Gerald Bryan and Martin County Heart Association Steering Committee members Dennis S. Hudson, Jr. (left) and Dr. Richard Q. Penick. For more information, call the Heart Association at 286-1866.

Mall construction could start soon

JENSEN BEACH–The possibility that the $20 million mall proposed by the Edward DeBartolo Corporation near the intersection of U.S. 1 and Commercial Street might be started this year was indicated last week by Dick Greco, vice president for Florida operations of the firm.

The mall will feature 80 shops in the 800,000 square foot center with 11 million square feet of shopping area. The recent recession and the subsequent opening dates of major department stores were given as the reasons for delay of the regional shopping center.

Orchid Society meets Thursday

JENSEN BEACH–The Martin County Orchid Society will meet in regular monthly session Thursday, April 22 at the Agricultural Center, Stuart.

Meeting time is 8 p.m.

William Osmet, well-known grower and orchid expert from Hollywood, Florida, will be the guest speaker. He specializes in oncidiums and epidendrums which do well in the south Florida area. He will provide a sale table of plants.

There will be door prizes of orchid plants, the usual display table of blooming plants, and a refreshment and hospitality period. Visitors are welcome.

The Society's "Spring Affair" orchid show held at the Little Louvre in Snug Harbor on Palm Sunday was declared an unqualified success by a spokesman for the group.

Nearly 400 people availed themselves of the opportunity to stroll around the grounds and gardens and view the beautiful and unusual arrangements of blooming orchid plants and the paintings which were exhibited.

Chairman for the annual event was Robert Krause assisted by Mrs. Stafford, Mr. and Mrs. Breedlove, Mr. and Mrs. Schneider. Members of the Society were on hand to greet visitors.

MacDonald's Restaurant, Stuart provided free orange juice at a stand. Mrs. Isabell Linstrum won the drawing for a lavender cattleya orchid.

Society members exhibited plants and Mrs. Arlie Lippincott, Mrs. Robert Hannah and Mrs. Stafford provided the paintings.

Commissioners approve new development

JENSEN BEACH–Martin County Commission last week approved a new residential neighborhood on a bill overlooking the south end of the savannas in Jensen Beach.

Ford Pipes, Jr., owner of the property, told the commissioners that he plans to preserve the natural beauty of the hill and its trees in his plans for the neighborhood on the hill above the Jensen Beach Women's Association clubhouse.

He plans 96 homesites, each one-half acre in size and a minimum of earth moving.

JENSEN BEACH--Residents of the area thronged to the beaches at Jensen and Outdoor Resorts in their annual pilgrimage to celebrate the Christ's ascension to heaven in Easter Sunrise Services last Sunday morning.

As the wind-whipped ocean roared in the background, and a heavy surf crashed into the beaches, the morning sunrise broke through scattered clouds occasionally to splash blinding lights on the wave crests.

The Jensen Beach Trinity United Methodist Church eleventh annual services at Jensen's beaches drew a record crowd of hundreds as Rev. D. Clark Thompson extolled the miracle of Christ risen. Melville B. Laite, Sr. soloist with the Gainesville First United Methodist Church, sang a medley of Easter hymns.

At the Outdoor Resorts services Rev. L.C. Campbell, Jr. gave a sermon as hundreds sat around a pool at the ocean's edge. The service, sponsored by the Nettles Island worship service, heard hymns sung by soloist Bobby Lord and the Joint Heirs.

The Jensen Beach Christian Church held sunrise services at Ocean Breeze Park clubhouse, taking advantage of the sunrise breaking across the wide Indian River as Rev. Milton Fronsoe sermonized. The Jensen Beach First Baptist Church held services at sunrise at Windmill Village with Rev. Hazlett doing the speaking.

Early settlers plan anniversary

VERO BEACH--The 50th anniversary meeting and picnic of the Early Settlers of the Lower Indian River area will be held on Saturday, May 15 in the Community Center in downtown Vero Beach. Charles Gifford of Vero Beach, 1976 president of the Early Settlers Association, announced this week that preparations for the big gathering have been completed and committees will be announced next week.

Just 50 years ago a large group of Old Timers gathered at the Fort Pierce Beach Casino, the date was February 22, 1926. Washington's Birthday, more than 300 people were in attendance from Indian River, St. Lucie and Martin Counties. This meeting led to the organization of the Old Timers Club of the Lower Indian River area in Vero Beach on December 10, 1926.

President Gifford and his commit... fees are planning for a special program in observance of the 50th anniversary of the group. Early Settlers and their descendants are expected to converge on Vero Beach in large numbers. They are being urged to come dressed in clothing of the early 1900's.

Registration on May 15 will begin at 9:30 a.m. followed by the business meeting at 11 a.m. and picnic lunch at noon. Everyone is urged to bring plenty of homecooked food. The Early Settlers Association will furnish paper plates and cups, plastic utensils, bread and beverages.

Early settlers who arrived in the Lower Indian River area prior to 1906, and their descendants par... ticipate in the yearly Early Settlers get togethers and picnics.

SERMON--The Easter sunrise service of Trinity United Methodist Church at Jensen's beaches drew hundreds to hear the sermon of Rev. Clark Thompson. Clouds covered the sun, and the occasional breakthrough sunlight added impetus to the message.

Special postal fees go up

JENSEN Beach--Higher fees for special delivery, registered mail, insurance and other special services became effective Sunday, April 18, Postmaster Harold Snider announced Monday.

He points out that the last time special deliveries charges were raised was 1971. Certified mail fees were last increased in 1966 and special handling fees have been the same since 1967.

The increases average 25 per cent. Insurance for coverage against loss or damage, limited to $200, is raised from 20 to 25 cents up to $15 value, from 40 to 50 cents on values from $50.01 to $200.

Certified mail fee is 40 cents in addition to postage compared to 35 cents before April 18th.

Special delivery now costs 80 cents for not more than 2 pounds to $1.20

Mailers orders that cost 25 cents now cost 30 cents, 35 cent fees are increased to 45 cents, and 40 cent fees to 50 cents.

Also affected are 1) C.O.D. registered mail and special handling fees as well as restricted delivery, and return receipts.

Mall construction could start soon

JENSEN BEACH–The possibility that the $20 million mall proposed by the Edward DeBartolo Corporation near the intersection of U.S. 1 and Commercial Street might be started this year was indicated last week by Dick Greco, vice president for Florida operations of the firm.

The mall will feature 80 shops in the 80 to 100 acre center with 1 million square feet of shopping area. The recent recession, and the indecision of opening dates of major department stores were given as the reasons for delay of the regional shopping center.

Orchid Society meets Thursday

JENSEN BEACH–The Martin County Orchid Society will meet in regular monthly session Thursday, April 22 at the Agricultural Center, Stuart.

Meeting time is 8 p.m.

William Dimmet well-known grower and orchid expert from Hollywood, Florida, will be the guest speaker. He specializes in oncidiums and epidendrums which do well in the south Florida area. He will provide a sale table of plants.

There will be door prizes of orchid plants, the usual display table of blooming plants and a refreshment and hospitality period. Visitors are welcome.

The Society's "Spring Affair" orchid show held at the Little Louvre in Snug Harbor on Palm Sunday was declared an unqualified success by a spokesman for the group.

Nearly 400 people availed themselves of the opportunity to stroll around the grounds and gardens and view the beautiful and unusual arrangements of blooming orchid plants and the paintings which were exhibited.

Chairman for the annual event was Robert Krause assisted by Mrs. Stafford, Mr. and Mrs. Breedlove, Mr. and Mrs. Schneider. Members of the Society were on hand to greet visitors.

MacDonald's Restaurant, Stuart, provided free orange juice at a stand. Mrs. Isabell Linstrum won the drawing for a lavender caftesca and hat.

Society members exhibited plants and Mrs. Arthe Lappinen, Mrs. Robert Hannah and Mrs. Stafford provided the paintings.

Lucky Charms plan Achievement Day

BY MAGGIE BIGGE

The Lucky Charms 4H Club of Port St. Lucie invites everyone to its third annual Achievement meeting. It will be held at the PSL United Methodist Church on Tuesday, May 4, at 7 p.m.

Tammy Reeser, chairman of the event, announced at a recent club meeting that plans are being made for exhibits, dress review, skit, special numbers, talks and demonstrations and refreshments. Assisting her are Beth Martin and Kathi Ewing.

Monica Nilsson presided at the meeting at the home of Sonya Goins. Ten members were present. Erin Miller, council delegate, announced that Maggie Bigge won a red award for her demonstration. Walnut Cookies, at county events held in March. The next county council will be the election of officers.

Tammy Reeser, treasurer, gave her report. Reporter Maggie said she news had been in one paper during the past month. She also said that Vicki Ewing, June Woodward and Beth had met recently to plan improvements for the skit that will be entered in Junior District events on May 13 in West Palm Beach.

Kathi Ewing, chairman of community service projects, listed such members that helped at the UESA Bazaar and Spring Festival: Beth, Monica, Kathi, Tammie, Rowser, Erin and Dena Miller.

The club outing at Jonathon Dickinson State Park will be on Saturday, April 24. Members plan to enjoy horseback riding, swimming and a sack lunch picnic. Dena and June are in charge of the outing.

Members wishing to sew bicentennial shirts for the PSL Elementary School's chorus, were to get their markings from Miss Sloane at the school. The president appointed the following committee to help with finish up: June, chairman, Monica, Beth and Tammy Reeser.

Miss Martin, leader, announced that the dates for camp (overnight, where to meet arrangements at Lake Placid are June 28 through 30 at Lucie Albert. She also helped distribute new project books, records and said she will assist the committee in helping members finish their records. Record books are due in the county 4H office on May 8.

Next club meeting will be the annual Achievement Meeting on May 4.

Homemakers elect officers

PORT ST. LUCIE–Mrs. Harold Hazell was elected to head the Beautiful Women Homemakers club for 1976-77. Other officers elected at the April meeting were Mrs. Ralph Huffman, vice president; Mrs. Robert Sweet, secretary; Mrs. Anthony Tatooian, treasurer and Mrs. Morgan Jones, county delegate.

A fashion show of garments made by members was a feature of the afternoon, for which members of Spanish Lakes Homemakers were invited.

A mutual Easter table and wall decorations were shown, which were later contributed to the Abbe Jean Russell Home for their Easter activities.

The Homemakers' forthcoming dessert, card party and fashion show by Thomas of Fort Pierce is scheduled for Saturday, May 1 at the Port St. Lucie Community Center.

Mrs. Hazell is chairing the event, which will benefit the Community Center and other local organizations. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Eric Armer, 878-0457, Mrs. Bruce Cravens at 878-1341 or the Port St. Lucie Community Center.

The jury has produced sixteen indictments in the investigation of the theft and sale of marijuana by a group including two deputies of the sheriff's department, a former undercover agent and several businesspersons. Two of the indictments remain sealed awaiting the arrest of the persons named.

Nuke decision delayed

TALLAHASSEE–Certification of the second unit of Florida Power and Light Company's nuclear power plant on Hutchinson Island probably will not be placed on the Florida ...cabinet agenda before May 18, it was learned Tuesday.

Unless efforts of FPL representatives to get the item on the agenda for the May 4 or 5 meeting are successful, the crowded schedule will put off consideration until that date.

In the meantime, FPL officials await the ironing out of some last minute corrections in the system to put Unit One on line, producing nuclear power to enter the statewide power grid. The unit is due to be in service this week.

Cook-out time for Anglers

PORT ST. LUCIE–It's cook-out time again for the Port St. Lucie Anglers who will gather at the Northport Marina at 4 p.m. Sunday, April 25, for the event. Serving will be to 6 p.m.

The Spring cook-out is one of two such events sponsored each year by the club. Members are admitted for $1; guests and non-members pay $2.

Marjorie Jones, in general chairman of the event, has assembled a skilled crew of cooks and servers who will handle the food. He asks only that people bring their own table service.

A limited number of tickets is on sale and those not having tickets may make arrangements by calling 878-1322, 878-1106, 878-1000, or 878-1411.

the Editor:
Congratulations to Dick Campbell

Chairman of the Public Affairs
mittee of the Port St
River Park Homeowners
ation, I have been actively ged as have our officers, ors and members generally, in acting many voters in St. Lucie ty and in transmitting their re relative to this law to our sentative delegation. This has been ve the medium of radio ence before the delegation at ublic hearing in Fort Pierce and individual letters to each ber of the delegation.
the result of our efforts as well
rs. The three so-called "local" tors have turned a deaf ear to expressed desire of a huge ority of our voters for a ination of this law. But they be in for a rude awakening ed that voice. It will be d loud and clear, when next senators seek re-election with ir stereotyped promises of how will represent the people, hold taxes and expenditures and more suggestions having to do the betterment of the people their failure with respect to the law rollback issue has now ome secondary to their failure to r those who elected them to ce their subsequent failure to the desire of the people as it has been expressed to them.

Senator Johnston is reported to have said his mail has been running 10-1 in favor of the continuance of this law. Further, he stated and I quote, "I am still philosophically against taking authority away from local government to regulate and tax itself." This statement expresses only his personal conviction, not that of his constituency whose tax monies help to pay his salary.

It is the feeling of a great many people that the "Big Brother" attitude is being carried too far – that the people are competent to make certain important decisions for themselves, when-if-and as they are permitted to do so.

Of the replies which we have received from our three senators to our requests for a continuation of this law, only the letter from Senator Childers holds forth any hope.

It states in part, "I appreciate your concern in this area and will give your comments every consideration when this matter comes before the Senate during this spring session. But, in order for him to do this, the bill obviously must be introduced."

Perhaps if all the media serving the areas involved would follow your lead, results might possibly be in the people's favor.

Thank you for presenting the matter as you did.

Sincerely yours,
Don White
Port St. Lucie

RE: "Private Property Week"

Dear Commissioner Foster:

During the week of April 18th through April 24th, 1976, Private Property Week is being celebrated by realtors throughout the nation.

We believe this is an appropriate time to remind all our elected officials that Ownership of Real Property is one of the most fundamental of human rights, a right and privilege realized by many millions of Americans. This right which is a safeguard of our free society has been and will be vigorously defended by realtors in this country.

Real Property Ownership is a right that makes our nation distinctly different from many others throughout the world.

We are asking that you as elected public officials keep in mind the importance of Private Property ownership rights when making your decisions as commissioners.

We realtors are dedicated to protect the rights of Real Property Ownership.

Your consideration of the above is appreciated.

Best regards,
STUART BOARD OF REALTORS, INC.

President

Board members are apponited

SEWALL'S POINT–Town of Sewall's Point Commission appointed three members to the Zoning Board at last week's meeting.

Appoint to one year terms are Tom Strange, Dave Dickinson and Richard Campbell. Also Joan Hutchinson was appointed to a three-year term to the Board of Adjustment.

To the editor:

Although Jensen Beach-Rio United Fund did request donations to include Martin County American Red Cross, the shortage of meeting their goal has eliminated Martin County American Red Cross from receiving any funds from the Jensen Beach-Rio Board.

We thank those who gave. The Martin County American Red Cross Board of Directors will attempt to operate with reduced income this year rather than have a special drive in the Jensen-Rio area.

All County residents can receive benefits from American Red Cross through its various programs of First Aid, Water Safety, classes in Home Nursing, and availability in case of disaster. In addition, a very important service is rendered to military families in case of emergency here at home through American Red Cross world-wide communication net.

With 100 per cent participation of Martin County citizens, the local Chapter of American Red Cross will be able to continue its full range of services to all areas of the County.

Al Palmer, Chairman
Martin County Red Cross

Loretta and John Pugh of Naranja Avenue entertained their friends Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lindstedt of Milwaukee, Wisc., this past week. One of the places of interest the Lindstedts enjoyed was Musicana in Vero Beach.

Loretta recently flew to Tomah, Wisc. to attend the funeral of her sister Alice's husband, Alfonse Sabala.

Ted Warner Biekkola of Lake-shore Drive flew to Detroit last week to attend the funeral of his brother-in-law Carl Noreus. Our condolences to both the Pughs and Biekkolas.

Helvie and Warner Biekkola entertained several house guests this past week. Mr. and Mrs. Peter N. Miami; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leinonen from Red Bank, N.J. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Oosterkirk, Algonac, Mich.; Mrs. Eva Wanska and Mr. and Mrs. Eino Puumala from Marquette, Mic. They all had a great time together and thoroughly enjoyed Florida.

+ + +

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Arbogast of Mt. Dora, Florida, were recent house guests of Helen and Howard Bissell of Vesthaven Ct. Howard and Arthur were childhood friends in Chicago. It's great being together with old friends.

Bob and I had guests over the Easter weekend from Naples, Florida. Peg and Dee Harris moved to Naples from Itasca, Ill. They owned an insurance agency there and I was their secretary for several years before we moved to Florida.

Since none of our family were able to come for the holiday, we enjoyed being together. We weren't able to go out because of my old arthritic knee, but Bob and Dee got in a golf game. Peg was a great held to Bob getting meals while I just sat and was waited on. But I'd much rather do it myself.

Thelma Peterson of Festivo Ct. recently had a visit from two sisters-in-law from Maryland. Edith Wall from Brandywine, Md. and Ruth Peterson from Rivr Dale, Md. Thelma had a great time taking the girls to Musicana and the Outrigger. On the way home they visited Disney World. A snow storm slowed them up a little before they got back to Maryland.

+ + +

Dorothy and Glenn Shaffer of Ramie Lane had a great visit with their daughter Mrs. Robert Heth, and her son Robbie who live in Macon, Ga. The Shaffers also enjoyed a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wineman from Greensburg, Pa. All thoroughly enjoyed their Florida vacation.

+ + +

Dorothy Bauker of Ramie Lane had a house guest from Whittier, California. Mrs. J.H. (Beulah) Adams who was a former classmate of Dayton Jr. Teachers College in Dayton, Ohio. Mrs. Anness was here last year and at that time the time classmates had not seen each other for 40 years.

Another classmate, Mrs. George Delaplane from Lake Worth, visited with Dorothy and Beulah. Talking over old times and enjoying Florida were the highlights of being together.

Bob and Maimie Gordon, Arbor Avenue, have their granddaughter Vickie Radoye and her friend Lorell Rickey, from Detroit, Mich., for the Easter holidays. Both are teachers in the Detroit schools. They have enjoyed swimming in the ocean, playing tennis, dog races, Disney World and, of course, being with Grandma and Grandpa Gordon.

+ + +

Marion and Jud Thurston of Ravenswood Lane had a family reunion over Easter. Their daughter Sandra and her husband Richard K. Hartman, their children Richard, Dora Lynn and Julie from Wilmington, Delaware, and Thurston's other daughter Joan, her husband Merle Wood and their children Bradford and Wendy from Ft. Lauderdale, filled their home with happy times. They all enjoyed swimming and just being together.

Roger Dabler, who teaches school in Webster, N.Y., spent his Easter vacation with his parents Ruth and Bob Dabler of Byron Avenue. Roger hadn't vacationed with Ruth and Bob for two years and was mightly glad to see his folks. He enjoyed swimming and getting some Florida sunshine.

Reva and Jack Tyner of Floresta Drive are happy to be entertaining their two high school student granddaughters for a few weeks. Michelle and Wendy Jackson from Saginaw, Mich. The girls have been swimming and playing shuffle-board, which they thoroughly enjoyed. Jack and Reva also took the girls to the west coast to show them that part of Florida.

+ + +

Mr. and Mrs. G. Anthony Scorsone also visited the Tyners.

+ + +

The Forlenzas, Mary ... Kasper Drive, recently had a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Richard McCallum from Middletown, N.J. and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blasi from S. Orange, N.J.

Mr. McCallum is a retired postal inspector and Mr. Blasi a retired supervisor, both from the Newark, N.J. P.O., and enjoyed talking over old times with Ben.

Both couples thought Port St. Lucie was a great place.

For Easter week, Mary and Ben had a great visit with their daughter Jean and her husband, Edward Brower, and their daughter Bette Anne from Union, N.J. Their son Wallis and his wife Lori and children Kim and Larry Matlock from Maitland, Florida, were also here. The family reunion was to celebrate Mary's birthday. Your 39th, Mary?

A dog run or a fence?

PORT ST. LUCIE–A good portion of time was once again devoted to Port St. Lucie canines when the Council met for Tuesday's workshop session.

This time it was the head of the city's building department, Ralph LaChance, who brought up the subject by asking whether or not dog runs were to be considered fences.

"I don't think it is the intention of the Council to prohibit the residents of this city from having a little dog. However, do you wish to consider the dog runs as fences?" LaChance asked the Council.

Fences within the city are prohibited by ordinance.

Then came the question of the dog house or shelter, should they be attached to the residence?

Before the discussion ended, a resident and president of the PSL Homeowners Assoc. Vern Forrar, recommended the city consider employing a dog catcher, claiming the fines imposed on the owners of stray animals would more than pay his salary.

The Council agreed the problems posed by local canines had gone the limit and promised further study of the matter.

Jim Waldie shoots spectacular round

PORT ST. LUCIE–Jim Waldie and Dick Lundin made a runaway of Thursday's golf tournament of the Sandpiper Men's Golf Association on the Saints Course, sparked by Waldie's best round ever, a spectacular 78 against his 21 handicap.

For Waldie, every post was a winning post. Although his previous all time low was an 88, Thursday he could do no wrong, making the turn in 42 and then blistering the back nine with two bogies, two birdies and seven pars for an even par 36. His 78 and Lundin's 87 gave the two mid handicappers a combined Stableford partnership total of 92 points, far ahead of the runner-up duo of Al Jones and John Prinkey.

Leading teams Thursday: Waldie and Lundin 92, Jones and Prinkey 80; Al Bowman and Jack Radcliffe 78, Tom Chapman and Duke Evans 77, Frank O'Beirne and Don Estes, Dan Smozanek and Oscar Rozett and Vern Forrar and Virg Sonsel 76, Roy Hannum and Cy Edwards 75.

Players breaking 80 were: Chapman, 74; Joe Chappelle and Bill Coane, 77; Don McConnell, Sam Dewhirst, Waldie and Smozanek, 78; Ken Page 79.

In a side event Thursday, George Mood, Frank Gaskill and Augie Hofmeister held an 18 hole playoff to determine the Third Flight champion for the club's annual gross score. 54 hole tournament concluded last week. The three wound up a stroke apart after the 72 holes, but Mood's 92 in the playoff gave him the title over his competitors' 98's.

This Thursday it's two best ball of foursome, played from the red, white and blue tees.

Methodist Women plan White Elephant Sale

PORT ST. LUCIE–The United Methodist Women of Port St. Lucie are planning a White Elephant Sale to be held May 1st.

The doors to Goddard Hall will open at 9 a.m. and close at 4 p.m.

In addition to a fine selection of articles for sale, coffee and cake will be available for refreshment.

AND SOON THERE WILL BE LIGHT–With a tentative completion date of mid May, the D.J. Harmon Company is wasting no time in getting the lights at Sportsman Park wired. The city is hopeful the lights will be working in time for the opening of the Little League season.

Summer semester classes announced

PORT ST. LUCIE–Summer semester IRCC Community Service classes will be offered at the Port St. Lucie Community Center starting the week of May 17.

In each case, the class instructor may be called to register and for further information. Registration fee is $5 per class per semester.

Estelle Baskin (ver 2362) will conduct a Humanities I class from 7 to 10 p.m. Mondays. This class, consisting of dancing of different cultures, was offered last year to a good attendance.

Tuesdays and Wednesday evening, 7 to 10, and Friday mornings 9-12, Madelene Rebeiser (334-1960) will have painting classes. These are three separate classes and will be the only IRCC painting classes offered at the Community Center.

An Intermediate Sewing Class, instructed by Shirley Fallin, will meet on Thursday mornings from 9 to 12 noon. Her phone number is 878-4124. The class will feature up-grading of existing skills and new methods of handling stretch fabrics.

Dutton starts building fund

PORT ST. LUCIE–With the blessing of the church officers, the Sayers Discussion Group of Dutton Memorial Church have established a building fund.

Members of the group are making the initial contribution of $500 and have extended an invitation to each member, as well as to the several organizations, to contribute to the endeavor.

A spokesman stated that a building committee will be selected as the fund grows and negotiations will be started with the Presbytery of North East Florida.

Langdon wins

PORT ST. LUCIE–Liz Langdon won championship flight honors in the low gross tournament played Tuesday, April 13, on the back nine of the Saints Course at Sandpiper by the PSL Nine Hole Women's Golf Association.

Langdon was low in Flight A with 52.

In Flight B, Pennes Lewallen led with 55.

Marjette Snee and Anne Tulino both turned in 60's to top Flight C competition.

Free enterprise works

A Jensen Beach success story in store opening

BY DICK CAMPBELL

JENSEN BEACH–There was a real feel of pride included in the smile of Charlie Butterfield as he was finally able to enter the grand opening of Jensen Home Maintenance on Commercial Street.

The pride was in his knowledge that the American free enterprise system works and that anyone can get ahead with hard work, the desire to please and a dedication to sales and service.

Butterfield and his family came to Jensen Beach one and one half years ago and invested a few thousand dollars in savings from the sale of a business in California into an investment in the future of Jensen Beach.

He came with Jensen Beach in mind, as were visiting here with his mother-in-law, Jean Wright, and her sister, Evelyn Wright. He was not out of the army, was a beautiful and growing area. We decided then to move here, Butterfield says.

He went into the old post office building on Commercial Street and with the climax of hard work by his entire family, Eileen, his wife, Scott, 12, and even Tina, 17, of Jefferson, Ohio, Butterfield, with three years of electrical appliance repair experience and years of refrigeration service and sales, and was an authorized repair man for E.C. Ernst, opened his dream of his own business in Jensen Beach almost without a nightmare as he fought to get the Jensen Home Maintenance off the ground in his new location in Jensen Beach.

"I was working eighteen hours a day, seven days a week. The kids wanted me home and I was willing to do it at any hour. As I moved to electrical and appliance sales grew, I began to see the need for appliance sales business in Jensen Beach," he said.

He saw most of the people in Jensen Beach buying appliances in Stuart, Fort Pierce and West Palm Beach.

"Everyone seemed to be asking if we could sell appliances since we were giving them good service. I looked into it and found that I could sell appliances as low as anyone and have my service right here at home take care of our customers.

"I feel people can save that $30 to $40 they go out of town to save right here at home. Now I can sell anything quality for quality, at equal or better prices than other appliance dealers," Butterfield said.

Every dollar earned was pumped back into the business as demand for service outstripped the hours to be spent, and soon Butterfield opened a small shop in the Torow Shopping Center.

"We began adding appliances and air conditioning but we could only fit 12 pieces in the shop." He glanced around the new store smiling. "Now we have 65 pieces on the floor here."

His son Scott has been helping him since he was eight years old.

"I believe in work. It builds character. I started working at 13, and put myself through school. Scott helps me pull wires, cleans up and does what he can when he isn't active at church, First Baptist of Jensen Beach, or playing baseball with the Rio Civic Club team."

His daughter Tina helped until she got married and still helps around the shop when she can, and three year-old Jeannie is getting into the act, having made the grand opening prize drawings last week.

Eileen runs the office and the telephone so that Butterfield has time to get out on the job, now working with six employees in the shop.

Butterfield plans to build a home on Skyline Drive this summer. He is active in church work in the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce and intends to take part in the Jensen Optimists Club.

If ever there was an example of the free enterprise system working in America, it is right here in Jensen Beach, in Charlie Butterfield's Jensen Home Maintenance.

MANAGEMENT–Charlie Butterfield helps his wife Eileen with the books of business at the grand opening of the new Jensen Home Maintenance appliance store.

BUTTERFIELDS–Charlie and Eileen Butterfield, owners of Jensen Home Maintenance, were proud at their grand opening.

FREEZER WINNER–Mrs. Margaret Hindman won the chest freezer as the first place winner in the grand opening of Jensen Beach Home Maintenance. Mr. Hindman looks on as his wife gets the freezer and a hug from Charlie Butterfield.

APPRENTICE ELECTRICIAN–Kenny Brown, an apprentice electrician with Jensen Beach Home Maintenance, is busy checking out a part on the new Whirlpool electronic parts computer at the Commercial Street location.

Butterfield is his [illegible] helper at Jensen Home [illegible]

REWARD–After a hard day's work of drawing winning names, little Jeannie Butterfield received her reward, a bowl of ice cream next door at Susie's.

THIRD PLACE–Vern Johnson was presented a certificate for fifty pounds of beef by Charlie Butterfield last Friday afternoon following the grand opening of Jensen Home Maintenance. Mrs. William Harmon and Mrs. Mary Lee Brunemann also won fifty pounds of beef.

REFRIGERATION EXPERT–Bill Boole is one of the qualified refrigeration men at Jensen Beach Home Maintenance.

According to Mrs. Barbara Martin, administrator, an open house will be held Sunday, April 25, at the United Methodist Church on Prima Vista Boulevard.

Venture Out

By Jackie Phillips

Fellowship, good cheer, and variety were the order of the day for the many friends of Marmie and Burt Peynter and Willard and Louise Such of Swordfish Lane on Saturday. Their combined cocktail party was enjoyed by all, some arriving from as far away as Palm Beach and Jupiter-Tequesta.

+ + +

The Gibsons, Kate and Jim are "lighting up" one end of Swordfish Lane. Jim installed a garden lamp and Kate "installed" her lovely sisters, Hat Davison of Washington, D.C. and Leona Phillips of Eckhart, Maryland, in the Gibsons' second trailer home on lot 734. The gals are enjoying Venture Out.

We miss our nearby neighbors who have left the park recently: Melva and Joe Goodwin, Doris and Don Day, Grace and Gus Thau, Lucy and Toad Bowling, Alice and Red Fitzgerald to name a few. We send our best wishes for their safe return home and look forward to seeing them again in the fall.

School's Out! We know because Jean and Bob Shane and their family have returned for the Easter holidays. They are all busy getting their lots in good order, as well as soaking up the Florida sun.

Congratulations are due to the girls who ran the daily luncheons this past week in the rec hall. They were surprised and happy at the enthusiastic response to their venture. We'll report next week on the financial outcome. The Rec Comm. sponsored the lunches, hoping to make a small profit to help finance the many projects scheduled for next fall. Covering the shuffleboard court is one of their aims. Chairman Mary Ellyn Meachum will have an interesting report for you soon.

VENTURE HARBOUR NEWS

By Jessie Shaver

Fran Tener invited the women of Venture Harbor to her patio for a coffee on Saturday morning to say goodbye to Ann Van Willigan and welcome to Lola Bonar. Ann sold her home to the Bonars and is moving into a condo at Vista del Lago before May 1st. We will miss Ann's cheerful face but hope her sinus condition improves. She will not be too far away to stop by quite often.

+ + +

Have you noticed that lunch time at "Jean's Kitchen" in the rec hall has become quite a habit with many lot owners and regular winter residents? It's the "In Place" to go for lunch these days and it adds to the recreation fund. See you there.

Although the rest of Venture III seems to be inundated with grandchildren and Easter visitors, Venture Harbor had very few this weekend. If I miss telling of any visitors, it's because no one told me about them.

The Shavers had their granddaughter, Sharon Branch, with them, but Sharon is a regular visitor, for this is her favorite place to come whenever she has a long weekend.

Sam Tucker was sorry to see his friends Marion and Len Chavee leave for home in Maas., by way of Houston, Texas. Also Winnie and Tom Windlake left for home, first going to the west coast of Florida. Sam is not following them until the last part of May.

+ + +

A letter from Pat and Larry Belt said they arrived home in Montauk Point, N.Y. and found very cold weather. They send their regards to all.

+ + +

It is wonderful that Walter Autenrieth is home from his stay at Martin Memorial Hospital for several days. He is improving and that makes us all happy.

+ + +

Did you see the "Bunny Cart" circulating through the park over the weekend? I did, and I saw it parked at the Drinkards. I also saw a "Harvey" sized bunny with big ears going in and out over there. It even brought an Easter figt to our house for Mama Cochran.

Today's "Good News"

GOOD TIME TO BUY A HOME

Plenty of Mortgage Funds Available

JENSEN BEACH, Fla.—Now is an excellent time to buy a new home or condominium or refinance your present one, according to officials at First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Martin County.

Due to a number of factors, there is not only a substantial amount of mortgage money available but, the cost of a loan is probably as low today as it is likely to be in the foreseeable future. Mortgage money, like most commodities, is subject to the laws of supply and demand. With a slowdown in the housing market over the last year, supplies of cash for good first mortgage loans have increased substantially, creating a very good mortgage market for home buyers.

Another factor contributing to the increase in funds has been the continuing growth of savings deposits at First of Martin County. Now paying the highest rates of interest in its twenty year history on regular savings accounts (5-1-4%, compounded daily for an effective annual yield of 5.39%), First of Martin County experienced a 25% growth in deposits in 1975.

The remarkable increase in deposits is attributed to the fact that no savings and loan pays higher interest rates on regular savings accounts than First of Martin County, and no bank pays as much. It is also a fact that First of Martin County has the lowest minimum deposit requirements on certificates of deposit allowed by federal regulations.

At the same time, all savings at First of Martin County are insured up to forty thousand dollars per account by an agency of the federal government.

First of Martin County has five convenient financial centers to serve its customers. Mortgage applications can be made at all five offices during regular business hours—9 AM to 3 PM, Monday through Thursday, 9 AM to 6 PM on Friday.

Solar, wind power are lecture topics

JENSEN BEACH—James De Meo will be the speaker at a free lecture Friday, April 23, in the F.I.T. Science Building, beginning at 7:45 p.m.

A graduate of Environmental Science from Florida International University, De Meo is president of the Natural Energy Company in Delray and an instructor of courses in natural energy.

His illustrated lecture on wind and solar power will evaluate means now available in wind and director solar power and will stress the need for specific legislation in the solar field, the lack of which now holds back development and use of this power.

A CURE spokesman says, "With accepted energy resources dwindling, new power sources must be found and an informed citizenry is essential to the creation and utilization of alternatives."

Optimists will elect officers

JENSEN BEACH—A full slate of candidates will be up for election tonight (Wednesday) when the Jensen Beach Optimist Club elects officers for the coming year.

Nominated by a committee are Frank Hughes and Kermit Tucker for president; Roger Jackson for outside vice president; Joe Pearl, Pete Lopilato and John O'Conner for inside vice president.

Byron Larsen has been nominated for secretary, and Dick Welker, Charlie Justice and Clarence Rydell have been nominated for treasurer.

Nominated for the board of directors are Dick Johnson, Joe Grzelka, Jack Browley, Tom Miles, Dave Harmon and Frank Fallin.

Nominations will be accepted from the floor for each post, and the meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. at Langford Park field house.

Fishing tourney has ended

JENSEN BEACH—The 41st annual Metropolitan South Florida Fishing Tournament ended at midnight April 18, but the final list of winners will not be announced until Sunday, May 2. All entries must be postmarked within one week after the close of competition.

Nearly 300 trophies and placques will be awarded for leading entries of 34 different species of fish in eight competitive divisions, plus various special achievements. Thousands more citations and jacket patches will be sent out for entries of outstanding size and for gamefish releases made during the Met's four-month competition.

Those awards will be mailed around July 1.

Sponsored by Coca-Cola and the Miami Herald, the Met this year has enjoyed its biggest season ever for total fish entered, angler participation and number of record-size catches.

Tournament winners

PORT ST. LUCIE—The North Port St. Lucie Ladies Golf Association played Wednesday at the Holiday Country Club of Stuart.

Winners of the "Best Ball" tournament were:

A Class: Fran Gehres and Caroline Rodler, 71; B Class: Helen Foster and Irene Fields, 77; C Class: Betty Fields and Marge Foehr, 84; D Class: Jane Schmidt and Mary Schlessinger, 90.

The Ladies day play will start at 9 a.m. next week and all players are urged to be at the course by 8:30.

Greetings

JENSEN BEACH—Hey! Wish a happy day to this week's birthday people: Johnny Crawford, celebrating April 22; Shirley Godfrey, April 23; Mrs. Kenneth Klager and Billy Gass, April 25; Hadley Vossover, April 27; and to Donnie Wilkie and Capt. Morgan Laity, April 28.

Congratulations and best wishes

Free enterprise works

A Jensen Beach success story in store opening

BY DICK CAMPBELL

JENSEN BEACH—There was a great deal of pride included in the big smile of Charlie Butterfield as he was finally able to announce the grand opening of Home Maintenance on Commercial Street.

The pride was in his knowledge of the American free enterprise system works, and that anyone can succeed with hard work, the desire to succeed and a dedication to sales quality and service.

Butterfield and his family came to Jensen Beach one and one-half years ago and parlayed a few thousand dollars in savings from the sale of a piece of land in California into an investment in the future of Jensen Beach.

Charlie fell in love with Jensen Beach in 1966 when he were visiting here with his mother in-law (Jean Burgess) and her sister (Evelyn Burgess). He was just out of the army, and saw a beautiful and growing community. We decided then to come here. Butterfield says.

His mom-in-law into the old post office building at Commercial Street and Indian is the climax of hard work by the entire family. Eileen, his wife, Tina 17, Scott, 12, and even Jeanne 3.

Born in Jefferson, Ohio, Butterfield has three years of electrical training, two years of refrigeration training in college, and was an area supervisor for E.C. Ernst in California. His dream of his own business in Jensen Beach almost ended into a nightmare as he fought to get the young Jensen Home Maintenance off the ground in his new seat in Jensen Beach.

"We were working eighteen hours a day, seven days a week. The people wanted a job done, and I was willing to do it at any hour. As I was joined by electrical and appliance business grew. I began to see the need for an appliance sales business in Jensen Beach," he said.

He saw most of the people in Jensen Beach buying appliances in Stuart, Fort Pierce and West Palm Beach.

"Everyone seemed to be asking if we could sell appliances, since we were giving them good service. I looked into it and found that I could sell appliances as low as anyone and have my service right here at home take care of our customers.

"I feel people can save that $30 to $40 they go out of town to save right here at home. Now I can sell anything, quality for quality, at equal or better prices than other appliance dealers," Butterfield said.

Every dollar earned was pumped back into the business as demand for service outstripped the hours to be spent, and soon Butterfield opened a small shop in the Torow Shopping Center.

"We began adding appliances and air conditioning, but we could only fit 12 pieces in the shop," He glanced around the new store, smiling. "Now we have 65 pieces on the floor here."

His son Scott has been helping him since he was eight years old.

"I believe in work. It builds character. I started working at 13, and put myself through school. Scott helps me pull wires, cleans up and does what he can when he isn't active at church, First Baptist of Jensen Beach, or playing baseball with the Rio Civic Club team."

His daughter Tina helped until she got married, and still helps around the shop when she can, and three-year-old Jeannie is getting into the act, having made the grand opening prize drawings last week.

Eileen runs the office and the telephone so that Butterfield has time to get out on the job, now working with six employees in the shop.

Butterfield plans to build a home on Skyline Drive this summer. He is active in church work in the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, and intends to take part in the Jensen Optimists Club.

If ever there was an example of the free enterprise system working in America, it is right here in Jensen Beach, in Charlie Butterfield's Jensen Home Maintenance.

MANAGEMENT—Charlie Butterfield helps his wife Eileen with the books of business at the grand opening of the new Jensen Home Maintenance appliance store.

HIND QUARTER—Bill and Joan Weremeichik won a certificate for a hind quarter of beef at the grand opening of Jensen Beach Home Maintenance. Butterfield, owner of the new store on Commercial Street, presents the certificate to the prize winners.

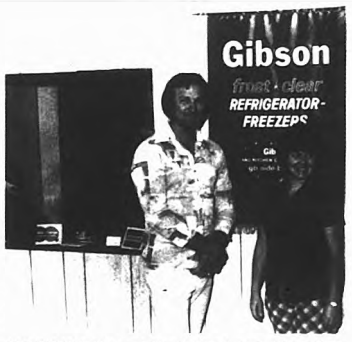
REWARD—After a hard day's work of drawing winning names, little Jeannie Butterfield received her reward, a bowl of ice cream next door at Susie's.

REFRIGERATION EXPERT—Bill Boode is one of the qualified refrigeration men at Jensen Beach Home Maintenance.

GEOGRAPHY LESSON—Rudi Widman is busy doing a georgaphy lesson with a map of the United States at the Montessori Pre-school. Chris Dake, left, and David Pooser watch. The school will hold an open house Sunday, April 25, from 3 to 6 p.m. at the Port St. Lucie United Methodist Church on Prima Vista Boulevard. The public is welcome to attend the affair.

THIRD PLACE—Vern Johnson was presented a certificate for fifty pounds of beef by Charlie Butterfield last Friday afternoon following the grand opening of Jensen Home Maintenance. Mrs. William Harmon and Mrs. Mary Lee Brunemann also won fifty pounds of beef.

HELPER—Scott Butterfield is his father's chief helper at Jensen Home Maintenance.



BUTTERFIELDS—Charlie and Eileen Butterfield, owners of Jensen Home Maintenance, were proud at their grand opening.

FREEZER WINNER—Mrs. Margaret Hindman won the chest freezer as the first place winner in the grand opening of Jensen Beach Home Maintenance. Mr. Hindman looks on as his wife gets the freezer and a hug from Charlie Butterfield.

APPRENTICE ELECTRICIAN—Kenny Brown, an apprentice electrician with Jensen Beach Home Maintenance, is busy checking out a part on the new Whirlpool electronic parts computer at the Commercial Street location.

SPELLERS—Wendy Armstrong and Frankie Mazzella are busy selecting plastic letters to do language lessons in forming short words at the Montessori Pre-school. According to Mrs. Barbara Martin, administrator, an open house will be held Sunday, April 25, at the United Methodist Church on Prima Vista Boulevard.

Jensen Beach Mirror, Vol. 11 No. 17, April 22, 1971 – that was the issue in which are residents were told to turn their clocks the wrong way for Daylight Savings time!

Meet the Yosts: Esther and George moved to Pinelake Village, Lot 67 on January 13, 1974.

George was born in Parkesburg, Pa. After his schooling there, he attended private school, majoring in Business Administration. His first position was with The Midvale Steel and Ordinance Corp. at Coatesville, Pa., staying with them for four years. Midvale Steel sold out to Bethlehem Steel and he continued with the new outfit until he and Esther moved to Sparrow's Point, Md., where he worked for Lukens Steel until retiring from the Production Control Department.

Esther was born in Christiana, Pa., deep in the Dutch country, and attended school there. She worked as an operator for United Telephone and later with Bell. And later, she was a weaver and instructor in weaving at a newly opened mill in Christiana.

She and George met at a country festival on the school grounds, and three years later they were married in Lancaster. (GEORGE, THREE YEARS?? WHAT WAS THE HOLD UP?)

Later they moved to Parkesburg and stayed for five years where their first child, Dorothy Marie was born but unfortunately, did not survive diptheria.

In Coatesville, while George was with Bethlehem Steel, they became actively engaged in politics. George serving as councilman for four years and then as president for twelve years, while Esther was serving as president of the school board for four years, all the while organizing youth activities and recreation planning.

They have a son, George A., who is a portrait and commercial photographer with his own studio and gallery. He was with the Corps of Engineers and served in England and France. He and his wife live in Sadsburyville, Pa. where his wife, Rita has a bridal salon. They have one daughter, Deborah June who lives with her husband Kevin MacAlister in Hagerstown, Md. They both teach.

After all this activity, Esther and George decided to get away from it all and bought five acres in the middle of a corn field outside Coatesville, had a house built and turned half into lawn and half into garden, and orchard. Get away from it all??

It wasn't long before Esther joined the Caln Civic Womens Club and was president for four years, while George joined the Optimist Club and was later president. Both were members of the Hopewell Methodist Church at Guthrieville where George held some more offices, until they really racked up and came to Florida. They bought a mobile home in Ocean Breeze where they stayed until they moved into Pinelake Village.

George likes to fish, bowl, shuffle and garden. Esther likes most any kind of hobby, does a lot of bead work and ceramics and enjoys bowling also.

Sounds like a very interesting and rewarding life. Carry on.

Checks are donated at Pinelake Village

JENSEN BEACH—Before a near-capacity crowd of diners who attended a recent pot-luck supper at the Pinelake Village clubhouse, popular Larry O'Donnell, a kidney dialysis patient, distributed a total of $350 in checks to representatives of the Palm Beach County Kidney Association and the Jensen Beach Samaritans.

Roger Hazel, a member of the Samaritans ambulance crew, received a check in the amount of $150 for his organization and Mrs. Wilma Knopf, PBCKA secretary, was presented a check in the amount of $200.

In accepting the check, Mrs. Knopf, who was accompanied by Mrs. Ann Adams, also of PBCKA, thanked residents of Pinelake Village for their generosity and explained the functions of her organization.

Mrs. Knopf stated the PBCKA embraces five counties including Martin County. A founder of the association in 1972, Mrs. Knopf stated kidney dialysis is a costly venture. It was established on a national basis by the Federal Government in July 1973, as a back-up of one of the catastrophic diseases the government considered subsidizing. The kidney program proved so costly, with patients also receiving medicaid and state aid, other suggested treatment proposals were dropped.

Before closing Mrs. Knopf said a full-scale kidney dialysis unit will be established in Martin Memorial Hospital in Stuart. This unit, she said may commence functioning by next summer. If so, it will considerably cut travel time and expenses for Martin County patients who now receive such treatment in Palm Beach County hospitals.

The $350 awarded during the pot-luck supper represented the net profits of a gala "Night At The Races" program conducted in their clubhouse by Pinelake Village residents. The program was instituted by Sharyon Tilton, Pinelake's activities director. Bob Ramsey, race night organizer, initially suggested a sporting program be held, with Rita and Bob Palmer heading the ticket committee. Many other Pinelake residents served on the food committee, ticket takers, and pari-mutual betting window attendants.

Jane and Elton Sheehan and Jane and Donal Mock co-hosted the pot-luck supper.

Church Aid circle meets

JENSEN BEACH—The Church Aid Circle of Jensen Beach Community Church will hold its regular monthly meeting on April 28th at 1 p.m. All are asked to bring canned or other non-perishable food as a contribution to Project Concern.

Hostesses for the dessert and coffee are: Anna Bacon, Jeanette Robertson, Alice Raque, Edna Carter, Rita Erickson, Signe Fornelius, Laura Gabriel, Elinor Jochimson.

Following the business meeting there will be a program on our Memorial Garden.

Lake Manor

BY SYLVIA BIMAN 334-6792

Bob and Cap Brice took a trip to Inverness with their camper on Friday, the 9th. They visited friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stewart and attended a Baptist Church there. A few days also were spent in a KOA Campground near Orlando. They enjoyed a nice quiet time.

Cap had a letter from her sister Mrs. Walton, who sends greetings to all here.

I also have greetings to you from my cousin Borghild in Norway and our friends from Illinois, the Busche's.

* * *

Ken Humphrey and his friend Jeff Dellere have been spending Easter vacation with Ken's grandparents, John & Jen Ballenbecher. They had a great deal of fun fishing in our little lake, but not too much luck. All took a day to see Disney World. Jeff told me the day was not long enough. Both boys will graduate in June from Cardinal High School at Middlefield, Ohio.

* * *

Ed and Fern Hill had a week's visit here with her niece and her husband, Joan and Don Lott and their 14 year old daughter Cindy, from Columbus, Ohio. They are enjoying our sunshine.

* * *

Monday the 12th evening bridge winners were Fred Balfanz and Florence Tienken.

Monday the 12th three-game shuffleboard winner was Jim Williams.

Thursday the 15th, 62 enjoyed a fine pot luck dinner in the hall. On the committee were Mildred Mullen and Elsie Schoeneman, who decorated the tables with an Easter centerpiece. Alice and Vernon Stoddard, Clara and Herbert Burmeister, Charles and Sylvia Siman. A sing along followed with music by Alice Stoddard.

Be good to yourselves and others and help keep peace.

Martin County will have crisis line by June

JENSEN BEACH–Crisis Line of Martin County will open for operation in the middle of June. Volunteers are needed to serve as operators on the line.

A training course started at F.I.T. Tuesday evening and if the quota was not filled at that time, registration will continue on Thursday, April 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the F.I.T. Auditorium, 720 S. Indian River Drive, Jensen Beach.

A minimal $15 material charge is the only cost. The course can be taken for credit, accredited by F.I.T. for three credit hours at an additional charge. The course is not only utilized for operators but is helpful in positions of teaching, social services and community orientated programs.

Riverside Village

BY HUGH BROGAN

Hugh Brogan is up in Philadelphia visiting 37 grandchildren. When he returns next week, he will enter Fort Pierce Memorial Hospital for throat surgery.

This will be the last Riverside Village column until Huey is well enough to carry on and our friends and neighbors return from the north.

* * *

There are many visitors in the park for the Easter holidays. We hope they all have a good time and our folks who are heading home have a safe and healthy journey.

* * *

Our sympathy goes out to Amanda McGuire upon the death of her daughter.

* * *

Matty and Kate Segal have company from New York, their son, daughter-in-law and three grand sons. They are really enjoying Florida.

* * *

John and Helen Gitkens have their granddaughter Cindy with them for eight days. Cindy is from Somerdale, N.J.

They visited Disney World and Silver Springs for two days and Cindy enjoyed fishing with her Grandfather and just loves Florida.

The Gitkens also had a surprise visit from neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Klumfs of Haddon Heights, N.J. They are staying at Ebb Tide.

* * *

Lauren Drake and Lynette Huss, both teachers in the Broward school system, spent the day with Lauren's grandparents, Walt and Millie Knuth. Olive Clappison was also a dinner guest.

Kathryn Myers of Greenaprings, Ohio, called on Walt and Millie. Kathryn is a former resident of the park and was visiting for a month in Lake Worth.

Nurses aide course starts

JENSEN BEACH–Adults who are interested in taking a nurse aide course are asked to register at once with the instructor, Mrs. Edith Orr, R.N. Mrs. Orr may be reached by telephone afternoons after 4 p.m. at 287-3633.

The course, which provides classroom instruction and on-the-job training, is open to adults 18 years of age or older. Since registration is limited, preference is given to students who have completed high school education.

The class will meet Mondays through Fridays at 8:30 a.m. for four hours daily, in the conference-classroom at the hospital.

Literary group meets Wednesday

STUART–All members of the Woman's Club of Stuart are invited to attend an informal meeting of the Literary Group at 10 a.m. Wednesday, April 28 at the Club House.

On the same day at 1 p.m. card games will be played. These are for members only and players need not have a partner. Refreshments will be served.

Senior citizens invited to 'good old days' party

JENSEN BEACH–All Senior Citizens in the area are invited to a Good Old Days party at the Caboose Restaurant on Wednesday, May 5, sponsored by the Ridgeway Home Owners Association.

The gala affair will begin at 5 p.m., featuring special "good old days" prices for menu and drinks.

Circle card party winners named

JENSEN BEACH–Door and table prizes abounded at last week's Stuart-Jensen Anna Miller Circle card party, chaired by Mildred Long.

Teddy Jakop, Marie Steele, Frances Francisco and Jean North won the door prizes.

Table prizes went to Georgiana Apel, Mae Jenkin, Maude Miller, Stella Nowajewski, Sue Schneidler, Helen White and Helen Virgus.

Also, to Edith Beck, Mildred Long, Carra Barvill, Marie Snodds, Lela Banige, Frances Francisco, Helen Colin, Ruth Erickson, Irene Chapple and Lil Slater.

Tournament entries listed

JENSEN BEACH–Record entries in the Sailfish Club Winter Tournament are:

Ray Alward, Sarasota, Fl., 18-lb. 8-oz. blue fish caught on the Sundance with Capt. Don Chason.

J.A. Panther of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, a 5-lb. 4½-oz. pompano caught in the surf.
